In his first two years of basketball coaching at Wayland the Bowers teams have twice won the Class D championship. His 1957 team was undefeated. In baseball, his 1957 team won the league championship and came within one run of winning the State Class D championship.

Cochituate News

Jane McCann, OL 3-1693

School is out. Last session for the elementary school will be held on Friday, June 20, and exams for high school students will end on Saturday, June 21. Saturday exams are being held in order to complete the required school year and to avoid running into the following week. . . The sixth grades from all four of the Town's elementary schools visited the junior high school last week, and were taken on the usual gracious get-acquainted tour by the seventh graders. Punch and cookies were served after the inspection of the classrooms. . .

Two teachers from the Cochituate School faculty took part in the commencement exercises at two greater Boston universities last week. Miss Jeanne Plessis, who teaches one of the third grades, received the degree of Master of Education from Boston College, and Frank Guarino, sixth grade teacher, who is specializing in the study of elementary-grade teaching, got his M.E. from Boston University. . .

Mrs. Whitney's fourth grade from the Loker School enjoyed a cook-out, games and square dancing at the home of Mrs. Whitney's mother, Mrs. Russell Deane of Edgewood Road. Two mothers, Mrs. Zabiboni and Mrs. Tuscher, both of Oak Street, assisted with transportation and supervision.

Beginning on Sunday, June 29, Masses at St. Zepherin's Church will be said at a new time: at 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 o'clock Whether the 8 o'clock or the 9 o'clock Mass will be downstairs depends upon preferences expressed to the rectory. . . Perfect weather prevailed for the Cochituate school's sixth-grade father and child trek to the Miles Standish State Park in Carver, Massachusetts. Walter Doucette, principal of the school, Nelson Ashline and Frank Guarine, sixth grade teachers, and 25 fathers accompanied the youngsters. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas of Snake Brook Road are among those serving on the committee of the Couple's Club outing at the Foster home on Friday, June 20th. There will be a mid-way, a cook-out and dancing. . . The annual Kiwanis auction was held this year at the former Damon farm on Commonwealth Road. Those who did not go to it went to the Cub Scouts' "Circus Daze" at the Cochituate ball field, and many went to both. . .

The Cochituate school was host on Thursday to the sixth grades from the Loker Street, Claypit Hill and Happy Hollow schools for the annual Field Day. Track and field events, and novelty events were on the program in the morning, and awards were handed out to the winners in the auditorium after lunch. Competition was not between schools but between teams made up of boys or girls from each of the four schools. Miss Marjorie Ball and Mr. Leonard Redini, elementary school physical education teachers, were on hand to help out. The White team won first prize, Red finished second, and Blue third. . .

Mrs. Lawrence Dame of Edgewood, one of Wayland's three policewomen who have done traffic duty at the Cochituate and Loker Schools during the past year, returned home from the hospital this week. . .

The Junior High School (7th and 8th grades) held a record hop in the school auditorium on Friday, June 13, instead of the outing away from school which has been customary. The large size of the present-day 7th and 8th grades is responsible for the change. . . Miss Ruth Bailey, school librarian at W.H.S., entertained the members of the Library Service Club at her house in Wellesley one afternoon last week. A buffet supper was enjoyed by the members and those parents who provided transportation. . .

New officers elected by St. Zepherin's C.Y.O. are Daniel O'Callaghan, president; Mary Daly, vice president; Judith Marston, secretary; Francis Tartin, treasurer, and Mary Jane Confrey, business manager. The annual trip to Hampton Beach, N.H. is scheduled for June 25. All members of the parish who will be of high school age by next September are cordially invited to go along, and should call either D. O'Callaghan at OL 3-7343 or Mary Daly at OL 3-8998. . .

Sandra Simoni of Oak Street has been re-elected secretary of her class at the Rhode Island School of Design and will be president of her dormitory next year. She is employed as a nursemaid at the Cape for two weeks, and will go to Maine later in the Summer in a similar job. . . Judy Simoni, Sandra's sister, will spend the Summer at a camp in New York where she is a counselor.

For Culture, Take Kiddies To The Pops And Let 'Em Dig The Popping

Even if people do live out in the bushes and swamps, among the ranch types and the split levels, there's no reason they shouldn't acquire a little culture, and that brings to mind the Pops, now in bloom.

Small children who like to assault each other should be taken there to hear the music and particularly to watch the manners.

Especially, their attention should be directed to the happy relationship existing between the conductor and the first fiddler.

These two buddies shake hands with each other 48 times an evening and bow towards each other another 48 times.

Then they both bow towards the rest of the musicians. It's a wonder they don't stay bent double. Half the time they play sweet or loud music, and the rest of the time they're bowing to the audience or each other. This courteous exercise pays. There's not a pot belly on the stage.

Then, too, here is the only place in New England where one can hear the cry of "Bravo!" This is an expression of applause, not heard at the baseball park or the poker table. It seems to be reserved for musical appreciation, and it gets a little monotonous. Never a "Hurray", "Wow" or "Magnificent, Maestro". Just "Bravo."

But the appreaciation is there, all right.

A fellow on that stage could do a dogaroon solo, or a drum concerto with one stick, and be applauded. The audiences are conditioned by the experiences of 73' years. They think everything is going to be wonderful, so they cheer anyway. Those who don't really know the difference have to go along with the mob and pattycake with the rest.

And don't forget the refreshments, ranging from peanuts through beer, pink lemonade and overpriced claret up to champagne.

Speaking of the latter, there's always an interesting hazard in the hall.

The wine steward with the champagne bottle does things with a flourish. He wraps a towel around the bottle, tucks it in here and there, carefully removes the metal cap from the cork, then shoots.

The cork often pops with a bang heard over the racket of the drum section, and flies into the laps of the music lovers in the lower deck of the grandstand. They're thinking of putting a screen up there, so there won't be so many cheap hits. The record shot was 94 feet, set one night in '53, when a snazzy concerto for strings was driving the Bostonians wild.

Another circumstance is to be noted.

The later the evening, the louder the applause. This is peculiar, because they arrange to have the service slow on purpose. But however little the customers get, it seems to be enough to sharpen the appreciation.

If they'd let a Pops concert run until about 11:30, say, and speed up the bar service, the crowd would put on a show of music loving which would make a rock and roll riot look like a moment of silence. Because those cats on the stage can do things with popular music undreamed of by the hoodlums of the sharps and flats world.

And this form of high living is no longer restricted to Bostonians, proper or improper. Thanks to the decay of the train service and the persistence of the automobile, anybody can get in. Why, nowadays it's nothing, in there, to see a dowager wearing a hat less than 15 years old.

Those musicians have got it made, too. No overtime. They don't mind slipping in an extra now and then, but when they're through for the evening they're through. Here's one place where flattery gets the audience nowhere except out on to Huntington Ave. after the drugstores are closed.

Some people take babes in arms to the circus. But no child should be taken to the Pops until he's old enough to dodge a champagne cork, or rugged enough not to mind if he gets beaned. — D.B.W.

Open House At New Scout Building

COCHITUATE — The new Scout House near the Lake Cochituate Beach entertained many Scouts and guests on Friday night, June 20. Largely inspired by the late Charles Fullick, the building has been under construction for several years. Gathered at the refreshment table above, left to route, are Mrs. Gladys Widdiss, George Brown, Mrs. Ethel Brown, Donald Widdiss, Mrs. Phyllis Griffin, Wayne Phillips and Mrs. Rita Mahan.

Airplane Propeller Found On Wayland Town Dump

WAYLAND — From the Town Dump, that inexhaustible repository of bits and pieces, Mr. Charles M. Campbell of the Wayland Fire Department recently salvaged an airplane propeller, not in the best of condition but good enough to be repaired.

Mr. Campbell found the propeller, he says, beside a pile of brush, while standing on it. The rest of the airplane was not there, so he figured the propeller had been in somebody's garage or shed until somebody decided to throw it away. Mr. Campbell is interested in planes and he was tempted to advertise to see if the unknown person had any more spare parts he'd like to get rid of, but didn't get around to it.

The propeller, reglued and its tip replaced, is at the Wayland Fire Station.

Candidate For Reelection

WAYLAND — Mr. James DeNormandie of Lincoln, Republican, who has been State Representative for Lincoln, Sudbury and Wayland for the past two terms, writes that he will be a candidate for reelection this year. Mr. DeNormandie was elected to the House after the retirement of Mr. Howard S. Russell of Wayland, who served six years.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell are now taking a long vacation abroad.

3 Members Of Weston H. S. Bldg. Committee Resign

WESTON — Three of the five members of the Special High School Plant Committee to build the new High School have resigned. Richard P. Berry resigned because he has just started a food brokerage business, and Camillo P. Petri, Secretary, resigned for reasons of health. The resignation of Mrs. Boardman Bump, Chairman, was announced at the June 19th Town Meeting.

The two remaining members of the Committee are Mrs. Rolf Stutz and H. Ward Doebler. Glenn M. Lempereur, Town Moderator, says it will be at least two weeks before he can fill the three vacancies. The Committee will then elect a new chairman and secretary.

Allen E. Reed Is Elected New Raytheon V-President

WESTON — The election of Allen E. Reed to the newly-created position of Vice-President, Finance of Raytheon Manufacturing Company has been announced by C. F. Adams, president. Mr. Reed, who has served as treasurer of the electronics firm for the past two years, will also continue in that capacity.

Allen E. Reed

Mr. Reed is a graduate of Harvard College and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He was affiliated with Remington-Rand prior to joining Submarine Signal Company, Boston, in 1942, as assistant to the treasurer and as controller. He became comptroller of Raython in 1947 following the merger of the two companies.

He is a director of the Union National Market Bank, Watertown, and a member of the Controllers Institute and the National Association of Cost Accountants.

The Reeds live at 92 Sunset Road.

WAYLAND—Skin grafting in the case of 3-year-old Jimmy Allen has been successful in many of the badly burned areas. However, the boy is still in serious condition and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Allen of 14 Willard Street, Cochituate, were told that he will be hospitalized for an additional four months.

Jimmy must remain motionless and will require special nurses at the rate of $48.00 per day for at least six more weeks. Last Monday, the boy's father was again called upon for additional skin. This will be used for grafting in

Rain Holds Off and 2000 Buy Tickets To Wayland Festival -- Linda Is Queen

WAYLAND — Rain held off until 15 minutes after the Strawberry Festival ended on June 21, and the party was the biggest social and financial success ever.

More than 1300 attended. Six hundred tickets were sold at the gate, for a total sale of more than 2000. The Junior Town House Association, sponsor of the affair, reaped its largest money harvest.

Miss Linda Cherry, a 1958 graduate of Wayland High School, was crowned Queen of the festival by Parmelee Hill, chairman of the Town House Trustees.

The candidates for Queen, Miss Cherry, Barbara Wood, Beverly Parker, Carolyn Rydherg and Evelyn Archer, rode on the High School field in George Monreau's 1913 Stanley Steamer, while drums rolled and hundreds of youngsters ran yelling alongside.

This was the first time the Festival has had a Queen and the committee thinks she'll be an annual feature from now on.

The weather had been rainy and cold all week, and it remained threatening all day Saturday. The party could have been held inside the high school gym and would have been, in case of rain, but it wouldn't have been so good with such a large crowd.

Parmelee Hill crowns Queen Linda I. (John J. McCann)

As it happened, luck held. It didn't rain until 12:15 a.m., when committee members were picking up chairs and tables. Then came a deluge.

TV cameras recorded the coronation.

12-Minute Weston Town Meeting Gives Committee Authority To Build School

WESTON — The June 19 Special Town Meeting unanimously voted to authorize the Special High School Plant Committee to proceed with the building of a new high school, and appropriated $33,000 from available funds to begin work. The one surprise at the Meeting was the announcement that Mrs. Boardman Bump, chairman of the Committee, has resigned because of family duties.

The Town unanimously supported a motion by Douglas Mercer, Selectman, thanking Mrs. Bump for her work. Mr. Mercer said that the March 1957 Town Meeting voted such a Committee into existence, and Mrs. Bump as chairman has accomplished two out of the three stages of the work necessary for a new school. The first stage was presentation to the Town of several courses of action to solve the school shortage, and the Town voted in November, 1957, to build a new high school on a new site. The second stage was selection of a site, and the Town voted at the recent June 4 meeting to acquire 62 acres of Paine land on South Avenue for $85,000.

William R. Dewey, Selectman, explained that the reason for the meeting was to clear up any ambiguity about the Special Plant Committee continuing as a building committee, and said the money voted would not affect the tax rate. As is customary in Weston school building programs, the Committee will report back to the Town at a later date with its preliminary plans, and will then request the Town to borrow money to build the school.

The meeting lasted 12 minutes from start to finish.

Charges On Overdue Taxes Are Up, Says Collector

WAYLAND — Mr. Walter A. Cheslak, Town Tax Collector, gives warning that charges in connection with overdue taxes have been increased, as of July 1, as a result of action by the Legislature this Spring.

Hereafter the demand notices for all taxes except poll taxes will cost $1, instead of 35 cents. The poll tax charge will remain at 35 cents. Making out a warrant for the deputy collector—the fellow who goes out after delinquents—will be $4 instead of 50 cents.

The interest charge on excise taxes overdue will be at the rate of 12 per cent a year. This charge will apply to all taxes except real, poll and personal taxes, because excises, says Mr. Cheslak, particularly automobile excise taxes, are the most difficult to collect.

Wayland Bicycle Rodeo

WAYLAND — Wayland Boy Scout leaders, Scoutmaster Robert Evans and Safety Program Coordinator Francis Dougherty have announced plans for a bicycle rodeo to be held on Saturday, June 28, at the Wayland High School athletic field.

The program, to begin at 1 p.m., will include the following events which were designed by the Massachusetts Safety Council:

Mechanical inspection of all bikes; Figure eight course to test the riders' skill and balance, signalling and attitude; ride the loop course to test obedience to signs, braking and straight line riding and Ohstacle course to test control and maneuverability.

The Rodeo will be open to all Wayland girls and boys, although the younger children should be accompanied by their parents.

Polio Vaccine Warning

WESTON—The Weston Board of Health puts out a solemn warning:

Almost 100 per cent of the children under the age of 15 in the country have received two polio shots, and 90 per cent have had three shots.

But only half of those aged 15 through 19 have had one shot. Only one third of those 20 through 29 and one-fifth of those 30 through 39 have had one dose of vaccine.

The small children were compelled to have their shots. But nobody is pushing older persons. It's their responsibility, and they are vulnerable.

There is no shortage of vaccine now.

Conversation Piece, Something Which Inspires The Mute To Start Talking

Speaking of vicuna coats, as those who wear burlap now are doing, there comes unbidden to the mind the comparatively new and flossy expression, "conversation piece".

A conversation piece, it appears, is anything useless and expensive which causes people to talk.

Of course, some people don't need any trigger to start them talking. There are people right around here who know no conversation pieces except the human jaw or maybe the telephone, equipped with which they can go on for hours. They say the record around here for a cozy little chat by phone is three hours 11 minutes, set by two deadly enemies, female, neither of whom dared hang up for fear the other would immediately call somebody else and tell all.

But conversation pieces.

A sensationally witty conversation piece is the inscription on the fancy hat worn by the back yard chef, male, which reads, "Come and get it." This is considered by connoisseurs of gags to be at least twice as funny as a polio outbreak.

Another conversation piece is the crockery umbrella rack.

This becomes most apparent to the man who wanders into a store, say around Christmas time, looking for inspiration, hoping against hope he'll see something which will be just the thing for somebody.

Nothing But Useless

All this guy can see is crockery. Somebody must have the notion that the world is nuts about ceramics. There are urns, jars, vases, tall and short, wide and narrow, neither big enough to bathe in nor small enough to drink from, occupying almost as much space in the store as floor lamps.

In fact, take the crockery urns and the floor lamps out of some stores and there'd be nothing left except uncomfortable and expensive chairs. And at the price of chairs today a fellow might as well stand up all the time, because it isn't worth that much to sit down. Or go sit in a refreshment parlor, where the sitting is free even if the refreshment isn't.

This recalls the old guy who said he often wondered what the vintner bought, one half so precious as the stuff he sold. This guy had his arithmetic wrong. The markeup was probably more than 50 per cent.

But conversation pieces.

There's the piece of furniture which isn't exactly a chair or a cabinet or a cobbler's bench or a sculptured dolphin. In fact, it isn't anything but useless, and that's a conversation piece.

Were the visitors honest, they should say, "What in the world is that ugly piece of junk?"

Mark It Poison

But they are cowards, afraid maybe they don't know junk when they see it, so they say: "My dear, what a perfectly charming little piece! I saw something just like it at a little shoppe in Nassau. . ." Or Paris or Calcutta. Any place so far away nobody will detect the lie.

Moreover, the existing conversation pieces are too subtle in their approach. They don't get direct action.

Suggestions:

Get a skull and cross bones sticker and paste it on the teapot when serving guests. They'll talk.

Or buy a good, life sized dummy of a human body and put it in the front yard with a blanket over it and a shotgun lying across it. Motorists will stop and mention it.

Or go to Cape Cod and get a big, dead blackfish and park it on the Library steps. This gag wouldn't require much more work and trouble than an expedition to the moon, but the conversation might be worth it.

Maybe the best thing would be to persuade women, who are the only known purchasers of conversation pieces, that such buying is unnecessary. A woman who can't start talking without artificial respiration isn't the kind of woman who made this nation great. — D.B.W.

Thinking Out Loud, Wayland Committee Sees 5-Building High School Plant

WAYLAND — After many meetings and much advice and many suggestions from various persons and groups, the School Building Committee now has some ideas, by no means final, on what the proposed new High School plant on the Schofield property on Old Connecticut Path may be.

Subject to second and third thoughts, to be expected, the Committee sees:

Three academic units, one for science and mathematics, one for English and languages and one for social studies. Plus an administration area to include offices, room for arts and crafts, cafeteria, library and an auditorium or theatre to seat perhaps 300.

This might amount to four separate buildings, probably close together, perhaps connected by covered walks.

A fifth building would be for physical education, and it might be a field house or cage. For basketball games, it would have a vastly larger seating capacity than the present high school gym. For Town Meetings or other gatherings, with portable seats on the floor, this gym might hold two or three times as many persons as the present one.

The school would be built for 750 pupils in Grades 9 through 12. That's a Senior High School. In 1960, the projections show, there will be 450 local boys and girls in these grades. Capacity of the buildings planned is 750, which, the projection says, will be reached in 1967.

Plaza Effect

Ultimate Senior High School population of the Town, to be reached at some date as yet undetermined, may be 1200. The plant would be constructed with expansion in mind. Such rooms as cafeteria and library, for example, would be built on the outside, so that additions could be readily made. There would be flexibility, too, so that possibly a Junior High Grade could be accomodated, in the years before the Senior High fills the buildings.

The hope is that the buildings can be ready by September, 1960, but the Committee says it has a tight schedule. It hopes to have a definite program to offer the Town at the regular Town Meeting of March, 1959.

The buildings will sit on an elevation, all on one level, with the parking areas somewhat lower. A plaza effect, they call it. There may be several parking areas.

The committee is thinking of asking the Town for money to grade and seed the proposed playing fields, so that they may be in use as soon as the school is.

The 90-acre lot is one of the largest high school sites in the Commonwealth, as big as some college campuses. It has room galore for all sorts of recreational facilities. It even has a long frontage on the Sudbury River, which, when it finally runs clean, should offer many possibilities. In size, the site compares with 78 acres for Lincoln-Sudbury Regional and 62 acres recently acquired for Weston High.

One suggestion, which is still no more than that, is that at some time in the future, when the threatened college overpopulation occurs, there might be room on this site for a junior college.

Biggest Town Project

The committee wants to emphasize that many more public meetings will be held, and that everybody will have an opportunity to present his ideas as to what should or should not go into the new plant. The committee isn't yet prepared to talk about costs, except to note that comparable plants in recent years have cost from $1,250,000 to $2,000,000. (The Massachusetts School Building Assistance Commission should pick up a large part of the check.)

In any case, this school plant, like the Town Office Building, is being planned to serve the Town into the indefinite future, and it will probably be the most considerable single project in the Town's history.

Chairman of the building committee is Allan R. Finlay. School Committee members of the building committee are Jack Arnold, Eleanor Benjamin and Douglas Surgenor. Ed Thorburn represents the Planning Board and John Wilson the Finance Committee. Dan Sheehan and Mrs. William L. Bertelsen, like Mr. Finlay, are members at large. Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson is secretary and William M. Griffin, High School principal, sits in on meetings.

Consultant is Don Mitchell of Woodridge Road, Wayland, and Cambridge Consultants, Inc. Architect is Architects Collaborative, Inc.

Red Cross Prominent In Memorial Pool Program

WESTON — What happened to the money contributed to the Red Cross through the United Fund last fall?

Part of each dollar will be used to support many of the organized activities at the Memorial Pool this summer. The Red Cross sponsors the pool supervisor and assistant, and annually purchases water safety equipment for use in the program. A fibreglass rowboat, marker floats, ring buoys and first aid kit are some of the items which have been procured in past years. The life saving instruction manuals as well as the certificates and emblems, which the small fry triumphantly bring home, are all provided through Red Cross donations.

Safety is the main concern of the swimming instructors and each year the Red Cross sends several staff members to an aquatic school for intensive training in water safety and first aid. This year Kathy Minihan and Vincent Hoagland will attend the 10-day course at South Hanson.

Instruction at the pool during the Summer will be given in the following swimming classes: Beginners, Intermediate Swimmers, Advanced Swimmers, Junior and Senior Life Saving. Last year 127 children received certificates in these courses.

Mrs. Richard Dunbar will supervise the pool activities and will have Ernest Trowbridge as her assstant. There will be five other staff members. Their schedule promises to be a busy one because in 1957 the attendance averaged over 3500 swimmers, waders and sun bathers per week.

Weston Committee Studies Facilities Needed For New High School Plant

WESTON — A Steering Committee representing various elements in the school system has been selected to decide the scope and organization of a High School study next fall by parents and teachers. A survey of Weston education was last made in 1944 by town-wide participation in the Simpson Report.

The Committee consists of Anthony Brackett, superintendent; Mrs. Harry Crawford, School Committee; Aimo Teittinen, selected by the teachers; Mrs. Harry Corman and Richard Wareham, selected by chairmen of the Brackett High School Study Group, and a representative from the Special High School Plant Committee. The Committee will be helped by a professional educational consultant, paid from School Committee funds.

Dr. Brackett's Study Group, which met this spring to discuss needs and facilities of a new high school, suggested further study before the final plans for the new High School are drawn up.

Karl Adams Jr. Elected Microdealers President

WESTON — Karl Adams Jr., above, formerly of Corwood Drive, was elected president of Microdealers, Inc., at the recent annual meeting in New Orleans. A national organization, with headquarters in Waltham, Microdealers, Inc., coordinate the buying, research and advertising, as well as national contracts for industry or government, for a group of the largest independent microfilm service companies in the country.

Adams, a 1933 graduate of Harvard, has been actively interested in the microfilm field since 1936 when he started Graphic Microfilm of New England, second oldest microfilm company in the nation, in Boston. He later established an office in New York City which now operates under the name of Graphic Microfilm Corporation, an independent organization.

AB Positive Blood Types Are Asked To Register

WAYLAND — Mrs. Athlon S. Huntley, blood chairman for the Wayland Red Cross, says that the Wayland Red Cross has plenty of blood to meet the needs of Jimmy Allen, who faces more surgery during the coming year, and will take care of him in this respect.

However, she says it would help if local persons having AB positive blood, Jimmy's type, would call her and put their names on file, for possible direct donation in case of emergency.

Many have called and offered blood for Jimmy, she says, but there is no machinery in Wayland for taking it and if it were given at Framingham it would just go into the hospital's blood bank and be of direct benefit neither to Jimmy nor Wayland.

What she would like, she says, is a generous turnout of donors when the bloodmobile comes to Wayland in September. Then will be the time to replenish the local supply, she says, and make up whatever Jimmy has used.

Mr. And Mrs. C. P. Gorely Jr., Weston, Were Founders Of The Wedgwood Club

WESTON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Gorely Jr. were honored with a leatherbound volume of tributes for their work as the founders and president and secretary of the Wedgwood Club for 25 years at the Club's 183rd meeting at the Boston Public Library on May 24. The Club presented the Library with $1000 to establish the Wedgwood Club 25th Anniversary Fund for purchase of books in the field of ceramics, in memory of Mrs. Marcus A. Coolidge, a long-time member and wife of the former Massachusetts Senator.

To celebrate its 25th year, the Club exhibited more than 200 pieces of 18th century "Queensware" or creamware at the Library during May. This ware was perfected by Josiah Wedgwood in 1763 and named for Queen Charlotte, wife of George III, who used it. Up to that time, the rich used only porcelain or silver dishes on their tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorely's appreciation for the beauty of possessions handed down in their New England families prompted them to found the Wedgewood Club in 1933. Today the Club numbers more than 200 members in 34 states, England, Canada and Italy. As Mrs. Gorely explains:

"We've used the things we had to open up vistas for other people. Almost everyone has some piece of ceramics to start from as a common denominator to unite people. If you once start, you can go anywhere."

Mrs. Gorely, a Wellesley graduate, has written 14 books on Wedgwood, as well as articles on 18th century art, Emerson and Thoreau. She corresponded with the late Queen Mary of England on art subjects for years. When the Gorelys moved to Weston in 1946, Queen Mary sent an 18th century engraving of Windsor Castle, her home, to put on the wall of "Gore Lea", their newly restored pre-Revolutionary home on the Boston Post Road.

Mr. Gorely is a landscape architect. The Gorelys have a daughter in Brookline, and three grandchildren.

Jimmy Allen

Mr. and Mrs. Allen are extremely grateful to those who have come to their aid. They both realize that the boy would not live without the aid required for special nursing. Hospitalization insurance does not cover this all important expense.

Almost one full day of this special nursing care was raised through the efforts of Steven Dicks and David W. Bolton. These boys, dressed in their scout uniforms, marched with the Wayland Veterans of Foreign Wars in the V.F.W. parade held at Framingham last Saturday. Carrying a sign and pulling a decorated cart for donations, they raised $43.02.

Other donations are being received daily from individuals and merchants throughout the Town. Sincere appreciation is expressed by the Allens. However, the need is still urgent since the monies are disbursed at the rate of $48.00 daily. There is only about $200.00 left in the fund and this will be dissipated in about four days in the absence of new pledges.

Mrs. Barbara Huntley of the Wayland Red Cross has been receiving 2 to 3 calls daily since the accident from potential blood donors.

The Kiwanis Club of Wayland and the Wayland Veterans of Foreign Wars were represented at a meeting held on Saturday, June 21, with the Treasurer of the Jimmy Allen Fund, to discuss further means of raising funds. Those present were Warren R. Bolton, Chairman of the Wayland Kiwanis U.P.C. Committee, William Gauthier, Post Commander of the Wayland V.F.W. and Clyde Crozier, Treasurer of the Jimmy Allen Fund.

The soft ball game between the Kiwanis Club and V.F.W. previously called off because of inclement weather was scheduled for Monday, June 23.

Microwave of Framingham has challenged the winner of this game to play their soft ball team and proceeds will go to the Fund. More funds will be raised at a spaghetti supper to be held on Saturday, July 13, at the Wayland V.F.W. Hall. It is tentatively planned that a door-to-door solicitation will be conducted on Sunday, July 14, V.F.W. wives and Kiwanian wives and others will be asked to participate.

Contributions may be mailed to Jimmy Allen Fund, Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, Cochituate Branch, Cochituate.

At last accounts, more than $1000 had been raised.

Rod And Gun Club Is One Idea Given To Committee

WAYLAND—An organized rod and gun club and a recreational center where teen-agers could go under parental supervision are two things which High School students of this town feel would help provide more recreation opportunities for them.

These ideas and several others, including a night softball league, more tennis courts, badminton courts, and more swimming meets, open to all, were brought out at a recent meeting between a group of High School students and a member of the Town's Recreation Advisory Committee, Mrs. Edward Veno.

The idea of an organized rod and gun club has met with support from several Kiwanis Club members, and has the official sanction of Police Chief Ernest Damon. The Chief told members of the Committee, headed by Theodore R. Magoun of Cochituate, that his department would cooperate in such a venture.

The Kiwanis Club, which runs Halloween parties for young children and teen-agers, and also runs a trout derby and a fishing derby yearly for all children up to 14, feels that this would be a good program for the older boys, and would make for greater safety in the woods when they become eligible to go hunting.

Recreational facilities in town could be improved, the committee feels, by having townspeople make use of the two unused future school sites, one off Sherman Bridge Road in the North end of Wayland, and the other off East Plain Street in Cochituate, site of the future Junior High School. These are two pieces of ground which could be used for softball or baseball or just play areas for younger children.

With a little mowing party organized by interested parents and older children, they could be put into shape easily. The Town owns title to this land, and it is at present under the jurisdiction of the Selectmen, not the School Committee. The Selectmen have told the Recreation Advisory Committee that townspeople have their permission to make use of the land under the same restrictions which govern the use of all Town-owned land, namely that persons use it at their own risk. Interested parents of these two neighborhoods could get together and pool their resources.

Several suggestions for further recreational opportunities in Wayland have been given to the committee, and its five members emphasize the fact that they are open to more suggestions. They would welcome the chance to be invited to the meetings of Wayland organizations in the fall, and to discuss ideas that the members of these clubs might have. Besides Mr. Magoun, the committee members are Jerry Joyce, Harvey Newton, Mrs. Edward Veno and Mrs. Donald Willard.

SHORT TAKES ## COCHITUATE

Elmer R. Kane visited the Cochituate School recently to say hello to teachers and pupils who knew him when he was principal there from 1952 to 1956. He left the Wayland school system two years ago to go to Columbia University on a research fellowship, and was awarded his doctorate in Education at the Columbia commencement exercises a few weeks ago. While at Columbia, Mr. Kane traveled all over the United States as a research assistant, observing school systems and teachers. Asked how Wayland schools tack up, he said that Wayland has nothing to be ashamed of. While he was in town, he took a look at the Loker School, new since he was here. Mr. Kane, his wife and two sons, Donald, 5, and Stephen, 3, are living near Columbia University in New York City. His plans for next year are uncertain, but he expects to spend the next few weeks working on the details of publication of his thesis. . .

Members of the staff of the Wellesley College library had a farewell get-together for one of their number last week at the home of Mrs. Donald B. Willard, Old Connecticut Path. Mrs. Willard, former librarian at the Cochituate branch library and former trustee of the Wayland Public Library, is now on the staff at Wellesley. The guest of honor at the party was Miss Helen Sleeper, who is retiring after 34 years as Music Librarian at Wellesley College . . .

Ten year old Edward Haigh of Cochituate, a fourth grade pupil at the Loker School, is one of the youngsters whose work is being displayed at the Natick Art Festival. Eddie's picture, titled "The Artist's Cats", is in the geodesic dome on Natick common, and is the subject of much favorable comment by visitors. . . His mother is Mary Haigh (Mrs. Ronald Haigh) of Peck Avenue. Some of her work is also on exhibition at the Festival. . .

The fourth grades from the Cochituate school visited the famous globe of the world and the relief map of the United States of America at Babson Institute, Wellesley, during the last week of school. Picnic lunches had to be eaten on the school buses in the parking lot because of the bad weather, but everyone enjoyed the expedition. The children met Mr. Roger Babson. He greeted them as they filed into the map room, and their teachers, Mrs. Neal and Mrs. Gladu, and the mothers who accompanied them were introduced to Mr. Babson by Miss Teresa Gubellini, the curator of the globe and map exhibits. . .

George Bogren of West Plain Street, his son, Pete, and Carlisle Scotland of Lake Road put in a week of salmon fishing near Moosehead Lake in Maine recently. Another member of the party was the Rev. Donald Voorhis of Manchester, New Hampshire, pastor of the Community Methodist Church here several years ago. . . Monsignor David Bushey of Worcester was a dinner guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brosseau of West Plain Street. Msgr. Bushey, who is Mrs. Brosseau's cousin, is secretary to Bishop John Wright of the Worcester diocese. He is convalescing from several broken ribs received several weeks ago in an automobile accident, in which Bishop Wright had his shoulder broken. . .

Mrs. William Foley and her year-old son, William, Jr., arrived on Friday to spend two weeks with her parents, while her husband goes to National Guard camp. Mrs. Foley is the former Rita Brosseau, a member of the class of 1956 at Wayland High School. The Foleys recently moved to East Hartford, Connecticut, from their home in Manchester, N. H., when Bill, Sr., was transferred to the J. J. Newberry store there. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Marston of Shawmut Avenue and their six children spent two weeks at Eastham, on the Cape, while Mr. Marston was on vacation from his job with the telephone company. . .

The Cochituate branch library went on summer schedule as soon as school closed, and will no longer be open on Saturdays. . .

Registrations for use of the beach have been coming in rather slowly, probably because the weather is not making people beach-conscious, reports Mrs. Thomas Murray, who is doing the registering at the beach house . . . More out-of-towners are paying the $25 fee for beach privileges here than in the past, however.

Committees Get Together

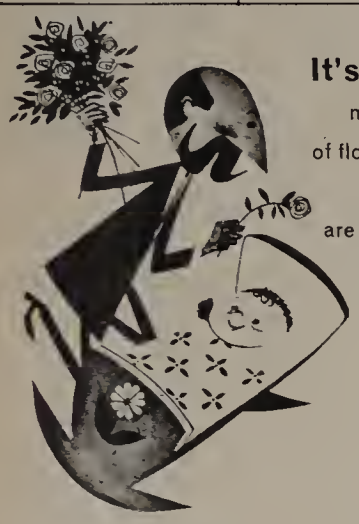
WESTON—The elected officers of the Town plus members of the various committees met at the Jones House on June 23 to discuss their plans so that each committee would know the problems and plans of the other committees. This was the first meeting since October.



It's birthday time for someone this month. Anyone you know? Remember, a bouquet of flowers is a gift welcomed by the young... the old . . . by all ages! In fact, flowers are the perfect choice for every gift, just as they are the perfect accessory for every occasion. Whatever your flower needs, we're as near to you as your phone. Call us for fresh flowers anytime.

Wayland History At Happy Hollow

Teachers and children of Grade 2, in costume, sampled some butter which was made in class. Teachers, left to right: Miss Katherine Barron and Miss Pauline Natale. Pupils: Bud Carrier, Rhonda Gallagher, Debra Colbath, Lee Basney, Kenny Dutton and Nancy Howland. (John McCann)

WAYLAND — "History of Wayland Week" at Happy Hollow School wound up with an afternoon program on June 19. Activities included building an old farm and an old-time school and making models of the old mill, the meetinghouse and the Heard House.

Also studied were stories of early Wayland and King Philip's War, and the development of the local schools, churches and library. Included in the program were old songs and a play by Miss Eva Gately's class, "A Week In Old Wayland".

The Snoozy Old Summer Time Arrives

Summer, not particularly hot, finally arrived, and relaxation set in.

The Weston Little League ended its season, at about the time when the Wa-Co baseball program was just getting under way.

All the garden clubs suddenly went out of business. Members were too busy with trowel, spade, hoe, tractor and bulldozer to hold meetings.

All the other civic and social organizations, numbering approximately 1000, also developed low visibility.

People went away. That's because Summer is the only time when the climate around here is suitable for human beings. Residents accustomed to Winter, Spring and Fall can't stand it. So they go to mountains, beaches, Europe, Mexico or Washington, D.C.

There's no place like home to get away from.

Along the main roads poured heavy traffic, consisting largely of automobiles full of visitors from other parts of the country, getting away from their own homes and coming here.

But down the side roads and in local back yards there was peace, broken only by the gnawing of cutworms, the squawking of bluejays and the barking of pheasants.

People who liked to swim went to the Memorial Pool or to Lake Cochituate.

The advantage of dunking in these waters is that one can get home before he has time to get all warmed up again. Now and then somebody thinks it's a good idea to go to an ocean beach. By the time he has spent an hour and a half driving home he's ready for another bath.

Gray squirrels continued to steal the bird food. The gray squirrel population of this neighborhood is probably somewhere around 15,000.

It was a little early for hurricane scares.

It was the beginning of the good old snoozy Summer time, so quiet around here that there isn't even a municipal observance of the Fourth of July.

C. B. Tillson Jr. Named Assistant Manager, Fuel Division, Crucible Steel

C. B. Tillson, Jr.

COCHITUATE — Charles B. Tillson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Tillson of 50 Commonwealth Road, who attended Wayland High School between 1929 and 1933, has been named assistant manager of the fuel division of the Crucible Steel Company of America. He has been general superintendent of the company's mines.

Mr. Tillson was graduated from Lehigh University with a degree in mining engineering. He went to Crucible in 1952 after 15 years with Bethlehem Mines Corp.

Mr. Tillson is a past managing director of the Coal Mining Institute of American, a member of the Pittsburg Coal Mining Association Institute, the Mining Electro-Mechanical Maintenance Association, the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, and the Kanawha Valley Mining Institute.

A native of Plattsburg, N. Y., Mr. Tillson now resides in Crucible, Pa., with his wife, Madalyn, and their three children, Charles B., Norma Jeanne and Eileen.

WAYLAND—President George V. Deverell and Vice President Domenic Strazzulla of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland were delegates to the International Kiwanis convention at Chicago, June 29 to July 2, when 15,000 members, wives and children were on hand.

Among the significant events on the program was the laying of the cornerstone for the new headquarters building at Rush and Erie Streets.

Nuthatches Nest In Weston Mailbox

The Nuthatch takes a look around.

WESTON—Although House Wrens have been known to build nests in odd locations such as mail boxes, clothes-pin bags, even the pocket of a coat hanging in a shed, White-breasted Nuthatches usually stick to natural cavities in trees. Occasionally a nesting box is used, but they seem to be particularly fussy about its location, so it is exceptional to find a pair using a mail box, as they did this spring on Silver Hill Road, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Cutler.

There are two mail-boxes on a post at the foot of the Cutlers' driveway, and in late April the nuthatches were seen carrying nesting material into one of them, entering through the slot in the door. The door was tied shut and 11-year-old Clifford Cutler made and put up this sign: "PLEASE DO NOT USE THIS MAIL BOX. USE OTHER BOX. BIRDS ARE NESTING IN MAIL BOX. THANK YOU."

The Weston mailmen cooperated fully.

The six eggs hatched on May 10, and the young birds were successfully raised, leaving the box four weeks later on June 6. The picture shown here was taken on May 21 by Allen H. Morgan of Wayland, Executive Vice-President of the Mass. Audubon Society. He also took motion pictures in color of the parent birds carrying food into the box.

Her mother and father both of whom are teachers, live within five minutes of the College de Rombas, which Susan Toner of Weston will attend next year, and they have invited Susan to spend the year with them. A number of Weston families have already offered their hospitality to Francoise, who is scheduled to arrive early in September.

Donald Alstad Recital

(John J. McCann)

Donald Alstad

WAYLAND — Before an audience of relatives, friends and teachers, Donald Alstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Alstad of Rich Valley Road, gave an impressive pionoforte recital on June 25 at the home of Allen N. Barker, Glezer Lane.

Among those present were Mrs. Pauline Radford, supervisor of music in the elementary schools, and Mrs. George W. Lindenberg, teacher at the Claypit Hill School. For the final number, three movements of Joseph Hayden's Concerto in D-Major, Mr. Barker played the orchestra part on a second piano.

Wa-Co Baseball Program

WAYLAND — The first half of the Wa-Co baseball program was completed on June 26, it is announced, and the second half will begin July 7.

Because so many families are away on vacation, however, the Little Nippers schedule has been reduced from two games a week to one. Junior Division teams will still play twice a week, but the division has been reduced from ten to eight teams.

Little Lassie games will be played as scheduled.

ANNUAL PROBLEM-- TIE UP TOMATOES OR LET 'EM FALL

About this time of year, when the burrowing and climbing cutworms have done their worst and drought hasn't yet done its dirty work, always arises the question whether to tie up the tomato plants or let them sprawl.

With the lazy gardener, of course, this is no problem. He's going to let them sprawl, because it's too much trouble to do anything else. But if he has a conscience, of which there is no guarantee, he feels a little guilty about it.

Almost everybody has seen a garden full of well tied up tomatoes. These grow without leaves, because they are picked clean in some magic way unknown to amateurs. They carry big red tomatoes, unsullied by the touch of the ground. Each plant looks as efficient as a grapevine which is all grapes and no leaves.

The sprawling tomato, on the contrary, falls flat on all its faces. Some of its fruit lies in the dirt, some in the air, some squeezed under limbs. Sometimes it takes a search warrant to find a ripe tomato under all the foliage, which also serves as a fine mulch to protect the growing weeds.

The authorities are no help, either.

They only say yes and no. They refuse to say that one method of tomato culture is better than another.

Oil the Poles

And next to the tomatoes in the garden are the climbing beans, on poles.

Those poles are the problem. A fellow with a woodlot of his own can always go out with the ax and chop all the poles he wants. But without the woodlot, the gardener can either steal saplings by the roadside somewhere, an activity which is frowned upon, or he can buy poles.

At the going price for bean poles, it is estimated that every hill of climbing beans, even with a bumper crop, will set the gardener back about 65 cents a season. Of course, by using the poles for two or three seasons, providing they don't rot or the children don't carry them away, he can reduce this loss to around 23 cents a hill.

A practice not recommended, but one which should be helpful, would be greasing the pole. Unwinding the dead bean stalks in the Fall is a tiresome occupation. Were the pole oiled, the stalks should slide right off.

Surplus Cucumbers

A cheap way out is to plant the climbing beans in the corn. This works That is, both corn and beans will grow, and at harvest time the gardener can hire a peon with a machete to hack his way through the jungle to pick the succotash.

Another little problem which comes up is what to do with cucumbers, in season when cucumbers grow.

The first two cucumbers will be eaten eagerly by the gardener's family.

The next two will be accepted reluctantly. The first peck will be disregarded, and the next bushel or so will be a headache.

At cucumber season everybody has cucumbers, including the storekeeper. After a while one feels sheepish even trying to give them away.

The only sure way out is to pick all the cucumbers, store them in paper bags and leave them in a shady place out of doors. By December 15 they will have frozen solid, in which state they can be readily transported to the Town dump, where they'll be accepted as trash because they will land with a clunk.

But the most amazing story was that of the castaway who planted a Maine potato on a desert island in the South Seas. The potato grew and the minute it had leaves Maine potato bugs appeared on it. Now how did those potato bugs get there? — D.B.W.

Cerebral Palsy Program Meeting At Parmenter

WAYLAND—The Program Services Committee of the United Cerebral Palsy of Framingham-Natick area sponsored a well attended meeting on June 25 at the Parmenter Health Center, with representatives present from Framingham, Natick, Ashland, Holliston, Hopkinton, Sherborn, Sudbury and Wayland.

Dr. Randolph K. Byers of the Children's Medical Center, Boston, spoke on "What is Cerebral Palsy" and "What Are the Needs of Those with Cerebral Palsy."

The new colored film of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Massachusetts titled "This is Cerebral Palsy" was shown. This is a documentary film actually showing the progress being made against this malady which affects 15,000 children and adults in Massachusetts alone.

An interesting discussion concerning the aims of the local Affiliate of United Cerebral Palsy followed. Little is known about the number and the needs of the Cerebral Palsy patients in this area and the facilities for treatment that are available to them. Compiling these facts is the primary goal of the Program Services Committee.

More people from the above-named towns are urgently needed to help with this very worthwhile project. Parents or community-minded persons who would like to help these Cerebral Palsy children and adults, are asked to contact Mr. George Dobranske at TRinity 5-5366.

COCHITUATE

Wayland fire and rescue apparatus from Station 2 made a quick run to the Lake Cochituate bathing beach early Sunday evening but happily was not needed after all. Parents of a young bather could not find him among the crowd on the beach and were afraid he might be in trouble in the water. He turned up safe and sound when the fire engine arrived, however. . . .

Fire Chief Hartin says that the alarm of fire which was sounded late Thursday night in North Wayland was directly related to the explosion of the jet tanker in Chicopee, Massachusetts, which took the lives of 15 persons. A passer-by saw what he thought was a fire through the windows of a new, unoccupied house on Claypit Hill road, and pulled a box to call the fire department. There was no fire, and officials think that what he really saw was a reflection of that explosion many miles away, at just that time. . . .

John Simoni, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simoni of Timber Lane, and a member of the class of 1959 at W. H. S., will enter Massachusetts General Hospital on July 13 for the last in a long series of operations on his leg. John was badly injured two years ago when he was struck by a car on East Plain Street while riding his bike home from the ball field. . . . He will be hospitalized for three weeks and will be on crutches for a while after that. . . .

Priscilla DeMartini, 8, of Edgewood Road and her cousin, Beverly Martino of Pemberton Road, both were publicly commended on the last day of school by Principal Walter Doucette of the Cochituate School. Along with several other students, they chalked up a record of perfect attendance during the past school year. . . .

The weather man came through with a perfect day on June 29 for the annual outing provided by the Lake Cochituate Boat Club for the youngsters from St. Anne's Orphanage in Worcester. This is the fourth year that busloads of boys and girls, accompanied by several of the nuns who run the orphanage, have come to Lake Cochituate State Park area for a day of fun and frolic in the woods and on the water. Nobody has been able to decide who has a better time, the hosts or the guests. . . .

Mrs. Kenneth Stevens of Gage Road is the newly elected secretary for the P. T. A. Council. Other officers elected at the Council meeting on June 25 were Mr. Arthur Weiss of Moore Road, president; Mr. Luis Roever of Pequot Road, vice-president, and Mrs. William Gombos of Concord Road, treasurer. The Council is made up of four representatives from each of the five P. T. A.'s in town, and Mr. Anderson, superintendent of schools. . . . The first session at Camp Nacochwa begins soon. Hard-working parents spent the past week-end getting set up for the month and stayed overnight in the Scout house at the camp. . . . Deborah Avery of Snake Brook Road and Marjorie McCann of Edgewood Road have been accepted as aides at Camp Nacochwa for the month. . . .

Miss Mary Connolly, who taught the third grade for several years at the Cochituate School and who has been exchange teaching in Germany for the past two years, will teach in the Wayland system again this fall. . . . Members of the Shore Acres Club enjoyed a cookout and movies recently at the home of Mrs. Fern Taylor of Edgewood Road. The club is planning to attend in a group one of the forthcoming performances at the new Carousel Theatre in Framingham. . . .

High School Chairman

WESTON — Dr. Richard Wareham has been elected chairman with Mrs. Harry Corman as secretary of the Steering Committee for a study next fall of what Weston wants in a high school. Mrs. Rolf Stutz will represent the Special High School Plant Committee on this committee.

Volmer Hetherington Is Hi-Fi Manager

WESTON — Radio Shack Corp. of Boston has appointed Volmer Hetherington of 97 Bogle Street as manager of high fidelity equipment sales division.

Mr. Hetherington, a noted musician, has been a member of the Boston Pops and Esplanade Orchestras under Arthur Fiedler, and has appeared in Broadway productions, including "Brigadoon", "Oklahoma", "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and "The Glass Menagerie". He has M.A. and Mus.B. degrees from Boston University.

J. Ward Carter Writes On Executive Secretary Job

WESTON — J. Ward Carter, Town Executive Secretary, is the author of an article, "New Trends in Town Administration", published in the April issue of "The Massachusetts Selectman", official publication of the Massachusets Selectmen's Association. The paper was read at the Governor's Conference on State, County and Municipal Relations.

Subtitle of Mr. Carter's article is "The Development of the Office of Executive Secretary in Weston". In it he tells just what he does, in a kind of position not yet common in Massachusetts Towns.

In Wayland, Mr. Norman E. Taylor has a job which parallels that of Mr. Carter. Not a Town Manager, the Executive Secretary nevertheless is a person who can carry out the directives of the Selectmen and be a help to many Town Departments, besides being a person who is available to citizens having business with the Town.

Mr. Carter's article is a scholarly, thoughtful explanation of a kind of municipal management which is attracting more attention each year.

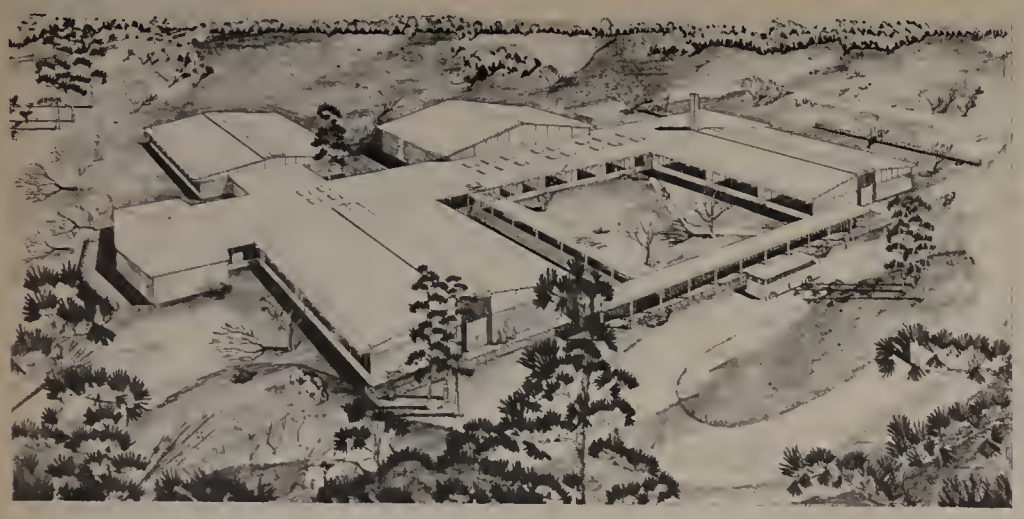
Children Will Choose Name For New Weston School



WESTON — Weston elementary school pupils, next year, will be asked to choose a name for the new elementary school, architect's picture shown above, for which it is hoped the contract will be let around Sept. 1. The Town has voted $750,000 for the building. The auditorium, left, and the rear wing, left, are not to be built immediately. The school will have 12 classrooms and the architects are Hugh Stubbins and Associates of Cambridge. Weston school children chose the name of The Country School. While the committee doesn't know exactly what it will get this time, it hopes some equally felicitous name will be chosen.

Faith Dame Passes Exam At Head Of The Class

WAYLAND — Excerpt from a letter from Miss Faith Dame to her mother, Mrs. I. L. Dame Sr., formerly of Cochituate, now of South Duxbury. Miss Dame went to Washington to work at the end of 1952. She says:

"Every secretary that comes to Washington aims for the goal of administrator's assistant. Well, I passed the examination with honors at the head of a class of 40 last week. My superiors in the Laboratory were elated and I was immediately promoted to take the place of the administrator in the head office of this department . . .

"It was harder than I anticipated, but I went to bed early five nights a week for the three-week course and went over to the classroom at 7 in the morning, when it was quiet, until about 8:30 when the others started to come in. I never could have done it otherwise because the girls, here at the hotel, pop in at all hours . . ."

Some Handsome Old Taverns Still Survive In Wayland

Built in the late 1700s, the Luther Moore Tavern, on Concord Road at the junction of Ox Bow Road, is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Scovill Jr. (John J. McCann)

The Jacob Reeves Tavern, built in 1740 on Old Connecticut Path, still has the original bar and the original fireplaces. Mr. Richard Hubbard, present occupant, is shown here at the bar. (John J. McCann)

WAYLAND—Typical of a dozen or so taverns you could have stopped at in Wayland almost 200 years ago was the old Corner Tavern, near the Weston and Wayland line.

As your stage coach drew up to the door, the post horn would bring Host Nathaniel Reeves hurrying to greet you. The stable boy would run to unhitch the six tired horses that had traveled since 3 a.m. from Boston. For Corner Tavern, opened in 1765, on the site of the present Red Coach Grille, was the place where horses were changed on the stage route from Boston to Worcester.

Since before dawn, your coach had been jogging over the dusty highway from stables on Elm Street, Boston, over the West Boston Bridge, through Cambridge, Watertown, Waltham and Weston. When daylight broke, you saw the roads crowded with traffic on this, the major highway west and southward from Boston.

Rum in the Morning

Around the tavern you saw the small buildings of businesses that had grown up around one of the most prosperous inns in town: a harness shop, blacksmith, grocer, paint and carriage shop. Inside you were met with the warm smells of freshly baked bread and roasting meat and fowl.

Perhaps the few ladies aboard peeped curiously into the upstairs dancing hall, before retiring to the ladies' parlor. Even though it was still morning, some of the gentlemen would be ready for a stout tankard of rum in the taproom. No doubt all would partake of the host's hearty breakfast for it would be a long time before the stage stopped again for the night, perhaps as far as Pease Tavern, Shrewsbury. In those days, the trip to New York took about a week and time of arrival varied greatly with the weather and the temper of the coachman.

One of the few old taverns still standing today is the Luther Moore Tavern at the Junction of Ox Bow and Concord Roads. Built in the late eighteenth century, it is now the home of the Paul W. Scovills.

The Ordinary

The earliest tavern in town, the Parmenter Ordinary, stood on the corner of Concord and Bow Roads, between the houses now owned by Roger P. Stokey and Frank G. MacKenna. Built in 1654 by order of the Town, this tavern predated stage coach days and served largely townspeople, not travelers.

The Hopestill Bent Tavern, built in 1710, on Old Connecticut Path, is now the home of Mr. George L. Nolan. (John J. McCann)

People traveling to Connecticut Towns over Old Connecticut path about 1776, found three taverns along that route. First was the Javob Reeves Tavern, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hubbard. Built in 1740, this house contains the old fireplaces and the original bar of tavern days.

The Hopestill Bent Tavern, built in 1710, is also standing. The present owner, George L. Nolan, remembers the generous old tavern fireplaces which still existed in the house during his childhood. The Caleb Moulton Tavern, 1730-1805, on the corner of Stonebridge Road, is reputed to have spread such good cheer as to give to the area the ancient name, "Happy Hollow." Today Lavin's stands on the site of this old tavern.

Four early American taverns stood on the site of modern day restaurants and package stores. Besides Lavin's and the Red Coach Grille, there was the Loker Tavern on the site of the present Italian Villa and the old Frog House at the intersection of Plain Street and Cochituate Road, near The Stein.

In all, there were probably a dozen taverns in town in the year 1776. Clearly, so many inns so close could operate profitably only because of the volume of heavy teaming and staging that went over Wayland's roads. Through Weston and Wayland ran the most important route connecting Boston with New York, Philadelphia, Connecticut and the western sections of the state. And as opposition stage coach lines grew up, each had its own tavern for changing horses and entertaining passengers.

In 1935, with the opening of the Boston and Worcester and Boston and Providense railroads, trains replaced stage coaches and teaming.

One by one the old taverns closed their doors. Traffic over Old Post Road and Old Connecticut Path dwindled. Wayland became the quiet country village it was until rediscovered in the Automobile Age.

Three Weeks Have Been Lost In Building B Race

WESTON — The renovation of School Building B is proceeding slower than originally hoped, but the School Committee believes that it can be ready for elementary school use late in September. The renovation lost two to three weeks because the Massachusetts State Legislature has not okayed exemption from the open bidding required on public buildings.

The June 4 Special Town Meeting voted $31,000 to avoid double sessions by putting the six rooms in Building B into elementary school use during the current classroom shortage. The Meeting also voted to ask the Legislature to exempt Weston from public bidding on Building B as an emergency measure. This would have permitted the Town to pick its own contractor to get the job done in a hurry by September 1.

The Legislature has not acted on Weston's request. Therefore the School Committee is proceeding as fast as possible under existing laws. Donald McMullin, Weston resident, is architect for the renovation and has already drawn up the specifications.

Governor Hails Fifty Years Of 4H Work In Bay State

The 50th Anniversary of 4-H Club work in Massachusetts counties was celebrated with a recent proclamation by Governor Foster Furcolo. In his proclamation the Governor said:

"In honor of the 50th Anniversary of 4-H Club work this year of 1958. I extend to you—the 12,000 4-H Club members in Massachusetts—my best wishes. We are proud of your achievements and look forward to your continued success.

"As part of my best wishes, I salute the parents and pay tribue to the local volunteer leaders who help make your achievements possible. I am sure you, your parents and the Extension Service of the University of Massachusetts appreciate the capable guidance which these men and women have given you.

"As you continue to grow in wisdom and as your responsibilities increase, so will your worth to your Community, your State and your Nation become ever more fruitful and rewarding."

Many 4-H Clubs are continuing to recognize the 50th Anniversary through window and fair exhibits, radio and TV programs, and also special meetings. Special attention will be given to this anniversary at the coming Eastern States Exposition.

New Weston Tax Rate

WESTON — The tax rate has been set at $47 per $1000, an increase of $3 over last year. It includes all the appropriations made at the three Town Meetings in March and June. It does not include bond retirement or interest charges for new school construction.

Top Honors Go To Weston Boy At Annual Session Of Boys State

Thomas J. Kelly Jr. Named Most Outstanding Boy: Will Represent Bay State In Washington This Month

WESTON — "Most Outstanding Boy" at Boys State this year!

This was the title earned by sixteen-year-old Thomas J. Kelly Jr. of Lantern Lane in Weston during the recent 14th annual Boys State held at University of Massachusetts.

Kelly, a junior at Weston High School, was selected as the 1958 candidate of Weston American Legion Post No. 214 to attend the yearly conclave of an estimated four hundred boys from all over the Bay State who spend a week studying local, state and federal government.

The Boys State program is sponsored at the state and national level by the American Legion.

In addition to being honored as the "Most Outstanding Boy", Kelly was appointed First Delegate to Boys Nation, to be held in Washington D.C. from July 18 to July 25. He will be one of two boys representing Massachusetts at the National Capitol. While attending Boys State, Kelly was elected Town Auditor, State Senator and Clerk of the State Senate.

Such honors are not new to young Kelly. Last Spring he won second place in the annual Weston Science Fair, along with cash awards from The Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Company and the Charles River Medical Society. He then went on to the Worcester Regional Science Fair, where he received top honors.

During May, Kelly represented Massachusetts at the National Science Fair which was held at Flint, Michigan.

The title of Kelly's winning science project was "Microbiological studies on the metabolic mechanism of 4-Aminomethylpteroyglutamic acid and nucleic acid metabolism". Earlier this year, Wallace W. Sawyer, Weston High School Science instructor, told newsmen the Kelly project had something to do with basic cancer research.

New Education Report Is Said To Be Encouraging

WESTON—The Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association has issued a report entitled "New Trends in Education" which should encourage parents and other citizens who are concerned about American public school education, and who hear far more about its faults and failures than about its achievements and its constant advances.

The report is too long for any detailed description here. It consists largely of a description of what is being done in 15 high schools throughout the state to improve the school curriculum in those directions in which the greatest need is felt: making provisions for the gifted through accelerated programs and enriched courses; emphasizing science and mathematics, in some cases by regrouping students so that they can get ahead at their own pace, in other cases by reorganization of courses and addition of material.

It should be noted that a number of these "innovations" are comparable with programs that have been in effect in the Weston schools for some years.

Sudbury, July 4- small onlookers

Wow! Look at those fire engines and soldiers! 2½ year old Edward Walsh of Pine Lakes section in Sudbury watches the annual 4th of July parade in the historic town. Meanwhile, Nora Dunn, also of Sudbury, seems more interested in practicing "on camera" for what might be another queen picture a few years hence. McCann Photo

How To Keep A Diary: Skip The Whole Thing And Just Keep A Fat Checkbook

Everybody should keep a diary, some say, and maybe Summer is a good time to start, because Summer is the time of leisure, when the human being is likely to get himself into trouble of a newsworthy kind.

But some rules are in order.

1. The diary keep should always give himself the best of it. In recording differences between himself and his spouse, or with friends or enemies, he should remember that he alone has the last word, as long as he is wielding the pen. To make the record look plausible, he should appear to be fair towards all, but he should not carry this apparent fairness too far. In the end, he should make it plain that he alone was in the right.

2. The writer should forget all about truth. In telling the story of his own life, truth would ruin him. What the human being really thinks isn't fit for publication, anyway. The author should invent a pretty dream world and make himself the hero, so that the story will look well if the world ever sees it.

How To Be Safe

3. To be really safe, the writer should leave himself out of the story entirely. He should watch others, like a cat at a rat hole, and listen. He may even leave the cocktails alone, at the cocktail party, and remember everything that is said. In this way he will pick up a great deal of piquant literary material, because it is well known that in vino veritas, even among the best people.

4. Another safe way is to record such impersonal items as movies seen, recipes found in papers, deep thoughts printed in The Reader's Digest or excerpts from campaign speeches. This stuff won't be very interesting, to be sure, but it will never get the writer into trouble.

5. A first question to decide is whether this diary is to be private or public. Should it be kept locked up, or left around where the baby may get into it and read something which may stunt his growth? Since no hiding place is foolproof, probably the diary keeper should always be conscious that somebody is going to read his stuff, sooner or later, and be prudent accordingly. After all, there's no sense in writing for the wall safe.

6. Another question is whether to write down a lot of juicy stuff and then burn the papers every day or every week.

7. For people around here, English is probably the best language to use.

Think Up Lies

8. Perhaps the pencil is the best writing tool to use. The writing will fade and smudge, in time, and this will be a safety factor.

9. No attention need be paid to syntax or spelling. Samuel Pepys even used shorthand, a device by which his famous diary was kept secret until too late for its publication to do any damage.

10. Another safeguard is to lock up Volume 1 for about 15 years. Then haul it out and read it over. It will probably seem so foolish one will burn it at once. There is a general prejudice against book burning, but this does not apply to diaries. In fact, it's the best thing to do with a diary.

11. The diary can be used as a weapon. All the author has to do is think up lies unfavorable to his enemies and write them down. Then he takes pains to see that the diary gets published at some date, not too late, and the aforesaid enemies will have to deny everything and not everybody will believe their denials.

12. Or, skip the whole thing and just keep a big fat checkbook, for which both contemporaries and posterity will feel a profound respect. — D.B.W.

The optimist is wrong as often as the pessimist. But the optimist has more fun.

YANKS INVADE GERMANY AGAIN---

Top U.S. Olympic Horses Competing Before 60,000 Fans At Aachen

Editor's Note: In view of the heavy population of horses and horse lovers in the area served by this paper, we shall henceforth present occasional features of interest to all horsemen. They will cover Western, Morgan, Hunter, Arabian and other breeds, as well as mounted sports and activity. The first such feature, in this issue, covers the activities of the United States Equestrian (Olympic) Team — now in Europe for a round of stiff International Shows, and in training for the Harrisburg, Madison Square Garden and Toronto shows this Fall.
This report comes direct from Aachen Germany where a gruelling ten day period of International jumping has just ended.
The next feature will be coverage of the National Morgan Horse Show to be held soon at Northampton, Massachusetts.

Special to The Town Crier

Aachen, Germany — Fourteen years have passed since young Americans invaded this resort center a few miles from the Holland border in the first big World War II battle to take place upon German soil. Today the Yanks are back—but their invasion this time is of a more peaceful, if nonetheless determined, nature.

Four riders and 12 horses, the members of the U.S. Equestrian Team, have been appearing here in the annual Aachen Horse Show which this year featured the competition for the European Championships. The show closed today.

The quartet of American horsemen, led by team captain Bill Steinkraus of Westport, Conn., includes Frank Chapot of Wallpack, N.J., Hugh Wiley of Towson, Md. and George Morris of New Canaan, Conn. The team, this country's representative in the field of international equestrian competition, is coached by Bert de Nemethy, a former Hungarian cavalry officer, now a naturalized U.S. citizen.

Crowds Top U.S. Baseball

For ten long, gruelling days of jumping competition, the U.S. contingent has faced the cream of the European riding world. Crowds ranging up to 60,000 at a single performance, have packed the huge stadium here to watch the riders of Germany, England, France, Spain, Russia, Italy, Chile, Belgium, Switzerland and the United States vie for top honors in what has become one of the world's largest horse shows.

2 Bay State Horses

The U.S. team, making its first start on its current four-month tour of the European show rings, has served ample notice on its competitors that it is well-mounted and prepared to do battle on even terms. The 10 horses, which have scored impressively throughout the competition, have been loaned to the team by U.S. horsemen. Outstanding among the equine members of the squad are a pair of Massachusetts-owned horses, Ksar d'Esprit and Diamant, loaned to the U.S.E.T. by Miss Eleo Sears, prominent Boston and Pride's Crossing sportswoman.

The fight for the European Championship saw the title go to Fritz Thiedemann of Germany after a see-saw battle that ended with Steinkraus capturing fifth place aboard Ksar d'Esprit. His teammate, Wiley, finished in sixth place aboard his own mount, Nautical.

First Boy Wins Jumping

In other events contested throughout the show, the U.S. riders demonstrated their abilities as Steinkraus turned back a field of 85 horses to win a jumping class with his mount, First Boy. Wiley topped a group of 105 contestants in a time class with the capable Nautical, while Chapot scored a handy second in another time event. In addition, the team members rode to other placings during the competition.

Following the Aachen show, the team is slated to compete at London, Dublin, Ostend and Rotterdam before returning to the U.S. Once back on their home soil, the riders will be faced with the preliminary selection trials at Fairfield, Conn., in late September which will be the basis for choosing the team to represent the U.S. in next year's Pan American Games.

In the meantime, however, four young U.S. riders and 12 sleek U.S. horses are forcing their European opponents to the limit.

SHORT TAKES COCHITUATE

Nearly everybody at Damon Farms stayed at home this year to celebrate the Fourth at a big neighborhood party. Festivities began with a parade at 3 o'clock and continued until midnight. Pony and fire-engine rides, egg-throwing contests, games, delicious food and drink, and dancing in the streets were the highlights of a program enjoyed by about 80 adults and 100 children. . .Martha Seley and Nancy Zeiler won the woman's egg-throwing contest, and Dick Mosher wound up as "Grand Exalted Fried Egg.". . .Doran Farms supplied the ponies; Ron Foley the lighting, Chuck Moody the hi-fi music, and Ray Russell the paper cups. General arrangements were handled by Jack Walter and Skip Johnson.

The youngsters stuffed themselves with hot dogs, fresh corn and potato salad, and 60 gallons of orangeade; their elders dined on steak and lobster procured especially for the affair by three intrepid local skin-divers, Kenneth Blair, Lester Murphy, and one other resident, who went up to Gloucester and brought them back alive. . .

Wayland F.D. Cooperates

Lacking a municipal celebration of its own, Wayland played its usual part in the parades of two neighboring towns. A fire-truck from Station 2, manned by Richard Groton and Fred Newton, was in the Natick parade on Friday morning, and in the afternoon a truck from Station 1, with Charles Campbell and William Duggan aboard, joined the large number of engines which are a feature of the Sudbury parade. . . Fire Chief Hartin reports that the stations in both ends of Wayland had people on duty in them all during the long week-end, but no calls came in. . .

Narrow Escape

A fifteen-year-old boy had a narrow escape from drowning last week at the Lake Cochituate bathing beach. He was spotted, in an exhausted condition, out near the raft and was hauled in to safety by the lifeguards, just in time. . .

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Russell Road and their three children are vacationing at Orleans, on Cape Cod. . .Mr. and Mrs. John Rooney of Hawthorne Road and their four children have returned from a short stay in Amesbury. Mr. Rooney was recently interviewed at length by a Boston daily newspaper doing a series on "New England jobs and the people behind them." He is a rigger at the Boston Navy Yard . . .The Cochituate Lassie League is enjoying a very successful first season. This program for softball for girls between the ages of 8 and 13 was organized by Mrs. Francis Sullivan of Stonebridge Road and Mrs. John Rooney. Mr. Nick Statton is the head coach, assisted by a hard core of regulars who show up every week to help. They are: Mrs. John Pelletier, Mrs. Nick Statton, Mrs. William MacCormack, Mrs. Donald Schneppel, Mrs. Joseph Malizia, Mrs. Robert Groton, Mrs. Nick Althanas, Gail MacEnroy and Johanna McCann. . .

Parakeet Anyone?

A parakeet, found abandoned in a shoe box containing the bird, and food and water for him, was picked up in Wayland square early Sunday morning by a police officer. In an effort to thwart the Police Department's powers of detection, all identifying marks on the box (shoe size, etc.) were covered with crayon marks. Still in apparent good health in spite of its harrowing ordeal, the bird is staying temporarily at the home of this correspondent. . .

Mr. John Leavitt makes an interesting observation in view of the weather hereabouts in recent months. He reports that his Bartlett Pear tree has "just recently blossomed for the second time this Spring."

Donald B. Willard is taking a brief vacation from his duties on the editorial staff of the Boston Globe.

Cochituate Motors Leads Natick Softball League

WAYLAND — Cochituate Motors softball team, undefeated this season, has won 10 straight and leads the Natick Softball League. Howard C. Phillips, the team's sponsor, says he thinks it is the best Cochituate Motors team since 1951.

Three former Wayland High athletes, Paul Bradley, catcher; Fred Tassinari, shortstop, and Nick Willard, second base, are on the team.

Meanwhile, the Macarelli Club team of Somerville, for which Rollie Whelchel is pitcher and his father, Bob Whelchel, is manager, has also beaten all opposition. In a sports piece in the Boston Globe recently, Rollie was described as one of the three best softball pitchers in the country.

Weston Girl Scouts Return

Weston Girl Scouts of Troop 16, grade 6 had a wonderful time at Otter River State Forest near Winchendon, Mass., from Friday night June 13 when they set up camp, to Sunday June 15. They accumulatel enough tents from Weston residents and friends so that all slept out even though in some cases it was three to a tent.

They completed campcraft and outdoor cook badges, had swimming lessons, worked in patrols on cooking, went on nature walks and finished with a Council Fire and sing.

Fire Prevention Sessions

The Scouts were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacLeod of Willard Road. Chuckee MacLeod went along as mascot. Mr. MacLeod conducted several badge sessions on fire prevention and conservation. Susan Derby, the senior Scout who accompanied the troop, gave invaluable aid in many ways.

The troop is under the direction of Mrs. Inglis C. Wetmore, who accompanied the troop along with Mr. Wetmore. Members of the troop are Joan Bassett, Carol Besse, Beth Brown, Betty Lou Chapman, Sally Derby, Karen Higgins, Reny Leiser, Irene MacLeod, Susan Murphy, Susan Marsh, Heather Mitchell, Nancy Richardson, Renee Strong, Robin Weaver and Jody Wetmore.

WALTHAM—Educators from Sweden, France and The Netherlands are among the American and European scholars named to the faculty of the 1958 Summer School at Brandeis University. Dr. Lawrence H. ## Sudbury In Market For Public Nurse Applicant

SUDBURY — The Town of Sudbury is looking for a "nurse in blue", or for one interested in trading her white uniform for a blue one, traditionally the symbol of the Public Health nurse. Miss Virginia Whitney, presently holding that position, is returning to Simmons College for further study. Mrs. Elaine Rosenbaum will continue to share the nursing repsonsibilities, but because of the increased growth of the Town, at least two nurses are essential.

The generalized program, conducted jointly by the Sudbury Public Health Nursing Association and the schools, is subsidized partially by the United Community Services. The salary of the nurse has recently been increased, making it commensurate with that paid by nearby towns of equal size. Although a car is a necessity, the mileage compensation is reportedly unusually high.

Interested persons are asked to call Mrs. Ernest Osgood, Jr., at HIlltop 3-6412, or Mrs. Kenneth Throckmorton, HIlltop 3-2160. Written applications or inquiries may be directed to the Sudbury Public Health Nursing Association, Sudbury.

Cugat and Co. In Wayland Extra Week

WAYLAND — Familiar to any TV or music fan is the face, fiddle and orchestra of Xavier Cugat (above) who is stretching a one week stand to two weeks at the Robin Hood Ten Acres in this town. Cugat, who has been seen more recently on TV's "$64,000 Challenge", spends a hectic number of hours in daily commuting between Boston and New York during his engagement at the local nitery. We hoped to get a picture of Abbe Lane too. Sorry folks — she isn't in on this particular engagement.

Two Weston Families Enroute To Colorado

Will Attend Gov't Science Clinic

WESTON — Dr. and Mrs. Walter Stockmeyer, their children and Professor and Mrs. Francis O. Schmidt left Sunday and are enroute to Boulder, Colorado where they will attend a Government sponsored Bio - Physical Science Study Conference.

Over 125 carefully selected scientists and their families will attend the one month conference which has been established under a grant by the National Institute of Health.

Professor Schmidt, for sixteen years head of the Biology Department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and now an Institute professor, will be chairman of the Boulder Conference. The program will consist of morning lectures, afternoon discussion periods, workshops and selected evening lectures. Each scientist in attendance will lecture once or twice in his own special field, thereby broadening the scope of the others and passing on much information on the content of modern Bio-Physical Science.

The Stockmeyer and Schmidt families will return to Weston late in August.

Assigned To West Point

COCHITUATE — Major Egon Weiss of Old Connecticut Path (above), has resigned his post as librarian at The Brookline Public Library to accept a post as librarian at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

Weiss, a Reserve Officer, 10 year resident of Cochituate, and Trustee of the Wayland Free Public Library, takes over his new duties on Labor Day. He told newsmen he "hates to leave—but my new assignment is quite a challenge". Weiss and his wife Renee have two children, Helen, 7, and Stephen, 4.

Wayland Expanding Rapidly

The Town of Wayland is experiencing a rapid growth because of the expansion of Raytheon in the area.

The building permit for the expanded Raytheon plant was issued on April 21, with the additional facilities valued at $500,000.

The expansion of the town is not limited to industrial growth, however. Since January 1, 91 building permits have been issued for homes at an average value of $18,000 per home.

Wayland, Weston Men At Camp Drum

CAMP DRUM, N.Y. — Harvardmen, past and present, check firing data at Fire Direction Center of 356th Field Artillery of 94th Reserve Division. Maj. J. Murray Howe of Ox Bow Road, Weston stands in center. A Harvard College and Law School graduate, he is flanked by PFC John Farlow of South Street, Needham, class of '57 and PFC Thomas B. Gannett of Mainstone Farm, Wayland of the 1959 class. 50 per cent of unit's strength is derived from Harvard.

Lightning Damages Wayland Fire Alarm

WAYLAND — Firemen didn't have far to go when an alarm blew last Friday evening during the severe thunderstorm which hit most of New England. The first was in the fire alarm control board two rooms away from the station.

Dispatcher Richard Gladu of the Fire Department was tending his communications desk as a stand in for Policeman John Regan who is on Army duty at Camp Drum N.Y. At exactly 6:35 the fire alarm let off a single blast. Further investigation revealed that a bolt of lightning had somehow reached the fire alarm control panel, which was sizzling and smoking when the laddies checked the source of the blast.

Fire officials were unable to estimate total damage. However, the Fire Department alarm engineer, along with an engineer for the Gamewell Company (fire alarm manufacturers), worked until two o'clock Saturday morning to repair the damage. Since the alarm system was inoperative for some time following the blast, firemen were on duty at all stations during the night to insure maximum protection in the event of an emergency. Except for the communications office, which operates 24 hours a day, there are no firemen on duty during the night or on weekends.

No further damage in either Wayland or Weston was reported as a result of the severe thunderstorm.

Heads Raytheon Fund Drive

WAYLAND—Harry Letaw, Jr. (above) has been named general chairman of the 1959 United Fund Drive for Raytheon Manufacturing Company. He served as vice chairman of the Company's 1958 campaign.

A member of the firm's Government Equipment Division in the Wayland laboratory, Letaw played a key role during the past campaign when Raytheon employees more than tripled their contributions and the firm's total reached $297,000.

As general chairman of the new Drive, Letaw, will coordinate the fund campaigns in the company's more than 25 plans and laboratories in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Tennessee, California and New Mexico.

Wayland Tax Payments Are Much Earlier Than Usual

Walter A. Cheslak, Collector of Taxes for the Town of Wayland, has been swamped by the early payment of real estate taxes by the town's homeowners.

There has been a definite increase in the payments being received over last year at this time, with over double last year's amount passing through the Tax Collector's office.

The bills were sent out on June 24th and normally the greater part of collections would be made between September 1 and November 1. This year, however, homeowners are responding much more quickly than in the past.

Two Reasons

Two possible reasons are cited by the Tax Collector for the increase in early payments. The influx of new homeowners not familiar with the town's habits, so to speak, could account for a good deal of the increased payments. The town's expansion has brought many new homeowners into the area.

The second possibility cited by Mr. Cheslak has to do with the so-called recession. Because of the threat of further slowing down of business, people are saving more money than normally and have the funds available for the tax payment.

Will It Be Ready In Time ?---

Mulcare Corp. Gets Building 'B' Job: Renovations To Start Shortly

WESTON — The Thomas Mulcare Corporation of Allston has been picked to rebuild School Building B for $27,280.

The sealed bids were opened at four o'clock last Friday. According to Massachusetts law, the School Committee had to accept the low bidder unless there were adequate reasons against the bid. On the advice of the architect for the renovation, Donald McMullin, the Committee accepted the Mulcare bid. Runners-up in bids were John F. Griffin Company for $27,989, and Richard White Sons Inc. for $31,269.

Meanwhile Richard White Sons has been doing some cleaning up and exploratory work in Building B for a contract of under $1000, which is permitted by law. The old basement floor and partition have been removed to give the architect a chance to examine the building more closely, and to speed up the work for the general contractor.

The School Committee and architect will look the building over around August 15 to see whether it will be finished in time for the scheduled opening of school on September 8. There is a real possibility that it may not be ready, but a late opening of Building B would affect only a portion of the elementary school for several weeks.

At the June 4 Special Town Meeting, the Town voted $31,000 to rebuild the six classrooms in Building B and avoid double sessions. The $31,000, as explained before the vote, was to cover the architect's fee, the contract for the renovation, and the acquisition of storage space to replace that lost by using the basement of Building B for classrooms.

Bicycle Safety Clinic To Be Held In Weston Shortly

The annual Weston Police and Recreation Department, Bicycle Safety Clinic will be held on Wednesday, July 30, at the Elementary School Playground.

Safety officer Lawrence Cugini and Recreation Director John Proctor sponsor this clinic to further safety attitudes on the part of bicycle riders. A demonstration and lecture will be given to illustrate the proper techniques to be followed in order to obey traffic rules and regulations, and all bicycles will be inspected for proper equipment.

A Bicycle Safety Course will be marked out and each rider will be given an opportunity to show his skill. This year special emphasis will be placed upon proper control of the bicycle as well as proper use of hand signals. Points will be given for proper techniques and points taken away for lack of control on a very narrow course. Awards of athletic equipment will be given to

Jimmy Allen Benefit Game, Other Events

COCHITUATE — Last Thursday night's benefit game between the Wayland Kiwanians and the Microwave Laboratories attracted a large crowd of spectators and ended shortly after 10 o'clock in a 9 to 9 tie.

Disc jockey Phil Christie from WBZ was on hand to throw out the first ball at 8:30. A large crowd of spectators filled the stands and contributed generously to the collection for the Jimmy Allen fund.

Sudbury Kiwanians delegated their president Herb Brooks to present a check on their behalf to the Jimmy Allen fund drive. It was accepted by George Deverell of Wayland Kiwanis whose members have joined with the V.F.W. in conducting a drive for funds to meet the heavy expenses incurred in the treatment of the youngster's severe burns.

Jimmy Allen, 3½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Allen of Willard Street, was severely burned on May 24 when he

Citizens Inquire About Police Coverage

Letters to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Citizens having business with the Wayland Police Dept. are having difficulty locating their headquarters. After making several inquiries and phone calls I find that Chief Damon and his staff have moved into and operating from Fire Dept. headquarters. To my knowledge, no official notice or Public Announcement has been made informing the Townspeople of this move.

Why was this move made, and was this action taken as a result of the unanimous vote of our Selectmen? Is the Police Dept. still operating their despatching and communications system independently, or are they now combined with the Fire Dept., and do we still have nighttime Police station personnel on duty, or are the permanent firemen doing the job for both departments?

Is this new arrangement temporary or permanent? If it is to be a permanent set-up will there be additional permanent police officers employed to assure the Townspeople of twenty-four hour police protection? Police patroling in the cruiser is only half the job. The station should be open, too.

It was my impression that Wayland's new Police Dept. Headquarters provided lock-up facilities, which was to save the expense of transporting to and boarding of prisoners in Framingham. This abondonment of Headquarters would leave any person held in custody unattended, which I believe may be an illegal procedure.

The Citizens of Wayland have gone to considerable expense and hard work over a period of several years to improve our Police and Fire Departments, and have looked with pride and satisfaction on the distinct separation and independent operations of both departments.

Is this merger of the operations centers of both departments a step forward or are we going back to the "Horse & Buggy" days?"

Mrs. Barbara Huntley
Sherman Bridge Rd.
Wayland

To the Editor:

How confusing can we get! A visit to the Wayland Police Station on a matter of routine business finds the doors locked and no explanation as to when it will be open or what to do. When the Town Office was opened we were told that the Police Station was to be open twenty-four hours a day, which was very reassuring to the townspeople.

Will someone please enlighten us, as to how we may get in touch with the Police Department other than by telephone? Is the Station to be open at specified hours? In short, what do we do now?

Emily W. Blair

Ed. Note.

For over two weeks, reporters from various papers, including The CRIER, have been trying to get statements from Wayland Town officials in connection with the move of the Fire-Police communications office in the Town Building and the "part-time closing" of the Police Station.

Executive Secretary Norman Taylor is, or has been, on vacation — and the Board of Selectmen have promised a press conference and public statement on the much discussed matter at their next meeting which will be July 21. Until that time, there is an official "No Comment" other than confirmation of the fact that the dispatching office was moved, and that it has been under consideration for some time.

All alarm systems, the two-way radio and telephones have been moved from Police to Fire Headquarters. This dispatching office is staffed around the clock by two firemen and two policemen who are in radio contact with the police cruiser at all times.

Location Of New Wayland Post Office Undecided---Mail Load Is Now Doubled

Another sign of Wayland's growing pains has shown up in the maintenance of Postal Service for the town. Since the beginning of Raytheon's construction over a year ago, the postal load flowing through the old building has about doubled. Three more permanent workers have been added to the staff of the Post Office in order to relieve some of the pressure. The Postal Service is now handling three rural routes in the town, but at the present rate of growth, Postmaster Hines expects these routes to be converted to city delivery within two years.

Overload Problem

The handling of the Christmas overload of mail has been a major problem for the small white building in the center of town. Last year the old Town Hall was used to handle all of the parcels, while the Post Office itself handled all of the first-class mail. Postmaster Hines expresses doubt that the old Town Hall will be available for this year's overload, since it has been condemned and may be torn down before the Christmas rush starts.

New Building Twice Present Size

The Leasing Department of the Post Office, located in Boston, has recognized Wayland's problem and invited bids for the erection of a new Post Office building for the town. The plans are tentatively set for a building twice the size of the present facilities. Nothing definite has been decided on location, as the contract has not yet been awarded. The new building will, however, be placed as close to the center of town as possible for the convenience of the townspeople. Hines mentioned that locating the new facilities in the shopping center now being contracted, may be possible.

Jimmy Allen

stepped too near an in incinerator. He requires lengthy treatment and hospitalization.

The drive to help the Allen family was spearheaded by the Wayland Kiwanis Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. However other organizations and many townspeople have climbed aboard the Allen bandwagon to insure the success of the effort.

Among other activities recently held on behalf of the fund: A coffee hour and food sale held last Saturday by the Shore Acres Club of Cochituate at the home of Mrs. Harriet Wales on Partridge Road; A door to door canvass was held all day on Sunday; and a Jimmy Allen business venture was set up at a roadside stand on Old Connecticut Path. All proceeds went to the Allen Fund.

It would be wonderful if school children at home on vacation could be used to help clean up rubbish in attics, sheds or cellars.

Thoreau Could Live In A One-Room Cabin, But That Was 100 Years Ago

The late Col. Edward H. R. Green, son of the famous Hetty Green who used to be described as the world's richest woman, once built himself a castle at South Dartmouth, Massachusetts.

The stone job was something like half as big as the Sheraton Plaza in Copley Square, set on premises half the size of Logan Airport.

Old Col. Green no doubt enjoyed his castle while he lived. But when he died, tax collectors and others traipsed through its enormous rooms and corridors, stood in its one-car-garage-sized main fireplace, and marvelled. Amid its grandeur, the castle housed one of the world's largest collections of alarm clocks and empty Bromo Seltzer bottles. The Colonel's real passions, it was discovered, were for gadgets, bromos and vanilla ice cream, tastes within the reach of those with fortunes much smaller than his.

Everybody's Game

Sooner or later, practically everybody does a little daydreaming in the realm of architecture.

A fellow wrote a book about it once, a best seller. It was called "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House", and a hard time the man had of it, too. Reading between the lines, one gets the impression that Mr. Blandings distrusted the workmen he hired and that they gave it back to him, good.

The architect, of course, practises a profession which rises often to the level of art. He ties rooms and roofs together so that the plumbing goes where it belongs and the front steps don't connect with a bedroom entrance. With an architect in charge, the stove is never installed in a closet.

When it comes to the looks of a place, however, the architect is subject to as much second guessing a the baseball manager, the president of the railroad or a husband hanging wall paper.

At heart everybody is an architect, a circumstance which makes the architect's life no easier. (Everybody is an editor at heart, too, and ditto.)

No Wigwam

And this is pertinent to contemporary living in suburbia, because what is the best kind of house?

There is no rule about it. It is almost entirely a matter of individual preference and ability to pay. Within a wide range, one may have the home of his choice, whether it looks like a filling station or the superstructure of the Queen Mary.

The only thing one can't have is a wigwam or a small cabin.

Thoreau got famous by living in a one-room shack.

But that was 100 years ago and nobody had better try it around here now.

Let anybody try to live in such simplicity on a one-acre lot nowadays and he would be swarmed under by the Board of Health, the Zoning Board, the building inspector, the wiring inspector and the Committee To Maintain the Standards of Our Neighborhood.

Maybe a fellow is just nuts about cabin life. Maybe a cabin meets his needs perfectly (no spare bedrooms for visiting relatives) and maybe it is all he can pay for. (This second reason is obviously no good. It is well understood that a modern home is supposed to cost twice what one can afford.) Maybe a person had rather have more trees and less house on his lot.

This probably illustrates the American standard of living, which is now practically like a law. One isn't allowed to live simply even if he wants to.

It reminds one of the revolutionist who objected to the inclusion of strawberries and cream in the platform. He didn't like strawberries and cream.

"Come the revolution," said his leader sternly, "you'll eat strawberries and cream and like it."—D.B.W.

Ambitious Firemen Paint Station -- Rebuild Old Truck At Great Saving

The men on the Wayland Fire Department, contrary to the common belief about firemen, are not the best pinochle players in the town; they are too busy to learn the game.

While Richard and Phillip Gladu at Station 2 in Cochituate are painting the station house themselves to conserve the town's appropriation, Charles Campbell Jr. and Clifford Wedlock under Chief Hartin at the Central Station have been working feverishly in the repair shop at the rear of the building.

Need For Stand-by Equipment

The work being done at the Central Station fits into the plan put forth by Chief Hartin at the last town meeting. This plan calls for filling out the Department's equipment needs over a period of years, with the acquisition of a new pumping truck about 5 years hence. Since the equipment called for in the plan is based on present as well as future needs, the Department went to work on an idea to tide them over equipment-wise until the new truck is put into service in 1964.

The Department was using a 1935 Chevrolet truck, designed and built for use as a pump truck, for a hose wagon. The pump on the truck was useless, the water supply inadequate, and the truck itself so overbalanced with ladders as to make it unsafe on the road. The chassis and motor on the vehicle, however, were still in good shape. The chief made inquiries as to the cost of repairing the "midships" pump on the truck, but found the expense prohibitive.

Ordinarily the project would have stopped here, but not so with the men of the Wayland Department. Everyone pitched in and came up with the ideas necessary to put the truck into operation themselves.

Old Unused Pump Discovered

A 1940 model 500-gallon pump had been stored in the old station but never used because of the lack of other equipment. The men from the central station "unburied" the unused pump and after obtaining plans from the Darley Pump Company, adapted the pump to fit on the front of the 1935 truck. From a used car was taken a drive shaft which now connects the pump to the truck's engine. The old 150-gallon tank was removed from the truck and replaced with a 400-gallon tank which the chief had had constructed in an outside welding shop.

It was now necessary to reconstruct the chassis of the truck to enable it to carry the additional load. The accomplishment of this would have been a feat in itself, but the men did not stop here.

The hose bed on the truck was reconstructed to house both 1½" and 2½" hose, and a protective bumper was installed around the forward pump.

After the mechanical phase of the job was completed, the men went to work on sanding and refinishing the ladders for the truck.

The next job was to sand and repaint the entire truck. Here was another obstacle to overcome. The new station was not equipped with compressed air for the spray painting as the old station house had been. This called for another show of ingenuity on the part of our enthusiastic firefighters.

The copper tubing in the old station was salvaged and reinstalled in the repair shop of the new building. All work was done by the men at the fire house. The paint job has just been completed.

Total Cost Of $300

The whole operation of building the "new" truck was completed at a cost of $300, the major part of which was spent in the construction of the new water tank. All of the work on the truck, with the exception of the welding, was done by the men of the Central Fire Station, giving the Town of Wayland an operating pump truck to tide the department over until the new one is purchased.

Two additional benefits gained from the use of the "new" truck are that it eliminates the need for calling on other stations to supply trucks, and the truck can be used on the rougher jobs, such as in the woods, in order to save wear on the newer truck in the station.

Local Firm, Started In 1919, Is Now Grossing Over Half A Million A Year

WESTON — "Good Ol' B.L." did it. "B.L." started in July 1919 with one employee and a Ford touring car for deliveries. Able, determined "B.L.", as he was affectionately known, then proceeded to nurse and develop B. L. Ogilvie and Sons Inc. to the point where it is now a leader in the hardware, building supplies and fuel oil field with annual gross receipt of over a half million dollars. It was incorporated in 1928.

Observing its 39th anniversary this month, the company, now headed by sons Harold Ogilvie, President, and Raymond Ogilvie, Treasurer, is a thriving firm handling over a thousand different services or products. Not just a hardware store, Ogilvie's handles just about everything for the home owner, builder, do it yourself fan, or dog owner. In effect, as Harold and Ray put it—"you name it—and the chances are that we have it".

Two years after their father's death, the Ogilvie family, all members of which have pitched in since the Company's inception, got started on the long planned new building to house a much enlarged staff and product line. In 1953, Hector Osmond of Weston completed the structure and Stanley Fabbri, also of Weston, supervised the laying of the hardtop parking area and driveway on Warren Avenue.

The Ogilvie brothers report that blue prints are on tap for a new, modern one story warehouse measuring 85 by 120 feet. The latest addition is designed for fork lift loading and unloading.

In contrast to the Ford touring car, used for deliveries when "Good Ol' B.L." started the firm, there are now nine "Blue Trucks" for delivery of all types of merchandise, building supplies, lumber, coal and oil. The company delivered over a million and a half gallons of oil in the year 1957.

B. L. Ogilvie and Sons Inc., in the past two years, has shipped over $85,000 worth of supplies and lumber to Sudbury's Wayside Inn reproduction project which has just recently been completed by Roy Baker and Son, Antrim, N.H.

Realizing that a trademark helps any business, the Ogilvie firm used the word and color blue, and stuck to it. Now the "Blue Truck Delivery Service" and the blue theme in general has become as much a trademark as Winston Churchill's cigar. Even the company stationary is blue.

But Harold, Ray, their families, relatives and staff members (numbering 15) are emphatic about one thing. "There are no blues in this operation—except for identification and advertising purposes."

To any customer, visiting salesman or reporter, the atmosphere in and around the plant on Warren Avenue supports that statement.

Howard C. Phillips Honored

COCHITUATE — A 20th Anniversary Cochituate Motors surprise party was held on Monday July 10 at the home of Proprietor Howard C. Phillips on Oak Knoll Road, Natick. The unsuspecting Phillips answered his doorbell early in the evening to find his entire staff of 17 employees equipped with refreshments and a beautiful gift with an appropriate inscription. The gift, a combination barometer, thermometer and clock, done in gold, now occupies a prominent spot on Phillips desk at the well known local Chevrolet agency.

Doing business on both sides of the street, Phillips opened his plant in July of 1938 at the corner of Main Street and Commonwealth Road. In 1955, he built the present show rooms and used car plaza, and now maintains the original site as the Company Service Department.

those getting the highest scores.

In line with the program, the co-operation of parents is requested to see that their children register for this clinic. Riding hazards are extremely great in a town of our nature, and parents should make certain that their children know how to operate their bicycles properly. Post cards will be sent to parents of participating children with the following items checked:

1. Is skillful and uses signals adequately.
2. Needs more practice in the use of signals.
3. Needs more instruction in the use of bicycles.

There is also a list of the proper equipment the bicycles require and lack of this equipment is noted.

Weston bicycle riders may register with Mr. DeRusha for participation in the Safety Clinic at the Elementary School Playground up to 2:00 on Wednesday, July 30.

SHORT TAKES WAYLAND

Word comes from The Country Club that sixteen year old Hal Woollard, a senior next year at Wayland High School, recently took the 8th hole in stride by shooting a "hole in one". The boy was modest about it so it took a while to dig out the facts.

Hal also qualified for the Jr. Chamber of Commerce Golf Tourney to be played starting today in Springfield. Hall has been playing Golf for only two years.

1959 Flower Show To Be Held In Two Boston Halls

Oliver Wolcott, President of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, has announced that due to the expected demolition of Mechanics Building, the 1959 Flower Show will be held at both Horticultural Hall and Symphony Hall, Boston, Massachusetts, March 10 through 15, 1959. "A Symphony of Spring" is the theme for this exhibition. This will mean an entirely new type of Show—one that will include many new features. Harold D. Stevenson, Rockland, well known Landscape Architect, is the Chairman of the Committee on Exhibitions and the other members of the Committee are: Mrs. William A. Parker, North Easton, Edward Dane, Brookline, Dr. John R. Havis, Waltham and Seth L. Kelsey, East Boxford. Arno H. Nehrling is the Director of all the exhibitions of the Society.

How spiritual understanding of God as eternal Life brings health and healing will be explained in Christian Science services Sunday.

Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" include the account in John of Christ Jesus' healing of the nobleman's son.

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares: "Jesus never asked if disease were acute or chronic, and he never recommended attention to laws of health, never gave drugs, never prayed to know if God were willing that a man should live. He understood man, whose Life is God, to be immortal, and knew that man has not two lives, one to be destroyed and the other to be made indestructible" (369:16).

The Golden Text is from John (17:3): "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Nuclear Policy Committee Progress Is Reported By Local Group Membership

Ed note:

Crier readers may remember a full page advertisement which appeared in this paper during March, calling for a cessation of nuclear bomb tests on the part of all World powers. As a follow up, we have asked various local members of the group to give us a progress report on the work of the Sane Nuclear Policy Committee of Greater Boston. A digest of this report follows.

On December 17th and 19th, 1957 half-page advertisements appeared in the Boston Herald and Traveler, and the Jewish Advocate calling for a sessation of nuclear bomb tests. The advertisements were placed by a then unknown organization, The Greater Boston Committee For a Sane Nuclear Policy. Responses to these advertisements formed the nucleus of an ever growing group of citizens of the Greater Boston area. There was some speculation at the time that nuclear bomb tests might be harmful to present and future generations; that the nuclear arms race might not be the answer to the world's hope for security and peace, but few individuals made known their opinions on the matter.

Aroused Public

To learn what has happened since that first advertisement appeared, one need only look at any newspaper on most any day to find the answer. The public has been aroused and now thousands are fighting what they call the insanity of the nuclear arms race. The Greater Boston Committee For a Sane Nuclear Policy is no longer an unknown organization, (its mailing list totals 800) and the story is the same throughout the United States and Overseas. The first advertisements in Boston were a direct result of a similar advertisement that appeared in a New York newspaper shortly before. There are now over 70 Committees throughout the United States.

Committee Mushroomed Recently

From its modest beginnings the Greater Boston Committee has mushroomed in the past few months. Under the Chairmanship of Dr. M. Stanley Livingston of the Department of Physics, M. I. T., and the sponsorship of such men as Dr. Gordon Allport of Harvard, Dr. Charles Coryell of M. I. T., Rev. Gardner Day of Cambridge, Dr. Walter Stockmayer of M. I. T. and Weston, Mr. Richard Burgin of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and over 90 members of the Orchestra, Dr. Pitrim A. Sorokin of Harvard, Rabbi Joseph Shubow, and many others, the Committee has waged an educational campaign to arouse public opinion to the various issues involved in the continuance of nuclear bomb testing.

Two new local committees have sprung up as offshoots of the Greater Boston Committee. A committee was formed several months ago in Weston. This Committee sponsored a public meeting on April 16th at which Prof. Lawrence Fuchs of Brandeis and Weston, Dr. Louis Osborne, head of M. I. T's Synchrotron Laborator, and Colonel Leghorn, former Assistant to Harold Stassen at the London Disarmament Talks, spoke to an overflow crowd. A Committee in Hingham has now published two advertisements in their local newspaper.

Radio And TV Programs

The Greater Boston Committee has conducted a number of radio and television programs and interviews over the Boston stations, one a half-hour interview on John Day's radio program "Decisions, '58", another a three hour program on station WMEX on April 22nd. On May 5th a reception was held at the Sheraton Plaza for Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who spoke to 150 supporters of the Committee, outlining his reasons for believing the nuclear arms race and the continuation of testing bombs to be a great mistake. On June 16th a public meeting was held in Cambridge with Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, and Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winner in chemistry and Professor of Chemistry at California Institute of Technology, as the speakers.

Committee Sees A Round Gym With A Dome For New Wayland High School

WAYLAND — Still with its thinking unsolidified, the Building Committee planning the proposed new Wayland High School has conceived, with the aid of architects and others, a physical education plant with many novel features, of a kind unique in this part of the world.

In the first place, it would be round, with a dome, 204 feet in diameter, with an area of 33,000 square feet, about three-quarters of an acre.

In the front would be locker and shower rooms for both boys and girls, with quarters for varsity teams, both boys' and girls', and visiting teams.

In the rear would be rooms for exercises of all kinds.

The heart of the thing would be the big area under the dome.

This would have a surface something like that of a hard tennis court. It would provide space for football practice, baseball practice, archery, field sports or anything else.

Running Track

The main basketball court would have either a permanent floor or a removable one, depending on cost. It would be on one side of the circle. Against the wall, facing the court, would be fixed bleachers, seating 700. Enough temporary bleachers could be set up on the other side of the court and at its end to accommodate a total of perhaps 2000 spectators.

The committee thinks in these terms because of the great success Wayland basketball teams have had recently, and the prospect that interest in basketball will continue to grow. Many were turned away from some Wayland home games last year, unable to get into the present gym.

Around the building would be a running track, 11 laps to the mile.

Wayland has never before had facilities for track and field sports. It is not believed that this track would need to be banked. It would be of the same composition as the rest of the floor.

For a Town Meeting, almost any number of seats could be placed on the floor, and the 700 seats in the fixed bleachers could be used. At recent Town Meetings, when controversial subjects were on the fire, more than 900 voters have attended. Two thousand or more could fit into this field house.

Temperature Control

This "floor" composition, they say, is tough stuff which would take no harm from spikes or chairs or feet.

Any degree of heat desired could be maintained in the locker and shower section of the building, which would be closed off from the area under the dome. In the cage, or whatever it might be called, temperatures would be kept lower, both for economy and for comfort. At a varsity basketball game, for example, with many spectators crowded in, the temperature might be kept around 65.

The committee thinks these facilities would help not only boys and girls engaged in team sports, but those interested in such individualistic activities as archery. There should be something for everybody here.

The committee thinks this circular field house, plus a small theatre seating 300 or so in the administration building, would be no more expensive than the large gymnasium plus the large auditorium built into such high school plants as the one in Natick.

Besides the theatre there will be a cafeteria seating 350, which could double as a dance hall.

Six Centers

The committee has been looking at both school and community needs for a large hall. It thinks a regular auditorium big enough to seat all the Town voters—who now number several thousands—would cost much too much, and that such large school functions as graduation come only once a year. It sees the big physical education building, which would be in constant use as a gym, as a perfectly satisfactory large meeting hall for special occasions.

The material of the dome and its height haven't yet been decided. It will be high enough to cover flying basketballs, footballs and baseballs, and it will have skylights set all around it.

So as of now the committee sees a high school layout of six centers, consisting of perhaps five or six buildings either separate or semi-detached. By September and October plans will be available and everybody will be able to have a look at them. The League of Women Voters has agreed to arrange a number of small neighborhood meetings at which members of the committee will appear, and there will also be larger meetings.

As far as the committee knows, no high school around here has anything like this round gym. Some private schools do have such cages.

Don't Ripen Tomatoes In Hot Window, Expert Says

Old-time practices to the contrary, a sunny, warm window sill is not the ideal place to ripen tomatoes, Cecil L. Thomson, Extension specialist in vegetable crops, advises.

It's the heat, not the light, that's wrong for ripening. At temperatures above 85 degrees tomatoes turn yellow instead of attractively red. On the other hand, they don't ripen well if chilled.

Once ripe, of course, tomatoes keep better in the refrigerator. For vitamin value, ripen tomatoes in good light, where it is not too hot. Never wrap tomatoes with paper to keep them dark.

Research shows that for best color, flavor and texture—and for holding vitamin value—tomatoes should be ripened at room temperature or a little below, between 60 and 75 degrees.

To ripen successfully tomatoes should be mature—grown to their full size and just ready to turn color. At this stage green tomatoes offer good value in vitamin C and offer vitamin A as well. Even when local supplies of tomatoes come on markets in Summer, you may find some that need further ripening, says Thomson. Mature green tomatoes or partially ripened tomatoes, if they are sound, are better buys than red tomatoes that are overripe, soft or bruised.

Francoise Will Arrive At Weston In October

WESTON — Miss Francoise Cilly, who is to be the fifth Rombas student at Weston High, has been unavoidably delayed, the Committee reports, and will not arrive here until the middle of October. She had been expected in early September.

Officers of the Weston-Rombas Affiliation Committee for its eighth year, 1958-59:

Henry M. Fiske, honorary honorary chairman; Mrs. F. D. Bonner and Mrs. Albert E. Speare, co-chairmen; Winslow Cobb III, treasurer; L. Whitman Smith, secretary; Mrs. Webb B. White, corresponding secretary; Dr. Carl C. Bartels, Mrs. G. Sterling Gruman, Mrs. Walter H. Trumbull, Mrs. Thruston Wright Jr. and Mr. John Mathews.

Representing the Weston High faculty is Mrs. Theresa M. Zamprogno and representing the student body are Sally Murphy and Ann Wolff. Jane F. McCarthy represents Regis College and Mr. Hayden Mason of Lincoln represents The Cambridge School.

Small Baby Eats A Little Tobacco, But No Filter

WAYLAND — Linda Marie Giovino, 6 months old, of Concord Road, chewed up a cigarette one day recently and began choking on what her mother thought must be the filter-tip. Mrs. Giovino called the police, who sent the fire department from Station 1.

By the time they arrived Mrs. Giovino had turned her baby daughter upside down and removed most of the tobacco from her throat. The resuscitator was not needed; the baby's pediatrician was called in and pronounced her o.k. The paper filter later turned up in the pocket of Linda's bib.

Field Station Open House

The University of Massachusetts Waltham Field Station will hold its Annual Open House on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, July 30. This is an opportunity to inspect the large trial plots and to obtain suggestions for growing flowers, fruits and vegetables.

Those interested in perennial flowers may take down plant names in the well-labelled gardens. The same applies to the annual flower, fruit and vegetable trial plots.

Dr. John R. Havis, head of the Field Station, and his staff, have also 18 plots of pure grasses and mixtures commonly used in lawns. This is a chance to find out what's best in grasses and in treatments for turf.

The Waltham Field Station is at 240 Beaver Street, Waltham, just off Route 60, via Linden Street.

New Weston Management

WESTON — Howard C. Bickford of Abington reports that he has taken over the Weston Department Store from Mr. Max Levenson, the former owner, and that he will carry on the store with a modern presentation of merchandise, with more lines of goods, such as clothes and shoes, for children.

Communications Center Was Shifted For Efficiency, Selectmen Say

The Wayland Selectmen were seated at the huge table, from the old Town Hall, on which Town business has been transacted for a generation. McCann Photo

WAYLAND — After six months of operation in the new Town Office Building the Wayland police station has been closed by a two-to-one vote of the Selectmen.

Nearly 40 persons met in an open session with the Selectmen on July 21 to ask why.

They were told by Chairman John R. McEnroy that the transfer of the communications center from the police department quarters to the fire department quarters in the same building was in the interests of efficiency.

Although the station had been closed since July 7, no official word as to why had been given by the Selectmen. This meeting was to be primarily a press conference, said Chairman McEnroy, because of letters to the editor printed in the Crier. But the authors of the letters were invited, too, and as word of the meeting got around a number of residents heard about it and decided to attend.

Doors Were Locked

The bare bones of the case:

As of last Dec. 29, the communications center, with dispatchers on 24-hour duty, was activated in the new police station. Also in the police station were two cells to hold prisoners, who previously had been taken to the Framingham lockup. (For this service Framingham had been paid $250 a year.)

The Selectmen, six months later, decided that the fire department quarters were a better place for the communications center.

Under the arrangement set up, two of the dispatchers were listed as policemen and two as firemen.

Because they were in the police station, says Chief of Police Ernest H. Damon, the station could be kept open 24 hours a day. There are only five regular police officers besides the Chief, and they are out in the cruisers most of the time.

When the center was moved to the fire department side, says the Chief, he had no officers available to man the police station. So he closed it.

The first the townspeople knew of the move was when they discovered the police station door was locked.

No word of explanation came from the Board of Selectmen until the night of the open meeting.

In the formal statement, the Selectmen then said that having the center in the police station was a trial arrangement, and that it seemed to them better, after the trial period, that it should be transferred to the fire department side and put under the supervision of Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin.

$2000 A Year

In one paragraph of the statement it was said that the cost of using the Framingham lockup will be $250 a year.

Later, however, it was said that the price of jail has gone up. It will be $1000 for the rest of this year or $2000 for a full year.

Letters to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

The Weston Selectmen wish to ask the cooperation of all residents to prevent the littering of roadsides and private property along the roads. Many persons transporting trash to the Town dump have inadvertently contributed to the problem by failing to secure the trash in their cars or trailers from which it has fallen or been blown onto the roads and roadsides.

A Weston town by-law provides a $20 fine for scattering trash, rubbish, refuse or other waste material in the public way or on private property without permission of the owner. It will be helpful to the enforcement of this regulation if any citizen will report violations which they may observe to the police department.

In the interest of keeping our roadsides as clean as possible please check the loading of your car or trailer or truck to be sure that you are not going to leave a trail of trash and papers on the way to the Town Dump. Your fellow citizens will appreciate your courtesy.

Executive Secretary

Around Here People Live In Scenery Which Is Too Common To Be Valuable

A fair question, in the good old Summer time when so many leave home to gaze upon new sights; is why local real estate fails to qualify as scenery except in the opinion of local realtors.

In fact, what is scenery, anyway?

The office dictionary says it's "the general appearance of a landscape".

By that definition, scenery is so thick around us it doesn't amount to anything. It's so common it's scarcely worth looking at. But it isn't. There's a big difference in scenery.

In the first place, desirable scenery is generally a long way off, at the end of a hot, uncomfortable journey. Take the Rocky Mountains, for example. People will travel thousands of miles to see them, when they wouldn't run up the road to see Cat Rock. The Rocky Mountains have a press agent.

Or take the Great Lakes. They're no different from Lake Cochituate except that they're bigger. See one and you've seen 'em all. And see the ocean, readily available, and you've seen all the water in the world.

Nuts About Woods

Scenery is composed, after all, of nothing but rocks, water, dirt, vegetation and high prices.

To the parched Bedouin from Africa the Massachusetts country side would probably look like fascinating scenery. All the trees, grass, lakes, brooks with old tires in them. . . Quite a change from a desert.

But somebody from Cape Cod, where sand is abundant but generally kept in its place, wouldn't spare a glance for it.

And a trouble with scenery is that nothing happens in it.

Take a highway through a forest.

Many profess to be nuts about woods. But just what is one going to do with a patch of trees 20 miles long by nobody knows how wide?

Stop the car, get out and hug an oak? Take a stroll and get lost? Sit for an an hour and look? Or sit and let the insects sting?

Scenery must be anything higher, lower, wetter or drier than the comfortable surroundings of home.

The Alps are considered hot scenery. They're tall. The Grand Canyon ditto. It's deep. Niagara Falls is big but useless. A pasture brook around here has more utility. Nobody has dunked his feet in Niagara for a long time, except those who have fallen in all over.

Pond Has Fish

Moreover, scenery is supposed to be segregated, as in a park. A tree beside the road cuts no ice. But put one in the park and it becomes a land mark.

And scenery, to be famous and popular, has to have a name.

Call it Sculpin Beach, and there'll be those who'll love it.

But let it be a nameless vista of green farm land, and nobody cares except the agent who's trying to sell the property.

And perhaps it isn't scenery unless it combines two or more elements in a dramatic fashion. The ocean isn't so much, unless combined with lots of sand or cliffs. The White Mountains have trees on them and the Rockies have snow. Northern lakes have fish. Dudley Pond has fish, too, but no press agent.

So the questions remain.

Why isn't Lake Cochituate scenery? Why isn't Cat Rock scenery? Why isn't one's own back yard, composed of dirt, grass and trees, as much scenery as Central Park? Are swamps scenery? See the Sudbury River and other local marshes. Are woods and rustic trails scenery? See the upper reaches of Draper Road.

In short, there is plenty of scenery around us all the time, even if we stay at home. It's like air, relatives, taxes and the cigarette habit. Practically inescapable, and maybe that's why people travel. They want to enjoy the thrill of looking at scenery they can get away from when they're sick of it. — D.B.W.

Trees Are Staging Big Come-Back

Those who have noted the practical disappearance of farming in Wayland and Weston may be interested in a recent publication entitled "The Scope of Forestry in Massachusetts", issued recently by the University of Massachusetts in cooperation with various other State and Federal agricultural groups, which says in effect that the land area of the Commonwealth is going back to woods.

As of now, says the report, the total area of Massachusetts is 5,035,000 acres, of which 3,259,000 acres, or 64.7 per cent, are covered by "commercial forest". A century ago, says the report, "the large majority of land was cleared for other agricultural use".

The hardwood timber amounts to 1,360,000,000 board feet and the softwood to 1,299,000,000 board feet, of which red oak accounts for 405,000,000 feet and white pine for 858,000,000 feet. In addition, there are nearly 15,000,000 cords of hardwood and nearly 7,000,000 cords of softwood available for pulpwood.

Moreover, says the report, "annual sawtimber growth exeeds harvest by 53,000,000 board feet while an excess of growing stock over removal of material less than sawlog size amounts to 54,000,000 cubic feet".

What this report says may be checked in many places around here by the naked eye. The fields, no longer used for agriculture, can be seen growing up to bushes and trees. The stone walls along the roads, built ages ago with great toil, now mark, in many places, only the borders of small forests.

More Animals

The news that there is much more forest land here now than there was 100 years ago may also cause some to think twice before accepting the common allegation that modern floods are caused by deforestation.

Although Massachusetts wood is growing faster than it is being cut, says the report, "the growth is largely in low quality fiber". This statement, too, can be checked by any local resident who wants to take a look. And how to use this low-quality wood is one of the problems, says the report.

Twelve per cent of the forest land, 399,000 acres, is publicly owned. Of the rest, 84.6 per cent is owned privately by persons holding from three to 100 acres. Only 267 persons own more than 500 acres, whereas the small owners number 25,175.

Much of the undeveloped land in Wayland and Weston is covered with woods. In addition, many of the larger lots contain many trees. Perhaps this suggests why another Federal agency recently reported that there are more small animals in the Northeastern United States than ever before. As local householders are constantly being made aware, these two Towns, as well populated as they are and as close as they are to a big city area, are nevertheless full of red and gray squirrels, woodchucks, coons, chipmunks and rabbits, not to mention skunks. Even deer are seen, from time to time, and pheasants and smaller birds are everywhere. Woods and wild life seem to be coming back together, and recently adopted rules against hunting have practically ended shooting in the two Towns.

WAYLAND — Memorial gifts honoring five former Wayland residents have been sent to the Massachusetts Heart Association. The living memorials honor Allyn Wellis Anderton, Rebecca Brick, Gerald Henderson; Leslie B. Reid and Myrte Wight.

The noblest revenge is forgiveness.

The Selectmen's Statement

Prior to the installation of the Communications Center in the New Town Office Building, various consultations were conducted with the Police Chief, Fire Chief, and Finance Committee.

The problems of administration and financing were all properly discussed. In setting up a program where there are two departments involved, the problems are apt to be complicated at times. However, in an attempt to set up a sensible coordinated program on a financial basis that the Town could digest, the Board of Selectmen are in unanimous agreement that the following points were the ones under which the Communications Center was installed:

1. That the Fire Chief, who is also Civil Defense Director, be given the responsibility of supervising the over-all communications system.

2. That the Communications Center be installed in Police Headquarters for a trial period, with the understanding that if we are not satisfied with the results at this location, they would be moved to the Fire Department headquarters.

2a. We had the choice of two locations as a result of the original planning of the Building Committee.

3. That two policemen and two firemen staff the Communications Center 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

4. That the new dispatchers have no other duty assigned to them, other than communications during the trial period at this location.

4a. That after the operation of the Communications Center got underway, and everyone was well oriented with the operation, we would then consider the possibility of assigning additional duties to the dispatchers if it appeared advisable in the opinion of the Fire Chief and the Police Chief.

5. That we continue to use the lock-up facilities at Framingham, rather than use our own.

5a. That we felt that locking up prisoners in our new Police Station Lock-up would tend to complicate the new dispatchers work.

b. That in view of the fact we were not sure what problems might arise by the use of our lock-up facilities, we deemed it wise to continue the arrangements then in existence with Framingham, namely to continue to pay the very reasonable amount of $250.00 annually to Framingham for the use of their lock-up facilities.

6. That all parties involved had a full understanding as to those conditions.

For some weeks the Board of Selectmen had been discussing the problems of the joint operation of the Communications System. In weighing all the pros and cons, after a number of meetings, at which the Police Chief and Fire Chief were present, it was decided to re-locate the Communications Center.

The main reason for moving the Communications Center, is due to the confusion that arose in the office in which the communications were located.

Wayland Board of Selectmen
John R. McEnroy, Chairman
Frank S. Tarr
Thomas F. Linnehan

(On this statement, it was brought out, the Selectmen were unanimous.)

Wayland Police

Some questioners at the meeting said it would take two Wayland officers an hour away from Town to take a prisoner to Framingham and return. Chairman McEnroy said the Selectmen would be happy to have more police officers, if people wanted to pay for them.

The fact that the Selectmen were split 2 to 1 on the issue of moving the center came out in reply to a question from the floor. Then Selectman Frank S. Tarr read the minutes of various meetings at which the move was discussed.

There was a question as to an earlier meeting at which, Chairman McEnroy said, there was also a vote. Present at that meeting were the Selectmen and Chiefs Damon and Hartin. Selectman Tarr, acting as secretary, said the minutes showed no vote. Selectmen Thomas F. Linnehan said there was no vote. Fire Chief Hartin said he remembered there was a vote, two in favor of the move and one no comment. Chief Damon said he remembered no vote.

Not "Public Hearing"

But on July 7, said the minutes, there was a recorded vote.

Asked why he voted against the move, Mr. Linnehan said:

"I thought the Town wanted police coverage. And I thought the center should be in the police station, where the coverage was."

Some comments and questions from the floor were rather sharp. At one point Town Counsel Frank Kilburn spoke up to turn aside a remark which seemed out of line.

Among those present were Representative William I. Randall of Framingham, who is an attorney, and John P. Garrahan of Framingham, also a lawyer.

In opening the meeting, Town Counsel Kilburn said that neither he nor the Selectmen regarded the session as a public hearing. It was considered primarily a press conference, he said, but citizens were welcome and the Selectmen would present their point of view on changing the communications system. "No particular individual is on trial here," he said.

The closing of the police station had been the chief topic of conversation in Town for a couple of weeks. Opinions varied, of course, and there was much rumor and speculation. Those who didn't like the situation tended to be indignant about it and some went away from the meeting dissatisfied.

SHORT TAKES ## COCHITUATE

The Cochituate Lassies softball team was scheduled to meet the Wayland Lassies in the third game of their series on Wednesday, July 23, at the Happy Hollow school. So far the Cochituate girls have won two games, the Wayland Lassies none. The softball program for girls from 8 to 12 has attracted a lot of eager players who are learning the game under the expert coaching of Nick Statton, Cochituate Motors' mentor, and a volunteer staff of mothers and fathers. As for spectators, many who come to scoff stay to cheer. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Fern Taylor of Edgewood Road and three of their children, Carl, Jane and George, leave on Friday for Glasgow, Montana, to visit Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Taylor. . . . A neighborhood coffee party and food sale for the benefit of the Jimmy Allen Fund, the other day, brought in the astonishing total of a little over $100. Sponsored by the Shore Acres Club of Cochituate, it was held at the home of Mrs. John Wales of Parkridge Road. The money was turned over to Clyde Crozier, co-chairman of the fund, by Mrs. Wales. . . .

Red Cross swimming classes for beginners are nearly over and tests are being conducted for youngsters who want to qualify for beginners' certificates and go on to the intermediate classes which begin on July 28. Nearly 500 children signed up. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rudenauer of Edgewood Road are the parents of a daughter, Christine Carol, born July 11 at Sanderson Memorial Hospital in Waltham. She has five older brothers and sisters: Jean, 8, Edwin, 7, Martha, 5, Paula, 4, and Richard, 2½. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howard of Ridgefield Road and their daughters, Marcia and Betsey, have returned from a trip by automobile to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. They visited Mrs. Howard's aunts, Mrs. Bayard Taylor and Miss Anna Smith, and "saw lots of relatives they hadn't seen in ages". Mrs. Howard's sister from Lexington, Mrs. Gerald Shirley, joined them in Pittsburgh; her son, Gerald Shirley, lives with his family in nearby Kittaning, Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brosseau, proprietor of "Al's Variety" on West Plain st., recently enjoyed a few days' stay at their newly-acquired cottage on Buzzard's Bay. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Cardellichio of West Plain st., have been looking forward to seeing their son, Bobby, who is with the United States Air Force and due for discharge.

Charles E. Potter

'Taylor Medical Building' In Weston Is Result Of Flight To The Suburbs

Dr. Taylor stands outside the new Taylor Medical Building, which is on River Road but, on the back, looks right down on Route 128.

WESTON — The lure of a suburban practice combined with suburban living brought Dr. and Mrs. Grantley Walder Taylor to Weston. If businesses could remove to route 128, why couldn't doctors? The result was the Taylor Medical Building at 101 River Road, overlooking Route 128, with the Taylor home across the street on Loring Road.

As Dr. Taylor puts it: "I used to have my office on Beacon Street. The traffic got worse and worse, the drive home at 5:30 or 6 to Wellesley was grim, and I was bushed. The patients said that they were sorry to be late but they'd been putting nickels in parking meters, or couldn't find a place to park. So I thought I'd flee the town and I burned all my bridges and came."

Dr. Taylor wanted to locate near Route 128, and he finally found the seven-acre Loring Farm, with 1½ acres for the Medical Building and 5 and½ acres for a new house hidden on the hill across the street. The Building opened in July, 1957. It is modern, sound-proofed, air-conditioned, on two levels. Both floors are accessible on the ground level from two parking lots, arranged by the slope of the land. It has room for 10 doctors with examining rooms, labs, large center waiting rooms on both floors, doctors' lounge, and kitchenette-lounge for secretaries and nurses.

So far five doctors are in residence: Dr. Taylor, Dr. Richard H. Wallace and Dr. William P. Rogers, Jr., all cancer surgeons; Dr. Albert Y. Kevorkian, obstetrics and gynecology, and Dr. William P. Chapman, internist.

Tri-Town Prep Leaguers Have Chance For Big Win

WAYLAND — The Tri-Town Prep League baseball team, heavily loaded with Wayland players, is the New England champion and has a good chance to go to Pittsburgh in August for a shot at the national championship.

Wayland boys on the team are Bob Page, pitcher; Dick Morris, Spencer Richardson, George Andrews and Jerry Whelchel. Other players are from Natick and Framingham. Manager is Robert C. Whelchel of West Plain Street, Cochituate.

Tri-Town beat Waltham for the local championship, then went to Levittown, N.Y., last week-end, to play New Brunswick, N.J., the New York-New Jersey champs, best two out of three.

Bob Page, who pitches for Wayland High, gave up no hits in six innings in the first game, but lost n an error, 2 to 0. In the second game it was all Tri-Town, 11 to 8. Jerry Whelchel had three for six in the two games, with a home run and a double. George Andrews, who has starred in baseball and basketball at St. Charles High in Waltham, did a fine job of catching, and Dick Morris and Spencer Richardson did well on defense.

The third game was to have been played Sunday, but it was rained out. The local boys will go back to Levittown next Saturday for another try at the third game.

Winner will go to the eight-team tournament at Pittsburg in August.

Mr. Whelchel says scouts for the Phillies, Indians and Pirates were on hand to watch the games.

Prep League players are aged from 15 to 18. All the Wayland players on Tri-Town are graduates of the local Little League.

Cobwebs On The Grass

Amateur weather experts used to say that cobwebs on the grass are a sign of fair weather.

Hah!

For four days, last week-end, wet cobwebs were noticeable on wet grass during all the daylight hours, and the sun never came out at all.

It may be assumed that cobwebs on the grass prove only the existence of spiders.

Warning

WESTON — Police Chief J. Sumner Viles asks people not to leave property unattended in unlocked automobiles parked at the Memorial Pool. A woman's handbag was taken from a parked automobile recently, he said. While there was no money in the bag, it contained valuable papers.

Motors Loses Semi-final

COCHITUATE—Cochituate Motors softball team won its first two games in the Massachusetts Class B tournament, only to lose in the semi-final, 5 to 4. Games were played at Worcester.

Overturned Trailer In Weston Blocks Route 20

WESTON—Many motorists received a reminder of the importance of Route 20 as a thoroughfare when a big tractor-trailer, bound for West Virginia, shattered a pole not far from the Wayland-Weston line and turned over, completely blocking the road, on July 26.

The accident occurred at 4:45 a.m. and the road was plugged for seven hours.

Route 20 was blocked off by police at Wayland Center and in Weston. Westbound traffic was sent down Wellesley Street to Route 30 to Cochituate and thence back to Route 20, and eastbound vehicles were sent from Wayland Center to Cochituate and thence over Route 30. Some, who knew the way, went from Wayland to Weston over Glezen Lane and Sudbury Road.

The trailer was loaded with shoes. The driver, from West Virginia, was unhurt.

Off To Milan

WAYLAND—Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Harris and their family left Pequot Road for Milan, Italy, on July 23, for a three-year stay abroad during which Mr. Harris is scheduled to set up research and development laboratories in Europe for the Dewey & Almy Overseas Company.

Mr. Harris served a term on the Town Finance Committee and Mrs. Harris has been active in Vokes and in the Junior Town House. Above, Mr. and Mrs. Harris with Jeff, 9; Kit, 7, and Debra, 11 months. The family flew over.

Wayland Shopping Center Construction Work Begun

WAYLAND — Filling of the land for the new Edward A. Veno shopping center in Wayland has been completed and the sinking of piles was begun on July 29. It is planned to go directly ahead with the construction, with November the target date for completion.

The center, to be the largest and only thing of its kind in Town, will be occupied by a number of businesses, among them The Co-op Inc., which will operate a supermarket. The Co-op lease has been signed, says the Veno office.

Details of the building plans next week.

Weston Dog Taxes

WESTON—Local residents are reminded that dog taxes are due.

Cochituate Trash Must Henceforth Be Deposited On The West Wayland Dump

WAYLAND — The Cochituate dump, after a long but not particularly well appreciated period of service, has reached the limit of its capacity, the Selectmen announce, and will be closed for good after the closing hour on Sunday, August 17.

Thereafter all residents will have to take their rubbish to the Wayland dump on State Road West, on the west side of Sudbury River.

The Cochituate dump, an eyesore like all dumps, will be covered with gravel, it is said, and then landscaped. The bank behind it may be graded, and an access road may be built to the property behind the bank, which the Town acquired some time ago as a site for a future junior high school.

At the Wayland dump, it is said, there is room for years of trash disposal. Plans are being made to have competent supervision of the place, with frequent burning and covering, and perhaps the drilling of a couple of wells to provide water to cover the burning. Not many houses are near the Wayland dump, where the Town owns much swamp which, when filled, might be usable land.

The Selectmen's notice:

The Board of Selectmen and various boards concerned have completed a study of Wayland dumps and have come to the decision that due to lack of further space, it will be necessary to close the Cochituate dump. Because there is no other suitable place for a dump in Cochituate, all dumping will be concentrated in the Wayland Center, State Road West dump, where it can be properly supervised and cared for.

Following are a list of facts and regulations voted by the Board of Selectmen. They must be adhered to or the offender will be prosecuted:

1. The Cochituate Dump will be closed, all dumping prohibited, after closing time Sunday, August 17, 1958.

2. The State Road West (Route 20) Dump will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and on Wednesdays until 8 p.m.

3. All householders will have to obtain a windshield sticker at the Town Office Building for use beginning August 18 and thereafter. (Stickers will be available from August 10 on at the Town Office Building only.)

2 Members Appointed To Weston Bldg. Committee

WESTON—Glen M. Lempereur, Town Moderator, has made two appointments to the Special High School Plant Committee. The two are Charles E. Applegate of 8 Pelham Road, an associate of Arthur D. Little Company, and Leo F. Glynn of 156 Ridgeway Road, a lawyer in Boston.

Three vacancies appeared on the five-person Committee last month with the resignations of Eleanor Bump, chairman; Richard Berry and Camillo Petri, Nancy Stutz and J. Ward Doebler remained on the Committee.

The resignations came after the June 4 and 19 Special Town Meetings. The June 4 Meeting voted to buy the Paine land on South Avenue, recommended by the Committee, for the new high school. The June 19 Meeting voted to authorize the Committee to proceed with the building of the new high school.

Mr. Lempereur expects to announce the appointment to the remaining vacancy next week.

Only Thing Free

Those paper registration stickers that go on the inside of the automobile windshield sometimes come unstuck.

The other day a local resident whose sticker was in bad shape dropped in at the Waltham registry to see about replacing it.

"What do I do?" he asked a man in an inspector's uniform.

"Go to the cashier and get another," he said. "It's the only thing around here that's free."

Many Local Entries In Canoe Races

COCHITUATE — Bad weather kept down attendance at the big canoe races held off the Town Beach on Lake Cochituate on July 26, but nevertheless there were 84 entries from eight States. There were also many Cochituate entries.

Some of the local entrants: Robert Kent, Elaine Landsberg, Sandie MacKnight, Philomena Pompeo, Linda Baker, Steve Dinsmore, Bobbie Harris, Jimmie Henderson, Mrs. Jean Henderson, Mrs. Portia MacKnight and Bobby MacKnight, Dave Newhall and Nancy Newhall, Dave and Bob Blum and Jean Henderson.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Police Station

To the Editor:

Congratulations on your fair and frank front page article on the recent move of the Wayland communications center and closing of the police station.

I left the open meeting, which your article described, frankly convinced that the "r e a s o n s" given by two of the Selectmen for their action make little sense. The "noisy drunks in the lock-up" are now a nonexistent problem with the lock-up closed and the noise could probably be minimized at the dispatcher's desk anyway. The "lack of space for additional equipment in the police station" could readily have been corrected. The "use of the telephone for ordinary police business" could have been circumvented by the addition of another phone (as has been done at the fire station location now). The "milling around of policemen in the dispatcher's area" dissolved as a serious problem with the discovery that we never have more than two policemen on duty at any time, and most of their time is spent on patrol.

At one point, someone asked whether the Fire Department or the Police Department receives more calls and does more dispatching. This appears to be a crucial question in determining the proper location for the dispatching. The Chairman of the Selectmen, Mr. McEnroy, replied that it is impossible to estimate the relative communication load for each department. Research into the 1957 Town Report, however, indicates that the Police Department communications are about six times greater than those of the Fire Department. (The Police Chief's report stated that 1,732 calls were received in the police cruiser, and most of these probably would pass through the dispatcher. The Fire Chief's report stated that 289 alarms were received, of which only 189 required the actual calling out of volunteer men.)

Thus, the logical organization of communications seems to be to place both equipment and personnel under the direction of the Police Chief thereby keeping the police station open at all times. Moreover, the use of the lock-up cells already built into the Town Building would presumably save the $2,000 paid to Framingham—at no apparent extra cost to Wayland—and would keep our policemen in Wayland instead of leaving town to dispose of prisoners.

Why, then, was the communications equipment for both departments moved from the police station to the fire station? One of the Selectmen indicated, in essence, that the citizens of Wayland are not entitled to know what the Selectmen do or why. Is this attitude intended to cover a purely political move by two Selectmen to destroy the authority of the Police Chief to direct the protection activities of the Police Department?

Yours truly,
K. B. Reade

What's Happening?

To The Editor:

What is happening in the town of Wayland? A locked door at the Police Station and now tentative plans for a sprawling spider of a High School.

The latest idea of a tremendous round gymnasium, a cage, I believe it is called, is really the topper. I agree on one point; that is, unsolidified thinking. Jelly like, I would call it. If the building committee really wants a cage, there are two lovely cages, not used at all, sitting in our brand new empty Police Station.

Seriously though, I have always been under the impression that sports were incorporated in a high school curriculum to teach team work and give some good out-door exercise. Therefore, baseball in the spring, football in the fall and when it got too cold those that wished played basketball. It really is fantastic to think we need a ¾ acre circle with a dome high enough to avoid hit baseballs and kicked footballs. What, no polo ponies?

What has happened to all the suggestions for a good two or three story high school? Too simple and inexpensive for our building committee? Just because we have 90 acres for a high school site doesn't mean we have to sprawl buildings all over it. And oh, the upkeep of all those roofs and walls, not to mention heating plants and sky lights, and who is going to sweep a ¾ acre floor?

But then, maybe we could interest a circus in setting up quarters in our monstrous gym for the Summer months to help defray expenses.

Is this one of the so-called ideas from the citizens that are going to pay for this school? I don't believe it for one minute. This is the original plan discussed and pushed by the School Building Committee. Are we going to accept and pay for this architectural nightmare under the guise that it is your idea?

Doris A. Bolton

From Citizen Kelly

To the Editor:

Since you have been so kind to me in the past, as far as coverage of my participation in The American Legion Boys' Nation Program, I should like to take this opportunity to express my deep gratitude and to present to you my thoughts concerning this great program which is presently taking place in our nation's capitol.

As I conceive it, The Boys' Nation Program bases its success upon the philosophy that education in government processes must be not only attained through observation, but through practical participation. It is thus that 98 boys representing the states of the union, as well as the Canal Zone, have gathered at the University of Maryland. We of Boys' Nation have not only visited the capitol of the United States where we witnessed sessions of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, but have participated in the activities of our own legislative organ, The Boys' Nation Senate.

The vast majority of the Boys' Nation will not in all probability make politics a career, but the principles of democracy which we have learned will not be lost. A democracy necessitates active citizens as well as active statesmen. Also, through example these principles may reach a wider group.

One of the things which I have learned while in Washington is that the responsibility for the continuity of democratic principles in government institutions is the responsibility of every citizen. It is my sincere belief that organizations such as the American Legion Boys' Nation will aid the removal of the reins of government from the hands of the politician and place them in the hands of the statesman. This is a transition all could well wish for.

Needless to mention, I am extremely grateful for the opportunity which the American Legion has given to me to improve my own fitness to participate in the government of the United States through the role of just plain citizen Kelly.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Kelly, Jr.

Is Cochituate Losing A Dump Or Is Wayland Acquiring A Civic Center?

Seldom does a civic decision bring to mind so many pregnant questions as does the closing of the Cochituate dump.

Is Cochituate going to like this?

Hitherto everything in Town has been fair. Cochituate had a dirty dump and Wayland had a dirty dump. Now only Wayland will have a dirty dump.

Is Cochituate being robbed?

Cochituate used to be able, now and then, to breathe clouds of smoke from burning girdles, old magazines and discarded overshoes. There was smoke which had body to it. A person could lean against it and not fall down. It gave character and odor to a neighborhood.

When a resident smelled it, he could say to himself, proudly, "I live in Cochituate."

Now he won't have any more of that vitamin-filled smoke. When he catches a stray whiff of fumes such as those given off by an uncapped ammonia bottle he will only be able to say, "We must be coming into Wayland."

When a Town has two ends, it's only right to have a civic center in each.

Now Wayland will have the only civic center. Of course, it will be a real stinker of a civic center. As the gambler said, "I know the game is crooked, but it's the only one in town."

Will the change result in a greatly increased volume of business?

Picture the Cochituate resident, staunch in his pride, loading up with twice as much trash as usual and setting off gaily for the dump in Wayland, in his eye a gleam and in his heart the thought, "Here comes Cochituate's revenge."

And what of the resident of far off Oak Street, who will have to ride five or six miles to the dump? What will be his story when he returns, an hour or two later? He got stuck in the Raytheon traffic? He got lost? He met some Wayland characters and found they had rubbish in their veins, too?

There should be quite a mob down at the Wayland dump on Sunday mornings in the future. Anybody with a soapbox—and it should be possible to pick up an old soapbox around there—could get quite an audience. That is, if he had nerve enough to try a speech in a place so abundantly supplied with empty bottles and old beer cans.

Speaking of beer cans, this joint will really jump if local characters ever get into the habit of carrying refreshments to the dump. In a way, this would save labor by eliminating the middle step. Now the empty can goes into the trash receptacle in which it is carried to the dump. Were the can emptied on the spot, it would save filling up the waste can.

And what a luxury, too. Everything is getting poisonously neat around here. Housewives won't let anybody throw ashes on the rugs, there's a law against throwing trash out of automobile windows and lawns are so trim nobody feels right about strewing them with paper bags. Why, nobody even stuffs overalls into broken windows any more. So, what a treat to be able to throw an empty container without even looking to see where it lands. And legally, too.

And how will Wayland feel about possession of the only dump in Town? Puffed up? Will residents of the Center revel in the smoke which rolls across the marshes, smelling largely of scorched wool and faintly of rich mud?

Or will they feel that this is more than they deserve, and that the good things of life should be shared with Cochituate, as heretofore?

Of course, Sudbury, although near the Wayland dump, will be excluded from enjoyment of it. Thus the new arrangement may have a unifying social force in Town. Cochituate and Wayland residents at last united, arms and hearts entwined, may stand serene on a noble mountain of crud, looking down their noses at the foreigners next door who have no such beautiful civic grab bag to be snooty about. — D.B.W.

Surprise Birthday Cake

WESTON—Mr. Arthur C. Jones, octogenarian and longtime resident of Weston, celebrated his 83rd birthday in a novel manner July 22. Accompanied by his son, Arthur F., Supt. of Water Dept., Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Mueller, they drove to Derrybrook Camp, South Londonderry, Vermont, where their daughters Ann Marie and Karin, together with six other Weston girl scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Mead Hartwell, are camping in tents and preparing their own meals over open campfire.

Ann had baked a cake in a reflector oven, placed sideways against the fire, which the girls faithfully fed with sticks to keep a constant moderately hot blaze. With fluffy white frosting and 84 lighted candles, Ann placed it in front of her surprised grandfather. The girls and guests sang "Happy Birthday" seated on the ground around the low table, accompanied a couple of feet away by a babbling 20 foot wide mountain stream.—Mabel Mueller.

Medical Building

Dr. Taylor says it is the last word in a place to practice medicine comfortably. All his patients love the location with easy parking, and the only catch is that a map supplied by the Building is needed to locate the offices for the first time. Doctors can operate in Boston or neighboring hospitals in the morning, and be at their offices near their homes in the afternoon. Dr. Taylor remarks that industrial developments on Route 128 with their fringe benefits require accessible doctor's offices.

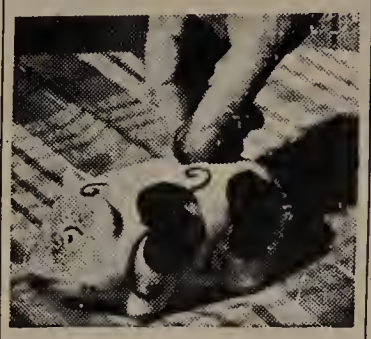
Dr. Taylor was born in Patterson, New Jersey, and came to New England via St. Paul's and the Harvard Medical School. He is on the Board of Consultation at the Massachusetts General Hospital where he has been since 1922. He headed its Cancer Clinic until he came to Weston. He is chief of the Cancer Board at the Veterans Hospital in Jamaica Plain. For relaxation, he paints and draws. Some of his pictures, have been exhibited.

In 1951, he married Phoebe Atwood Taylor (same last name), whom he describes as a writer of "innumerable brilliant detective stories." Over a period of 20 years, Mrs. Taylor turned out 30 to 40 books, before she gave up writing in favor of marriage. As she says, "You can't do two jobs at the same time, and professional writing absorbs 24 hours a day." And meeting a man with the same name as hers was a challenge she couldn't turn down.

Mrs. Taylor's stories center around the Cape Cod detective, Asey Mayo, and have been translated into German, Italian and other languages. She explains her entrance into writing after graduation from Barnard College:

"Is was 1930 and a bad time to be in the habit of eating. I needed money. Detective stories are a formula, like writing a sonnet. They are a good honest solid thing, with everything squared off. And you receive compliments such as 'It's better than seconal—I always go to sleep after reading them.'"

Dr. Taylor seems to sum up the feeling of both Taylors when he says that he is just coming into his own with his Weston venture.



WAYLAND—The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted to Arthur Schofield authority to remove excess gravel or fill from the property of Richard L. and Georgianna M. Martin and Wayland Real Estate Company to allow for regrading and loaming of the premises.

DISTINCTION
ANOTHER GREAT CADILLAC TRADITION
It has been said that the Cadillac car is unique not only in the individual aspects of its design, but in its very being as well. And certain it is that, in any automotive company, a Cadillac assumes a measure of distinction that stamps it unmistakably as the "car of cars". If you have yet to discover the joy of commanding so superb a motor car, you should do so very soon.

4. All developers and builders will be required to obtain a permit for the dumping of stumps and house-construction debris at the rate of $10 per load for single axle trucks and $20 per load for tandem axle trucks. Such permits shall be purchased from the Town Collector, Town Office Building, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Friday.

5. Rubbish disposal contractors, allowable only if collecting from Wayland residents, shall secure a license from the Executive Secretary, the annual fee for which will be $5.

How strength and freedom are gained through understanding God, divine Love, will be a topic dealt with at services Sunday.

One of the selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" is this from Matthew: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people" (4:23).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (454:18-23): "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept."

Finance Committee Liked Framingham Arrangement, Says Chairman Morgan

WAYLAND — More about the shifting of the communications center and the closing of the Wayland Police Station:

It was said after the meeting of July 21 that the cost of having Wayland prisoners accomodated in the Framingham lockup is now $2000 a year, not $250 as in the past, and that the Finance Committee would have to be asked for the money.

Says Robert M. Morgan, chairman of the Finance Committee:

"The Finance Committee would be in favor of granting any reasonable request of the Selectmen. The Committee was in favor of continuing the arrangement with Framingham at $250 a year. We don't know about the $2000 a year. We have no information about it."

Then, speaking as a former member of the building committee which built the Town Building, Mr. Morgan says:

"The building was set up so the communications would be joint, no matter whether they were in the Police Department or in the Fire Department. Because of the expense, we didn't want two communication centers, which would have involved using eight men instead of four.

"We had to put in the lockup because the law required it. But the Committee would have preferred continuing the arrangement with Framingham for taking care of prisoners.

"It is entirely within the scope of the Selectmen to determine where the communications should be located. As before, the center is still in touch with both departments, and anybody calling on the telephone can get the same service he could before.

"I suppose people were disturbed when they went on foot to the police station and found it closed. A notice on the door would have told them that they could get the same service at the other station, 50 feet away."

SHORT TAKES
COCHITUATE

John and Ellen Morrell of Main Street, Cochituate, have returned from a visit with their brother, Captain Bruce Morrell, his wife, and family at Falmouth, Massachusetts. Captain Morrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morrell of Main Street, is associated with the Air Force in research and development of jet engines at Dayton, Ohio, and was invited by the National Academy of Science to be a member of its 3-month Summer study group this year at Woods Hole. Captain Morrell's wife and children, Marjorie, 5, Bruce Jr., 5, Amy, 2½, and Andrew, 1 year, are spending the Summer at Falmouth. . .

Barbara Roche Livzey, class of 1956 at Wayland High School, and her two children, Jackie, 16 months, and Barbara Anne, 3 months, have been spending the month of July with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Shurtleff of Oak Street. Barbara was the first member of her class to be married, and Jackie is the class baby. Mr. and Mrs. Shurtcleff left on Tuesday to drive Barbara and her children back to Glenolden Pennsylvania, to rejoin Mr. Livzey. . .

One of the oldest houses in Town, known to many as the Phineas Bond house, was demolished last Saturday because it was in so dilapidated a condition as to be dangerous. The barn and silo, also on the property on Thompson Street, between Loker Street and Rice Road, were pulled down also, and the rubble will be burned when weather conditions permit. This house is described on James Sumner Draper's map which he made in the late 1800s to show what houses were standing in the town in 1776, and where they were located. The house was probably built long before that, according to local historian Margaret Morrell. . .

Wayland and Cochituate athletes, schoolboy and otherwise, have no more quietly constant supporter than Reed Gerald, well known newspaper dealer on Main Street. When Reed couldn't get to the Tri-Town's all-stars playoffs in New York last week-end, he deputized Murray Stahl of Commonwealth Road to take his place and report back on what happened. Right after the game, Murray phoned him a complete run-down of the game. . .

Ronnie and Tommy DeMartini, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeMartini of Edgewood Road, have returned from a stay at a boys' camp in the Berkshires. Tommy now has the mumps. . .

The 20 Tri-Town players and the three adults who accompanied them were cordially entertained by the Levittown players, housed in private homes, and feted at a banquet on Saturday night. Bob Whelchel, manager and coach, was assisted by Francis Gladu of W.H.S. faculty. Jack Arnold and Bill Morris of Cochituate and Bob Wells of Natick, made the trip. If the team wins Saturday, the big problem will be how to raise $800 to $1000 to finance participation in the tournaments beginning August 11.

'Village Shopper' Construction Begun

Mrs. Edward A. Veno, foreground, turns a shovel of dirt to signify start of "Village Shopper" construction. Rear, left to right, are interested persons: Roger Marshall, who'll have the coffee shop and bakery; John Handrahan of the Veno staff, Joseph P. Staniunas, president of Tekton, architects; Warren Brown, Co-Op manager; John R. McEnroy, chairman of selectmen; John K. Carr, Tekton; Paul Zeidel, Shoppers World Pharmacy, who will operate drugstore; Nathan I. Greene, vice president, Newton-Waltham Bank; Robert Robertson, Co-Op; Wilson W. Crouch, vice president, Newton-Waltham Bank, and Maurice R. Tierney, Wayland TV Center.

WAYLAND—The Wayland shopping center, to be known as "The Village Shopper", should be finished next March, they say at the office of Edward A. Veno, Wayland realtor. The original date was November of this year, but various delays have occurred. Actual work is now under way.

The following businesses are definitely committed to space in the new center:

The Co-Op Inc.; a drug store, a bakery and coffee shop, a TV shop, a cleanser, a barber and a hair dresser. A bid has been made for quarters for the Wayland Postoffice, and a commercial bank has shown interest. Three stores are so far uncommitted.

Gravel has been brought in and the future parking lot, for 350 vehicles, is at the level projected.

The building is to rest on 126 wooden piles, sunk below water level, on which concrete piles will rest. A pile driver is at work now, hammering the 37-foot piles into place.

The borings made for the job reveal that the site, which looked like muddy swamp, is really based on glacial sand and gravel. The topsoil was rich loam and under that some peat was found. But down only two to six feet the sand and gravel begin, in layers of various kinds, and around 40 to 50 feet down is what's called hard pan, consisting of sand, gravel and boulders.

The floor of the stores will be 124 feet above sea level, two feet above the level of the Diane flood of 1955, the worst yet recorded. Since that time considerable work has been done towards controlling the river.

Nike Access Planned To Run Through Farrar Road

WAYLAND—The Army is building 12 houses near the Nike launching site in North Wayland, for personnel of the post, and has been negotiating with Wayland and Lincoln Town authorities about helping to build an improved access road.

After meetings with the groups concerned, the Army indicated it would build its thoroughfare through Farrar Road, which runs westerly off Route 126 in Lincoln, rather than through Oxbow Road in Wayland. Only 150 to 200 feet of the Farrar Road street would run through Wayland.

The houses are expected to be ready for occupancy in September.

Experts predict a good crop of McIntosh apples in Middlesex County this year.

Norman Smith Is Weston Social Studies Teacher

WESTON — Norman A. Smith of Holbrook, head of the social studies department at Brockton High School, has been engaged as a teacher of history and social studies at Weston High School. Smith was graduated from Brown University with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He also has a master's degree from Harvard University and has done graduate study at the University of Maine and the University of Rhode Island.

Norman A. Smith

Before serving at Brockton he was principal of Jay High School at Jay, Maine, and of Thornton Academy, Saco, Maine. He has also taught at Adams and Hanover, Massachusetts, and at Columbia High School, South Orange, New Jersey.

Smith is married and has two children, both of whom are attending Brown University.

Final Registration For State Primary, Weston

WESTON—In accordance with the statutory requirements the Board of Registrars of Voters of Weston will hold an all day session for registration on August 8, 1958, which is the final registration prior to the State Primaries which will be held on Tuesday, September 9, 1958.

The Town Hall office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. on August 8, for registration of voters. Persons may register Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Town Hall. However, no one may register for the State primaries after 10 p.m. August 8th.

All Weston Citizens May Join In School Survey

WESTON—The Steering Committee for the High School Survey next Fall has outlined a plan of procedure to begin in September. Donald Mitchell of Cambridg Consultants Inc., a Wayland resident who has worked on organization of the Wayland high school and consulted with the Weston Special High School Plant Committee, attended the two meetings of the Steering Committee as professional consultant.

The Survey is the result of the requests of many parents who participated in Superintendent Anthony Brackett's High School Study Group last Spring. They expressed an interest in giving further thoughtful consideration to some of the perplexing questions pertaining to public education in general and to the Weston High School in particular. A similar town-wide educational survey culminated in the Simpson Report in 1944.

The Steering Committee states that its immediate objective is to write a report by December 1 which will contain further recommendations as to how the new high school building should reflect the program of secondary education which is best for Weston. The Spring Study Group's final report has already been handed to the School Committee.

There will be five working committees, each responsible for preparing a section of the report. The areas of study are Math and Science; Humanities; Fine Arts, Practical Arts, Vocational Studies; Guidance, Special Services, Health and Physical Education; Extra-Curricular Activities.

During September there will be a kickoff meeting with a noted educator as speaker. Any citizens who are interested will then join committees. Each committee will have an expert consultant at its first work session to help plan its study. Those eager to do advance reading will find a bibliography and selected books at the Library by August 4.

The Commitee emphasizes that every attempt will be made to give every citizen an opportunity to participate in the Survey.

Tri-Town Prep Leaguers Finally Go Down, 4 To 2

WAYLAND—The Tri-Town team, five Wayland players along with others from Framingham and Natick, finally lost its way in the national Prep League tournament, dropping a postponed game to New Brunswick, N.J., 4 to 2, at Levittown, N.Y., on Aug. 2.

Tri-Town had six hits to two for New Brunswick, but walks and a bloop single did the damage.

Wayland boys who played were Jerry Whelchel, Dick Morris, Bob Page, Spencer Richardson and George Andrews.

The local boys were playing in fast company. New Brunswick was the Prep League champion of the New York-Jersey area, and will go to Pittsburg for an eight-team elimination to determine the national championship.

Dr. Bodine To Preach

WAYLAND—Dr. Robert Harry Bodine, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Peoria, Ill., fifth largest in the Methodist denomination with a membership of 5,000, will preach at the Trinitarian Congregational Church on Aug. 10 at 9:30 a.m. The Peoria church has just completed a $1,000,000 educational building.

Red Barn Nursery Is Building New School House On Boston Post Road

WESTON—The Red Barn Nursery School, now 15 years old, is constructing its own school building on 1¾ acres at 724 Boston Post Road, just west of the end of the bypass, to accomodate 46 pupils of ages from 3½ to kindergarten.

The building, being constructed by Hector J. Osmond, will be 39 feet by 77, of one floor and basement. It will contain three classrooms, each one with an exit to the out of doors. A semi-circular drive will connect with the Post Road, so that children won't have to get in and out of automobiles on the highway. Outside of the building will be of red cedar shingles.

The school was started in 1943 and became a cooperative in 1952. Much of the money for the new building was raised by fairs and dances held in recent years.

Berton V. Phinney Jr. of 225 Boston Post Road is the architect, and Robert S. Sturgis of 5 Doublet Hill Road is chairman of the building committee. Mrs. Sturgis is now serving as chairman of the board of the school.

It is hoped to have the building ready for use by the end of September. For the past couple of years the school has been using Building B, which is no longer available.

In each of the three classrooms there will be three instructors: a regular teacher, a mother and a student teacher.

These students, aged from perhaps 25 to 40, are studying at the Harvard International Seminar. Men and women of distinction in their own countries, they come here for two months in Summer with all expenses paid.

In the picture, not in order, are Mr. and Mrs. Sinanoglu and their two sons, Turkey; Mr. Simic, Yugoslavia; Mr. Assuad, France; Mr. Codignola, Italy; Seamus O'Neill, Ireland; Mr. Alam, Pakistan; Mr. Szczepanski, Poland; Mr. Wijesinha, Ceylon; Mr. Ulvenstam, Sweden, and Dragan Petrov, Bulgaria. At the extreme left is Lloyd Raisty, an American from Georgia, a visitor. The girl, third from the right, is Miss Cynthia Bennett of Wellesley, Mrs. Little's neice.

Alex Tassinari Has A 28–Foot Boat

COCHITUATE — Having a great time fixing up a boat in his back yard is Alexander Tassinari of West Plain Street. The 28-foot craft is said to have belonged at one time to Guy Lombardo. Its big engine has been removed and replaced with a motor of smaller size. Mr. Tassinari, above, hopes to have a launching this Summer.

(John J. McCann)

Patrick J. Brennan of Cambride has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of Register of Probate and Insolvency of Middlesex County.

More than 32,000 employees were on the Raytheon payroll at the end of June. This represents an increase of 4,000 jobs since the first of the year and 10,000 since the beginning of 1957.

Letters to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Regardless of where the communications center is located in the new Wayland town building it can provide the service intended if the operators are required to do nothing but stand a satisfactory radio and telephone watch to relay messages for the police, fire and civil defense departments. The town has not lost any police protection by the recent move of the center from near the police office to the fire department section of the building. Instead the town has a well run service of its own that it never had before since prior to last December all fire calls went to the Natick fire department and all police calls went to the old police office in Cochituate or to policemen's homes if the office was vacant. The radio messages themselves came from the Natick dispatchers.

We had, and still have, based upon appropriations in the 1958 town meeting, basically an "outside" police department and we have never had a police station manned on a full time basis. It was not the town's intent to have this situation changed by the advent of the communication center. The center was to provide our own facilities for communications that we always got from Natick. The claim that we can't use the "lock-up" is ridiculous since the cells were never intended to be used and are there to comply with the law in order to get state or federal financial assistance in constructing the building. As a matter of fact the communications operators could not be used to guard prisoners since this would interfere with their jobs--and besides, two of them are firemen and not trained as policemen.

It should be recalled here that the Committee to Study the Town Government, appointed by the town meeting in 1956 for the purpose of recommending to the town changes in town government operations in the new town building, was highly regarded by the town. One of the adopted recommendations of this committee resulted in the establishment of the position of Executive Secretary in the town offices to relieve the selectmen of many duties. Before the communications center was put into operation this committee unanimously recommended to the Board of Selectmen that four people should be appointed to operate the center, that they be neither policemen nor firemen, and that one should be a woman to work during the day to handle typewritten correspondence at the communications desk for the three departments to be served. (Women have been operating military and police communications for years.) This would take the burden of these departments from the clerical staff in the main town offices. The Board of Selectmen ignored the recommendation and appointed two men as policemen and two men as firemen.

Despite the slight advantage of having the center near the department that makes the most use of it, the move in itself is inconsequential. The really disappointing thing about it all is that the Selectmen chose to ignore good advice, that they then did not demand certain standards of performance to make the center as effecient as possible and that they tried to sweep everything under the rug by not publicly announcing the move and the reason for making it.

Sincerely yours,
Robert H. Charnock

To the Editor:

I would like to defend the idea of a "cage" as opposed to a conventional gymnasium in the new Wayland High School. It seems to me that the cage offers far more for the taxpayer's dollar than does a regular gymnasium. It would permit a wider range of activities, without costing more money, and thus offer opportunities in physical education for students other than those who make the basketball team. A conventional gymnasium is really just a basketball court. As such it is fine, but a very expensive luxury for only a handful of players — all boys!

The idea of a cage is a step in the right direction. I think that less emphasis on the competitive "team" sports and a return to physical education principally for physical development — of both boys and girls—is a healthy sign.

To the Editor:

We wish to thank you for all the articles that you have printed for us in your paper during our "Jimmy Allen" fund campaign. Without your help there would have been many that we could not have reached and the fund would never have grown the way it did. At this time the family has been given over $2300 in aid. Some of this was given to them before the fund was set up in the bank, but it was given to them by groups active in the fund so we have included it in the fund total. Anyone still wishing to make a donation may send it to the Cochituate branch of The Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Co.

Since we cannot possibly thank everyone personally and we feel they should be thanked, would you be kind enough to print an appreciation article in the paper. The committee is most grateful for all the help and generosity that has been shown by everyone.

Jimmy now has only two nurses and the fund will continue to pay for them as long as finances hold out. He is still in the hospital and will be for at least several months more. Few people realize how expensive an ordeal such as his can be. Since it started, the fund paid for his nurses every week, which amounted to $315 a week for three nurses. Doctors and hospital bills haven't even been touched yet.

Now to get away from the fund for a moment. During the fund drive the VFW did little for their own treasury so they are having a clambake for their own financial benefit. It will be held on August 10 at 1 p.m. in the field in front of the Post on Old Connecticut Path in Cochituate. Tickets are $3.50 and can be bought from the members or at the Post. Lobsters, clams, clam chowder, corn, potatoes and onions are on the menu and there will be games and entertainment. If you would mention this in the paper it would be a big help in helping to make it a successful affair.

Thank you again for all your help.

Sincerely,
Clyde J. Crozier

Cause and cure of multiple sclerosis are unknown.

To the Editor:

The humor of DBW and his wit about the Cochituate and Wayland dumps is not as humorous as it might be to those of us who have recently come to Wayland from other communities.

At least there was municipal collection of rubbish in Newton so that the main roads were not littered with cardboard cartons, clippings from bushes etc. Neither did we have to run our car tires over a mess of old broken glass, nor spend our time getting stickers on our cars to be allowed into the sanctum of the Town Dump.

A glance at the local tax bill shows that Wayland is already collecting as much on the real estate tax as they were in Newton and the services performed are considerably less.

For one I humbly suggest that the Town Fathers somehow abolish some of the expense involved in the New High School and invest $36,000 in two rubbish trucks which ought to get Wayland out of the Dumps.

For 150 Years The Turtle Lived In Sudbury River Mud And Got Nowhere

WESTON — A Weston resident, the other day, shot the head off a Sudbury River turtle which weighed 48 pounds and was estimated to be 150 years old, and this brings to mind the question, "What good is long life to a Sudbury River turtle?"

This reptile was probably an egg back in 1808, and the number of events since in which he has had no interest is large.

He didn't care a wave of his flipper about the Civil War, the Wayland-Weston football series, who was graduated from Harvard or even Pittsburg, the invention of the bicycle or the introduction of Bermuda shorts for Summer wear by stocky girls.

All he did was roam around in the mud.

Imagine the emotions of a human child being told, say at the age of seven:

"For the next century and a half or so you will live right in this neighborhood, wallowing in this same mud, swimming in this water, coming to the surface in Summer and sinking out of sight in Winter, living on dead fish yet never developing a brain."

He Just Floats

Human beings get upset because the ball game gets rained out, company comes or fails to come, the shop shuts down, the money runs out or the horse stops to dream.

Not so the turtle, with 100 years of indifference behind him. Of all creatures which just don't care, you can't beat him. Town Meeting rages, and a stranger might think the world is coming to an end.

The turtle just floats there. He doesn't care whether they vote to build a school or paint a white line down Main Street.

Somebody invents the atomic bomb, and while people lie in bed wondering whether the world will come to an end, the turtle lolls in the mud still indifferent. Let the bomb blow up Boston and he still wouldn't care. For him, the world came to an end the day he was born.

People get automobiles, television, the dry martini, aluminum windows, deep freezes, influence in Washington, news on the half hour and lettuce from California.

The turtle is just as far ahead on his fifth birthday as on his 125th. He was fooling the mosqutoes back in 1820 and he was fooling them in 1958, the only creature, except the angleworm, who had the insects beaten before the invention of mosquito control.

Beauty Aid?

The turtle's career may give pause to a thoughtful person.

Is mud bad?

Children like it. Every now and then an adult has the grace to remove shoes and socks and let his feet squush around in it. Mud is cooling and soothing. For beauty, women take baths in it, although, it must be admitted, the chick in the mud isn't as chic as the one swimming in plain water. And there's some question as to how much beauty mud produces, except in the case of the deep rooted water lily. Some say a beautiful thought each day, such as "I will stop using harsh soap", is more efficacious than any amound of mud.

And the turtle must be given credit for getting to the bottom of things. He would make a wonderful Washington investigator. Show him some murky depths and down he goes into them. He won't bring anything up, it's true, but he certainly goes all the way down.

So we ponder on the career of the monstrous turtle who lives 150 years, goes nowhere, does nothing, thinks nothing and serves only to terrify his aquatic neighbors. The crusty bum never gets a valentine in a century of Februaries because nobody loves him.

People don't live to be 150 years old, but they enjoy life on dry land, which, the real estate dealers around here insist, is much better and cerainly more expensive. — D.B.W.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Inside Schools

To the Editor:

A great deal of newsprint has been devoted to the location, size, and shape of the Weston and Wayland schools. Town meetings are full of vocal citizenry loudly debating the pros and cons of one side or another of these issues.

It seems a shame (or could it be that I cannot see the forest for the trees) that so few words have been spoken or written expressing any concern over what goes on inside the schools.

Very truly yours,
William G. Williams, Jr.

The boy, born July 29, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alton Elliott, Jr. (Ann Worthington), who were married last September at the First Parish Church. Mr. Elliott was sent to Germany shortly after their marriage, and Mrs. Elliott joined him in February. The infant's paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Elliott of Portland, Maine.

Oldest Guernsey Farm Still Producing Top Stock On Historic Wayland Estate.

Panoramic view of Mainstone Farm.

Mainstone Farm, in Wayland, is the oldest established herd of Guernsey cattle in the country. The farm was established in 1871 on approximately 700 acres of land, 190 being used in the operation of the farm itself. The operation is now under the Mainstone Farm Trust to which it was transferred by the Hamlen family, the original owners.

The operation of Mainstone is under the direction of DeWitt Mitchell, the general manager. Mitchell has been with the Farm for six years, and at present is president of the Middlesex County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The Purebred Dairy Cattle Association has carried the Mainstone Farm on its National Honor Roll for the past six years, the qualification being that the cows produce over 400 pounds of butterfat.

140 Head Of Cattle

There are now 140 head in the herd, some of which have impressive production records. Three cows in the herd have been named class leaders, which means they are among the top ten producing cows of their class in the country. In addition, two other cows are now in the process of making records which will put them in the class leader category. Five of the herd have produced over 100,000 pounds over their life span, the triple crown in milk production. One of these five is the descendent of the bull which originally started the herd.

These outstanding records have been made through expert breeding and exceptional care. The farm has won many awards, both in county and state competition in pasture improvement. The herd is brought freshly cut alfalfa daily rather than turning them loose in the pasture. This increases the production per acre as well as the quality of the feed itself. As for the amount of feed, the quantity consumed is staggering. The average cow on the farm eats in one year four tons of hay, seven tons of silage, and 1½ tons of grain in addition to cut green grass. This is in excess of what is normally fed cows, but the extra production obtained justifies the extra feed.

Two Major Objectives

Mainstone has two major objectives. The first is to produce cattle which give high quality milk, and the second is to produce the highest quality cattle from the standpoint of body confirmation.

The management has not entered the cattle in any competition for the past six years, concentrating now on the health of the herd and the breeding of Guernseys from the milk production standpoint.

Artificial Breeding

Artificial breeding is used on the farm, utilizing the freezing technique to preserve the value of the bulls even after their death. All cows carrying calves are kept separate from the herd, fed separately, and receive special treatment to prepare them for calving and the milk string. The calves themselves are treated as babies, being fed a special formula. It is a rare thing on the farm to keep a young bull which is to be sold over three or four months. The management believes in selling more bulls for less rather than raising them and then selling. Only the bulls from the top thirty percent of the herd are kept.

As an indication of Mainstone's efficiency, Mitchell pointed out that while the average age of cows in the state is 4 to 5 years the Mainstone herd average is 9 years. In the same vein, the average yearly production of a cow in the state is 6,400 pounds, while on Mainstone the average production is 8,000 pounds, with some of the herd going as high as 17,000 pounds in one year.

Four Full Time Workers

Mitchell employs four full-time workers throughout the year and adds additional help in the summer months to take care of the increased workload.

Mainstone operates a store on the property for the sale of their Golden Guernsey Milk. The store also carries hamburg made from the baby beef of the 18 month old cows not used in production. Butter and eggs are carried in the store as a convenience, whole milk and hamburg being the only products of the farm. Five retail stores in the local area are supplied by Mainstone with their daily milk requirements. The advantage of Guernsey milk, Mitchell explains, is in the higher nutrition value because of the higher butterfat content.

The farm has proved quite an attraction to the local school children. Mitchell estimates over 5000 visitors of school age have toured the farm during the past year.

People are warned not to let children operate power lawn mowers or play near them while they're running. Dangerous.

Middlesex County District Attorney James L. O'Dea, Jr., has filed nomination papers for re-election. He was elected in 1956 to fill out the two-year portion of an unexpired term in a special election, called because Republican George E. Thompson resigned to accept appointment to the Superior Court. The term for which he now seeks election is four years.

Special Crier Issue Marks Conversion To "Cold Type"

The Justowriter, which produces type. Standing, Mr. Frank B. Morrison, Boston manager of the Friden company, and Mr. Ben Berman, also of the Friden Company. Seated, Mrs. Roger E. Dyer of Draper Road, Wayland, of the Crier staff. (McCann photos)

With this issue, the machinery men say and the Crier editors believe, the Town Crier becomes the first weekly paper in New England to convert its composition process to what is known as "cold type", using Headliner and Justowriter.

Cold type is simply paper type, as contrasted to the metal type produced by the linotype and conventional headline machines.

Back in 1453, the story goes, Gutenberg discovered that by cutting type faces on wooden blocks they could be made to print an indefinite number of impressions.

From wood blocks it was an easy step to metal. Ever since, the same principle has been used, of course with improvements. Type faces of metal, mostly lead, have been used for five centuries to produce practically all of our reading matter.

Until recently, the Crier type has been set and set well, by Brown's Typesetting Company, Waltham. After the type setting, clear proofs have been taken on a special press, and the proofs have been pasted on page dummies which, in turn, have been photographed and printed by the Offset Printing Company of Lowell.

Now the Crier has acquired two remarkable machines, which make the composition process ever so much more quick, flexible, compact and efficient.

One of these is the Justowriter, made by the Friden Company of Rochester, N.Y. Developed in re-

School Bus Schedule

WAYLAND -- The complete school bus schedule will be printed in the Crier issue of next week, Aug. 28.

Same Old Crier, New Look

In this issue, The Town Crier points to itself with pride mixed with becoming modesty.

In some ways the Crier has been like other weeklies, but in many it has been different. And as it completes its change from hot to cold type, it is breaking a new trail. The editors think the linotype is still a wonderful machine, but they also have a feeling that being able to do without it is something remarkable in the history of printing.

So much for looks. The Crier will continue, the editors hope, to be accurate, good humored and useful, the medium for news, opinion and advertising for two Towns whose combined population is around 15,000.

Special Police Officers Appointed In Wayland

WAYLAND -- The list of special police officers of the Town, recently released by the Selectmen, includes the following, who were appointed or reappointed on April 16 for terms running until April 30, 1959:

Cochituate Residents Go To Dump For Last Time

COCHITUATE -- Many a local resident laid his last offering on the Cochituate dump on Sunday, Aug. 17, last day it was open, and looked his last on the ocean of burned cans, chair stuffing, broken botties, waste paper, rusted oil drums and miscellaneous junk.

It was a day to be noted in community history, as one breaking up old habits and compelling an increased expenditure of gasoline to reach the new dump, but no tears were shed.

Cochituate Boys Catch Season's Biggest Fish

COCHITUATE -- A four-pound six-ounce lake trout was taken out of Lake Cochituate on Thursday, Aug. 14 by two young fishermen. Francis Zicuis, 11, of Castle Gate South, was fishing down at the meadows with Stephen Ahern, 11, of Edgewood Road, and Eugene Zicuis, 10, using worms for bait, when he made the lucky haul. The catch almost got away when the end of the rod broke off, but the combined efforts of the boys landed him anyway.

Conservation authorities said that while there are many large trout in Lake Cochituate, not many of them get caught, and that this particular fish is probably the largest trout taken out of the lake this year.

2700 Feet Of Wellesley Street Have Been Fixed

WESTON -- Wellesley Street from South Avenue to Brown Street, closed for widening and resurfacing for xeveral weeks, was reopened to traffic by the Weston Highway Department last week. The 2700-foot stretch, along the western side of the new High School site, eliminates a couple of bad curves.

"I would see a wonderful land...."

Swiss Family Gruber Likes Weston Better Than Boston

WESTON--Visitors in Weston, who have found in the Town their first glimpse of a clean, green America and would like to stay in it for a few months, if they can, are Dr. and Mrs. Ulrick Gruber and their month-old son, Arno Michael.

Mrs. Gruber, baby Arno and Dr. Gruber.

Dr. Gruber was graduated from the University of Zurich medical school, in his home town, three years ago. Recently he spent a year in a big French mission hospital in the French Cameroons in Africa. Now he is in Boston on a scholarship from the Swiss National Fund for the Advancement of Science, studying surgery at Harvard Medical School and at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Gruber (Lisa) came to Boston six months ago, and the only living place they could find was in a small Back Bay apartment, not very clean and not very charming. The trouble is that the

Miss Rayner Is Honored At Farewell Reception

WESTON -- Miss Jeannette Rayner, Music Director at the First Baptist Church of Weston, was guest of honor at a farewell reception immediately following morning worship, Aug. 17. In appreciation of her three years of service,

George Trainor presents a music case to Miss Raynor.

Five Youngsters Injured As Automobile Crashes Over Ledge In Rice Road

WAYLAND -- Five teenagers, four from Newton and one from Watertown, were injured at 2:15 p.m. on Aug. 14 when the automobile in which they were riding struck the ledge in Rice Road, near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, and was wrecked.

Chief of Police Ernest H. Damon says holes were drilled in this ledge, to blast it out, as far back as 1938, and elimination of the hazard has been frequently discussed since.

The youngsters, not knowing the road, were driving north along the part of Rice Road which is paved and normally wide. At the ledge, the road suddenly narrows and curves. It is a blind place. Vehicles have to pull over to the left, because straight ahead is the sloping ledge which drops rather steeply.

The Chief says the automobile didn't turn over, but that its wheels were torn off when it crashed down over the ledge.

All the victims were taken to Leonard Morse Hospital. Four went in the hospital ambulances and one in the new Wayland cruiser with the stretcher in it. Chief Damon and officer John Pelletier were at the scene.

Sign On The Station Door

Sign above, on door of Wayland police station, reflects situation which arouses considerable local interest. Police Station is usually closed because communications center has been moved to Fire Department quarters, next door in the same building. Arrow points towards fire station. (McCann photos)

Letters to the EDITOR

About Mosquitoes

To the Editor:

What happened to the mosquito spraying this year? Last year it was a real rarity to even see one of the sneaky critters about. Not so this summer. It's impossible to go outside without getting eaten alive. And our poor two-year-old daughter is bite-blotched from cheeks to toes. Did the sprayers overshoot State Road East, or was the program abandoned?

A Kind Word

To the Editor:

We just received the notice that you intend to convert to cold-type on August 21.

I wish you the best of luck with the new process and what I hope will be improved quality and efficiency of operation.

About High School

To the Editor:

I have been carefully reading all the reports and letters in the Town Crier about the new high school and the Gym in particular.

I wonder if my opinion is valuable since I'm not a tax payer but only a student who will probably have to use the school; that is, if the discussions have died down and the building has gone up by September 1960 (I'll be a senior then).

It has always been my belief that in the building of something new one should strive to make it more efficient, pleasant and not to make the same mistake twice. As you may know the present gym at the High School leaves much to be desired. Not only is it too small but the acoustics are poor and there is no allotment for seating.

A big gym is necessary as has been proved by the increased interest of the townspeople in high school sports and the lack of space for seating them. Everything else in town is getting bigger and better.

Why not our new school?

Each year the High School enrollment increases, so why not build adequate facilities now rather than have to rebuild 10 years from now?

Haven't W.H.S. students demonstrated by their athletic and scholastic achievments that they not only deserve but have earned the finest gym setup possible?

Can our town really afford to skimp the education both physical and mental of (excuse the hackneyed expression) "The Future Taxpayers Of America and This Town"?

Massachusetts law requires that all school children take part in gym classes each week. After having been forced into this class and then having learned to appreciate the benefits, must we again go through the "too little too late" routine?

I don't want to give the impression that I am entitled to a say in this matter but I have become so peeved reading some of the previous letters submitted on the subject that I couldn't restrain myself.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth A. Woodsum
One Old Farm Road, Wayland - WHS '61

About Litter

To the Editor:

The three Garden Clubs in Weston have formed an overall Civic Committee and one of our main objects is to beautify Weston and keep it beautiful. Lovely trees, shrubs and green grass make a town attractive, but when people use the streets and sidewalks as waste baskets, the whole effect is lost.

We have been quite shocked to see so much trash littering up the streets.

We are urging all citizens and passers-by to make the prevention of litter a personal responsibility. Keep a paper bag in your car, for all those innumerable waste bits of paper -candy wrappings--kleenex, and old cigarette packages. Let us remind you there are two trash cans in the Center, one by the Drug store and one in front of the Bank. If you are on a bicycle or walking let us hope for a pocket!

This litter nuisance is everybody's business. Weston is a lovely town. Let's keep it that way.

Hopefully yours,
M. D. Perry

Town Building, Paid For

Wayland's new Town Building, opened this year, houses Town offices, the Fire Department, Civil Defense Headquarters and a Police Station which is not in use. The building was built to handle all the business of a Town of 17,000, which it is believed will be Wayland's eventual maximum population. It cost more than $300,000 and the remarkable thing is that it's all paid for. (McCann photos)

Dedication Of Curtis Marker On August 31

WAYLAND -- Members of the Curtis family plan a dedication of the marker erected in memory of Ephraim Curtis, Indian scout of early days, at the corner of Training Field Road and Glezen Lane, at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 31.

The public is invited. After the ceremony, tea will be served at the Heard House by members of the Historial Society.

Many fresh vegetables are available at local produce counters these days. Seasonal abundance is here bringing with it large supplies and lower prices.

"Doctors' Building"

Big square house in Weston Center, said to have been built in 1775, is generally known as the Doctors' Building, from the doctors' offices which it houses. Downstairs from the ell at the left are the Kien Chung Tea House and the office of the Town Crier. Foundations are of huge rocks, and in the basement hand-hewn beams may be seen. (McCann photos)

Weston Center Was Once On Stage Route

Weston Center doesn't look very bustling in this picture, made on a Sunday morning facing east along Boston Post Road. Automobiles dimly seen in the background belong to worshippers at St. Julia's Church. In early days Weston was on the main stage route to New York and Philadelphia, and over this piece of street passed, probably uncomfortably, many of the famous figures of the Revolution. Stone retaining wall at the left was built when the street was widened in 1957. (McCann photos)

Relatives Put The Peek On Baby Through Window

A local sourpuss who doesn't care what he says announces he is thinking of organizing a Society for the Protection of Babies from Their Relatives.

This may seem odd, he suggests, considering that practically everybody past the age of 21 professes to be a baby lover.

Actually, he says, the relatives of the poor baby don't care a hang about the infant.

They are looking at him only in hope of seeing a reflection of their mouldy selves.

The conversation which goes on outside the glass window in the hospital tends to follow one pattern, so uniform it's a mercy the window is there and the baby can't hear it.

"Uncle Juke's nose. . . . Just the way Fred looked. . . . A dead ringer for Joe, in the feet especially. . . . Grandfather Pete's head had that pointed shape, that cone effect. . . . His mother's eyes. . . . Ain't he sweet?" And so on.

Old Uncle Colon

If this sort of conversation stopped at the nursery window it wouldn't be so bad.

But every child who has the usual number of parents, grand parents, aunts and uncles has to grow up with it.

The relatives generally tend to think a new arrival is wonderful, always providing he doesn't take after the other side of the family too much.

But actually, says our sourpuss observer, the relatives don't want a new human being.

They want a composite, a reproduction, a mirror. They want to be able to look at little buster and see his father, mother, cousins and ancestors for four generations back, which is as far back as anybody can remember.

Grandpa once got arrested for disorderly conduct?

Let Buster forget to close his prayerbook when he gets through with it, and six relatives will immediately see it as a sign that he's headed towards perdition.

Let Buster refuse to eat carrots and the anvil chorus will take up the saga of Uncle Colon, the horrible example, who never would eat anything in the fruit or vegetable line. Of course, Colon got his vitamins from bourbon and tobacco, which kept him going until he was 89, but this aspect of the story is not mentioned.

New Model Hellion

In fact, the relatives treat the child, aged from zero to 21, as though they were the Parole Board and he were the toughest character yet to try their patience.

Buster's real crime, although the Board won't admit it, is that he's different from the rest of the mob. The mob has heard that all fingerprints are different, but they don't want this variation from the family standard to go too far.

The Board wants Junior to be like his father, and little sister to be just like mother. And once in the age of 11,000 dogs they'll turn out that way, probably, in the end, for the worse.

In his earliest years the child will discover what is expected of him and he'll try to go along. But a little later his mind will get all churned up. He will become, aware of the Adam or even worse, the Eve in himself, and he will realize that this isn't what the Parole Board favors at all. For as long as possible he will conceal from the Board the fact that while he may be a little bit like the rest of his tribe, actually he is a brand new individual. Then he will let go and, depending on circumstances, either start wearing a leather jacket and a garrison belt or lose himself in study of space travel. Or start drinking beer and smoking cigarettes in secret.

The sourpuss says all human beings are hellions at heart, and that the Parole Board should be glad there's a new kind of hellion in the family, a refreshing change from the dull, familiar models.—D.B.W.

New Elementary School

The Loker School in Cochituate, opened in 1957, was built from the same plans as the Claypit Hill School in Wayland, built at the same time. Both are for elementary school children and both have wide areas for outdoor play space. The Lokers were among the first settlers of the Town, in the early 1600's. William A. Loker, a descendant who used to be a Selectman, lives nearby.

Mr. And Mrs. Gray Pay A Visit To Rombas People

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gray of 19 Fairhope Road and their three young sons, making a motor trip in Europe, paid a visit of several hours on July 19, on their way to Switzerland, to the Town of Rombas, calling on the mother of Marcel Megel. He had spent a month living with them last Winter while in Weston.

They found her a very delightful person, very appreciative of their call. She then escorted them to the home of Mr. and Mme. Cilly, whose daughter, Francoise, Weston's fifth scholarship student from the College de Rombas, is to arrive in early October, spend the early part of her stay with the Arthur C. Murphy family of Old Colony Road, and attend with their daughter, Sally, President of the High School Committee, courses with the Senior Class. Francoise was found to be "a lovely, slender, blonde girl, rather shy, but most charming and with a very good command of English."

Marcel sailed from Boston on Aug. 6 on the Greek Liner "New York" to return home, where, beginning Oct. 1, he will continue his studies for his final year at the College de Rombas. He will be joined there as a classmate by Susan Toner, Weston's second scholarship student to attend the College de Rombas.

Cold Type Special

cent years, it is one of several typesetting machines produced to eliminate the wonderful but cumbersome hot metal process.

In brief, the Justowriter consists of two electric typewriters. On one, the recorder, the operator types what's to be printed. Each line comes out approximately a column wide. What is typed is visible on the paper, as in any typing, and it also comes off this machine as a series of perforations on paper tape.

The tape is then run through the other machine, called the reproducer, which produces body type, like this, all justified. "Justified" is a printer's term meaning that each line comes out even on both right and left. The machine does this justifying automatically, and it bats out type at more than 100 words a minute. In a Crier column there are approximately 600 words. That's six minutes' work for the reproducer, after the typing is done.

From the reproducer, the paper type is pasted directly on the dummy, for photographing and printing.

Headlines are set on another paper-type machine, the Varityper "Headliner". This device, about as big as a table model television set, sets larger type, one letter at a time, photographically. The feature of this machine is a set of easily changed disks, on the rim of which are letters and symbols of many sizes and varieties. The operator turns a knob until a point of light centers on the letter he wants. Then he presses a button and Lo! the letter is photographed. When the headline is completed, the operator presses another button and the whole line comes out as a piece of developed film, ready to be pasted in place.

Headliner type is also used for setting up advertisements. It comes in a wide variety of styles and sizes.

These three machines, the recorder, reproducer and headliner, aren't quite small enough to fit in a telephone booth, but they do take up less space than two ordinary office desks. Yet they will do all the composition work for the paper, plus other composition.

As for the quality of the product of these machines, as compared with that of hot type machines, there doesn't seem to be any difference. An experienced printer could probably tell that Justowriter type isn't linotype type, but nobody else would even notice.

All the Crier headlines for the past several weeks have been set on the Headliner, and no comment at all has been made by readers. Paper or lead, it's still type which serves the purpose well.

Justowriters have been in use in many business establishments for several years. One daily paper, The Record of Middletown, N.Y., uses them exclusively and successfully. Some weekly papers in other parts of the country use them. But so far as the Justowriter people know, The Crier is the first weekly in New England to adopt this method of composition.

The Crier will continue to be printed by the Offset Printing Company of Lowell, which deserves much of the credit for the attractive appearance of the paper.

Offset Printing Credited For Picture Reproduction

While we're talking about the Crier's production process, a few words about pictures may be in order.

An advantage of the offset printing process is that it makes the reproduction of photographs cheap, easy and excellent.

Not to be technical about it, offset is printing from a rubber plate instead of a metal one.

In metal printing, the photograph has to be made into what's called a cut. This, too, is metal. The process of making cuts, called photoengraving, is expensive. A single one-column cut may cost several dollars, larger cuts in proportion. At this rate, papers have to be careful about how many cuts they use. Some weeklies will use cuts only when the persons wanting them in the paper are willing to pay for their cost.

With the offset process, printing pictures is no more expensive than printing type. When the Crier pages are being pasted up, a white space of the proper size is left where each picture is to go. Picture and space are marked to show that they go together. The pictures are sent to the printer in a separate envelope, and that's all there is to it. No expensive cuts have to be made.

This is why, in its small way, the Crier is able to use so many pictures. Some issues have contained photographs of as many as 75 or 80 identified local persons, not counting those in occasional crowd pictures. In some Towns, people get their names in the paper. In Weston and Wayland from 1000 to 2000 local residents get their pictures in the paper in the course of a year.

Scholarships List

WESTON — Each year Weston High School seniors who wish to continue their formal education have the opportunity to get scholarship assistance in various amounts. Several of these awards come from funds established for the purpose by individuals or by the town; others are contributed by town organizations. Some of these scholarships are for fixed amounts; others are given according to need. A brief review of scholarship opportunities is given here.

The American Legion Auxiliary of Weston offers a scholarship annually to a girl planning to enter an approved hospital nurse's training scool. The candidate must be approved by the Principal, and is chosen on the basis of need, character, scholastic standing and aptitude for nursing. The daughter of a veteran is given preference over another candidate of equal qualifications.

Under the will of Charles J. Paine, a scholarship is awarded to a boy entering Harvard or the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It covers tuition, books and traveling expenses for one year.

The David A. Perry Memorial Loan Scholarships are available to deserving seniors or graduates through the Weston Boosters, Inc. Preference is given to seniors, although past recipients may apply.

The Horace S. Sears scholarships are awarded to boys on the basis of demonstrated leadership, citizenship, character and scholarship. They are for varying amounts and may be awarded to a boy throughout his college course. Choice of recipient is the responsibility of the High School Principal and of the Minister of the First Parish Church of Weston.

Weston War Memorial Fund scholarships are awarded on the basis of need, scholastic standing, citizenship, leadership and character. The funds for these are derived from the income from the Weston War Memorial Educational Fund, established at the annual Town Meeting of March 3, 1953.

The Women's Community League of Weston offers one or more scholarships to girls of the graduating class. Such factors as scholastic standing, character, and soundness of educational plan are taken into consideration, as well as the recommendation of the Principal.

Students wishing to compete for these scholarships may obtain application blanks at the office of the high school.

Belts, motors, and wiring must be properly installed and be in proper working condition before operating a hay drier. Remember any overheating sufficient to cause even a small fire could be disastrous.

Put Potted Plant In Bag

You can go away this summer and leave your potted plants behind with nary a worry. Just moisten well the soil around your plant and put the whole plant, pot and all, in a polyethylene bag. Then close the bag up tight and go. You can come back several weeks later and your plant will still be thriving.

A college professor has reported keeping a philodendron, sealed in a plastic bag, alive and healthy for four years. Polyethyiene has the ability to hold moisture in and not let it out. Vegetabies and certain items of clothing come packaged in polyethyiene which can be used satisfactorily. Do not use bags that have holes punched in them.

After you place your well watered piant into the polyethylene bag, just fold the top of the bag and hold it with paper clips or seal it with transparent tape. Be sure not to leave the plant in the sun. If you do you may find nothing but a mass of scorched leaves when you return.

WAYLAND -- Among thriving young organizations in Town is the Wayland Historical Society, only four years old yet already under a roof of its own, the Heard House, and busily engaged in collecting tangible relics and information pertaining to the community's long past.

Mrs. Dorothy Hamlen was first president when the Society was formed in 1954.

Officers elected this year are J. Sidney Stone, president; George K. Lewis and Richard F. Lincoln, vice-presidents; Edwin B. Damon, treasurer; Mrs. Willard B. Dik, secretary; Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator, and Mrs. Pierpoint Blair, Mrs. Charles T. Morgan and Mrs. Kenneth Morrell, directors.

The Society moved into the Heard House in 1956, and the process of renovation and embellishment is continuing. Membership in the Society is wide open to all interested and the treasury is also wide open to contributors.

Mrs. Mabel Damon, who taught many school generations of Wayland youngsters before she retired, sits at the curator's glass-topped desk, on which are old maps of the Town.

Weston Town Hall Is Impressive Landmark

Weston's Town Hall, built in 1917, sits among shade trees, an impressive sight when seen, on a bright Summer day, across the wide green lawn of the Town Green. The main hall inside holds 500. That is big enough for many Town Meetings, but when there's a hot issue and a large turn-out of voters, meetings are held in the High School gymnasium. Town offices are in the building and the Police Station is in the basement.

Old Carriage Shed In Wayland Center

How selfishness is overcome through the acknowledgment and understanding of God as the only Mind is a topic to be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

Among the Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" is this admonition of Paul: "Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus;; (Philippians 2:3-5).

Also pointing out the way to overcome selfishness are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Big Softball Night At Cochituate, Aug. 23, For Little Lassie Program

WAYLAND -- A softball doubleheader, featuring a game between two outstanding girls' teams, will be played under the lights at the Cochituate ball field, starting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22, for the benefit of the Little Lassie softball program in Wayland and Cochituate. Cochituate Motors will defray all expenses, says Howard Phillips, and all the money collected will go towards providing equipment for the local girls for next year.

The other game will be between Cochituate Motors and the Polish-American Club of Worcester. Outstanding pitchers for P.A.C. are George Piude and John Peronie, who have been seen in Cochituate before. Wayland boys on the Cochituate Motors team are Paul Bradley, Fred Tassinari and Nick Willard.

The girls' game, between the team of the Hebert Candy Company of Worcester and the Rhode Island State champions, will be played first. One of the Hebert team's pitchers is Jackie Phillips, daughter of Howard Phillips, who was graduated from Natick High last June after pitching the Natick High girls' softball team to an undefeated season. The Hebert team has played 49 games this season and has an excellent record.

Mrs. John H. Rooney and Mrs. Jerry Joyce have organized a group of women to take up the collection.

Swiss Family

scholarship grant of 12,000 Swiss francs is not so much when translated into American dollars, and it has to cover 12 months of living here for the whole family plus transportation from Zurich to Boston and return.

They never got out of the city to see the country until the other day, when Dr. Frederick D. Dallenbach, Harvard pathologist, invited the Grubers to occupy his home at 145 Winter Street while he was on vacation.

Shortly before this invitation was extended, baby Arno arrived six weeks early at Boston Lying In Hospital. They had to put him in an incubator, and his parents are convinced that if it hadn't been for the skill and facilities available at the hospital, he wouldn't have made it. But he was a month old on Aug. 16 and he looks fine.

The night the Grubers arrived in Weston there was an electrical storm which knocked out the power. No water, no lights and so on. Neighbors came around with candles and other help, and thus became acquainted with the visitors in Town.

But when the daylight came and the Grubers got a look at the local countryside, they felt they were finally seeing the United States.

"When I left Africa," says Dr. Gruber, "they told me I would see in America a wonderful land, all clean and new, new, new. . ." Finding a place to live in Weston for six months isn't so easy, but the Grubers' neighbors thought that if the facts of this case were made known somebody with some extra space might be found.

Anybody with quarters available might, if so inclined, call the Crier for further details.

Leithead Home Damaged By $15,000 Fire Aug. 11

WESTON--Damage to bouse and contents estimated at $15,000 was done by a fire of undetermined origin which swept the home of Mr. James A. Leithead, 287 Glen Road, on Aug. 11. The family was away at the time and the alarm was given at 7:22 p.m. by a woman neighbor who drove by and saw that a room was burning.

The front room, front stairs and a bedroom of the 2 1/2-story building were damaged by fire, and there was also considerable smoke damage. An engine company from Wellesley moved in to lend a hand.

St. Peter's Steeple Will Be Emplaced By A Crane

The steeple section in the foreground is the top part. Visible at its left is the lower section, which will go up first and be placed atop the square tower of the church. (McCann Photos)

WESTON--Those observing the construction of the new St. Peter's Church between the Post Road and the bypass have been interested, recently, in the sections of steeple, like a two-stage rocket, being built on the ground.

In early New England the tall church steeples had to be built in place, because there was no derrick big enough to lift them.

Now, with huge cranes available, it is said that the practice is to build a steeple on the ground and then carry it aloft. Many are looking forward to the day, about three weeks hence, when this steeple is to make its ascension.

Mr. William H. Bowden of Cochituate Road, Wayland, who is chairman of the St. Peter's building committee, says the contractor promises that this steeple won't blow over in some hurricane. Its core is of steel shafts which will extend down through the main part of the church to the ground.

Outside of the steeple will be of wood, painted off white, so it will have the appearance of the traditional New England spire.

Total height of the structure, from floor to steeple top, will be 105 feet. Mr. Bowden says he hopes the building will be finished in September.

Mrs. Merle Vander Clute

COCHITUATE -- Funeral services for Mrs. Merle B. Vander Clute, 41, wife of William W. Vander Clute Jr., of 5 Oak St., took place in the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home Aug. 11 at 2 o'clock with many friends and relatives in attendance.

A resident of this community for more than 10 years, Mrs. Vander Clute was born in Bristol, Connecticut, the daughter of Rufus I. and Hazel B. (Brown) Brown. She had formerly lived in Linden and Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Besides her husband she is survived by her parents and a daughter Miss Carlene Vander Clute, a senior at Wayland High School.

The services were conducted by Rev. Donald S. Ewing, D.D., pastor of the Trinitarian Congregational Church, Wayland. W. Ernest Colbath presided at the console of the organ. Interment followed in the family lot in Meadowview Cemetery, Amherst, New Hampshire, where graveside prayers were said by Rev. Frank M. Welskel, pastor of the Amherst Congregational Church.

New Jericho Purchase Gives Weston Forest Of 198 Acres

WESTON -- Executive Secretary J. Ward Carter announces that the Town of Weston has completed the purchase of 68 acres of land from Domenico B. Raimondo in the Jerico district to add to the Town Forest in that area. Price was $25,000, voted at this year's Town Meeting.

A year ago the Town acquired 100 acres in Jericho from Miss Blanche T. Bigelow, and another 30 acres have been received as a gift from Miss Marion B. Farnsworth.

Thus the Town now owns a 198-acre forest between the Central Massachusetts railroad and Concord Road. Tradition has it that there used to be farms and a settlement in this area, perhaps a couple of centuries ago, but they have long since disappeared and the land is now all woods and marsh.

The new 68-acre piece provides a connection between the rest of the land and Concord Road, from which there is now access to the forest.

COCHITUATE -- Two groups of Cochituate youngsters, without any prompting from anybody, recently put on shows by themselves and gave the proceeds to the fund for Jimmy Allen, little Cochituate boy who was badly burned several weeks ago.

Above are players of the "Neighborhood Theatre" in Brookdale, who staged "Rumpelstilskin" twice. The first time they made $3, so they did it again last Sunday, when fathers were home. Left to right: Martha Cronin, Pam Cronin, Nancy Harris, stage manager; Joan Crowley and Jo-Ann Hauk.

Leo F. Glynn Is Chairman Of H.S. Plant Committee

WESTON -- Leo F. Glynn was elected chairman with Nancy S. Stutz as secretary at the first meeting of the Special High School Plant Committee with its new members. The Committee is beginning its work as a building committee for the new high school.

The meeting covered discussion of immediate and long range problems. The Committee plans frequent meetings in the interests of speed.

Wayland School Committee Open Meeting On Sept. 8

WAYLAND -- The Wayland School Committee announces that its regular meeting of Sept. 8, to be held at the High School Annex, will be open to the public, and everybody is invited to attend. This notice is given out as a reminder that the Committee's first meeting of each month is always an open one. No special business is coming up, but the Committee thinks the session should be of interest to all who are concerned with the school system.

Change In Dump Hours

WAYLAND -- The Selectmen have changed the dump hours to eliminate the Wednesday evening time, previously announced. It was found that not many took advantage of the evening opening and early darkness will be here soon anyway.

So the dump hours at Wayland will be 9 to 5 daily, including Sundays.

Chief Viles Of Weston Resigns After 38 Years Of Police Work In Town

WESTON -- Police Chief J. Sumner Viles, 63, a member of the Department for 38 years, has resigned, the Selectmen have announced, and his successor has not yet been chosen.

A notice addressed to the Weston Police Department members, signed by the three Selectmen and posted at the Police Station, says:

"Chief J. Sumner Viles has submitted his resignation effective Sept. 15, 1958, and applied for retirement after 38 years of loyal service to the Town of Weston.

The Board of Selectmen plans to seek as a successor the best qualified by education, training and experience it is possible to obtain. The Selectmen plan to advertise the vacancy and receive applications from persons who meet the minimum qualifications established for the position."

The notice was signed by William R. Dewey Jr., chairman; Edward M. Dickson and Douglas Mercer.

"The man best qualified", it was said, may be either a Weston man or somebody from outside.

Chief Viles is eligible for a pension under the Middlesex County retirement system.

Chances Of Having Bldg. B Ready Still Look Good

WESTON -- Mr. James Robbins of the School Committee and Dr. Anthony Brackett toured Building B the other day, conferred with the architect and left with a belief that the building will be ready to accomodate about 150 elementary school pupils by Sept. 8, opening day.

It looked as though it would be a close thing, says Dr. Brackett, and some unforeseen holdup might cause a delay, but it looked all right.

The renovation of Building B is what obviates the need for double sessions for some elementary school grades in Weston this year. Dr. Brackett also says the accomodations of Building B will be adequate.

During the Summer, the outside of Building A has been painted and some classrooms in Buildings A and C and the High School have also been painted.

LWV Has Replies From Senatorial Candidates

The League of Women Voters of both Wayland and Weston have sent questionnaires to all four men who are seeking nominations for State Senator from the Middlesex and Norfolk District, which includes both Towns, and have received identical replies.

The primary election is scheduled for Sept. 9.

The Republican candidates:

Charles W. Olson, incumbent, lives at 59 West Union Street, Ashland. In reply to the question, "What in your background and experience qualifies you for the office you seek?" he writes:

"Twenty-four years of continuous public service as a member of the General Court, including service on many special commissions created to study and report on the more serious problems of legislation."

Softball Doubleheader Raises $60 For Lassies

Jackie Phillips

COCHITUATE -- Something more than $60 was raised for the Little Lassie softball program of the Town at the softball doubleheader played at Cochituate ball field on Aug. 22.

In the first game, the Conimicut, R. I., girls' softball team beat the Hebert Candy Company team of Worcester, 16 to 6. The Conimicut team, one of the best, is tied for first place in the Tri-State League (Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts) and is Rhode Island champion. One of the Hebert players is Jackie Phillips of Natick, daughter of Howard C. Phillips of Cochituate Motors. A pitcher, she played left field in this game.

In the second game, which went nine innings and ended after midnight, Cochituate Motors beat Union House of Framingham, 5 to 3. Wayland boys playing for Cochituate Motors were Tommy Longtine, Paul Bradley, Fred Tassinari and Nick Willard.

REMINDER

WAYLAND -- The public is invited to attend the dedication of the Ephraim Curtis marker, corner of Training Field Road and Glezen Lane, at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 31.

Wayland School Buildings Will Bulge With 2000 Pupils On Opening Day

WAYLAND -- More than 2000 pupils are expected to show up for the opening of Wayland schools on Sept. 4, says Superintendent Edward J. Anderson, but there will be desks and chairs for all of them.

A year ago, on Oct. 1, 1957, there were 1836 children in school, by actual count, and 1400 pre-school children.

Last year there were four vacant rooms in the High School Annex, the old Center School. This year they will all be in use. There was one vacant room in the new Loker School last year and this, too, will be in use this year.

This year the schools will, as usual, have their largest enrolment ever. Next year, says Mr. Anderson, the schools will be jammed, but if the proposed High School is ready for use, as hoped, by September of 1960, the pressure should be eased for a time.

The High School, he says, is planned for a capacity of 750, capable of expansion to 1200. The day it opens, he says, it will have 600 pupils in it.

It is the lower grades, he says, which are receiving the big baby crop of the 1940s and early 1950s. In the present top three grades of the High School, he says, there are now only 235 pupils, but within six years, the projections say, there will be graduating classes of 200. This year's class numbered 58 and last year's 43.

Mr. Anderson's former office in the High School building will be occupied by William M. Griffin, principal, whose old office will be used as a health room. The old school office will be used for a guidance room.

There will be 750 pupils in Junior and Senior High, says Mr. Anderson, and every square inch in both High School and Annex will be in use.

Weston High Transfers

WESTON -- Students in Grades 9 to 12 who will be attending Weston High School this year for the first time, who have not yet registered, should plan to see Mr. Charles K. Cummings, Jr., Director of Guidance, before school opens. Mr. Cummings will be in his office at the High School on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, September 2 and 3, from 9 to 12 o'clock, for this purpose. To avoid waiting, students and their parents may make appointments by telephoning the Weston High School office.

Wellesley St. Is Improved

WESTON -- A half-mile section of Wellesley Street, South of Route 30, was recently resurfaced, widened and in part relocated to eliminate a couple of bad curves. Picture above shows a smooth new piece of road. Camera is looking towards Weston. (McCann Photos)

Letters to the EDITOR

Can't Find Doctor

To the Editor:

There has been considerable discussion among certain medical men in recent months regarding the need for an ambulance in the Town of Weston. What has prompted this sudden interest I do not know. The Police Department has available 24 hours a day two station wagons equipped with stretchers which have proved themselves more than adequate for emergency cases and there is available private ambulance service for non-emergency and routine transportation cases. Both Waltham and Newton-Wellesley hospitals are within 10 minutes drive of any section of the town and I have yet to hear of anyone complain of the ride Henry Ford's product provides.

Not to mention expense, a fully equipped ambulance will cost from $5,000 to $10,000 and this is only the beginning. Regardless as to whether the Fire or Police Department were to operate the service at least six additional men would have to be hired and quarters to house the ambulance would have to be constructed.

Before these medical personnel become too engrossed in their crusade for a luxury the town can do without they should take stock of a condition of their own doing which is far more important and that is the lack of available doctors during certain periods of the day and week.

I can speak of this from first hand experience. I am a permanent member of the Weston Fire Department and on all too many occassions we have tried unsucessfully for up to 30 minutes to obtain a doctor to attend to heart cases and other emergencies to which we have responded. Only the other evening (a Sunday) I spent 50 minutes trying to locate a physician to attend to my wife at my home. Doctors are as vital to the community as the Fire or Police Department and yet what a hue and cry would develop if it took the Fire Department 50 minutes to get to a burning home.

With better than 100 doctors residing in the town it seems high time that a plan were formulated whereby an emergency number could be dialed 24 hours a day to obtain competent medical attention immediately. Until this is accomplished let's stop worrying about an ambulance.

Yours truly,
H. Bentley Crouch

About Weston Pool

To the Editor:

I would like to have the Weston Recreation Commission and the staff who worked on the programs this year know that they provided a wonderful "summer at home" for us.

A superb job was done again this year at the Memorial Pool.

The children enjoyed a well rounded program at the playground, and the Arts and Crafts program was outstanding.

So thank you one and all, who did so much to make a happy, safe, vacation time.

Sincerely,
Lillian M. Duffy

Producer Alison Ridley of Group 20 Players has announced that due to the large popular demand for tickets to "Pygmalion" at Theatre-on-the-Green in Wellesley, she will hold over the Shavian comedy for a third week, playing through August 30.

Ruth Page Sweet

WAYLAND -- Miss Ruth Page Sweet, director of Bouve-Boston School, affiliated with Tufts University, died Aug. 22 in the New England Baptist Hospital, Boston. She made her home on Glezen Lane, Wayland, and had a summer home at Makoniky, Martha's Vineyard. Her brother, Clifford B. Sweet, of Northboro, and two nieces and a nephew survive.

Miss Sweet was born in Worcester on April 20, 1894, was educated in Worcester schools and graduated from South High School in 1912. She attended Mt. Holyoke College and later entered Boston School of Physical Education, graduating in 1919. She earned degrees of Bachelor of Science in Education and Master of Education at Boston University and in addition studied at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. In June of this year, Miss Sweet was awarded an honorary Doctor of Education degree by Tufts University.

Miss Sweet's professional career included positions as director of the department of health and physical education at YWCA's in Rochester, N.Y., Worcester, and Boston prior to joining the staff of Bouve-Boston School as dean in 1929. During these years, she held summer positions as head of water sports and head counselor at Camp Wyonegonic, Camp Kineowatha and Camp Winnecunnet.

From 1946 to the present she was director of Bouve-Boston School and was responsible for some of the most important developments in its history. Chief among these were the moving of the entire school in 1950 to the campus of Tufts University in Medford. Under her direction the planning and construction of the school's administrative and class room building and of the new dormitory were carried to completion. The new residence for 160 women was named Ruth Page Sweet Hall in her honor.

In addition to her achievements in her professional positions, Miss Sweet was a member of committees of the National Board of the YWCA, the American and New England Camping Associations, National Education Association, American and Massachusetts Associations of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and the National and New England Associations of Deans of Women. In her community she served as a leader of Campfire Girls and Girl Scouts, and was captain of the Wayland Civil Defense Motor Corps. She was a member and lecturer at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union and a member of the Boston City Club.

Oldest Antiques Around Are Rocks and Who Cares?

Out here in the historic Massachusetts countryside, where Washington may have slept for all we know, one might expect to find lots of antiques, and this brings to mind the question, "How old does an article have to be before it's an antique?"

Now this varies with the article. Take people. Once upon a time, also around here, a man was an antique at 40 and a woman at 33. Now people aren't old until they're 90, and women are still wearing Bermuda shorts until they're 80, even if some do wonder why they wear them at 45.

Or take houses., about which there is considerable confusion as to nomenclature. In the lexicon of some real estate men, any house built before 1900 is "Colonial". But the history books say there haven't been any colonies since 1776. So others refer delicately to houses of an "older type". "Older type house" means, in plain English, "has mice".

So the countryside is old but most of the houses are new, but this matter of age is strictly relative. A gorilla can lick five men and the rock which dulls the blades of the lawn mower is older than anything and not any more interesting for all that.

Speaking of the lawn mower, the power mower has now been around so long that the early models are almost antiques. The nice thing about these is that, although some won't start on cold mornings, there are no cold mornings in the grass season. Here is one of the happiest arrangements in Nature.

But take furniture, which is what we think of first when antiques are mentioned, and specifically take the cobbler's bench, at which the ancient shoemaker used to sit with his mouth full of short nails and, probably, swallow a few from time to time. It's too bad nobody ever kept figures on this type of accident, because it would be interesting to know what effect eating tacks had on the system of the shoemaker. For that matter, it would be interesting to know how many pins the dressmaker swallows in a working lifetime. It is alleged that goats eat tin cans, but at least they do that on purpose. They don't put themselves in the way of accidents deliberately.

But show an antique collector this cobbler's bench and all his juices begin to simmer. (They used to say a girl should simmer and Winter a man before she married him. Pun.) It has weak legs, shaky joints and a coat of dirt an inch thick. But it's old and useless, and therefore just the thing to restore, at a cost of $137.98, and place in the living room. (The cobbler built it in on a Saturday afternoon in 1836 out of lumber he obtained by tearing down his chicken house, because he was good and sick of eggs.)

Connoisseurs also work up a lather over pieces of furniture known as highboys and lowboys, Governor Winthrop desks -- the late Governor Winthrop must have had 15,000 desks -- and various kinds of chairs noted for the legs they had when they were new. The value of such articles is determined by the quality of the worm holes in them. Only holes bored before 1750 count, because, as the saying goes, they don't make worms today like they used to.

Maybe automobiles become antiques quicker than anything, but only a few seem to grow in value with age. (Another feature of an antique is that no depreciation can be charged against it.) Nobody seems to want to keep the automobile in which Grandpa went to church, or the remains of the jalopy which Junior cracked up on the night of the Junior Prom while under the influence of perfume. The general belief is that as long as one set of old cars is preserved in the museum everybody else will be happier with a new one, either an American car 24 feet long or a foreign one which can be towed home with a ball of yarn.

But, as noted above, you can't beat rocks for being genuine antiques. A good dry hunk of granite first cooled off millions of years ago. But who cares? Just give the collector a chance at a wooden pot stirrer falsely alleged to have come over in the Mayflower, and he'll pay. -- DBW

Explanation Of Rules For Wayland School Bus Use

1. Buses and routes have been numbered for your convenience and compliance.

2. Street listings for each bus route appear under the title of SERVICES. It is imperative that students adhere strictly to street listings for boarding the individual buses to which their streets have been assigned. The load problem is a delicate one. Any unauthorized shifting by students may result in overloading and/or schedule disruptions. If your street has inadvertently been omitted, simply board the bus which serves your geographic area.

3. STOPS have been selected in terms of safety and pupil availability. Individual stops will be made only on those streets where settlements are widely scattered. These streets may be identified in the schedule by the phrase "as needed".

4. It is possible that schedule readjustments of time and place may have to be made to insure smoother operation. These changes will be announced publicly.

5. The last bus arriving at Claypit Hill School will transport Special Class students in the Claypit Hill School District to Loker School.

6. Elementary school students arriving at their respective schools on first bus runs will be transported home first in the afternoon.

7. Pupils in the Cochituate School District living on the further end of West Plain Street will be transported via Middlesex Bus as was the case last year.

8. Questions may be directed to the Office of the Superintendent of Schools, phone ELmwood 8-7701.

Superintendent

Wayland School Bus Policy

In view of the number of new residents it may he of interest to restate School Committee policy about transportation of school children in Wayland.

The most important single factor in determining whether a child shall walk or be carried in a school bus is the safety of the child - now how far he must travel to school. Unfortunately, many roads in the vicinity of our schools are heavily traveled and there are very few sidewalks or paths in the town. In line with this policy of safety first school bus schedules and routes are arranged with great care so as to avoid peak traffic on the highways and minimize exposure of the children to periods of waiting in dangerous areas.

Over and above the safety considerations, a number of other factors are involved. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts reimburses the town for transportation of children who must travel over a mile and a half to and from school. In Wayland, it has been the policy for many years to offer transportation to all children who live more than a mile from school. And if the child must traverse a dangerous route, exposed to traffic or other hazards, he is offered transportation regardless of distance.

The bus contractor is paid under terms of a contract with the town which is based mainly on the mileage traveled in carrying children over routes and on schedules determined by the school department, regardless of the number of stops. The routes and schedules are arrived at after exhaustive study of factors including safety, convenience, traffic patterns and geographical distribution of children to be carried. In general stops are arranged to pick up the maximum number of children at each stop. In some cases a single stop serves a whole development.

As it turns out, about 28% of our elementary school children walk to school, and this number is gradually increasing as better walking access to schools becomes available. Much of our transportation cost (roughly 40%) involves the junior and senior high school children; most of this involves transportation for distances considerably in excess of one and a half miles and is thus subject to reimbursement by the state.

Center Of Cochituate

Traffic in the middle of Cochituate is often heavy, and here is one of the Town's two sets of traffic lights. Main Street, or Route 27, shown here, looking south, intersects Route 30 here, and Route 30, a mile or so to the west, connects with an access to the Massachusetts Turnpike. As at first mapped, the Turnpike was to have gone right across the middle of Wayland, cutting it in two. Indignation meetings were held and finally the Turnpike was run along the Wayland-Natick line, where it didn't do so much damage. (McCann Photo)

Local Realtors In Vermont

Local realtors, Milton H. Shaw of Framingham, left, and Leslie J. Caulfield of Wayland, right, discussed real estate with Gov. Joseph B. Johnson of Vermont, center, at the New England Realtors' Convention at the Equinox House in Manchester, Vt., last month. Messrs. Shaw and Caulfield are co-owners of Shaw & Caulfield Inc., The Wayside Realtors of Sudbury and the Shaw & Caulfield Insurance Agency.

Sup't. Anderson's Office Is Now In Town Building

WAYLAND -- Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson has moved his office from the High School to the Town Office Building, temporarily, because his office space in the school building is needed for school purposes.

Mr. Anderson occupies the office formerly assigned to Town Counsel Frank Kilburn. He says the Selectmen have done everything possible to help with the housing arrangements. Also in the Town Building office are Mrs. Patricia Navin, Mrs. Mary Amoroso and Mrs. George F. Bowers.

SHORT TAKES WESTON

Edward M. Dickson of 125 Highland Street will serve as the Weston area chairman for the Advance Gifts Department of the 1959 United Fund Campaign.

Mr. Dickson, a Harvard graduate, is town clerk and Selectman. He is the treasurer of the Weston chapter of the American Red Cross. . .

SHORT TAKES WAYLAND

Two Wayland youngsters will enjoy a respite from the classroom for the next few weeks. Sethaly, 11, and Glenn, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Johnson, left on Monday for a six-weeks trip to the British Isles and Europe. They are travelling with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Clark of Coburn Road, Weston, and will visit England, Scotland and the Brussels World Fair, and spend some time in France before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, formerly of Happy Hollow, have just moved into their new home on Sears Road...

From Mount Holyoke College comes word that Miss Joan Walston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Walston of Cochituate Road, has been awarded a scholarship. Miss Walston was graduated from Wayland High School in June and will be a freshman at Mount Holyoke. . .

Wayland Lighting System Is Under Consideration

WAYLAND -- Mercury vapor lamps, a new kind of street light, have been installed on Millbrook Road, opposite the Town Building, and the Selectmen, it is reported, are thinking of installing some in the center of Cochituate.

Some time ago the Edison Company offered to make a survey of the Town street lights, for free, to see where new lights might be put or old ones removed. The Town pays $8000 a year for street lighting, but most of the lights are Thomas A. Edison's earlier models and the system hasn't had a study since man can remember.

Local streets are pretty dark, but only a few are bold enough to walk on the roads at night and motorists don't care much whether there are street lights or not.

A summer camp is where little children go for Mother's vacation.

Oldest Public Library Is 101 Years Old

Wayland's Public Library, above, is the oldest in Massachusetts and the second oldest in the United States. It was founded in 1848 as a free Library, although there had been a sort of private circulating Library in Town since the 1790's. The present building, gift of Warren Gould Roby, is dated 1900. The paved parking lot in the foreground is a modern improvement.

Flag Of Alward Post AL. Had An Historic Career

The Charles H. Alward Post #133, Dept. of Mass., American Legion Cochituate - Wayland, Mass. observed Flag Day, June 14, with an impressive Legion ritual by Commander Paul E. Kohler and Post Officers by the retirement from use and the burning of a large 18 x 24 foot American flag.

This flag of historical significance was presented to this Post some quarter century ago by one James J. Bennett, Chief Watertender U.S.N. Ret., when he served as post commander. Comrade Bennett, now deceased, had served many years of a long naval career aboard the old U.S.S. Cruiser "Chester" of 1908 through 1930 vintage.

Chief Bennett was custodian of the Chester. When de-commissioned and when the Navy Dept. scrapped this old war horse the then Admiral and Commandant of the First Naval District presented the "Chester Post Flag" to Chief Bennett, who in turn presented it to Post 133 as its future home, to adorn and drape the stage of the Post headquarters. The flag known as the Post Flag flew from the ship's stern flag staff, when on visits to ports of many nations in her long career.

The "Chester's" World War 1 duties were as a convoy escort and flag ship of Admiral - based at Gibraltar. This convoy duty took the cruiser to many Mediterranean and West African ports and also the French and English channels.

After the armistice, the Chester represented the U. S. Navy at the surrender of the German Submarine fleet at Harwich Port, England. The flag of Rear Admiral Philip Andrews then flew from this ship's mast.

Other duties took this cruiser into German Baltic ports where she helped retrieve and repatriate American prisoners of war held by Germany in that area.

The Chester's last important exploit of that era was the rescue and ploit of that era was the rescue and removal of 300 U.S. Army Engineers who had been attached to General Kolchak's White Russian Army and had made their way to Archangel and Murmansk in Northern Russia in escaping from the Bolsheviks.

Many Naval Veterans of World War 1 will remember this famous old cruiser for her speed, four stacks, her coal consuming capabilities with her three decks and a straw bottom.

Another member of the Chester's World War 1 crew attended the ceremonies and ritual of the flag burning. He is James J. Bolton former Chief Electrician's - Radio Man, and a life long member of Post 133.

School Cost $1,100,000

Two views of The Country School, 19-room Weston school built in 1954 for more than $1,100,000. In 1954 this school won an award from Progressive Architecture magazine as the outstanding school building in the United States that year. Architects were Hugh Stubbins Associates. Weston residents have been pretty proud of it although, of course, there have been a few to say it is too good.

Plans for a new 12-room elementary school have been practically completed. The new one will be smaller than The Country School in the beginning, but plans call for later expansion.

20,000-Volume Library Is Planned For Wayland High

WAYLAND -- Wayland's projected new High School will have a 20,000 - volume central library and three resource centers, says the School Building Committee.

Based upon the age old principle that books form the backbone of any educational process, and must thus be freely accessible to those who use them, the library and resource centers are focal points in the design of the new building. Students, faculty and the public will have access to an excellent collection of books, resource material, encyclopedias, compendia, newspaper files and other aids to learning.

The resource centers will be associated with groups of classrooms - one each for languages, social sciences and the natural sciences. In each center will be found a continually changing collection of primary resource materials and reference books closely related to the various classroom activities in the group of rooms the center is designed to serve.

Thus, for a social science class studying the Hawaiian territory, the resource center might have maps, charts, U.S. Government publications on the Hawaiian economy and books dealing with the natural resources of the territory.

This is not a new concept, for each classroom in the present High School has an assorted collection of such material, often kept in cupboards for lack of

2 Boys, Weston High '58, Are In Naval Academy, '62

WESTON -- Two boys who were graduated from Weston High School last June, both in their first year at the Naval Academy, entertained their parents and families at the parents' weekend at Annapolis, Aug. 23-24.

That two boys from the same class in one small high school should be plebes together at Annapolis is said to be an exceptional occurrence.

Midshipman Guy Douglas Nickerson entertained his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Nickerson and his sister, Jean, of North Avenue. He is a member of the plebe swimming team and a member of the first place battalion in competitive drill and sports.

Not Even High Tide

Hurricane Daisy gave local residents a rich, delicious scare and caused Civil Defense apparatus to go into low gear, but nothing happened around here except a little light rain, followed by clearing and bright Summer weather. Not even high tide on the Sudbury River.

WESTON -- Mrs. Edward W. Rayner has been appointed to the Town Forest Committee by the Selectmen. The appointment is for three years, expiring March 31, 1961. She succeeds Mrs. J. Manton Bradley, whose term expired last March.

Brad Cahill Is Graduated From Course In Russian

WESTON -- Charles Bradlee Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Cahill of 15 Warren Place, has just been graduated from a 34-weeks course in the Russian language at Syracuse University, where he was sent by the Air Force. A graduate of Weston High School in 1957, he is an airman second class.

Charles Bradlee Cahill

His study at Syracuse consisted of nothing but Russian, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day, with some work in the evening. Only 52 out of 100 were graduated from the course, in which, it was said, the student learned the equivalent of five miles of Russian on tape.

He will be at home until October, when he will be assigned for a year to St. Lawrence Island in Bering Sea, near Alaska.

Both Brad and his brother, Dick, who was graduated from Weston High in 1956, were prominent on the football, basketball and baseball teams.

Weston Schools To Reopen With 1813 Pupils, The Largest Enrolment Ever

WESTON -- Weston schools will reopen on Sept. 8, says Supt. Anthony Brackett, with an expected enrolment of 1,813, up an even 100 over the total for last June.

For the first time, no Junior High pupils will be in the Senior High School. Last year the 8th grade was in the senior High School. This year both 7th and 8th, independently organized, will be in Building C, along with three elementary school classes.

The other elementary school classes will be in The Country School, Building A and Building B. The change is expected to provide more room in the High School.

Last year there were 650 pupils in grades 7 through 12 and 1,083 elementary pupils, for a total of 1,713. This year, the figures say, there will be 384 in Senior High School, 318 in Junior High and 1,111 in elementary grades. The total will be, of course, the largest in the Town's history. A new elementary school has been voted and a committee is at work planning a proposed new High School.

There will be 27 new teachers, 17 filling vacancies caused by resignations and 10 occupying new positions.

New principal of the Senior High is Mr. Willard H. Smith, who replaces Mr. Julius H. Mueller, who resigned to become head of a regional high school at Topsfield. Mr. Smith, a Dartmouth graduate, was formerly principal of Plainfield, N. J., high school.

New principal of the Junior High School is Philip H. Wye, who was formerly principal of the Junior High at Falmouth, Me. He has a master's degree in education from Boston University.

Ephraim Curtis Marker Is Dedicated At Glezen Lane

WAYLAND -- The plaque in honor of Ephraim Curtis, the Town's most famous scout and Indian fighter of the 17th century, was dedicated on the afternoon of Aug. 31, with simple exercises. The stone is at the corner of Glezen Lane and Training Field Road.

Epbraim, noted for his exploits in King Philip's War, was the son of Henry Curtis, one of the first grantees of Sudbury. Epbraim was the first settler in what's now Worcester, in 1673.

Ephraim himself had no descendants. Among those present at the exercises on Sunday were collateral relatives, descended from his father, Henry Curtis.

Curtis relatives who gave the marker are Theophilus Brown of Moline, Illinois; John Curtis, Worcester; and Mrs. Roger Greene and Miss Eleanor Curtis of Framingham.

Please Vote In Primary

WESTON -- The Weston League of Women Voters urges all eligible voters to vote in the primary of their choice on Tuesday, September 9. The polls at the Weston Town House will be open from noon until 8 p.m.

Traditionally the step-child in the electoral procedure, the primary has fared quite well in Weston in the past. In 1956, approximately 1300 voters went to the primary polls. This year, with about 3800 registered voters, Weston officials hope to see an even heavier turn out. Anyone desiring a ride to the polls may call the League's Voters Service Chairman at TW 4-6121.

They Were Amazed When He Introduced His Ash Barrel

An observer at the Town Dump, the other Sunday morning, watched friends and neighbors arriving with their rubbish and came to the conclusion that trash provides a transportation problem still unsolved.

The two-door sedan is just plain not adapted to carrying barrels.

One device is to put the barrels and boxes in the trunk, then tie down the trunk lid. At best, this raises the lid so high the driver has no rear vision.

Others just tie the barrels on the rear bumper. This is an imperfect arrangement, too, even if it does work.

A practice of some is to put the barrel on the front seat, right beside the driver, in the place customarily occupied by a wife. Of course, the barrel utters no opinions, on the ride to the dump, but it seems rather odd.

In fact, one Sunday morning a local citizen, somewhat forgetful, introduced a neighbor to his trash barrel, and he was pretty embarrassed.

This is where the so-called station wagon comes in handy. It doesn't go to the station any more, because the railroad doesn't run any more trains, but it does make a wonderful rubbish scow. Once upon a time the manufacturers would have had station wagon buyers believe that space in back was for carrying pigskin luggage. Not now. Just trash cans.

Another thing about this carrying of barrels in the family sedan.

The barrel generally stands outside the house somewhere, and ants and spiders get into it and on it. It's a rare jalopy around town which doesn't have ants in its upholstery.

Some use trailers to carry their stuff to the dump, and that's not a bad idea. But a motorist who wasn't very clever at backing up a trailer tried it one day, and somehow found car and trailer parallel. For a while he didn't know whether he'd have to stay at the dump forever, but a friend with a torch separated the vehicles for him.

This trip to the dump is having an effect on the raising of children, too. The new threat to kids is, "You be good or Daddy won't take you to the dump Sunday morning." The kids must be well behaved, because every vehicle which arrives at the dump carries as many children as it does barrels.

Here is a fine thing, in our glorious 20th century civilization. Children are tended, stuffed with food and vitamins, vaccinated like pin cushions, exposed to radio, television and books, sent to expensive schools, and what's the high spot of their lives? Why, a trip to the dump with Daddy Ah, well, the philosophers said it. The simple pleasures are best.

"A trip to the dump with Daddy." Can't some tunesmith take it from there and produce a community song? --DBW.

Rep. DeNormandie Favors Four Year Term For Gov.

WAYLAND -- The Wayland League of Woman Voters has received an answer to its candidates' questionnaire from James DeNormandie of Lincoln, who is seeking renomination on the Republican ticket in the 10th Middlesex District, which includes Lincoln, Sudbury, Hudson and Wayland.

Mr. DeNormandie is unopposed on the Republican side, in a district which has been Republican for many years. Candidate on the Democratic side is Richard A. White of 17 High Street, Hudson, who did not return the questionnaire to the League.

In reply to various questions, Mr. DeNormandie wrote:

"A Constitutional Convention is unnecessary. The important change needed is the four-year term for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General and the appointment by the Governor of the Secretary, Treasurer and Auditor. The members of the General Court might well serve also for a four-year term."

Also:

"The entire Massachusetts tax structure must be revised and a sales tax added."

And, as a recommendation for improving Boston's transportation system:

"Broad expansion of rapid transit with deficit costs borne by the Commonwealth, not a transit district."

It was a "bring your own" box supper affair, with beverages served, plus bushels of delicious corn provided by the Morgans and cooked on the spot.

There are 1064 plebes at Annapolis this year. Seven bundred mothers and 600 fathers from all over the country showed up for the weekend, says Capt. Spofford. The boys all entered on June 30 and this was the first time that they had seen their families.

more accessible space. The resource center will bring together these classroom libraries into three more accessible collections.

In addition, individual resource centers are planned to provide special facilities for the educational area they serve. In the language area, for exampie, small booths will permit a student to make use of foreign language recordings as aids to learning. Beyond these special features, however, the resource center will be a place for work and study which each student will use each day on a regular basis.

The central library will house the present book collection of the High School library and will allow for planned growth over the years. To permit more serious individual study, the library will be housed in separate yet central quarters. Recognizing that its book collection will be an asset to the community, the High School library is planned for joint school-community use in the evenings.

WAYLAND--Wayland teachers, school nurses and the school physician, and their wives and husbands were guests of the School Committee at a reception on Friday evening, September 5, at Happy Hollow School. Mrs. Eleanor Benjamin, John Arnold, John Butler, Douglas Surgenor and William Waldron, members of the School Committee, were in the receiving line to greet their guests. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorothy Bowers, director of the school lunch program, and members of her staff. Mrs. Bowers estimated that 150 persons attended.

Nine of the teachers have been in the Wayland system for 10 years or more, and were singled out for special recognition on this account and presented with flowers. They are: Mrs. Jane Campbell of the Cochituate School faculty, who attended the Cochituate Elementary School and taught for two years in Sudbury before starting her career in Wayland in 1916 in the Center School at an annual salary of $550.00. She has taught in the Cochituate School since 1920 and has taught in Wayland longer than any other teacher now on the staff.

Miss Janie C. Foster, who came to Wayland in 1926 as teacher of Home Economics. Prior to 1926 she was a dietitian in John Hopkins Hospital in Beverly, Mass., and at the Waltham Training School for Nurses.

Mrs. Eya Irvine Gately, who began teaching in Center School in 1944. Her teaching career began in 1929 in Caribou, Maine.

Both Wayland And Weston Football Squads Have Lost Veteran Players

First football game for Wayland High will be played with Millbury at home on Sept. 27, and Weston will open with Bedford at Bedford on the same day.

Coach Ralph Salvati of Wayland had a turnout of 38 boys for early practice, plus 25 freshmen, and Coach George R. Harris had 31. Coach Harris reported he had only four veterans, and Coach Salvati said he had to find some linemen and a left halfback to take the place of Bob Page, who is ineligible. To take the place of George Bradley at quarterback he has Jerry Whelchel.

Friends Are Shocked By Death Of Mrs. Codman, Known To Many In 2 Towns

WAYLAND -- Friends of Mrs. Robert Codman of 20 Rich Valley Road, the former Ann Bullard of Glezen Lane, were profoundly shocked to learn of her death by carbon monoxide poisoning at her home on the afternoon of Sept. 9.

A native of Wayland, Mrs. Codman was a member of one of the oldest and most respected families in the old Town. She attended the Wayland schools and later worked at The Village Bookstall in Weston, where she was also well known.

Her parents were the late Arthur B. and Maud (Parker) Bullard. Besides being one of the best known person in Town, she was also one of the best liked.

She was married on April 5 of this year to Robert Codman, formerly of Waban. Rev. Miles Hanson Jr. of Weston officiated. She was 47 when she died.

Her death was a double shock because it occurred on the same day that the body of Loring H. Jackson, 37, of Eaton Road, Saxonville, was discovered in an automobile parked 150 yards down a lane north of Pelham Island Road, where it runs close to Heard's Pond. Carbon monoxide poison was also given as the cause of death in this case. So far as the Wayland and state police could determine, the two deaths were unrelated.

Police, District Attorney James O'Dea, reporters and camera men arrived in Town, and the Boston papers carried full particulars.

Only surviving near relative of Mrs. Codman, besides her husband, is Mrs. Norman M. Perry of 283 Meadowbrook Road, Weston, a sister.

Christian Science Society Buys St. Peter's Church

People had been wondering what would become of St. Peter's Church, after the move to the new church. Now it is announced that the Christian Scientists have bought it and will use it as a meeting place.
(McCann Photo)

WESTON -- Arrangements are nearly complete for purchase by the Christian Science Society, Weston, of the church building at 493 Boston Post Road, presently in use by St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The Society intends to use the building for public services on Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings beginning towards the end of this year.

Building B Finished -- Weston Schools Open Without Any Problems

WESTON -- Superintendent Anthony Brackett reports that the opening of school went so smoothly that after an hour and a half of checking he could find no problems to contend with.

The one big problem, completion of Building B, was taken care of when workmen finally finished the renovation on Saturday. Up to Friday, however, it was questionable whether Building B would be ready on Monday.

Live Republican TV Show Will Originate In Weston

Some of those helping to plan the chowder parties. Left to right: Mrs. Charles H. Ford, vice chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee; Mr. Robert A. Townsend, member of the Weston Republican Town Committee; Mr. Peter Beach, TV producer from New York, and Mrs. George E. Bottjer, Mr. George F. WESTON -- Because of the remarkable voting record made by this Town in recent national elections (99.54 per cent voted in 1956) a state-wide live TV show for the Republicans will originate here on Sept. 18 at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Ford, 67 Byron Road.

The occasion will be called "Going Places", and will consist of private chowder parties to be held all over the Commonwealth, to which the guests will be asked to bring Republican campaign contributions in sealed envelopes.

Two hundred guests are expected at the home of Mrs. Ford, who is vice-chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, on the night of the party. Political writers and important party figures will be on hand. The show will go out on Channel 4.

Early Rising In Wayland

WAYLAND -- Wayland High School hours, which were moved ahead last year so that the buses would go through after the morning traffic, were moved back this year so the buses can get in ahead of the traffic.

Supt. of Schools Edward J. Anderson says this change was made so that the pupils can get home before dark.

This year the High School opens at 7:50 a.m. Last year it was 8:55 a.m., and the year before that it was 8:15 a.m.

Supt. Anderson says the buses get into the school grounds by 7:45 a.m., and that so far none has been caught in the Raytheon rush on the State Road. Athletic practice sessions end at 4:30 p.m., he says, and laboratory sessions at 4:15 p.m.

It means earlier rising for the High School generation.

Letters to the EDITOR

42 Years Of Teaching

To the Editor:

At the reception to the Wayland teachers on September 5 given by the Wayland School Committee and being the oldest teacher (having a record of 42 years of teaching in Wayland) I thought possibly it might be interesting to my former pupils and friends that the Committee "in sincere appreciation of your long years of service" presented me with a pot of African violets.

About High School

To the Editor:

It will be recalled that the School Building Committee held a preliminary meeting with the PTA Council and the League of Women Voters Local Affairs Committee, followed by two public meetings, last May, to present some of the ideas it was considering.

These plans are now being pulled together, and in keeping with the policy the Committee has always followed, it hopes to bring a progress report to the community. The Building Committee therefore accepted the invitation of the High School PTA to present preliminary plans for the new high school at the opening meeting on October 13. It has accepted also the invitation of the League of Women Voters to send School Building Committee members to a series of open neighborhood meetings on September 16, 18, 23, 25, and 30 and October 2. Any subsequent meetings will be announced by the Committee.

Paean To The Dump

Apropos of a recent piece in the Crier, suggesting somebody might whack out a song about going to the dump, which is one of the leading social and civic activities, "Interested Reader" sends in the following, to be sung to the tune of "Daisy":

Daddy, Daddy, may we go to the dump with you?

Mommy's not busy and she wants to go along too.

The trash is all packed neatly-

The ants and the spiders too

And we'll gaily sing--As dumpward we wing

It's more fun than we'd have at the zoo!

Wise Man Will Carry Own Ashtray To Fall Meetings

In these favored communities, where there are many garages containing two or three automobiles, or at least jalopies which cost $50 not counting the insurance and registration of $319 hut will run, there is a serious lack.

Many women around here, especially the kind of women known to the census taker as housewives, hate ash trays.

These female characters have a notion that cigarette ashes are supposed to evaporate.

They are neat. So they put on the arm of the chair an ashtray about the size of a thimble. This is supposed to he ample.

So now comes the opening of the committee season, when 1000 citizens, every night in the week, will attend meetings in various houses.

First will come the order of business, consisting in no small part of the argument shall we run a rummage sale or stage a musical comedy to raise money, which the outfit sorely needs because last year's officers, to put it mildly, were off the ball. This debate will last until 11 p.m., at which point somebody, in an offhand way, will suggest that the club should have some stationery with a letterhead on it, and this will set off another unscheduled argument, which will be cut off only when the hostess brings out the coffee and cookies.

During all this conversation the committee member who hasn't the moral strength to break himself of his bad habits will sit there chain smoking, a term signifying the iron hold cigarettes have on him, and he will fill the dinky little ashtray by 9:15 p.m.

There is a story that once upon a time a fellow threw a stub into a clean fireplace which had no fire in it and was never going to have one, if the woman of the house knew herself, which she certainly did, and she went and got him a low-cost saucer generally used for the cat's milk. So he felt he had made a social error but at least he had an ashtray.

Speaking of fireplaces, the fire prevention people would have us believe that cigarette stubs cause fires.

There is a local resident who has spent six years testing this theory. He throws all his waste paper, including that on which the morning bacon has been drained, into the fireplace, until it is full. Then he throws lighted cigarettes into the heap until the stubs are all over the place, making a frightful mess, and he hasn't been able to set off a fire there yet. Without a match, that is, because obviously there's a limit to the capacity of a fireplace and it has to be cleaned out by burning once in a while.

So contrary are these butts, however, that this same fellow once dropped one in the tall grass as he was running for shelter in a pouring rain, and it set off a brushfire which covered two acres and earned him a dirty look from the Fire Department, the Civil Defense organization and the owner of the property, who had never cared much for his personal appearance anyway.

A local psychiatrist, who is noted for his long beard and brachycephalic skull, says that women resent ash trays as a symbol of a bygone male ascendancy.

Once upon a time, he says, man would tap out his pipe on the rug, leave cigars burning on the edge of the table and take snuff in the kitchen. This used to drive women crazy and convince them that men were slobs, but it seemed to be a slobs' world and there was nothing they could do about it.

Since then, however, the League of Women Voters has been organized and has seized political power, so that men don't stand shoulder high to an angle worm, and there is an end to the spilling of ashes. Where there are ash trays in homes where committee meetings are held, they will be small ones, to teach man to control his appetite for tobacco or cancer bait or whatever is in those white sticks, and man is thus shown who's boss now.

This is all unconscious, of course, says the head shrinker. Women don't even know the reason for this ashtray complex. And there's one sure and disgusting way for man to beat it, and that's to stuff the butts into the coffee cup. -- DBW.

Chief Upham Off To See His Son And Visit Rombas

WESTON -- Fire Chief Maurice L. Upham and Mrs. Upham left on Sept. 9 by air for Germany, to meet their son, Donald Upham, just being discharged from the United States Army at Frankfurt, and to spend six weeks touring Europe.

One of the first places they mean to visit is Rombas, where Chief Upbam will show a collection of photographs picturing the Weston Fire Department and all its equipment. Rombas, of course, is the French community with which Weston exchanges students of bigh school age.

Donald Upham, a native of Weston, attended Weston schools before going into the Army.

Bloodmobile At Parmenter Health Center, Sept. 29

WAYLAND -- The combined Wayland-Sudbury bloodmobile of the Red Cross will be at the Parmenter Health Center, Cochituate Road, between 2 and 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 29, for its regular visit.

"By giving one pint of blood you insure you and your entire family free blood for one year," says the Red Cross. Donors are asked to call Barbara Huntley, chairman of the Wayland Red Cross blood program, for an appointment, at EL 8-2527.

At the same time, it is stated, this is a chance for those who have expressed a desire to give blood for Jimmy Allen, the local boy who was seriously burned in a fire and has required many transfusions.

Many called to offer blood for Jimmy, but the Red Cross decided to furnish the blood as needed and ask the Jimmy donors to come to the bloodmobile on one day, rather than try to make individual appointments.

Cheerleaders Plan Sale

WESTON -- The Weston High School Cheerleaders are planning a food sale on Saturday, Sept. 13, at 10 a.m. on the porch of the Jones House. They hope to raise enough money for new uniforms. There will be delicious home made cakes, pies, cookies, fudge, pizza, and all sorts of other mouth watering items. This year's cheerleaders are Peggy Sloan, Sue Petrick, Joan Harding, Jan Cetrone, Janet Woodland, Suzi Herrick, Lee Hibler, Celia Melone and Wendy Mann, captain.

A goal of $10,000,000 for the second United Fund Campaign has been announced by Richard P. Chapman, general chairman of this Fall's drive, which gets under way October 5.

The money raised in this single, once-a-year campaign is used to benefit 288 local services in the health and welfare fields.

Rutgers President Will Open High School Survey

WESTON -- Dr. Mason W. Gross, acting president of Rutgers University, will be the keynote speaker at the opening meeting of the High School Survey on Monday, September 15, at 8 p.m. at the Country School Auditorium. All citizens have been invited by letter to attend this kickoff meeting and to join committees connected with the Survey.

On the five Monday nights following the opening meeting, there will be a speaker, to be announced, on each of the five study areas. The committees for each area will meet independently.

Donald Mitchell of the Cambridge Consultants is the professional advisor connected with the Survey. The Survey's intention is to examine the many possible answers to what kind of secondary schooling Weston wants, and to weigh the various alternatives. By December 1, a report will go to groups connected with building the new High School.

Record Player Wanted

WAYLAND -- Miss Roberta Jacobs, director of the Parmenter Health Center, wishes somebody would contribute a three-speed record player, not necessarily new, for the use of the young children in the Center's speech therapy class. There are 22 in this group, from Wayland and nearby Towns.

These children are not retarded. They just don't talk as well as they should. The speech therapist has the records which help. All that's needed is something to play them on.

Best Beard Will Win $15 At Old Time Celebration By Sudbury Merchants

SUDBURY--The Sudbury Chamber of Commerce is planning its second annual promotion of "Old Time Value Days" which will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 2 through October 4.

Members of the Chamber are now making plans to make this year's promotion even more spectacular than last year's, when store clerks sported loud vests, straw hats and handle bar mustaches. Models like nothing seen in the 1700s cruised around in Colonial garb. To start things rolling Sudbury Super Market is offering a $15.00 cash award for the most original and flourishing beard, to be judged by Chamber of Commerce judges. Chamber members and employees are excluded from the contest.

At each business establishment customers registered for both door prizes and the grand prize. They found merchandise at yesteryear's prices.

This year Sudbury merchants will offer sales, merchandise sold at old time prices during undisclosed periods and many other novel ideas.

Door prizes from each participating merchant and the grand prize from the Chamber will be drawn during the Old Timers Square Dance, to be held Saturday evening, October 4. Paul Hill, president of the Sudbury Chamber of Commerce says: "Plan now to visit your friendly Sudbury merchants during Old Time Value Days, register for valuable prizes and be sure to come to the Square Dance. We'll have fun and hope you will, too."

Committee Compiles List

WESTON -- The Weston High School Building Committee is compiling a list of architects and architectural firms for the purpose of ultimate selection of the designer of the proposed new High School. Any local Weston architects who wish to apply are urged to do so at this time.

The Committee would also welcome suggestions for this position from any citizens who know of architectural firms. Please send your suggestions to Mrs. Rolf Stutz, 146 Conant Road, or telephone TW 3-0658.

Village Fair At Sudbury

SUDBURY -- The women of St. Elizabeth's Church are busily preparing for the annual church fair, this year to be called the Village Fair. The Village Fair will be held on September 27 so there can be more outdoor activities.

There will be horse rides, darts, a fishpond and other games for the children, and a fortune teller will read palms in a gypsy caravan. In the parish house there will be all kinds of hand made articles including aprons, doll clothes, holiday items and hand loomed rugs. There will be tables of plants, white elephants, grabs and bottles and tins. There is a special table of articles that the children have made. For the gourmet there will be many kinds of baked goods, candies, plus dinners which can be taken home and warmed up.

The Village Fair will be from 10 to 5 with lunch served at noon. It is hoped that many people visiting St. Elizabeth's during the Fair will take occasion to examine the interesting chapel.

There will be a meeting at the parish house on Wednesday, September 17, at 10 a.m. for all women who would like to help the day of the fair. In the meantime, those who would like to help with the preparation of articles or baked goods are asked to call Mrs. John Keator, HI 3-6320, or Mrs. Harry Kuzyk, HI 3-6468.

Mrs. Florence C. Shohl began her teaching career in 1947 in the Center School. She began teaching after the death of her husband, combining two demanding careers, those of parent and bread-winner for three children.

Mrs. Dorothy Sleeper Walsh, who began teaching in the Wayland system in 1934 and returned first as a substitute and later on a full-time basis.

Three "generations" of teachers in the Wayland system were present in the persons of Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Walsh and Charles "Buzz" Bowers, Phys Ed teacher and basketball coach at the High School. "Buzz" was a pupil of Mrs. Walsh, then Miss Sleeper, in elementary school, and Mrs. Walsh, in turn, Mrs. Campbell in the primary grades.

Mrs. Mary McNelll, who retired last spring as school nurse, was also honored in absentia. She could not be present because she is away on vacation after 34 years of service.

Enrolment

every pupil has a desk and chair and "we are not hard pressed" this year, he says. Next year, he predicts, there will be crowding, but if the proposed new High School is finished by September, 1960, the pressure will be relieved.

The increase in enrolment, which is larger than the projections have shown, is due to transfers, unpredictable movements of families into Wayland, he says.

Some of the significant figures which he cites:

Last June 58 seniors were graduated from High School. This year 183 enter the 7th grade, and 269 enter the 1st grade.

This year, 733 are in the Junior-Senior High School, as against 626 last year.

The projection showed 226 1st graders this year. Actually, 269 appeared.

Last year's official count was taken on Oct. 1. Experience shows that pupils keep trickling in after the first day of school, and Mr. Anderson expects the present figures will be somewhat increased by Oct. 1.

St. Peter's

continue to meet there until some of the modifications to the new building have been completed.

Part of the lower level of the building will be altered and opened as a free Christian Science Reading Room where the public may read, borrow, or purchase copies of the Bible, the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, and other authorized Christian Science literature. The remaining area will provide facilities for the Sunday school and nursery.

A new set of stairs will be constructed inside of the building near the front to connect the Sunday school with the main auditorium. Many of the architectural details of the building expressing the Protestant Episcopal form of worship will be removed to the chapel of the new St. Peter's Church nearing completion on the Boston Post Road. A platform and desks for the two readers of the Christian Science Society will be built, the foyer will be enlarged, and the auditorium will be redecorated. The organ will remain in its present location.

Wayland Exchange To Open

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Clothing Exchange is opening for entering and selling on Sept. 18. The Exchange has grown steadily since it started in 1955 and has become a very popular place to get bargains in clothes for all ages and sizes.

There is one large room where the clothing is hung on racks or folded on tables for display and another room where good used clothes are brought for pricing. This is done with a panel of two or more and the owner agreeing on a suitable price for each article.

When an article is sold the Exchange keeps 25% of the selling price and 75% is held for the owner.

Pay envelopes are available the second Thursday for everything sold the previous month.

Anyone may enter clothing, clean, in good repair and seasonal.

The Exchange is located at the rear of the Congregational Church on Cochituate Road, near Wayland Center.

Amateur Steeple Photos Get Into Big City Paper

Here, the top part of the steeple has been lifted into the air and is being lowered into its position. Early New England church steeples had to be built in place, but now big cranes are available and it's more convenient to build them on the ground.

In this picture, one part of the steeple is already in place and the crane has just taken hold of the top section.

WESTON -- When the two sections of steeple for the new St. Peter's Church were lifted into place by a big crane on Sept. 9, one of the amateur photographers on hand was John W. Sibley, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sibley of 73 Ash Street, and a series of the shots he made is scheduled for publication soon in the Boston Globe's roto section.

One of John's pictures, blown up to five columns, was used in the Evening Globe edition of Sept. 10. Editors who handle the work of professional photographers all the time thought John's pictures were

1826 Pupils In Weston Schools, The Most Ever

WESTON -- Total enrolment for the Weston schools, Supt. Anthony Brackett reports, was 1826 as of Sept. 12, the largest, as usual, in the Town's history. A year ago the figure was 1696, thus making the increase 130.

The total includes 146 in kindergarten; 967 in grades 1 through 6; 309 in Junior High and 404 in Senior High.

Crier's New Mailing Day Is Thursday Of Each Week

The mailing date of the Crier is now and will be henceforth Thursday of each week, instead of Wednesday. The change has been made because it seems like a more efficient arrangement all around.

Some deadlines have been moved up.

Monday at 5 p.m. is now set as the latest time for receiving news and advertising. This is a deadline in the sense that copy after that time may be refused and that no promises can be made as to its publication in that week's issue. It's not that the Crier management wants to be stuffy, but that it takes time to set type and lay out ads. The Crier's own press deadline is made of iron.

Deadline for classified ads is

No Weston Police Chief Has Yet Been Selected

WESTON -- Weston Selectmen report that they are still interviewing candidates for the position of Chief of Police, left vacant on Sept. 15 by the resignation of Chief J. Sumner Viles, but that no appointment is likely before another week or so.

A dozen candidates for the job have applied. Four are present members of the Weston Police Department and the others are from outside.

Residents Want "A Natural Park" On Commonwealth Rd.

COCHITUATE -- More than 100 residents of an area near East Plain Street have signed a petition, which has been given to the Board of Selectmen, asking that the Town not sell a 4-1/2 acre tract of land on the South side of Commonwealth Road.

The Town of Wayland has no intention of selling it, either, it appears, but there does seem to be a question of how best to handle the problem.

The piece of land in question lies along Snake Brook. During recent years trees have been growing on it and it has become a refuge for pheasants and other birds, rabbits, muskrats and even, recently, raccoons.

People who live nearby say that all the other land in the neighborhood is rapidly being turned into house lots, and that this is about the only piece of wild land left.

Hula Hoop Girl

WAYLAND -- The hula hoop is in wide use around here, as elsewhere, nowadays, and in the course of his travels the Crier photographer came across Barbara Ann Norton, 4 1/2, of Timber Lane, above, giving her hoop a whirl. (McCann Photo)

"Shoot For The Moon" School Planners Told

WESTON--Weston people should "shoot for the moon" in planning the New High School, they were told on Sept. 15 by Dr. Mason W. Gross, acting president of Rutgers University, who said that in such a community as this the very best school, public or private, should be used as the yardstick.

This was the first of six meetings to be held on successive Monday evenings to consider what should be the curriculum of the new High School, so that the building can be planned to meet educational requirements.

The meeting was held in the Country School, with more than 150 present. On the platform, be-

WESTON -- The opening meeting of the League of Women Voters of Weston will be held on Wednesday afternoon, September 24, at the home of Mrs. George N. Chamberlain, Orchard Avenue. Tea will be served at 3 p.m. This will be followed by a skit titled, "Idea to Item", depicting the manner in which the idea of any member of any League in the State may, after much consideration and deliberation, become an item for further study and possible action on the State agenda.

Babysitters will be provided for mothers of small children, and all women of Weston are cordially invited and urged to attend.

Gayside Of Wayside To Be Given Again In October

WAYLAND -- The Vokes Players announced that "The Gayside of Wayside", so well received last Winter, will be given again at the Vokes Theatre on Oct. 17, 18, 24 and 25. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. William Hodgkinson, EL 8-7725.

Mrs. Mary Mortimer

COCHITUATE -- Mrs. Mary Mortimer, 55, of Dudley Road, was found dead in her automobile outside her home at 7:15 a.m. on Sept. 15, and Dr. J. Harry McCann, medical examiner, said death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

About Weston High School

To the Editor:

The High School Building Committee has been working hard to make certain that Weston has a new high school at the earliest possible date. The High School Survey Group, which began its program this week, will be of invaluable assistance to the School Committee and the Building Committee by helping to set down some of the educational specifications to be provided in our new school. A most cooperative liaison has been established among these three groups, so vitally concerned with the immediate building problems. We hope that if you are unable to participate in the Survey, you will nevertheless feel free to contact anyone on the Building Committee and give them your ideas.

At present, we of the Building Committee are in the process of selecting an architect and hope to make this announcement shortly. Our thanks to those of you who contacted us with suggestions.

While setting the machinery in motion for selection of an architect, the Committee also had a preliminary conference with the State Building Assistance Commission for their invaluable aid.

Their suggestions and outlines of procedure were of great help and also reassured us that we were proceeding in the proper direction. In sum, we feel that we are moving at a more than satisfactory pace, thanks to the wholehearted cooperation of everyone with whom we have so far come in contact.

About Conservation

(The letter below relates to a Crier paragraph about conservation printed recently and to a piece in the Christian Science Monitor about how Britain is protecting large areas by declaring them national parks.)

To the Editor:

I noticed your small comment in the Crier, here enclosed. It fits with the report from the Monitor. The English evidently are determined to have part of England fit to live in and look at, not just bleak territory filled with roads over which people rush to escape --- where?

Sincerely,
Jeanne Saunders

Higher Social Security Payments Begin In '59

The new amendments to the social security law, signed by President Eisenhower, on August 29, will affect almost every American family.

The amendments will bring higher benefit checks, beginning in February 1959, to the 12,000,000 men, women, and children now receiving monthly old-age, survivors', and disability benefits.

The amendments also will increase the social security tax, beginning January 1, on the earnings of the 74,000,000 people whose work now counts toward social security benefits.

In addition, changes in a number of existing eligibility requirements will make benefits payable to many more thousands of individuals and families.

The average increase for retired workers now receiving social security old-age insurance benefits will be about 7 percent.

Payments to retired workers aged 65 or over now range from $30 to $108.50. Under the new amendments, the minimum retirement payment for those now on the benefit rolls will be $33, and the maximum $116. The maximum for a retired worker and his wife would be increased from $162.80 to $174.

Payments to those receiving benefits as dependents and survivors will also be increased by amounts up to 7 percent, effective with the checks delivered in February. However, where several members of one family are receiving payments, each person may not get a full 7 percent increase. The maximum payment to a family, formerly $200, will now be $254.

The increase in the checks of people drawing old-age, survivors', and disability insurance benefits will be automatic. No one needs to apply for them.

Beginning in January 1959, the social security tax for both employees and employers will increase from 2-1/4 percent to 2-1/2 percent.

Also beginning with 1959 earnings, the tax on self-employed persons will go up from 3-3/8 percent to 3-3/4 percent. (This increase will not apply to the tax on 1958 self-employment earnings, due in 1959.)

After this year, annual earnings up to $4,800 will be subject to the social security tax and will be creditable toward social security benefits. At present, only the first $4,200 of earnings in a year are taxable and count toward social security benefits. As a result of this change, the maximum monthly retirement benefit will eventually be $127 for a single retired worker and $190.50 for a worker and wife 65 or over.

For further information, write, telephone or visit the local Social Security Office, 680 Main St., Waltham; open daily Monday through Friday 9:A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Tel: TW 4-4890.

Sudbury Beards Are Now In The Week-Old Stage

SUDBURY -- "Old Time Value Days", sponsored by the Sudbury Chamber of Commerce, is moving into high gear and local merchants are showing more and more enthusiasm planning their promotions, which will be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 2 - 4.

This year there will be more than 25 participating merchants, each with his own sales gimmicks, free give aways and old time prices.

At each participating store customers should fill out registration blanks and deposit them in registration boxes, located in each store. In addition to the grand prize, merchants will offer door prizes of their own. These individual drawings will be made from the same registration blanks, which will later be used for the grand prize drawing. Thus, a single registration may win a door prize and the grand prize.

The Chamber urges all to visit participating merchants as often as possible and to register with each visit. Drawings will be held Saturday evening, October 4, during "Old Timers Square Dance".

University Women

First meeting of the season of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women was held Sept. 10 at the Wellesley Baptist Church, with Dr. Donald C. Klein, executive director of the human relations service of Wellesley, as speaker.

This branch of the Association was organized two years ago and now includes in its membership residents of Framingham, Needham, Natick, Sherborn, Wayland, Wellesley and Weston. Any eligible person interested in becoming a member of the Association is cordially invited to call Mrs. David Bens, Membership Chairman, CE-5-2681, for further information.

The Association recently announced the organization of an education foundation as a step in its 75-year old campaign for better higher education here and abroad. The new organization, called the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation, Inc., will (1) promote better understanding among university women and (2) carry on research to improve women's position in education, business and the professions.

While the American Association of University Women has carried on research projects over many years, the Educational Foundation represents the first formal organization set up specifically for that purpose. Several projects are already under consideration or in progress. The Association will also continue its scholarship program. Forty-nine scholarships for doctoral and post-doctoral research have been awarded for the academic year, 1958-1959.

Country Evening Concert Tickets Already On Sale

WESTON -- Country Evening Concert schedules for this winter, set as song ago as last April, include dates in January, February and March, when this organization's 8th consecutive season will present another outstanding series of music by the world's great artists in Weston's Country School Auditorium.

Last season, one of the most successful to date, had a record of over 90 per cent capacity for the three concerts. This season, which will present the 12 Italian virtuosi known as I Musici on January 16, tenor Leslie Chabay on February 13, and pianist Moura Lympany on March 13, promises to be an equally brilliant success.

Reservations for these concerts, whose proceeds maintain a scholarship at the New England Conservatory of Music, have already started coming in. Others wishing to apply now, in advance of the general public mailing of early December, are advised to telephone TWinbrook 3-7361 or TWinbrook 3-4979. # Weston Library Is Back On Its Winter Schedule

Front Door of Weston Library

WESTON -- Miss Jeanette F. Favreau, Weston Librarian, announces that the Winter schedule for the Library is now in effect and that books may be borrowed from the adult Library on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 a.m.

While school is in session, the children's Library is open from 2 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 5:30 on Saturday. During school vacations the hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Miss Favreau says the Weston Public Library was founded in 1857 by a group of public spirited citizens and was first quartered in a room in the old Town Hall. The present building was built with a Town appropriation in 1899, and in 1922 the Children's Room was added as a memorial to Rosamond Freeman. The Library observed its centennial last November.

The Library is now open to the public 64 hours a week. During 1957 it circulated 93,800 books, periodicals and records.

Fable About The Candidate Who Plastered Up Posters

Once upon a time there was a man who was bitten by the political bug, which they say injects into the bloodstream a peculiar fluid which causes the victim to behave in odd ways, and after he was bitten the juice mounted to the fellow's brain, and he said to himself:

"The way to get nominated and elected is to let everybody see my name. Now I'm running for County Beef Inspector, a job few citizens know anything about. Nor do they know any of the other candidates. So I'll just stick my name up where everybody will see it. Then people will think I must be hot stuff and they'll all vote for me."

So this character had 1,000,000 big posters made, in red and green and blue and white, bearing his picture.

And he was lucky. He had 13 cousins, all with driving licences, and he had a half dozen friends besides.

About three weeks before the election he had this crew go out on a dark night into the highways, lanes, residential districts, puhlic parks and cemeteries, and plaster every pole and tree with campaign posters.

They covered up birds' nests, flower beds, shade trees, stone walls and telephone poles. They used ladders to put posters up so high nobody could reach them to pull them down.

They sneaked into door yards and plastered the posters on private homes.

They stuck them on school houses, town halls, grocery stores and opium dens.

They put them on parked automobiles, bicycles and cabooses.

When they got through, driving down a country road was like driving through a forest of billboards.

Nor was this candidate the only one. There were four candidates for each position, in this particular election, and every one of them thought the best way to prove his fitness for office was to nail a campaign poster on a shade tree.

Well, by election day the countryside, which had hitherto been reasonably neat and attractive, was a shambles.

Sombody asked the candidate, "Who's going to take down those posters?"

And he said:

"If we lose we won't be interested and if we win we'll leave them there for next time, so people will remember us." So nobody would ever touch those old posters, and in due time wind and rain and snow would wear them out. They'd be gone in five years or so, or buried under the posters of next election.

This sort of thing went on year after year, and after standing it about so long the League for Civic Betterment, the Society for Keeping the Town Clean, the Excelsior Garden Club, the Save the Shade Trees Group and about 40 other civic organizations got madder than a swarm of hornets.

Nobody has a right to deface property, public or private, they said, and anybody who would do it is a vandal, unfit to hold office in a civilized community. (Naturally, nobody put up his own posters in his own home town. He knew better than that.) So the outraged citizens began to keep book on the names of candidates seen on trees and poles, and they made a mighty resolve to vote against every one, no matter what.

After a few elections in which the poster plasterers were murdered at the polls, the word got around that there must be better ways to campaign, and once more the countryside stood clean and neat. (End of fable.) - - -D.B.W.

Mailing Day

5 p.m. Friday, because with the Crier's new process these require special handling.

Publicity chairmen who have advance notices which they'd like published would be helping a great deal if they could get them in on Thursday of the week preceding.

When there is last minutes news of importance to the community, the Crier will of course made every effort to get it in.

There is a great favor which publicity chairmen and others can confer, and that is not to ask for front page space. The front page is the showcase of the paper, in which editors like to present material of greatest general, rather than particular, interest. The Crier is not yet so big that news on Page 3, 8 or 10 can't be found.

Moreover, the Crier editors want to cooperate with publicity chairmen. Any of the latter who are newly chosen and feel at a loss are welcome to call the Crier or to drop in at the office and discuss their problems. The editors want to print the news of organizations, not leave it out, and understanding about space, time and form should help everybody.

He has been going to Weston schools, but this year he is entering St. John's Prep at Danvers as a freshman. He has been using a camera for about a year.

Natural Park

The story is that the Town acquired it for unpaid taxes, many years ago, and that it just lay there idle. Some gravel was taken from it and some dumping was done in it, although not in the past couple of years. Now the trees are growing up in the area and it begins to look like a potential beauty spot, suitable for "a natural park". One of the circulators of the petition was Mrs. Clarence A. Carpenter of Commonwealth Road East, who lives on the North side of the street. Her view is that the tract should be cleaned up and then left in a state of nature.

The matter of selling this land came up a year or so ago, when individuals asked the Selectmen whether the Town would sell it. An Article was put in the warrant for the Town Meeting of last March, to see whether the Town would agree to sell, and the Article was passed over. This action killed it for the time being.

Now the residents want to make sure of the status of this piece of land. Chairman John R. McEnroy of the Board of Selectmen has looked the ground over with Mrs. Carpenter and says the Selectmen will hold a meeting with interested persons to see just what they want to work out. He says the land couldn't be sold anyway, without a vote of the Town. The problem is how to make arrangements for cleaning up the place once and administering it thereafter.

Snake Brook rises in the reservoir on Rice Road and flows past the new Loker School and under Commonwealth Road on its way to Lake Cochituate. Where this piece of Town land is there used to be a dam and a pond, which shows in an old picture map of Cochituate. In the hurricane of 1938, says Mrs. Carpenter, the flood washed the dam away, leaving part of the 4-1/2 acres rather boggy.

SMARC Provided A Day Camp For The Retarded

Recreation for the retarded in this area during July and August was provided by the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children in the form of a day camp made possible by generous contributions to last year's Retarded Children's Fund Drive.

The 26 enrolled children, whose ages ranged from 4 to 16 years, spent varied and happy hours in activities adapted to their interests and capabilities. For outdoor activity they played on swings, slides, sandboxes and the basketball court. The indoor activities consisted of an arts and crafts program during which the children worked with crayons and paints, weaving and sewing materials, modeling clay, etc. and educational toy construction work.

The third phase of the camp program included such special events as story hours, parties and a marionette show, the entertainment highlight of the season. By participation in the varied program, these children were given the opportunity to belong to a group which provided for their needs of social acceptance.

John's account of the walking on the sea by Christ Jesus (John 6:16-21) is included in the Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares: "In proportion does man become its master. He enters into a diviner sense of the facts, and comprehends the theology of Jesus as demonstrated in healing the sick, raising the dead, and walking over the wave" (369:5-10).

Jones House Was A Tavern

WESTON—Smith Tavern in Weston Center never was known as Smith House. Built to serve as an inn, by Josiah Smith, in 1757, the tap room was in the northwest corner with an entrance door on the west side. About 1763, so popular had Smith Tavern become, that Josiah added a much larger kitchen on the south side overlooking the lovely meadows of the Canal or Three-mile brook, a tap room opening on the east side where the coaches stopped, a wide hall with a broad staircase and an ample reception room; on the second floor were built several chambers and the beautiful ballroom. A favorite custom of people from Boston and other towns, was to drive or ride out for supper, with dancing and cards in the evening. One Weston belle writes in her diary that she "danced until 3 in the morning."

It was 18 miles to Boston in those days, and perhaps one reason for the popularity of Josiah Smith's Tavern was that the New York coach left Haymarket Square at 3 o'clock in the morning, and stopped for the first change of horses in Josiah Smith's yard at 6; the hostlers were not only waiting to attach fresh horses, but the honest and attentive landlord had ready an attractive breakfast for the travelers.

The road from Boston to the west, was by way of Roxbury Crossing, through Brookline and Newton, entering Watertown Square over a bridge that stood where the present bridge spans Charles River. There were no bridges over the River from Boston until after the Revolution. The many ferries were generally private business.

When Josiah Smith died in 1782, at the age of 60, his son, Joel, born in 1749, became the innkeeper. Joel's daughter, Nancy, married George Washington Peirce of Weston, and he followed Joel as landlord in 1817. With the opening of the Framingham Turnpike, and a southerly route to New York, together with the growth of railroads, tavern business declined along the old Sudbury Road, now the Boston Post Road.

In 1823, America's famous statesman and orator, Daniel Webster, traveled over this route to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, to enter Congress as Representative from Massachusetts, and later, as Senator.

In June, 1825, the Marquis de Lafayette, famous French general under Washington, spent a night in Sudbury at the Wayside Inn. He had arrived in New York from France, and was on his way to Boston to speak at the dedication of Bunker Hill monument, on June 17, 1825, 50 years after the battle. A courier was sent ahead to carry word of Lafayette's approach, and in the morning practically the population of Weston lined the Post Road, to wave and shout their welcome to our famous friend.

In 1828, the Tavern Stand, as the old deed records it, was bought by Col. Russell Wood of Taunton in the County of Bristol, Innkeeper. The landlord, however, was named Macomber, because the Town Records tell of a Town Meeting held in April, 1828, in the Hall of John T. Macomber's Tavern. In 1838, Col. Wood sold the property to Josiah Warren, and its life as a Tavern was ended, although until 1847, when the first Town House was built on Meeting-House Common, Town Meetings and other gatherings were held in Josiah Warren Hall, the beautiful ballroom.

The last sale of this historic landmark was on March 2, 1848, when ownership passed to John and Marshall Jones. Mr. John Jones was the grandfather of Miss Ellen and Miss Alice Jones, the loyal friends who kept intact what should be a lasting memorial to this grand old Puritan Town.

Mrs. Lizotte Wins 4 Blue Ribbons At Flower Show

COCHITUATE -- The members of Cochituate Garden Club were very pleased to have so many people come to see their flower show. It brightened everyone's day to see such lovely arrangements. The theme was "Holidays on Parade".

Mrs. Alexander Lizotte was the most outstanding arranger, winning 4 blue ribbons. There was no first in the New Year's Day class but Mrs. Arthur Dudley received 2nd and Mrs. Arthur Marston, honorable mention. The class for Valentine's Day had the most entries. Mrs. Lizotte won first with her replica of an old fashioned frilly valentine. Mrs. Richard Johnson came second with an arrangement of glads in a lovely piece of coral. Mrs. Arnold Baker was third with white roses and red tuberous begonias in an appropriate valentine container. Mrs. H. B. Ambler received honorable mention for her new and unusual three sided arrangement

Speaker Favors More Lab Space For New High School

WESTON -- Dr. Fletcher G. Watson, professor of education at Harvard University, spoke on science and mathematics at the high school survey meeting at the Country School on Sept. 22.

It was the second in a series of six meetings to consider what the proposed new High School should try to do. About 150 attended. On the platform with Dr. Watson were Dr. Richard Wareham, chairman of the survey, and Wallace Sawyer of the High School science department.

Dr. Watson said he favored smaller classes, as best for learning and individual attention for the pupil, and he said he thought the building should be flexible, because ideas in education keep changing. He also would favor more laboratory space than is usually alloted, for teaching by project and experimentation.

As for teachers, he deplored the "chores" many have to perform, such as watching lunchrooms, and he said they should be set free for more productive efforts. He also saw, in the future, more emphasis on tutorial teaching, as in college, and he suggested that a new school should be so arranged that it could be changed to fit such a pattern.

Next Monday's speaker will be Archibald B. Shaw, superintendent of schools at Scarsdale, N. Y., whose subject will be extra-curricular activities.

8 Out Of 10 Ducks Shot In Sudbury Marshes Are Lost

WAYLAND -- As reported by the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game four years ago, the loss of game in the Sudbury River area, where the cover is extremely dense, was as high as 8 ducks lost for every 10 recovered.

In an effort to reduce this waste of game, the Colonial Retriever Field Trial club, organized in 1948, conducts training classes for owners of retrievers - Golden Retrievers, Labradors, Chesapeakes and Irish Water Spaniels. In 1955 this club proposed legislation for licensing retriever field trials in Massachusetts, and the first such event was held in Concord the following year.

Members working on the legislation committee were Mrs. Mark D. Elliott of Carlisle, Mr. Neil Melone and Mr. Austin Mason of Concord, Mr. Richard Piper of Sudbury and Mr. William Manice of Westford. Cooperating with them were conservation groups: Sudbury Valley Trustees, Massachusetts Audubon Society and so on. The 1958 field trial will be held on Plum Island Sept. 26-28. Anyone welcome to attend.

Auxiliary Police Enjoy Use Of New Pistol Range

WAYLAND -- First meeting of the Wayland Auxiliary Police for this year will be at the Town Building on Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. Last year the Auxiliary had 125 members, with three pistol teams of five men each, which finished 24th out of 175 entrants in the New England Police Revolver League.

The new range in the basement of the Town Building is open at 8:15 p.m. on Wednesdays, 8 p.m. on Thursdays and, beginning this year, at 4:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Chief of the Auxiliary is John F. Pelletier, Wayland regular police officer. Wayland captain is Dan Kennedy and Cochituate captain is Charles Berkebile. Instructors are Dan Kennedy, Fred Newton and Charles Nelson. Any men who are interested in the auxiliary police or the pistol team may join up at the police station or the fire station.

Trampoline In Memory Of The Late Mrs. Codman

WAYLAND -- In memory of his wife, the late Mrs. Ann Bullard Codman, Robert C. Codman of Rich Valley Road has tendered to Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson, the gift of an Olympic style Nissen Trampoline for the Wayland High School.

This gift by Mr. Codman was inspired by his attendance at the Harvard Conference on Physical Fitness held at Harvard University on September 13, which was originally instigated by John A. Crooks of High Rock Road.

Mrs. Codman was graduated from Wayland High School and Sargent School of Physical Education and taught Physical Education in the schools of Rutland, Vermont, prior to the war.

The physical benefits to be derived by boys and girls by the use of the Nissen Trampoline was completely demonstrated at the Conference and although school systems of some neighboring towns have this apparatus, Wayland schools have never had it.

The gift of Mr. Codman will include instruction belts and pads and the Nissen Company has offered the services of some of its top trampoline instructors to demonstrate the use of the equipment when it is installed in the school.

The conference was attended by Supt. Anderson and his staff.

Barbara Has A Horse Show For Her Birthday Party

WESTON -- A birthday party consisting of a pretty big horse show was given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart C. Woodworth Jr. of 412 Highland Street, for 11-year-old Barbara Woodworth on Sept. 20 in the field at the corner of South Avenue and Wellesley Street.

Barbara

The entries, limited to children under 16, numbered 69, and came from as far away as Wrentham. There was no cake, but the youngsters put away 20 cases of soft drinks and 25 pounds of cookies.

The show had its start weeks in advance, when Barbara, who is crazy about horses, said she'd like to have a couple of friends come over on horseback. It grew with the planning, and finally, at the show, there were hundreds of spectators.

Sue Stauffer of Weston, on Quorum, turned out to be the champion of the day, with two firsts, a second, a third and a fifth place. Barbara herself was reserve champion, with two seconds, a third, a fourth and a fifth.

Mr. Woodworth says he's thinking of having the show again next year, for the benefit of some local good cause, if a suitable field can be found.

Among the Weston entrants and their horses were: Barbara Crockett, My Fair Lady; Sam Pillsbury, Midnight; Sue and Nancy Stauffer, Quorum; Mary Lou Ladwig, Little

Sharp Answer

This didn't happen yesterday, but it may bear repeating.

A local 10-year-old boy built a small bomb which exploded, damaging his hand. When he appeared in public, wearing a bandage, somebody asked him, "What happened?"

"I feed alligators," he replied.

First Community Chorus Meeting On Sept. 29 At The Wayland High School

The Community Chorus will hold its first meeting of the 1958-59 season on Monday evening, Sept. 29, at the Wayland High School. Mr. Chester W. Williams, Dean of the New England Conservatory, will once again serve as director of the group.

Mr. M. E. Barrett, president of the Chorus, has announced the plans for the forthcoming season. The Chorus will join the music world in commemorating the 200th anniversary of the death of George Frederic Handel when it presents at its Christmas concert the well beloved Messiah. Throughout the entire season preparation will go forward for the Spring concert when The Song of Affirmation by the contemporary composer Norman dello Joio will be presented in the East.

Mr. Barrett further stated that the Chorus will have as one of its primary objectives this year the establishment of a scholarship fund for a local student of music. music.

A membership committee, under the direction of Mrs. Leopold Gruener, is already hard at work trying to contact all old and new neighbors who would like to share with the Chorus this stimulating year. If, however, you have not been reached as yet, the members of the Chorus extend to you a warm invitation to join them for their first rehearsal on the 29th. No tryouts are asked of you, only your welcome presence.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Ballet Classes

To the Editor:

While the Red Barn Nursery School is happy to have its facilities rented by Carolyn Wells, director of classical ballet classes, it feels it should correct the impression given in The Town Crier, Sept. 18, that Red Barn is sponsoring the dancing classes.

Space in the Red Barn Nursery School is available for rent afternoons, evenings and weekends to any organizations with educational purposes.

Sincerely,
Mrs. R. S. Sturgis
Vice-President

Thank You Note

Edmund C. Buckley of 83 Wendell Street, Cambridge, who won the Democratic nomination for Register of Deeds in the Southern Middlesex District, says:

"To the voters of the Southern Middlesex District, may I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to each of you who voted for me in my recent campaign.

"Indeed it was most rewarding to renew old acquaintances and to make a multitude of new friends in this district.

"I hope to merit your continued support in November."

Rombas Christmas Cards

To the Editor:

Two Christmas cards of interesting, beautiful design of local landmarks by Mrs. John L. Kronenberg are to be issued this year for sale in larger quantities than last year and will go on sale at the usual centers or through persons delegated to sell them by middle or late October. It is hoped that they may be widely bought and in considerable quantities that larger profits may be realized to meet heavier expenses incurred. The Affiliation Committee acknowledges with grateful appreciation Mrs. Kronenberg's great kindness and generosity.

Henry M. Fiske

Committee, Weston.

About Cochituate Land

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Mrs. Carpenter and the many other local residents of Cochituate for their efforts to preserve the open land on Commonwealth Road East now owned by the town. Doubtless many people will argue the pros and cons in terms of the strictly monetary value of this land for tax revenue - although this is a two-edged sword.

However, it seems to me important to emphasize most strongly that mankind lives not just by bread alone: there is far more to life than its simple mechanics of food, clothing and shelter. The exhilaration - peace of mind - just plain happiness - call it what you will - of a clear fall day in Wayland is something of real importance to us all - whether we recognize it or not! And the indispensable part of this picture is that we still have open spaces to contemplate, and fresh air to breathe!

The country atmosphere is what makes a town like Wayland souht after as a place to live - a characteristic which is becoming increasingly rare in our crowded suburbia. The money involved to the town in this particular tract is of tiny consequence - let's afford the luxury of preserving as many such open spaces as possible for the enjoyment of our children, as well as our adults! Let's not count land as wasted just because no one makes money from it, or lives on it! It is not a necessary or a superior attribute of man that he destroy the natural beauty of our landscape at every hand in the name of progress and our insatiable pursuit of monetary gain.

Plenty of open space for recreation at every hand? Perhaps - but the vivid description of a heated argument overheard recently between the attendant at Lake Cochituate State Park and a disappointed boat owner being turned away (from the third State Park that morning) indicates that it may be later than we think!

I am sure that our Selectmen and other town officials recognize the recreational and aesthetic value of tracts of land such as this one on Commonwealth Road East, and that they will give this project the support it deserves.

Sincerely,
Allen H. Morgan

Only The Handy Man Around The House Is Respectable

Aside from the question of what he meant by his behavior at the Saturday night party and why was he out in the kitchen so long with his hostess, no problem besetting the local husband is any more vexing than that of being what is commonly known as a handy man around the house.

A fact on which the sociologists have dwelt insufficiently, if indeed they have any dwelling place outside the ivory tower, is that the suburban housewife hates to see a man idle on his day off.

In some foreign countries, it is reported, the husband is treated with a good deal of respect, or at least gingerly, and is allowed to go without shoes on Saturday or Sunday and sleep on the floor if he feels like it without being run over by a vacuum cleaner, which instrument, in the opinion of some, makes the most idiotic noise known to humanity. No variety, no pianissimo, no tune, just whineissimo.

But in America the right of man to be a slob is seriously challenged these days, and it's a wonder Walter Lippmann hasn't written something pretty significant about it.

There are some wives, alas, who don't care how much bacon the fellow brings home on five days of the week, if he forgets to grease the car or cut the grass on the weekend.

There is a school of thought, female, which holds that a man idle on his day off is wasting time. The theory is that a fellow who sits down for five minutes on Saturday afternoon with a punctured tin can at his unshaven face is a victim of galloping character deterioration who needs to be corrected.

What the man should be doing, it is alleged, is fixing faucets, painting the house (especially the higher, more dangerous parts, where he is closer to the insurance money), stopping leaks in the pipes, building an addition to the garage, cleaning the cellar and the attic, putting up shelves, rehabilitating furniture, turning out interesting and useful household utensils in his workshop, putting a new wheel on the bicycle . . .

By rights, he should start his chores at 6 a.m. on Saturday and keep busy, with an hour out for church on Sunday morning, until 11 p.m. Sunday.

It doesn't matter whether the poor donkey knows the hammer from the nail. He should be in there trying.

Rule A in The Dragon's Handbook is, "Never let a man sit down."

Some husbands have advanced the preposterous argument that, while seeming to be merely idle and recumbent, they were in fact thinking large, beautiful and productive thoughts, likely to pay off, in the near, bright future, with mink coats and new lamps for the living room.

Naturally, this stuff doesn't go down.

On the other hand, in this, as in other departments where there is conflict of opinion between the sexes, man has ways to beat the game.

One good one is to get up early, make the coffee, start the radio good and loud and rummage around like mad in a pretended hunt for tools. The trick is to announce that it is desperately important to adjust the brussum of the whatsoff apgone, which is located at the back corner of the lot, behind a screen of brush.

The forchanded man will have provided, in this sheltered nook, a portable radio, necessary supplies and a bed of fallen leaves, not to mention a Chinese gong. Provided he remembers to hit the gong with the hammer once an hour, so that he sounds busy, he may remain in this happy isolation until dinner time.

In Winter, it may he objected, this will be uncomfortable, but not necessarily so. With a pup tent (the cold weather equivalent of the Summer dog house) and a sleeping bag, he may he just as happy as though he had a chance of amounting to something. And this brings up the question, "Just how does anybody know when he amounts to something?"

Hiding out like this is safer, too, because the unhandy man is likely to receive injuries on Saturday which will incapacitate him for several days of next week, and if he thinks he's going to loaf around the house and demand three meals a day just because he has a dislocated elbow or a silly little fracture he's picking on the wrong woman.

Of course, some husbands are handy men around the house, and such men, it is reported, are more highly cherished by their wives than millionaires.---D.B.W.

200 Attend The Membership Reception Of Wayland LWV

WAYLAND -- The Wayland League of Women Voters held its annual membership reception on Wednesday, evening, Sept. 17, at Happy Hollow School.

Prospective new Leaguers talked informally with older members as sherbert punch and tea sandwiches were being served by Mrs. James T. Burgess and her social Committee.

The gathering of about 200 was warmly welcomed by Mrs. Warren T. Eriksen, President of the Wayland League, who introduced Board members, with a special word of commendation for Mrs. Luther Davis and her diligent Membership Committee.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Rudolph Bruce of the State Board, who set the scene for her original skit, "This Is The League, Mrs. Jones." With the assistance of Mrs. William Max Griffin, Mrs. James Henkle, Mrs. L. William Bertelsen, Mrs. Kemp Reade and Mrs. Richard A. Howard, the new members learned the highlights of being a Leaguer.

In an effort to acquaint the newcomers further with the League, all adjourned to sample unit meetings in small groups where questions were answered and the proposed program discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Johnson
(Arthur Johnson, Springfield)

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Johnson of 152 Conant Road, who moved to Weston in 1951 after looking all over "for the nicest place to settle", celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home on Sept. 20 with a reception attended by 49 relatives and friends.

They were married at Springfield on Sept. 23, 1908. Ten of those who were present at the wedding attended the 50th anniversary party.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were born in Sweden and came over here when they were young. Both grew up in Springfield. Mr. Johnson was with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company for 50 years, the last 22 years as secretary of the company.

When he retired in 1951, he says, he and Mrs. Johnson looked around for the nicest place there was to settle in, and they chose Weston. The choice proved a good one, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are the parents of Mrs. Vincent Hoagland of 12 Sunset Road and the grandparents of Vincent Hoagland Jr., a graduate of Weston High who is a freshman at Wesleyan this year, and Johanna and Erik Hoagland, both students at Weston High this year.

They also have a son, Erik Johnson, who is in the landscape business in Atlanta, Georgia, and has two children.

'Rose King of Cochituate'

COCHITUATE -- Mr. Alfred J. Perodeau of West Plain Street, well known local horticulturalist, is now being called "The Rose King of Cochituate."

According to the story, Mrs. Perodeau raised some handsome roses this Summer.

Come the flower show of the Cochituate Garden Club, an expert arranger took some of these roses, put them in a bouquet and won first prize.

Then she took the bouquet apart, rearranged it and lent it to another woman, who took second place with it.

This feat was considered to have reflected great credit on Mrs. Perodeau, who raised the roses; the skillful arranger, who fixed the bouquets, and Mr. Perodeau, who had given the growing rose bushes several favorable glances during the Summer.

Landscape Workers Are Wanted At Nature Trail

WESTON -- A Fall workday has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 27, at the Hubbard Nature Trail in Weston, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Members of the New England Wild Flower Preservation Society and the Weston Forest and Trail Association and other interested persons are invited to put in an hour or a day.

A pasture area will be cleared of gray birch to permit ground junipers and roadside wildflowers to thrive. A woodland area that is too shady will be thinned out moderately to favor lady slippers, trailing arbutus and violets. A fern path needs landscaping by someone with a discerning eye, so that it will blend into the natural surroundings and still keep visitors within bounds.

The two societies began in 1957 to develop this lovely 22-acre tract as a nature trail and to build up its wildflower population. The area was given in 1956 by the estate of Charles W. Hubbard for this purpose. Three workdays are scheduled each year for those who are interested in restoring it to its former condition; in March to clear out fallen trees, in June to spray poison ivy, and in September to prune out wherever the leafy cover discourages wildflower plantings. For information, call TWinbrook 3 7853.

Wayland School Meetings

WAYLAND -- The neighborhood meetings arranged by the Wayland League of Women Voters to discuss proposed plans for the new Wayland High School for the coming week are as follows:

Interested residents not contacted are most welcome to attend. They should call either Mrs. Donald A. Mitchell at EL 8-2261 or Mrs. Richard A. Howard at OL 3-2635, who will be happy to direct them to one of the gatherings.

Cochituate Troop 1

SHORT TAKES COCHITUATE

Members of the Way-Co Pony League All-Stars were guests at a dinner last Saturday night at the home of Jack Arnold, West Plain Street, winding up a season in which they lost 2 games and won 6. They beat Maynard three times, Framingham twice, and Waltham once. Losses were to Waltham and to a combined Ashland-Hopkinton team. Pitcher Billy Wilkinson allowed the Framingham only one hit in the 14 innings he went against them; one game was a no-hit, no-run triumph for Billy, who is a freshman at Wayland this year. Kenny Houghton, Tom Linnehan and Allan Arnold led the team in batting. . .

In answer to concern expressed by parents of elementary school children about individual parent-teacher conferences, Principal Walter Doucette of the Cochituate School had this to say: The conferences, usually scheduled during the week before school begins, are not being abandoned. They will be held this year some time in October. In addition to the fact that school this year opened unusually early in September, Mr. Doucette says he has found that many parents feel that a conference between parent and teacher is more apt to be useful to both if the teacher has had a few weeks to get to know a little about the child . . .

Miss Mary Connolly, who taught third grade at the Cochituate school until she left in 1956 to do exchange teaching in Germany, did not return to the Wayland system this fall as expected. In a last-minute change of plans, Miss Connolly and her fiance, an Army lieutenant, decided to get married. She will stay another year in Germany and come back when he does. . .

In observing the first anniversary of their existence at a recent business meeting, members of the Shore Acres Club paid their officers the highest kind of compliment. They re-elected them in a body to serve for another year. Esther Strafus is president, Harriet Wales vice-president, Helen Taylor social secretary, Louise Kelsoe recording secretary, publicity chairman Janet Pelletier and entertainment committee chairman Alice Ahern . . .

The block party sponsored by the Brookdale Improvement Association on Sept. 13 was a decided success. Fifty children and 70 adults from the area enjoyed the events and refreshments planned by the committee chairmen, Albert Hughes and Ralph Moschella. Pony rides, a pet parade, a doll parade, a bike parade, games and athletic events, and the presence of three pieces of fire-fighting apparatus, added to the fun. Wayland Fire Chief Hartin spoke about some of the ways and means of preventing fires. Parents contributed their time in helping with the program, and donations of a more material nature were made by the following merchants: Joe Brown's Hobby Shop, the Firestone store, the Cradle Shop and Boston Supply, all of Framingham, the Coca-Cola Company, and Johnson's Drug store, Cochituate .

SHORT TAKES WAYLAND

Wayland Selectmen, Finance Committee members and Board of Health toured the Dudley Pond area on Sunday, Sept. 21, and inspected eight or 10 old dwellings to decide whether they should be condemned.

This was part of the Town's long range plan for getting rid of camps and shacks built long ago and now badly run down. The Town has already destroyed nearly 100 such. The camps were built when Wayland was much more rural than it is now, when there were no building restrictions. . .

Burdett College announces that Kenneth A. Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Roy, has completed his orientation program and is now busy with the study and social activities of college life. Kenneth is a student in the School of Business Administration, majoring in Sales Management . . .

Mrs. John Russo, president of the Catholic Council of St. Ann's Church, and Mrs. Clarence Stickney, chairman of spiritual development, Framingham Deanery, of St. Ann's, were among those present at a President's Tea held Sept. 14 at the Grey Nuns of the Cross Novitiate, Framingham . . .

A tennis clinic, open to all interested, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday morning, Sept. 27, at the tennis court of Dunbar Holmes, 11 Draper Road. Expert Malcolm Hill will demonstrate and Hill, Harrison Rowbotham, Albert Evarts of Weston and Robert Stewart will play an exhibition doubles match .

SHORT TAKES WESTON

WESTON -- Red Barn Nursery School's new school building at 724 Boston Post Road is almost ready for opening day, Sept. 29. Parents have been pitching in all summer with paint brushes, hammers, shovels, rakes and hoes. But the big push came last weekend with crews of parents painting inside walls and grading and seeding the surrounding acreage.

John Eichorn, 95 Sunset Road, is chairman of the interior finishing committee. Richard Howard, 137 Wellesley Street, is working with the parents who are landscaping.

The playing surface of the new school athletic field on School Street was loamed and seeded just before the heavy rains of last week, and a good grass crop is hoped for. A cinder track will surround the playing field and more loam will be placed and seeded outside the track. The work is being done by the highway department, under the direction of Stanley Fabbri . . .

Susan Toner, Weston's second exchange student to Rombas, has written, telling about her exciting crossing and about her plans to visit in Germany during September. She will go on to Rombas early in October when the school year begins there. Susan sailed from New York on August 25 . . .

Mrs. Hugh A. McGettigan of 158 Newton Street is luncheon chairman for the first fall meeting of the Boston Intercollegiate Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma . . .

Among Greater Boston students honored on Sept. 19 for their summer work as Red Feather Junior Volunteers were Helen Maria Angelo and Nancy Shannon of Weston High School.

Both Local Teams Win

Both Wayland and Weston opened their football seasons with victories on Sept. 29, in games which had been washed out on the previous Saturday by rain.

Weston won at Bedford, 14 to 0, with two newcomers to football, Ken MacRae, a junior, and Forbes McMullin, a sophomore, scoring the two touchdowns. Two points were added on a pass from Mac Rae to Jay Adams. A rushing attempt failed after the other score.

Coach George R. Harris says his team is inexperienced, but it settled down in the second half. After a 100-yard punt return by Mike McDonald was called back for clipping, Weston took the ball on the one-yard line and made 99 yards on the ground for a touchdown.

Next Saturday, Bourne at Weston at 2 p.m.

Wayland took Millbury, 19 to 0, with Dick Morris scoring twice and quarterback Jerry Whelchel once. Whelchel kicked one point after. A touchdown run by Whelchel was nullified by a clipping penalty. Both teams fumbled frequently and there were many penalties, but Wayland was easily on top all the way.

Last time Wayland High lost a football game was in the middle of the 1955 season, to Ashland, 24 to 20. Last year there was a tie with Scituate, 14-14.

Next Saturday, Westboro at Westboro.

Adult Course In Russian

WESTON -- Don Killebrew, who gives the new course in Russian at Weston High School, is planning an evening course for adults in that language, probably to meet in private homes, at least at first. Those who would like to take such a course may reach Mr. Killebrew by calling Weston High School and leaving word for him.

Weston High is a pioneer in the teaching of Russian in Massachusetts, Mr. Killebrew says. Only Cambridge and Newton schools, besides Weston, offer it. The present class numbers 18, mostly sophomores, and he finds them interested and responsive.

Incidentally, Mr. Killebrew thinks the best time for children to start learning a foreign language is when they're in the third grade. After all, children start learning English when they're younger than that.

Final Registration Dates

WESTON -- Oct. 3, from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Town Hall, Town Clerk's office. For transportation, call LWV Voters Service Committee, TW 4-6121.

WAYLAND -- Oct. 3, from 12 noon until 10 p.m., Cochituate Branch Library. Town Clerk Leila Sears says registrants must bring birth certificates, naturalization papers or other documentary proof of citizenship.

The Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries of Boston, largest agency serving the handicapped in New England, will celebrate National Employ the Handicapped Week beginning Sunday, Oct. 5.

Jimmy Allen Is Home Again

COCHITUATE -- Jimmy Allen, who was terribly burned last May 24 when his clothes caught fire from an incinerator, was released from Framingham Union Hospital the other day after a stay of four months. He had a pretty rough time, and friends and neighbors in Town contributed generously to help the family over the bad spot.

When he emerged into the September air, after being in the hospital all Summer, Jimmy said; "Mmmm. It's cold out here."

Above, Jimmy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Allen.

Letters to the EDITOR

Wayland LWV Seeks Money

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Wayland has set aside the week of October 5 through 12 to call on a number of civic-minded citizens of Wayland asking for their financial support of the League's work in the community.

This is the first time in its 10-year history that the League will have made such an appeal. However, as the years have gone on, the League's program of service has been continually expanded until now the cost of providing the varied and extensive activities which the community has come to expect from the League can no longer be met solely from dues and its own membership contributions. Dues are purposely kept low (at $3.00 per year) so that no woman who wants to participate in League work will be prevented from doing so for financial reasons.

This year the League is again expanding its program of citizen information. Among its planned projects are these: a series of 18 neighborhood meetings, ending this week, at which all citizens in town have had the opportunity to ask questions and discuss the proposed plans for the new High School with official members of the School Building committee; distribution of information on all candidates for office in the November 4 election; a gigantic non-partisan rally at the Framingham Teachers College on Friday, evening, October 17, where Wayland voters will have an on-the-spot opportunity to hear candidates for top state offices; a public Forum on United States Foreign Policy to be held on Thursday evening, November 13, at the Wayland High School with Saville Davis of the Christian Science Monitor as the speaker. In February the League will again hold its annual town-wide meetings where citizens can hear and meet the candidates for local office and where they will be able to discuss articles in the Town Warrant before the voting at Town Meeting. The League's Handbook for Town Meeting, which was distributed to all residents in town four years ago, has been reprinted this year and will continue to be distributed to new residents as they move into town.

These and many other services require not only the active and devoted work of a large number of members but financial resources to meet the cost of carrying out the projects. The Wayland League is confident that it can count on the support of interested townspeople to provide this financial assistance. Anyone who is not directly contacted but who would like to help in promoting the League's efforts may send a contribution (checks should be made payable to the League of Women Voters of Wayland) to the treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Alesi, 71 Glezen Lane, Wayland. The League also welcomes any suggestions as to ways in which it might be of greater service in helping all Wayland Citizens enjoy the satisfaction which comes from being informed members of their local, state and national communities.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. W. T. Eriksen,
President,
League of Women
Voters of Wayland.

Claypit Dancing Lessons

WAYLAND -- Lessons in ballet, tap and ballroom dancing for all pupils of the Claypit Hill School will be given again this year by Mrs. Margaret Bresnahan of Framingham, beginning Oct. 9, and proceeds will go to the Claypit Hill School PTA. Lessons are 50 cents for a half hour. Those interested may call Mrs. Edward B. Caraker, EL 8-2686.

Due to many requests from patrons the Carousel Theatre has decided to extend its season two more weeks and present two straight plays, "The Moon Is Blue", Tuesday evening, Sept. 30 through Sunday evening, Oct. 5, and the hit comedy, "Mister Roberts", from Tuesday evening, Oct. 7, through Sunday evening, Oct. 12.

WESTON -- Highlight of Weston's observance of the United Nations birthday will be a square dance sponsored by the Womens' Community League of Weston. On Friday, Oct. 24, the gymnasium of the Weston High School will resound to the calls of Ralph Page, who promises fun for all, beginners and experts. Foreign students from nearby colleges and universities and the International House in Cambridge have been invited.

Planning this popular dance, which will benefit the Community League, are Mrs. Martin V. Marshall, chairman; Mrs. Paul Gryska, vice-chairman; Mrs. Peter McNerney, tickets; Mrs. Robert Starmer and Mrs. David M. Little, foreign student hospitality; Mrs. David O. Johnston, decorations; Mrs. J. Warren Vedder, Jr., refreshments; and Mrs. Campbell L. Searle, publicity.

Everyone is invited - those who have never seen a square before, beginners and advanced. Sneakers are required. Tickets will be sold at the door for 90¢.

Mrs. Bogardus Will Keep Dates For Weston Events

WESTON -- Mrs. William Bogardus of 74 Sunset Road has volunteered to serve as the clearing house for dates in Weston. She has put up a large calendar on the wall and is in business. Her telephone number is TW 4-9379. To make the clearing house project effective, it is said, dates for all future events, where a conflict with others would make a difference, should be filed with Mrs. Bogardus.

Trees, Growing Wild, May Turn Suburbs Into Jungle

People who count acres and trees tell us that Massachusetts is rapidly going, not to the dogs, but back into woods. A century ago more than half the Commonwealth was cleared. Now two-thirds of it, in spite of the increase in population, is covered with forest. And this gives us to think.

One of these days we'll all be pale wraiths, groping our way along woodland paths, having to go to city parking lots to glimpse the sun.

There are simple explanations for this trend. Subsistence farming isn't popular any more, and not so much wood is being cut for fuel. So those fields, cleared centuries ago with so much toil, are just growing trees.

More than that, in areas zoned for house lots of half an acre or more, the builders leave some of the trees and even plant more.

Where the developer builds 50 houses in what used to be a farmer's corn field, up go shade trees. The proud new owners plant trees, too, and in half a dozen years the place is too shady to grow radishes, and the experienced gardener will tell you that that's pretty dark.

What with crooked roads, widely spaced street lights, stone walls, hidden driveways and invisible street numbers, visitors are going to have an increasingly hard time trying to find anybody in this part of the world.

It's going to require extra attention to children, too. Before long the bush will be so thick toddlers will be getting lost 100 feet from their doors. The new model baby sitter will come equipped with compass and Boy Scout ax.

People concerned with conservation may suddenly realize, some day, that they have been successful to a degree they never imagined. Where, with admirable foresight, they planned to save pieces of the wildwood, they may find that jungle has sprung up in places they didn't expect.

The more houses get built, the fewer open spaces and the more trees.

Every new school house, even, seems to have a patch of woods on its premises.

These trees aren't much good when cut down, either, because not many possess more than a dozen or so, and the market for logs in one-dozen lots is small. So they'll stay there until they fall down.

That's a problem which will arise in time, too. Everybody thinks of a tree a foot thick and 80 feet tall as a permanent arrangement. Not so. Every tree which goes up has to come down. The tree which doesn't get blown down in a hurricane will finally fall down from old age, unless it is taken down first.

Thus all of surburbia may eventually return to a state of nature. All the ranch type houses will be flattened by falling trees, and all the people will move back into the city, where the electricity doesn't quit every time there's a thunder shower or a snow storm.

The tree surgeons, already important, will get to be in as much demand as television repair men.

The roadside trees will grow together over the top of every highway, which will look like a tunnel of love.

Along with the return of the woods will be a return of wild animals. The view out the picture window will feature the deer and the antelope at play, with maybe moose and bear. This will be a change from the present situation, in which all one can see from a picture window is the traffic on the state road or maybe another picture window.

The next great conservation measure may be the clearing of certain areas, so the children can see what grass used to look like. Attendance at football and baseball games may be prescribed as a treatment for claustrophobia induced by living shut in by oaks and pines. And this forest living may be a safety measure, because the enemy pilot flying over isn't going to waste his bomb by dropping it on what's obviously a wilderness.

Thus, in an unexpected and unplanned way, man will once more be living in surroundings like those of his prehistoric ancestors. And it all comes about because somebody once said, not realizing that he was lighting a fuse, "Woodman, spare that tree!" ---DBW.

WESTON -- Weston Girl Scouts of Troop 16 had such a wonderful time on their camping trip last June that they took advantage of wonderful September camping weather. Fifteen girls of the troop were accompanied to Otter River State Forest over a weekend by their leader, Mrs. Inglis Wetmore and Mr. Wetmore. Mr. Robert Marsh and Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacLeod, who went as counselors, report that one of the biggest satisfactions in setting up camp with the girls was their tremendous enthusiasm. The girls were the second group of Weston girls to use the new, large tents that the Girl Scout Council has recently purchased.

The troop was accompanied by Miss Susan Derby who was fulfilling work on her Senior Scout five point pin and aided the group in cook-out and camping techniques.

SHORT TAKES WAYLAND

The Wayland High School class of 1909 held its 49th reunion at Red Coach Grill in Marlboro on Sept. 21. Five of the original nine in the class are alive, and four attended the reunion. These were James O'Brien of Essex, Margaret Ward Kenney of Waltham and William A. Loker and Ernest Lawrence of Cochituate. The two living teachers, Louise Thacher of Yarmouthport and Mrs. Abby Burns Kelley of Brockton, also attended, as did Dr. James Kelley, Mrs. Kelley's husband, and Mrs. William Loker. This was the 12th annual reunion. For the 50th reunion, new year, one of the teachers will be hostess. Mrs. Kenney was the hostess this year. . .

There's a pair of eye glasses (half lense) with light colored tortoise shell frames, found in the parking area last February, at the switchboard in the Wayland Town Building . . .

Jack Wilson and Ed Thorburn, Kiwanians who are members of the School Building Committee, will lead a discussion of the high school building problem at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland . . .

George K. Lewis, Wayland Water Commissioner, says workmen struck water on the site when building the new standpipe on Reeves Hill, highest piece of land in Town. But the water was full of iron, from pockets of rusty sand on the hill, and thus wouldn't have been any good anyway. Arrangements were made to drain it off. . .

Headline in last week's Crier said eight out of 10 ducks shot in Sudbury marshes are lost. Should have said what the story did, that eight are lost for every 10 shot and recovered. Incidentally, fishermen report that the Sudbury River is much cleaner and that fishing in it has improved greatly . . .

First color began to show in the maples last week . . .

Wayland girls enrolled at Wheelock College in Boston this year are Miss Donna Herland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Herland of 201 Old Connecticut Path; Miss Martha W. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaston Smith Jr., 7 Parmenter Road, and Miss Jean Wesley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wesley, 99 Oxbow Road. . .

In Case Of Emergency:

The best thing to do when there is an emergency in the home and a doctor cannot be reached immediately, says Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin of Wayland, is to call the dispatcher at the Town Building.

The dispatcher has a list of names and telephone numbers of all physicians practising nearby. Moreover, both Wayland Fire and Police Departments have vehicles which can be used as ambulances in cases of emergency.

The first effort, says the Chief, should be to call the family doctor.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts Medical Society says that in some larger cities, including metropolitan Boston, a person may call the telephone operator, tell her it's an emergency and get help from a hospital.

In suburban areas, where there are fewer hospitals and fewer doctors, says the Medical Society man, there is often an arrangement by which one physician stays on duty while the others in the community are getting the time off they need. In Wayland, said this spokesman, one might call the Leonard Morse Hospital, Natick, if no doctor can be found at once, and in Weston, one might call the Waltham Hospital.

"The doctors are working themselves to death," this spokesman added. He suggested that if one is in real trouble, he should be sure to use the word "Emergency" when calling for help.

Local authorities have found that there is a problem around here, where many newcomers have not established relationship with a family physician and don't know just whom to call in time of crisis.

Paul L. Young

WAYLAND -- Paul L. Young, 34, of 41 Concord Road, a Wayland resident for the past eight years, died suddenly on Saturday evening, Sept. 27, of a coronary occlusion, Medical Examiner Dr. J. Harry McCann found.

He leaves his wife, Ruth (Guarante) Young, and a brother, Earl W. Young of Boston. He was a graduate of Watertown High School and he was chief engineer for the Bettinger Corporation of Waltham.

He was stricken shortly after 9 p.m. Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin says the dispatcher on duty in the Fire Station called 10 different physicians before a Natick doctor was found to come to the scene, others could not be reached. Meanwhile, Wayland firemen and police used the resuscitator until an ambulance crew came from Leonard Morse Hospital in Natick. Oxygen was administered to Mr. Young on the way, but the report is that he was dead on arrival.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held at the Francis J. Joyce and Son funeral home in Waltham at 11 a.m. Oct. 1, with interment in Mt. Feake Cemetery, Waltham.

Wider Pupil Participation In Community Life Is Suggested By Dr. Shaw

WESTON -- The present high school student activities program should be expanded to include projects "to provide opportunity for real participation in many aspects of community life -- in political, civic, cultural, welfare and service agencies," said Dr. Archibald B. Shaw, superintendent of schools in Scarsdale, N. Y., in the Sept. 29 session on high school curriculum study.

Dr. Shaw was the third speaker in a series intended to give Weston residents a better idea of what they want in the proposed new high school. The lectures, all by prominent educators, have been giving Weston people a pretty fair course in modern educational thought.

"I believe," said Dr. Shaw, "that one of the crucial problems of communities and their high schools springs from the radical changes in our society -- which isolated adolescent youth from the real productive, challenging world of adults."

He said it is impossible to achieve concensus on a basic philosophy of education. But he believes there must be a citizen agreement as to the kind of high school the community wants. He said he thinks of the school as a "youth-serving and community-serving institution which takes the lead in guiding youth from dependent childhood into participating adulthood."

He contrasted the bad education, derived from pseudo self government, to the good educational values to be had from self government whose scope and power have been clearly defined with the help of the faculty.

Next Monday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. Dr. Nils Wessell, president of Tufts University, will speak at the Country School Auditorium on the role of the "humanities" in the high school curriculum. All residents of the Town are invited.

'Maugus', An Old Hand Tub, On Exhibition In Wayland

All the Sudbury Town records have recently been put on microfilm. Those are Wayland records, up to a point.

WAYLAND -- A hand-pumped fire engine of 1876 is on display in Wayland's new Fire Headquarters in observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 - 11, Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin has announced. Loaned by its Wellesley owners, Charles L. Hanks and John H. Sullivan, the "Maugus" will spend the winter in Wayland and visitors are welcome to see this relic of the days when fire fighting depended on muscle power.

Now beautifully restored, the "Maugus" was originally built for Peabody, Mass., by the L. Button Co. of Waterford, N. Y. It was named the "S. C. Bancroft" while in Peabody. With the advent of steam pumping, the tub was sold to the George F. Burgess Fire Company of Rockport, Maine, where its best record was shooting a stream of water 221 feet.

Called a "hand tub" because it relies entirely on manpower for its pumping, this proud old machine has room for a crew of 50 or more men on its hand rails, or brakes. With a foreman to direct the action, a hardworking crew can build up as much pressure as a modern fire engine, but human endurance is limited to a short turn at the grueling pace required.

One old timer recalled that in order to enter a muster, or pumping competition, in Portland, Maine, the tub was transported by steamer from Rockport to Portland. In order to get back on the boat in time for the return trip, the tub and its crew had to leave before all the other tubs had finished pumping, and it was not until they arrived home that they heard they had won first prize.

In 1955 it was purchased by its present owners and the job of restoring it after years of disuse was begun. It was rechristened "Maugus", the name of an Indian chief who lived in the area which is now Wellesley. Interested friends formed the Wellesley Veteran Fireman's Association and helped in the work of refinishing and replacing worn-out parts. The group now belongs to the N. E. League of Veteran Firemen, sponsors of the musters held during the summers to keep the old pumping rivalry alive. The crew of Hydrant No. 3, Holliston's hand tub, have provided great assistance in transporting the "Maugus" to a demonstration in Holliston, a parade and muster in Hopkinton, and to winter quarters in Wayland.

Local members of the W.V.F.A. are: Philip Gladu, George Johnson, Wayland; William Sherburne, Weston; William Glebus, William Patton, Harold McCormick, William McCormick, Natick; Arthur E. Flieger, Wayland and Chief Hartin, Wayland.

It is hoped that through study and discussion at regular P.T.A. meetings this program may benefit the children of the school.

The organization also hopes to expand the after-school activities project which was inaugurated last year. To aid in the organization of the program a talent survey was distributed to all families in the school. ## Scouters' Round-up

WESTON -- Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, is sponsoring a Scouters' Round-up for adult scouters, fathers of scouts, and adult friends of the scouting movement. It will be held October 4 and 5 at the 500-acre Nobscot Scout Reservation in Framingham, according to Mr. Arthur Menard, Council President.

This Scouters' Round-up will be a get-together of men of all ages and backgrounds, from the Newton, Wellesley and Weston area, who are interested in, or connected with, the Scouting movement. Several hundred men are expected.

The Council has planned a wide range of activities to suit every man's taste. Camping, fishing, archery, rifle shoots, hiking, and a campfire songfest are a few of the events scheduled. Mr. Menard promises "wonderful grub, good beds in comfortable cabins, and a program of fun and fellowship...plus the opportunity to see where and how the Boy Scouts do some of their weekend camping and meeting the men with whom they do it."

A charge of $5.00 per person will cover all costs: three meals, lodging, and all supplies. To insure reservations, the Norumbega Council, BIgelow 4-7410, should be contacted before September 15.

If at first you don't succeed, you're running about average.

WAYLAND -- In the latest hula-hoop contest at Shoppers World, two of the five finalists, Mariene Michalski 11, of Haven Lane, and Diane Roever, 10, of Juniper Lane, were awarded cameras for their performances. Mariene's mother thinks that the girls, who twirled their hoops for a total of 3 hours and 20 minutes, probably reached a total of 25,000 spins. One youngster, who dropped her hoop 20 minutes before time was called on account of the late hour, was clocked at 23,780. Diane right, above, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Roever and is in the 5th grade at Happy Hollow School. Due to commitments in other parts of the Commonwealth, some of those seeking legislative office have been unable to accept the invitation.

Tip On Foliage Viewing

The Massachusetts Department of Agriculture suggests that those riding out to see the Fall foliage might plan their trips so that they will be riding from West to East in the afternoon. From 3 p.m. to sunset, it says, the slanting rays of the sun seem to bring out the colors best.

Besides, one riding from East to West at the time would have the sun in his eyes, anyway.

Letters to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

In view of many questions being asked by interested citizens about the new elementary school, a postscript seems indicated to the article In last Friday's Crier giving a little background.

Before the appropriation for the school was voted last spring, the question of timing of the building of an auditorium for it was fully discussed: should it be built as part of the 12-classroom first stage or should it be postponed until the building of the second stage by which an additional eight rooms will be added a few years hence? It was explained that the "auditorium" would in fact be a simple assembly room having half the capacity of the Country School auditorium, with a simple stage.

The School Committee favored including it as part of the first stage to ensure fully adequate facilities comparable to the other elementary schools and because it seemed likely that it would cost less now rather than later. The Building Committee and the Finance Committee disagreed and the Town voted not to add $60,000 to the initial appropriation in order to build it now.

The Building Committee then sought approval of its plans by the School Building Assistance Commission, whose approval is necessary to secure the substantial state contribution toward the building cost. The Commission felt as did the School Committee (and, as far as the School Committee knows, entirely independently) that even a 12-classroom school should have two large spaces for physical education and assembly purposes. Therefore, when the bids for the first stage of the school were solicited, the auditorium space was included as an alternate.

When the bids were opened, it appeared that the low bid was low enough so that, while close, the auditorium could be built now within the appropriation voted by the Town. The Building Committee, however, felt bound by the vote of the Town and rejected the alternate bid, having persuaded the Commission that a movable stage and chairs in the gymnasium area would get by as a temporary expedient.

Thus there will be no auditorium or separate assembly space now, which we regret, but the architect's plans now provide for one to be built with the second stage of the school, so ultimately we expect the new school to be thoroughly comparable to the Country School in educational facilities.

In the meantime our thanks to the Building Committee for all their labors to date in bringing the school to the point of ground breaking.

Very truly yours,
John G. Brooks
Chairman, Weston
School Committee

Those 'Simple Directions'

The other day a local citizen had his attention directed to the labels on fertilizer bags, which are ordinarily of interest only to the manufacturer or another fertilizer bag, and it made him think.

On those labels they tell how much is nitrogen, carbohydrates, inert matter, boron, moron, trace elements, phosphorus, bosphorus and strontium 90. The easy part, from the purchaser's standpoint, is that he doesn't have to pay any attention to it. He just takes the stuff out and throws it on the ground and lol up comes a crop of weeds.

But those other misguiding directions people print!

Another local character recently purchased one of those radios which will wake one up in the morning to the rhythm of the commercial for the Sweetheart's Clutch Loan Agency. All he looked at was the front of it, which is all anybody ever does. But a few weeks later he had a look at the back of it in a strong light, and know what it said?

"Don't stick your fingers in the works of this thing or you'll be sorry."

So with the directions for assembling the kitchen stool.

As always, the manufacturer describes these directions as simple. To make it even simpler, he encloses a faded diagram of the Eiffel Tower, without the bomb recently planted in it, although he might as well put the bomb in.

The maker says this stool is a pretty handy thing to have around the house. It's shiny, it's all right to sit on while waiting for the morning coffee to get hot and it's safer for one's wife than the rocking chair she has been in the habit of standing on while changing burned out light bulbs.

So it comes in a big carton. Inside are long legs, connecting strips of metal, a seat and, most important, a paper bag containing nuts and bolts.

In this day of scientific accuracy there's no guess work. To put this stool together, exactly 64 nuts and bolts are required. Therefore that's exactly the number the maker provides. Never 65 or 66, to make allowance for the ones that get lost. But sometimes, to be sure, 63, just to make it harder, because these nuts and bolts are always of an odd size, not to be found in the household box of junk.

The directions say:

"Just line up A with B around the drumril, taking care to spot C upgrunt the linear angle underfrap the ringbolt and tighten with a wrench. Under no circumstance put the leg in a light socket without first putting on its rubber sock. . ." And so on.

In the first place, the author of the directions never learned to write clear English. In the second place, he uses a vocabulary unknown to the general public. In the shop of the Shortleg Furniture Company they know the meaning of their own pet terms, such as diskframe, fencil, gripknot, slotted barmish and cantilooped camberfish. But nobody else knows these words, and the earnest assembler gets lost the moment he hits the first of these bits of gibberish. In the third place, the author is a liar, because it's not easy to put the thing together.

The fundamental trouble, in putting together the kitchen stool or anything else which comes knocked down (and it should stay that way) is that they make each part in a different city, and the parts never quite fit.

There always comes a time, in assembling process, when nothing will make the thing go together except a hearty belt with the back of the ax.

This is bad, because one should never swing an ax in a fit of temper, and that's what one will be in by that time. And it's a shame to wallop the stool, when one really wants to belt the manufacturer, who's far away in Grand Rapids or some place, out in the Think Room cooking up some other shady deal, maybe the masterpiece, the grand piano shipped by express in little pieces, complete except for one leg and half the black keys, with directions for learning piano tuning at home in only six months.

Time was when artisans did their own work. Remember Laocoon, that ancient Greek group of serpents wound around men? How would you like to get that in the mail, disassembled, with simple directions and no tools except screwdriver, wrench and tire iron? - - - D.B.W.

Wayland Wins, Weston Ties

Weston supporters, by the looks, didn't know whether to be pleased or not, as Weston was tied by Bourne. Above is a crowd shot by Bill Bullock. (McCann Photo)

WESTON -- Weston made steady gains of 30 to 50 yards but something always seemed to stop the marches, and the football game of Oct. 4 with Bourne ended as a scoreless tie. The passing didn't work and, although Weston controlled the ball most of the way, the touchdown just didn't happen.

On Oct. 7, says Coach George R. Harris, the boys scrimmaged with Browne and Nichols, and looked much better. The attack had been revamped and it seemed improved.

The Saturday game this week is with Ashland at Ashland. Ashland has lost its first two games, 16 to 12 and 12 to 6. The Ashland coach this year is Frank Jacques, an old Weston High boy who has been at the University of Massachusetts.

The game starts at 2 p.m.

Wayland chalked up its 20th game in a row without a loss, downing a heavy Westboro team 20-6. Once again it was Dick Morris and Jerry Whelchel who scored.

Westboro fumbled on the first play of the game. One play later Whelchel swept around end to score. Harry Crump, Westboro's 205 pound tailback, tied the score early in the second period with a 6-yard slant off tackle. After the touchdown Westboro kicked off and Whelchel zigzagged 88 yards through the entire team to put Wayland ahead for good. Seconds before the half ended Morris plunged over from the 2 to complete the scoring.

The entire team played well defensively, as they contained the hard running single wing attack. Morris, Whelchel, Brewer, Devine and Sophomore Roy Bradley were outstanding on defense. Scott Bruce, playing his first game, ran well.

TOUCHDOWNS: Whelchel (2), Morris, Crump. P.A.T. Waldman (2-pass).

Enough baseball is enough.

School Committee Asks Larger Audiences For Weston Survey Speakers

WESTON -- Members of the School Committee would like to direct the Town's attention to the series of meetings on the general subject of a modern secondary school curriculum, being given each Monday evening at the Country School Auditorium, sponsored by the Weston High School Survey.

The meetings are open to all and the speakers are men distinguished in their fields. The speaker on Oct. 6 was Nils Y. Wessell, president of Tufts University, who gave solid suggestions on the place of the humanities in a high school.

What these speakers have been giving is a pretty fair course in modern education, and it is suggested that those who don't attend are missing something.

Next Monday evening, John B. Davis, executive secretary of the New England School Development Council will speak on "Guidance and Special Services".

All of these talks bear on what kind of education shall be provided in the proposed new Weston High School.

Weston H. S. Building Committee Is Checking Architects' Questionnaires

WESTON -- At its last meeting, the High School Building Committee devoted the time to a joint meeting with the Weston Finance Committee to discuss preliminary problems relating to the financing of the new High School.

Following this, the Committee continued its evaluation of the replies to its architects' questionnaire, which has been sent to more than 40 firms in the Boston area. The questionnaire was based on a suggested form from the American Institute of Architects. The Committee plans to hold personal interviews as soon as the architects' replies have been studied. They also plan to visit recently constructed high schools with a view to studying, but not necessarily adopting, the latest developments and innovations in school building construction.

An announcement regarding the selection of an architect is expected to be made within a few weeks.

WESTON -- The first meeting of the season of the Country Garden Club of Weston was held on Wednesday, Oct. 8 at the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Scott, 19 Orchard Ave. The speaker was Mrs. Sheldon C. Sommers, whose subject was "Winterizing Your Garden".

moment."

The election of 1956 was a warm one, in the course of which, and after which, Town politics were discussed and considered from a good many angles. It was a very close thing, as a difference of only 17 votes would have changed the result.

Mr. Cox, long active in Town affairs, is a professor of law at the Harvard Law School. Once upon a time, by appointment of the then President Truman, he served as chairman of the National Wage Stabilization Board. In Wayland, he has served as a member of the Board of Zoning Appeals, Assessor, chairman of the Personnel Board and chairman of the Committee on Town Government. He is listed in Who's Who in America.

Mr. McEnroy, a life long resident of the Town, has been active in local politics for many years. He has been a member of the Town Finance Committee and he ran unsuccessfully for Selectman once before his election. He is listed by the Town as a salesman.

In 1956, the vote was McEnroy 1301, Cox 1268. Mr. McEnroy carried Precinct 2, the Cochituate end of Town, 846 to 416, and Mr. Cox carried Precinct 1, the Wayland end, 852 to 455.

In his announcement, Mr. Cox refers to the closed police station in Wayland's new Town Building. He says:

"The fiasco in the handling of fire and police communications last Summer, brought on by a majority of the Board of Selectmen, illustrates the unhealthy condition which has been developing for the past three years. I am convinced that a change is needed if we are to solve the serious problems which face Wayland during the coming years.

"Many friends in different parts of Town have asked whether I would be a candidate. I am making this announcement early in order to remove any uncertainty."

Wayland 4 H Notes

Mr. Larry Blanchard on Concord is the leader of a new 4H Floriculture Club which is meeting in his florist shop at 8 Main Street, Concord. This club is open to Wayland boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 15.

The Wayland 4H Horse Club held its first meeting and elected their officers. The new president is Elsie Schnelder, vice president Molly Gierasch, secretary Pat Palmer and treasurer Lynda Wheelock. The club is making plans for its annual gymkhana in which the Weston Horse Club will take part.

Foreign students have been invited and a program consistent with the ideals of the United Nations is planned. All are welcome.

The Weston United Nations Committee and the Weston Rombas Affiliation Committee are combining their efforts this year.

Weston LWV Candidates' Night Is Cancelled, Too

WESTON -- The Weston League of Women Voters regrets to announce that it has had the same candidate trouble that has plagued its sister Leagues, and must therefore cancel its Candidates Night scheduled for Oct. 21.

This meeting was to have been held in conjunction with the Waltham and Watertown Leagues at the Unitarial Church in Waltham.

(Some of the candidates declined to appear for the Wayland-Natick-Framingham Candidates' Night, so that such a meeting would not have had a non-partisan character. Therefore it was cancelled.)

Rep. DeNormandie Tells Why It Takes So Long To Get Wayland Bypass

The Post Road (Route 20) in Wayland and Sudbury should be rebuilt, for the most part, on a new location. This would provide the long needed by-pass for Wayland and also for South Sudbury.

The latter situation, while not at the moment as acute as Wayland, may soon be similar as Raytheon develops its new plant on the site of the old Hood Farm. This will ultimately mean part or all of 10 miles of road from the Wayside Inn to Weston should be relocated or rebuilt.

It has been suggested by a candidate for office that an overpass through Wayland Center would be a progressive step and allow the town to develop as Natick and Framingham have and that the Town should not worry too much about sentimental appearances. It is obvious that such a proposal would destroy Wayland and fail to meet the needs involved. It also illustrates what happens if our towns are represented by people who fail to understand even remotely their problems. The location always considered has been to the south of the old cemetery on Cochituate Road.

There is approximately $6,000,000. available annually for the entire state for roads in the Route 20 category. This shows how difficult it is for the Department of Public Works to meet all of the needs that exist. It also illustrates why our only hope lies in breaking down the total job into parts that can fit a

Planning New High School

Republican Finance Drive

Those who may have been overlooked may make checks payable to Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee and send them to Mr. Wilson, Old Connecticut Path.

Wayland 34, Scituate 0

WAYLAND -- Coach Ralph Salvati cleared the bench and the second, third, and fourth stringers played the last period, as Wayland romped to an impressive 34-0 victory over Scituate on Oct. 11. The defense was stubborn, holding the visitors to minus 12 yards in the second half. Co-Cap. Joe Devine broke up many plays and Jerry Whelchel and Dick Morris stood out offensively.

it was chilly at the ball game. Above, little Patty Ann Hollett is being kept warm by Janet Archer.

Jerry Whelchel

It was Scituate which tied Wayland, 14-14, last year, to interrupt a string of Wayland victories which has been running since the middle of the 1955 season. The 1956 team was unbeaten and untied, the 1957 team was unbeated but tied once. This year's team has now won three straight. The Oct. 18 game is with Maynard.

New Public Information Group Formed In Weston

WESTON -- The School Committee has initiated the creation of a branch committee, new to Weston, under the chairmanship of John M. Lord. Named the Public Information Committee, its purpose will be to act as a liaison between the School Committee and the citizens of the Town.

The new committee is not yet complete, but at present its members are Mrs. Jean R. Byrne, J. Manton Bradley, Theodore Jones, Mrs. Dudley B. Hartung, School Committeeman Stephen H. Tyng and Mr. Lord.

Other Towns have citizen advisory boards which act as a sounding-board for the local School Committee. Last Summer the Weston School Committee decided that some such group could help it to serve the Town more effectively, and asked Mr. Lord to form one.

The members of the Public Information Committee will be glad to receive opinions from citizens at any time.

Letters to the EDITOR

Mr. Waldron Will Not Run

To the Editor:

The question recently having been put to me a number of times and a prompt response perhaps being in order, I write to say that I shall not seek a third term on the Wayland School Committee in the elections next winter.

I am grateful to all my townsmen for the honor of representing them on the Committee over the six years ending in March. The work has certainly been strenuous - but also interesting and in many ways singularly gratifying. Especially am I thankful for rewarding associations with my Committee colleagues present and past, with the able, loyal staff of our School Department, and with many thoughtful, public-spirited officials and residents of the Town.

Wayland's tradition of non-partisan election to and disinterested service on the School Committee has, I believe, contributed much to the steady development of our schools. We surely should - and, I am confident, we shall - continue to recognize and support that tradition.

Yours faithfully,
William A. Waldron

Thank You Letter

To the Editor (Copy):

Ames 307, Cambridge 38, Mass.

Mrs. Beatrice Von Mertens
44 Oak Street, Weston, Mass.
Dear Mrs. Von Mertens:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and the nice people of Weston for a wonderful weekend. The experience I had in your beautiful town - the gay and friendly atmosphere, the square dancing, the walk through colored foliage, and others - will be long remembered. I had a pleasant and enjoyable stay with the Harnishes and they are such a lovely couple with lovely children.

To be frank about it, this was my first real stay with an American family. It brought out several interesting aspects of American community life and it leaves me more desirous in learning more of the American people. In the course of time, this will bring about better understanding among peoples of the world.

Your project is a very laudable one. I wondered at first why you and your friends had to go through all this trouble of bringing together foreign students to your community. Now I see the true meaning of the interests involved. More Power to you and the community of Weston.

Thank you again for the opportunity to meet and make friends. It has been a real pleasure to be there on October 4 and 5.

Very sincerely yours,
Rafael Y. Punay

Dear Mr. Smith:

I just wanted to take this opportunity to tell you how much we appreciated the very fine job your auxillary policemen did in directing the traffic in front of St. Julia's Church last Sunday.

It certainly was a pleasure to drive down, and be able to drop our children off at Sunday School in safety and to get in and out of the parking lot with a minimum of inconvenience.

Your men did an excellent job, and we want to say "thanks".

Sincerely,
Mrs. Edward A. Mooers

Ma Beams, Pa Yawns, And You Can't Even See Baby

The cover picture on the current issue of a big woman's niagazine is part of the plot.

It shows a young couple leaning over a bassinet. Only the rear of the bassinet's hood is shown, so the observer can't tell how many heads the baby has.

The mother is wearing a pinkish robe. Her hair is tied in a pony tail with a ribbon, to show she's young. Her hair is slightly reddish, to show that there is spice in her. And she's just plain beaming at the infant which, supposedly, is there in the bassinet.

Behind her stands the husband. He is wearing a heavy bathrobe, nondescript. His hand is in front of his mouth, because he is yawning. In his other hand he's holding a nursing bottle.

The intent of the picture is plain. It's to show womanhood at its finest, breathing love and pride all over a little child at 2 or maybe 4 o'cloch in the morning, while a glum male just stands there with his big mouth open. This pretty picture is, obviously, part of the grand scheme of the 20th century, the downgrading of man. (Not, of course, that he doesn't rate it.)

But let's take some further looks at this picture.

If Mother is having such a swell time beaming on the baby, why is Father in the picture at all? Why doesn't she let him sleep, so he'll be in shape for a hard day at the pickle works tomorrow, while she has herself a ball feeding little Buster, who doesn't care who feeds him?

Moreover, there is work here for the psychiatrists.

People have been known to smile at 2 or 4 o'clock in the morning, but generally because they've been up all night and have reached a condition in which everything seems unbearably funny. Or, sometimes, sad, as in the case of those who break their hearts thinking about horses and how they stand out there in the pasture all day long, with nobody to whinny to.

But never, it may be said flatly, is there any legitimate reason to smile, let alone beam, at 4 a.m., provided one has just been roused from sleep.

It is permissible for a fond mother to beam at her child, especlally if it's her first one and lsn't yet old enough for its undesirable characteristics to appear.

But to beam at the 2 a.m. feeding? There's no escaping the suspicion that this mother's pretty robe is tied because she doesn't have enough buttons.

Or maybe she's really pretty smart.

Is it possible that her beaming is a kind of boasting, a way of calling attention to her remarkable merit in having such a child? (Still supposing there is a child in that bassinet, not a mink jacket or a sick cat.) And what do you suppose that's going to cost the man?

What's wrong in this picture is that there are two persons in it, not counting whatever is in the bassinet.

Anybody who ever fed a baby at 2 a.m. knows that it's strictly a one-person job. When one person ls doing the job, anybody else who's present but just sitting around is only an irritation.

Imagine that Father has been elected to do this 2 a.m. feeding.

Mother gets up, too, let's say, to keep him company. While he works, she entertains him with conversation. A short lecture on the newer poets, perhaps, or some selections from the agenda of the League of Women Voters, program of 1948. Or constructive criticism of the way Pa is handling Buster. Or an exhortation on Facing Facts.

Facing Facts, let it be noted, is the grimmest household exercise in the world. In its slmplest form it consists of additlon and subtraction, an obvious demonstration, by means of arithmetic, that one just can't afford to live on this scale any longer. No doubt it's all right to Face Facts now and then, although it's a crummy pastime, but 2 a.m. is no time for it.

To repeat, that innocent looking picture really reflects a sinister trend. It represents woman as an angel and man as a bum. Men of the world, unite. Don't let artists and women make bums out of you. Make bums out of yourselves. You can do it.--D.B.W.

Assisting Mrs. Wilson are Mrs. Thomas Barrows, Mrs. Francis Brooks, Mrs. Benjamin Ferris, Mrs. Philip Trumbull and Mrs. John Wells.

The Children's Room, with Mrs. Philip Gordon in charge, will bring together everything for youngsters to buy themselves: penny candy, cookies, nearly new toys, children's books and grabs. Mrs. Gordon Farr is chairman of the food sales committee, while Mrs. Sheldon Fisher is taking charge of book sales for grownups. Mrs. Jerome Hunsaker is arranging the "white elephant" sales and Mrs. George Emery the plant corner, which will include house plants of all varieties, bulbs, and bittersweet.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Magoun and Mrs. Donald Klein are setting up the midway of games and contests. Mrs. James Silin is arranging the pony rides.

Mrs. June Martin will serve luncheon at noon. Hamburgers and hot dogs will be available throughout the day.

Weston Tuberculin Tests

WESTON -- "Just a pin prick," says Margaret Pink, as Dr. David H. Reid administers her Mantoux tuberculin test. Looking on are Jimmy Sgrol and Barbara Johnson, with Mrs. Jane Hosterman, R.N. More than 450 Weston children in grades 1, 4, 8, and 12 were tested recently to find out whether or not tuberculosis germs had entered their bodies. The Weston School Department and Board of Health cooperated with the Middlesex Health Association, county Christmas Seal agency, to provide this screening program.

Library Should Be Big Enough To Hold 10 Per Cent of School's Pupils'

WESTON -- Schools were closed last Monday, Oct. 13, but parents and teachers worked Monday evening just the same. Many members of the High School Survey groups hurried back from vacation jaunts to hear Mr. John Davis, Executive Secretary of the New England School Development Council, speak on guidance, physical education and special services.

Mr. Davis suggested, even urged, that the school provide the equivalent of one full time guidance director for each 300 students and that a ratio of one director to each 200 students is more likely to provide good counseling service. He said that, though there is much recent demand to find and to properly educate gifted children, the schools are doing a better job with the gifted than with their less fortunate school fellows.

On the subject of physical education Mr. Davis urged a program that would give every student an opportunity to acquire athletic skills useful to him after graduation. This probably means an expanded intramural athletic program.

Among the school's special services are those provided by the school library. A satisfactory school library should be large enough to accommodate 10 per cent of the school population and should provide space for both group work and individual study. This kind of service can be provided only in a group of rooms.

Mr. Davis, as well as some of the other speakers heard in the series, pointed out that more and more the school and other community activities form an integrated pattern of student and adult activities.

Next Monday evening, Oct. 20, the survey group will hear Dr. Austin McCaffery, executive secretary of the American Textbook Publisher's Institute. Dr. Mc Caffery will speak on the fine arts, practical arts, and vocational studies. All Weston citizens are welcome. Meetings are held in the Country School auditorium. -- R.T.W.

state-wide program and finally in being everlastingly persistent with the Department about our own district's needs.

I can personally testify, that I, as your Representative, and Senators Olson and Hays have worked closely to accomplish this much needed improvement but that to date the Department has felt that the limited funds available had to be spent on more imperative needs. It has been my hope that a location might be decided upon and the land taken to avoid ever higher costs as the years go by and the inevitable construction develops along the route.

Politically, this sort of businesslike approach is difficult to follow because land takings lack the glamour of actual highway construction. So, in practice, every administration puts off even the beginning of a new highway until the need is acute and then pushes through the whole job: planning, land takings and construction as one project.

The excuse is given that even expensive land takings are but a fraction of the total highway costs. However, here is one of those areas where highway planning would save millions, ultimately, while at the same time give advance notice to the towns involved of the location of new roads so that their local planning could really be sound. The obvious benefits to be derived from close cooperation between Wayland and Sudbury and the state are apparent in this particular area and on this particular stretch of road. -- James DeNormandie.

FOOTBALL

Wayland scored late in the second period when a 40-yard pass to Morris put the ball on the 3, whence Morris took it over. In the third period Dave Furst recovered a fumble and Whelchel scored from the 1. Whelchel then made the run of the day as he returned a punt 85 yards for a tally behind some fierce blocking. A 40-yard pass from Whelchel to Haywood made the score 28-0. In the last quarter, Co-Capt. Dick Brewer covered 51 yards as he carried the ball 7 plays in succession to wind up the scoring.

Junior Church Of First Parish Starts 2nd Year

WAYLAND -- The Junior Church of Wayland's First Parish Church, now open for its second year, is unlike Sunday School in that the participating youngsters, aged 9 and up, take full responsibility for the functioning of their church.

The only part handled by adults is the weekly sermon and readings, delivered by Dr. Dan Huntington Fenn. Everything else, from flowers to music, is handled by the junior members. Each service, this year based on the teachings of St. Paul, is followed by discussion groups.

This year the adult leaders, under the direction of James Flanagan, are John Quinn, Robert Schultz, Dunbar Holmes, James Richardson, Foster Abbott, George K. Lewis, Jack Teger and Henry M. Pearson and Dr. Howard Jenkins.

The concept behind such a church - one of five in Massachusetts, three of which were founded by Dr. and Mrs. Fenn - is to teach children the meaning of church and religion by sending them to their own church. There are only two rules: no adult fills in for a child's responsibility (except in case of illness) and parents may not force their children to attend.

The junior heads of the church this year: parish committee; Clare Gregory, Molly Glerasch, Robert Kenyon, Anne Pearson, Charles Woodard, Susan Mohl; music committee: Marie Hall, Leaf Pearson, Theo Parker; head of ushers: Bruce Abbott; in charge of bells: Eric Jones; hymn numbers: Kim Teger; hymn books; Sheila Foster; flowers; Elizabeth Stokey; attendance: Sarah Gregory.

The idea of a junior church is not new. Joseph Barnard started one in Boston 100 years ago. Twenty years later, a Lutheran minister started one in Hamburg, Germany. More recently, Vivian Pomeroy, a famous English Unitarian, started one in Milton that is still in operation. Weston started its Junior Church this year.

Having their own special service is not limited to older children. Mrs. Walter B. Parker, in charge of religious education for the younger children of the church has a junior-junior service during the regular Sunday School hours. Junior Church is every Sunday at 9:30. Sunday School is during regular church services, at 11.

Town Gets First Look At Complete High School Plans-- Price Tag On Impressive Set Of Buildings Is $2,300,000

The sketch above of the proposed new Wayland High School, the first to be made publicly available, is said to be actually somewhat out of proportion. The site, the present Arthur Schofield farm on the North side of Old Connecticut Path, contains 90 acres, of which 70 acres are high enough above the river level to be usable. The buildings will not, of course, take up as large a proportion of 70 acres as they seem to in this picture. Sketch may be of interest in Weston, too, where committees are also at work on plans for a new High School. By coincidence, both Towns have same problem at the same time.

WAYLAND -- If the plans which the School Building Committee is advocating are approved by the Town, and the funds for executing them appropriated, the new high school may be ready for use by the fall of 1960. It will be a pulled together campus-type group of five educational administrative units on a 545-foot plaza, flanked by a circular physical education center, or cage, 204 feet in diameter. It will be big enough for 850 students, with planned expansibility for up to 1200.

In it the educational program now being followed can be carried on, with flexibility enough for the incorporation of new ideas and teaching facilities when this is wanted. The total project cost, including site development, fees and contingency reserves, and furnishings and equipment, is expected to amount to about $2,300,000.

In one of two meetings sponsored by the high school P.T.A. last week, the Building Committee discussed its recommendations at the Cochituate school auditorium before about 125 teachers and parents. Allan Finlay, Douglas Surgenor and John Wilson represented the Committee; Mr. Harkness was there for the architects. Architects

Thanks To New Red Tights, Bermuda Shorts All Winter

Back in the bad old days 100 years ago, when a good son would hold the lantern, as the song relates, while his mother chopped the wood, getting ready for Winter around here was a big chore.

They had to get the cattle into the barn, which was often 10 degrees warmer than the open range, and set up a couple of extra stoves inside the house. They had to wipe the dust off the flatiron which they would take to bed nights to warm their feet, and they had to fill the cellar with beets, squash and turnips for Winter food.

That's probably why these vegetables are not so popular now. People had enough, generations ago.

Then they had to bank the house with sawdust or old Christmas trees and sew the children into their long underwear. Speaking of the latter, many now living can remember the embarrassment of having long johns which always make a lump under the stocking just at the shoe top. No matter how carefully they were tucked inside the shoe top, they were always out in public half an hour later.

But getting ready for Winter isn't so bad nowadays, especially since the recent invention of those long garments which bid fair to make Bermuda shorts year-round wear. Only a year ago--it was Dec. 19, to be exact--the last Bermuda shorts of the season were seen on a local street. This year there will be no end to the season, because long tights have been developed to wear under them.

Wheras last December the knees were blue, this year they'll probably be red.

Otherwise, about all anybody has to do to get ready for Winter is to close the windows, thus keeping inside the last housefly of Summer, who will be around until January.

Of course, on the morning after the first really cold night he'll have to go to the garage to explain why he forgot to put in the anti-freeze.

There'll be some fallen leaves he ought to rake up. But raking is hard work, and there's an easier way. The prudent householder, choosing a day of high wind, will go into his yard with a light rake, with which he will merely agitate his leaves. The wind will then take them and blow them into the next yard, which surrounds the home of a gardener who will no doubt be grateful for the leaves as a useful addition to his compost pile. Or he may be a pyromaniac, who'll welcome fresh fuel for his smouldering leaf fire. Or he may even be a slob who just doesn't care.

There's no food to store away, except perhaps a few extra canned goods, for use when the electricity fails in the first snow storm. The supermarket has olives or, if one prefers, small onions, at all seasons.

One doesn't even have to buy a hat. Earlier generations, not as tough as the present one, wore fur caps and caps with flaps which covered the ears.

Now young men and some old ones go bareheaded, no matter the weather. It may freeze their brains, but it doesn't show. And anyway, nobody's going to be out in the weather, except long enough to get from the parking space into the building.

Many do, of course, like to wipe off the telephone in November, because it's going to be in somebody's hands all the time until June, and there's no sense in risking germs.

But Winter is nothing nowadays. All one needs is snow tires, a reliable man to come around with a plow, a schedule that keeps one from Route 128 in blizzards and an auxiliary heating system. Why, days may go by without the temperature dropping to 25 below or 18 inches of snow falling overnight. And Winter doesn't last so long, anyway. What was the date of that last frost, a few years ago, the one which cleaned the leaves off the trees? May 24?---D.B.W.

WAYLAND -- The Democratic Town Committee of Wayland has planned a series of coffee hours for the evening of Oct. 27. These will be for the purpose of offering Democratic candidates an opportunity to meet Wayland voters informally. The candidates planning to attend are Harold D. Donohue, Representative from the 4th Congressional District; James O'Dea, District Attorney of Middlesex County; John V. Harvey, Register of Probate; Tom Barnicle, candidate for State Senator; and Dick White, candidate for State Representative.

Four simultaneous coffee hours are scheduled. The candidates will rotate so that each will cover all four meeting places during the course of the evening.

Gov. Furcolo, who will not be able to attend, is sending a tape recording.

John Handrahan Is The New Wayland Kiwanis President

WAYLAND -- New President of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland, elected at the Oct. 14 meeting, is John W. Handrahan of 23 Lake Road. Vice presidents are Herb Fisher and Larry Powell, treasurer is Larry Cook and directors, for two years, are Walter Cheslak, Ray Handrahan, Dom Strazzulla and Jackson Turner.

300 Volunteers Enrolled For Wayland UF Campaign

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Francis J. Cassidy, Wayland United Fund chairman, announces that the enrollment of nearly 300 volunteer workers is nearing completion. Division Chairmen are as follows: Francis J. Cassidy, administration; Jackson Turner, general business; Mrs. David C. Gabriel, worker information; Edward C. Mendler, Jr., publicity; and Clinton W. Lee, residential. District Directors are Mrs. Royal Graves, Warren R. Bolton, Miss Leila Sears, Robert W. Charlton, Mrs. A. Brandon Delaney and Miss Ena Tillson.

Residential door to door and general business solicitation begins on Oct. 26. Solicitors will call on every house in town, but those who have given at their places of business are not expected to give again. Mrs. Cassidy points out that it is important to determine how many residents give at their businesses and where so that eventually the UF will be able to eliminate duplicate soliciting with consequent savings in collection costs.

The UF is a collection agency for the 279 Red Feather services, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Arthritis and Rheumatism, Mental Health, Medical Foundation, USO, Diabetes Society, Cerebral Palsy, and Myasthenia Gravis. The member agencies set their own budgets and administer their own share of the funds as in the past.

The Wayland Red Cross is now in the United Fund and will not conduct a separate campaign. No dollar quota has been set for Wayland or other Towns, but Mrs. Cassidy states that substantially increased contributions are hoped for this year: "One gift for the 288 major charitable organizations serving Wayland and all of Greater Boston should represent at least the sum of each individual's gifts to the separate agencies in the past."

Wayland Republicans Will Hold Thanksgiving Dance

WAYLAND -- Plans for the coming Thanksgiving Eve dinner dance on Nov. 26, sponsored by the Republican Town Committee, at Ten Acres, were discussed at a committee meeting held at the home of W. Paul Moorhead Oct. 20.

Once again tickets will be $8 per couple. Tickets and reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Nathaniel Cannistraro, EL 8-2129. This year the dance will be limited to 225 couples so all reservations will be handled in order taken, and tickets must be ordered and paid for before Nov. 21.

Dinner will be served this year from 7:30 to 9:30, with dancing from 9 to 1, and of course dress is optional.

Ten Acres will again be for the exclusive use of the Republican Town Committee dance on this evening. Last year approximately 450 attended and the party proved to be successful financially, as well as being the first town wide social affair of its type in many years.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL PLANS

Collaborative, and Mr. Anderson spoke as Superintendent of Schools. Written questions were handed in and answered either in the presentation or afterwards by a Committee member best qualified to do so.

The method proposed for financing this largest undertaking which the Town has ever embarked on is to spread the appropriations over a three-year period: $1,000,000 late in 1958, a second million late in 1959, and the final $300,000 chunk in 1960. In this way, the impact of such a big expenditure will be offset by the constantly increasing valuation of the Town, so that the figure for school building debt (which this year is $7.13 out of a $69.00 tax rate) will go to about $10 in 1959 and to $10.50 in 1960 and then start to drop. This is a net increase in two years of about $3.50 instead of the $6.60 which could be expected if the entire amount were appropriated at one time and amortized over a 20-year period. This method has the added advantage of saving on the interest charges for money not being used.

The school buildings will be of red brick with metal sash windows and wide projecting eaves. The units will be grouped together on a plaza 545' wide in such a way that from the most distant point in any of the units to the library, for example, is a distance of only 200'. Some of the units will be of two-story construction; some will be one story.

There is a cafeteria large enough to handle the lunch program in two periods, and designed to be used for school dances, etc. Administrative offices and cafeteria are in one unit; the other two-story unit is that housing the vocational and domestic arts section, the library with a balcony as its second floor, and the 350-seat little theatre which, combined with the physical education center, is replacing the more usual auditorium-gymnasium combination.

Other units for math and science, languages and social studies are only one story in height. In each of these, the design is such that a pupil-teacher ratio of anywhere from eight to one to 125 to 1 will be possible. Small seminar-sized rooms, larger laboratories, resource centers for study and work on projects, and large rooms in which 125 students will come together for lecture-type classes are provided for.

The physical education center will be a domed circular structure with walls of black concrete, and the roof supported by a tension ring around the perimeter to eliminate outside thrust. A circle was found to be more economical than rectangular, square or elliptical shapes. The "cage" is expected to cost about $400,000 as opposed to $385,000 or perhaps more for the conventional auditorium-gymnasium combination, in which not nearly so comprehensive a physical education program is possible, the Committee feels.

It is expected that local groups may recommend to the Committee the addition somewhere around the outside of the circle of a foyer for use in entering the center by large crowds, and possibly the inclusion of a small trophy room for Wayland's collection.

The "cage" will include exercise rooms for boys and girls, locker rooms, coaches room, storage space, basketball court, space for indoor batting practice and football scrimmage, and an indoor track.

In discussing comparative costs, the Committee cited a recent Connecticut study which concludes that in enrolments up to 800, single-story construction is best; from 800 to 1200, question is borderline; depending chiefly on cost of site (expensive urban land vs. rural areas) and for over 1200 enrollment, the advantages are with multi-story. The Committee is pleased that its plan reduces non-educational space to little over 6 percent of the total structure, compared with other secondary school figures which run from 12 to 15%.

A special Town Meeting will probably be held within a few weeks to put the proposition to the Town.

FRIENDLY SOCIETY

question.

Other committee heads include Mrs. John R. Perry, costumes; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koester Jr., stage managers; Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Noel, make-up; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart C. Woodworth Jr., stage properties; Mrs. Gerald W. Blakeley Jr., hand properties; Mr. Alan Campbell, lighting; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Johnson, special effects; Mrs. E. Harrison Trowbridge, prompter.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Field, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. William B. Saunders, program; Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Talbot, tickets; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Bush, III, treasurer, and Mr. and Mrs. David M. Kellogg Jr., ushers.

FRANCOISE RECEPTION

tend is extended to all.

Miss Cilly, who is 17, will be included in the senior class at Weston High School during the 1958-59 school year. In return, a Weston girl, Miss Susan Toner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Toner, 179 Newton Street, is spending this year in Rombas.

The reception will be sponsored jointly by the Weston United Nations Committee and the Weston-Rombas Affiliation Committee. The program will feature Mr. Peter Lengyel, an Australian who has been associated with the United Nations Education, Science, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in Paris since 1953. Mr. Lengyel, who this year is taking advanced work at Harvard, will speak briefly on "The Practical Workings of UNESCO".

Miss Cilly will be welcomed officially by Mr. Douglas Mercer on behalf of the Selectmen. Mr. Gaston Leclerc will be present, representing the French Consulate. Following the program refreshments will be served and there will be an opportunity for those present to meet Miss Cilly.

Co-Chairmen of the reception are Mr. Rudolph L. Helgeson, 276 North Avenue, and Mr. L. Whitman Smith, 17 Conant Road. Refreshments and hospitality are under the direction of Mrs. Webb B. White, 149 Meadowbrook Road, and Mrs. William A. Ellston, 263 South Ave. In charge of decorations are Mrs. George E. Bottjer, 4 Hidden Road, Mrs. Philip W. Trumbull, 4 Robin Road, and Mrs. Albert R. Speare, 420 Concord Road.

In addition to its participation in the reception, The Weston United Nations Committee plans to send eight students to New York in November where they will tour the United Nations Building and will observe one of the sessions in progress. Miss Cilly will accompany the Weston students on this trip.

This trip will require money, $15 per pupil, and Mr. Helgeson, noting that no Town funds are allotted for this purpose, asks for contributions from individuals and organizations, as in past years. Checks should be made payable to United Nations Committee and sent to Mr. George E. Buckminster, 155 Conant Road.

Mr. Helgeson also asks organizations having any fall activities on a United Nations theme to let him know, so that he can include the news in published reports of UN activities in Weston.

WESTON SENIOR SOCIABLES

Weston 8, Foxboro 0

WESTON -- Weston broke a scoreless tie in the last seconds of the game with Foxboro at Weston High Field on Oct. 18 to win, 8 to 0, to set the team's record at two wins, a loss and a tie for this season.

A pass interception by Jim Robbins in the last minutes put the ball on the Foxboro 30. Co-Capt. John Perry and Forbes McMullin carried it to the 1, whence Perry took it over.

Quarterback Buzz Granholm passed to Jay Adams for the two-point conversion.

Perry, previously a tackle, was making his start as fullback. He weighs 210.

Wayland 6, Maynard 0

WAYLAND--A tremendous team defensive effort enabled Wayland to squeak by previously undefeated Maynard 6-0. Dick Morris was the defensive and offensive standout of the game. He either made or assisted on 75% of the tackles and he scored the game's only touchdown.

Paul Tierney and Joe Devine, Wayland's guards, broke up play after play in the class "C" visitor's backfield. However, the play of the game was turned in by Sophomore Jim Sullivan. When Maynard threatened to score late in the last period Sullivan intercepted a pass on the goal line and ran it out to the 32.

Annual Town House Meeting

WAYLAND -- George K. Lewis of Concord Road will speak on the "Sudbury Valley Trustees' Contribution To Wayland Recreation" at the annual meeting of the Wayland Junior Town House, Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. This will be an illustrated talk about present and future plans of the Trustees, who have acquired several hundred acres of wild land in Town.

The annual election of officers will also be held.

UNICEF COLLECTIONS

WESTON -- The Student Council of the Weston Elementary Schools will sponsor a UNICEF Drive on Halloween night. All children who wish may bring a small milk carton for the collection of UNICEF pennies when they visit the homes on the evening of Oct. 31. The Council Members, under the direction of Mr. Brown and Mr. Bramhall, will see that this money is turned over to UNICEF.

WESTON -- Two reminders to Weston residents, from Town Hall:

1) A Town by-law says that there can be no hunting in the Town without permission of the property owner.

2) Don't burn leaves without calling the Fire Department for permission.

Wayland Town Dump Will Be Civic Center On Saturday

WAYLAND -- Because it's the place to meet people, the Town Dump will be the place where the Voters Service Committee of the Wayland League of Women Voters will set up shop on Saturday, Nov. 1, to pass out information on all the candidates in the coming election. The Votemobile, shown above, will be stocked with literature containing biographical material. Left, Mrs. Richard Durant, chairman of the committee; center, Mrs. Gregory B. ## Raytheon And Towns Will Join In Urging By-Pass

WAYLAND -- Partly as the result of an explosion of feeling at a hearing on Raytheon traffic before the Zoning Board of Appeals at the Town Building on Oct. 23, all concerned seem to have agreed to get together to try to persuade the Commonwealth to build the Route 20 bypass which has been wanted for so long.

A Raytheon spokesman says the hearing came about through a misunderstanding. Some time ago, Raytheon went to some Town officials to tell them about plans to widen Route 20 at the laboratory entrance. In the course of the conversation on this subject, the man says, the idea of using the laboratory's Old Sudbury Road entrance in rush hours came up.

When the question of having Raytheon in Town first came up, years ago, it was definitely understood that only the Raytheon brass and visitors would use the Old Sudbury Road entrance.

As of 1958, however, with Raytheon traffic a headache to all, it was thought that perhaps the Townspeople wouldn't mind having Old Sudbury Road used. This was the idea Raytheon got, says the man, so, in the legal routine, Raytheon petitioned for permission to use Old Sudbury Road for regular traffic, night and morning.

At the hearing, duly called by the Zoning Board, with Chairman Roger E. Ela presiding, 118 persons showed up. They were mostly residents of the Center area, and they were against the proposal. A letter against the change from Frederick G. Perry Jr. of the Planning Board was read, and the whole Planning Board said it was against it. Roger Stokey spoke against it, as did Robert M. Morgan, chairman of the Finance Committee.

The general argument was that Raytheon was sold to the Town on conditions, and that having no extra traffic on Old Sudbury Road was part of the bargain.

The Raytheon representatives, says the Raytheon man, were dumbfounded to discover that

Weston School Will Cost $50,000 Less Than Planned

WESTON -- The successful bidder on the bond issue for the new elementary school building was Halsey, Stuart and Co., with Hornblower and Weeks. The bond issue is for $670,000 which is $50,000 less than the town authorized. The reason is that the final bid for construction of the school was enough lower to justify borrowing less money.

Instead of paying off the issue in the 20 years permitted by law, this bond issue will be paid off in 12 years. $110,000 will be paid each year in 1959 and 1960, and $45,000 will be paid in each of the following 10 years. The Town was able to get a coupon interest rate of 2.9 percent.

John C. Massie

WAYLAND -- John C. Massie, 84, of 12 Glen Road, a resident of the Town for more than 30 years and its first plumbing inspector, died Oct. 27 at his home after a long illness. He was an honorary member of the Master Plumbers Association in the Newton-Waltham District and a member of Gov. Gore Lodge of Waltham.

Funeral services were held at Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home, Cochituate, on Oct. 30, with burial in Boden Lane Cemetery, Natick.

He leaves a son, George E. Massie of West Newton, three daughters, Mrs. Edward (Hester M.) MacLeod of South Lincoln, Mrs. Cornelius (Mary E.) Donovan of Lowell, Mrs. Robert (Helen A.) Meagher of Wayland; a sister, Mrs. Burt (Gertrude) Scott-Hall of Florida, 16 grandchildren and 43 great grandchildren.

Weston Votes On 48-Hour Week For Firefighters, Wayland On State Lottery

A question of considerable local interest in Weston is Number 4 on the ballot, which asks whether firefighters of Weston should have a 48-hour week instead of the 56-hour week which they now work.

The question, actually, is "Shall Section 58 B of Chapter 48 of the General Laws, providing for a 48-hour week for permanent members of fire department be accepted?" A "Yes" vote would be, naturally, a vote in favor of the 48-hour week.

Should this measure pass, it is said, it would necessitate adding two more permanent men to the nine full-time firefighters now in the Weston department.

The Weston Selectmen oppose the 48-hour week, and they are sending out a letter to all Weston residents explaining their position. Their letter is not given here because everybody affected will get a copy anyway.

By coincidence, Question 4 on the ballot in Boston is whether that city's firefighters should get a raise in pay, and there are many campaign posters up in the city urging people to vote "yes" on it.

Questions 1, 2 and 3 are the same in both Weston and Wayland. The first is concerned with pensions for public employes. The second is the familiar one about local option, whether to permit the sale of liquor and in what ways. (Wayland has always voted wet, in recent years, and Weston dry.) The third question is whether to permit horse and dog racing in Middlesex County.

Wayland also has a Question 4 on the ballot, but it's different. It's whether the voters would favor a big, once-a-year lottery, a Massachusetts Sweepstakes in which half the proceeds would go to winners and half towards abating the taxes on real estate. This question is not on the Weston ballot.

MISSING BRACELET

WESTON -- Mrs. Donald W. Brewster of 113 Merriam Street reports that her silver strap bracelet bearing a picture of a horse's head in bit as a decoration seems to have been given by mistake to the Scout rummage sale which was held at the Town Hall on Oct. 18. It has a sentimental value and she would appreciate its return.

UNICEF COLLECTION

WAYLAND -- Children of the Claypit Hill, Loker and Happy Hollow elementary schools will make their annual Halloween collection for UNICEF on Halloween, it is announced, and turn in their take at school on Monday morning.

WESTON -- All children in Grades 1 through 6 of the Weston elementary schools may be collecting for UNICEF at Halloween. They will turn in their collections through the schools. Householders are asked to be on the lookout for the young collectors.

Letters to the EDITOR

About By-Pass

To the Editor:

May I first thank the Publisher and the Editor of the Town Crier for giving me this opportunity of expressing my views, on the urgent need and long overdue Post Road Route 20 Wayland by-pass.

I would first like to correct a misleading statement by the Representative from Lincoln in your paper dated October 16, 1958. I have not at any time spoken of a Wayland over-pass and I have many times both at meetings in Sudbury and Wayland spoken of a Wayland by-pass. In fact, my pamphlet which I have been passing out for the past month, states the urgent need for a Wayland by-pass.

I would be the first to agree that this by-pass should not detract from the beauty of your rural community. I resent Mr. DeNormandie's remarks that I fail to understand even remotely the Wayland citizen's problems. In addition to understanding the problems, I have also gone to the State Department of Public Works to view the Wayland By-Pass Plans that are on file, which I feel sure the present Representative has not done.

Mr. DeNormandie has stated that our district must wait because there are many road conditions in the State that must be corrected first. I do not agree. As a resident of Hudson, and having spoken to many people in the Towns of Sudbury and Wayland who agree whole-heartedly with me that this is the worst traffic bottle neck between here and the center of Boston and is growing progressively worse.

Stating to be in favor of a solution to this traffic problem and taking an active part in correcting this condition are two very different things. If I am elected as your representative may I assure you that our district will receive positive action on this by-pass within the next two years.

Respectfully,
Richard A. White
Hudson.

Wayland Is Always Wet, Weston Always Goes Dry

Ever since Repeal, it is reported at the Town Halls of Wayland and Weston, Wayland has voted wet and Weston has voted dry.

By statute, the question goes on the ballot in the State election every two years, in three parts: beer and wine, hard liquor and package stores. Wayland regularly votes for all three and Weston regularly against.

Not Only Are Women In The Great World - They Run It

Woman May Drive A Truck, But Only Because That's The Easiest Job

Those who are the warmest admirers of women are happy to note that they have not only emerged from the harem and taken a place in the world, but that they have achieved commanding success in their new field of activity.

Take the simple little job of secretary, or what was once a simple little job. Napoleon had a man for secretary. But no modern tycoon would dream of having a man secretary, nor would a man dream of being his secretary, for fear of being thought to have lace on his socks. Woman has the secretary racket cornered. She reads the mail, writes the replies, indicates by sniff, shrug or smile the proper course of action. The management revolution has occurred and it wasn't what the economics professors think it was. Women have taken over.

Or take the local civic project. On Thursday, over crumpets or the telephone, the women of the committee decide that on Saturday the civic center grounds should be improved. So, on Saturday, men turn out to exercise all the implements of the duller kinds of toil, out in the sun, while the ladies sit in the shade, making prettily with the coffee and cakes.

Once upon a time around here, there was a kind hearted woman who would slip a slug of something nourishing into the men's coffee cups. But she was found out and disbarred, on the ground that she was a sissy who would be as likely as not to throw a life preserver to a male who was in the water because the committee had pushed him in.

In the Good Book it tells about men who were hewers of wood and drawers of water. They still are. No woman in this vicinity has hewed a wood or drawn a water in half a century.

Women run the church supper, putting out what must be agreed is the best meal this side of Escoffier. But after it's over, who's sitting down counting the proceeds and who's in the kitchen washing the pots and pans?

In every field, women have grabbed the best jobs. Out in the rural regions they are seen driving trucks, and unsophisticated beholders say:

"Oh, women driving trucks! How arduous!"

Arduous, fiddlesticks. Out in the fiddlesticks driving truck is the softest job there is. Men are crackling rocks with their teeth, rolling logs with their feet and pushing plows with their wrists, while women are lolling around on the upholstery. One rural husband, kinder than he was clever, tried to get his wife out of the truck cab and back in the kitchen, and she got him for cruel and abusive treatment. Got the truck in the property settlement, too.

Some think the machine has taken the place of human slavery, but not so. When the machine breaks down a man is called to fix it, and then he's the slave.

Women are the customers, too, and only a woman can put real reproach into the opening remark, "Young man. . . ."

No man customer would dream of barking "Young woman!" at the offending salesgirl. He might say "Hiya, Toots!" But he wouldn't be so rude as to bawl her out. Rude? He wouldn't even dare, because she might hit him and then get him sent away for five to seven years on the ground that he looked at her cross-eyed and thus disturbed the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which she was upholding at the time. . . . . (The end. Called to move the anvil and cement mixer for woman boss contractor.)

President of the new club is Peter Borrelli. Vice president is Keppler Stone and secretary is Susan Bump.

Halloween Safety Rules

The Health Information Service of The Medical Foundation of Boston has issued seven Halloween safety rules for children. They are:

1. Dangerous pranks, such as tripping and vandalism, should be forbidden.
2. Costumes should be made so they don't interfere with vision or locomotion and should be light-colored so the wearers can be easily seen by motorists.
3. Costumes can be fireproofed in a solution of 9 oz. borax, 4 oz. boric acid and a gallon of water; then dry and iron. Paper costumes are not recommended.
4. Costumes decorated with reflector tape (and arm bands of the same) are more visible to motorists.
5. Masks that cover eyes, nose and mouth are unsanitary and unsafe, so use make-up. Cold cream mixed with vegetable dye, rouge or mascara can be just as ghoulish and just as pleasing to children.
6. Instruct children to use the sidewalks, and if there aren't any, have them walk on the left side of the road. They should be with an adult or older responsible children.
7. Flashlights instead of candles are safer in jack o'lanterns.

Weston Church Council Votes To Study Crime

WESTON -- At its October meeting, the Weston Council of Churches votes unanimously to urge its constituent membership to study the facts about organized gambling and crime in Massachusetts. A report was presented to the Council by its President, Mr. Ralph W. Child, pointing up the three referenda questions to be voted on by citizens on the November 4 ballot.

Mrs. George E. Bottjer, chairman of the Council's Christian Action Committee, has made literature on these questions available to all the Protestant churches of Weston. Questions on the referenda will ask if voters would permit pari-mutuel gambling at licensed horse and dog tracks in their county, and if they would permit a state operated lottery.

The Weston Council of Churches points to the Massachusetts Special Crime Commission report. The Commission's report said: "The operation of licensed pari-mutuel tracks in this area began in 1935. The commission dates from that time the beginnings and growth in Massachusetts of the huge business under consideration."

That business is the $2,000,000-000 said to be involved in organized illegal gambling. Member churches of the Weston Council are the First Baptist Church, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, the Weston Methodist Church, and the First Parish Unitarian.

Brink-Barker Duo Is Home After Making Hit Abroad

(Lenscraft Photos)

WAYLAND -- The Brink-Barker Duo (Robert Brink of Newton Lower Falls, violinist, and Allen Barker of Wayland, pianist) recently returned from a six-week European tour, sponsored in part by the Department of Defense, the Department of State, and the United Service Organization, which took them through France, Italy, Germany, Holland and Denmark.

Those who have contributed to AAMI (Association for Advancement of Musicians Inc.) will be interested to know that an AAMI grant made possible the undertaking of this tour for the federal agencies, which received high praise from personnel overseas both for artistic merit and international good will. Our G.I.s even took to Beethoven as presented by Brink-Barker.

The grant further made possible appearances in several major cities such as Copenhagen and Amsterdam. The Amsterdam recital ended with a standing ovation, and critical acclaim for two young artists of "rare technical and artistic capacity", a "real duo, possessed of complete homogeneity."

The results of this tour are rewarding to the Judges Committee and the Board of Trustees of AAMI. The Judges Committee included Roland Hayes, Hubert Lamb and Bruce Simonds, who chose the Duo out of 25 applicants and five finallsts.

BY-PASS

somewhere there had been a misjudgment of public sentiment.

As a result, next morning Raytheon sent to Mr. Ela a letter withdrawing the petition. It had been suggested at the meeting that the Town and Raytheon get together in, to put it politely, pressuring the Commonwealth for the bypass, and the Raytheon man says the company will go along with this. In addition, it was said that Raytheon is to build another plant in Sudbury, and Sudbury would be asked to join in the movement, also.

(At the hearing, Mr. Morgan said that Raytheon is the biggest employer in Massachusetts. A Raytheon spokesman denied this, but admitted that only the Commonwealth itself has more employes.)

Moreover, says the Raytheon spokesman, Raytheon has hired a firm of traffic survey experts to check on traffic in this area, and its services have been offered to the Wayland Planning Board, at Raytheon's expense, to study Wayland's particular problems.

Besides this, the Wayland Selectmen have announced that at the next Special Town Meeting (probably to be held in December, to vote on the proposed new High School) there will be an Article calling for appointment of a 10-person committee to press for construction of the bypass.

Both Rep. James DeNormandie and State Senator Charles W. Olson, who were in the Crier office the other afternoon, said they were in favor of the bypass. And Mr. Richard White of Hudson-Lincoln - Sudbury - Wayland district, has a letter in this Crier issue saying he also favors the bypass.

The bypass proposal is an old one. Roughly speaking, it calls for a new road South of the present Route 20, taking off from it near Ten Acres, running South of the South Cemetery, crossing Route 126 and the marshes and coming back to Route 20 either just beyond Raytheon or far beyond, in Sudbury somewhere.

From the State House and the Department of Public Works the Town has received no acceptance of the project as yet, and the situation has become worse and worse. Raytheon Laboratory now has more than 2200 employes, all of whom hate the traffic as much as the local residents. Wayland people living on the State Road can hardly get out of their own driveways at some hours, it is reported. The school buses are interferred with and, all in all, it is agreed that the only cure for the situation is a bypass, like the one which, built years ago, has left Weston Center a comparatively quiet spot.

Raytheon also says it is moving two of its six engineering divisions from the Wayland laboratory to Waltham. This will take something like 175 employes off the road.

Passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (6:18): "To suppose that God forgives or punishes sin according as His mercy is sought or unsought, is to misunderstand Love and to make prayer the safety-valve for wrong-doing."

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Westonaires, a jazz group, a girl's quartet and strolling minstrels at intervals all day. This program is being planned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. McMullin and Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Alcaide and their committee.

There will be many attractive booths displaying handmade and interesting merchandise. A collection of antiques has been assembled under the direction of Mrs. D. Stephen Thrall, Mrs. Arthur Havlin and Mrs. Allen Powning.

A full fledged Country Store will be manned by the men of the Vestry under the leadership of Mr. Thomas M. Osborne and Mr. Caleb Roehrig. Interesting woodcrafts have been produced by a group of men headed by Putnam Flint, Leonard Dowse and Fred A. Sawyer.

Hand painted tinware will be featured by Mrs. Harold G. Travis and Mrs. Horace Cole and their co-workers. The Robert A. Weavers will be on hand with their kiln to enamel and decorate a variety of objects to suit the customer.

Baby garments, hand sewn and knitted by various parishioners, will make a dainty display, arranged by Mrs. John T. Bennet and Mrs. Fred Sawyer. Similar knit wear for the older ones has been collected by Mrs. Nathaniel Cannistraro and Mrs. Louis C. Jones.

Books, old and new, are the bargains offered by Miss Dorothy Brewer and Mrs. Marshall Dwinnell and their committee. Likewise, Mrs. William Pearce Coues and Mrs. Hillard W. Welch have led a group that has discovered stylish hats.

There will be sugar plums on the candy table, headed by Mrs. Francis Shepherd and Mrs. Thomas Craven. Wine fruit cakes, plus all the parish's best recipes, made up especially for that day, will grace the bake goods table, presided over by Mrs. Franksford S. Summer and Mrs. Robert E. Dickerman.

Christmas decorations have been created by a committee whose chairmen are Mrs. William Mallett and Mrs. W. H. Farrell.

Table cloths, fancy aprons, decorated Christmas stockings are only a few of the hand sewn articles that Mrs. Fred Woodside, Mrs. Putnam Flint and their group have been working on all summer and fall.

Dolls and doll clothes have been created by Mrs. Philip S. Krug and Mrs. Waldo Kelleigh and their committee. A prize doll, dressed by Mrs. Raymond B. Bidwell, will go to the winner of a bean guessing contest. Mrs. Dorothea Brown will be on hand to sketch the children and please the parents.

Plants, arrangements and Christmas sprays will help to make the indoor garden, under the direction of Mrs. John W. Ayer and Mrs. J. Manton Bradley.

Baubles, bangles and bracelets have been collected for the jewelry table by Mrs. Nelson Miles and Mrs. Lawrence Davis. White elephants surprises are promised by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown and Dr. and Mrs. Christopher T. Standish.

Those who search for old recordings or record machines can listen and buy from the selections offered by Mrs. Leopold Gruener and Mr. Philip D. Bassett. For hidden treasures the place to go is the Parcel Post counter, headed by Mrs. Maurice Brown and Mrs. George Vinsonhaler.

A special collection of Ecclesiastical material has been gathered by Mrs. James O. Post.

The Sugar River Mill from Newport, New Hampshire, will display hand loomed woolens, by the yard or made up in suits and coats, and Mrs. Mead Hartwell will be on hand to assist them.

48-HOUR WEEK

Although both Towns are expected to vote Republican, as usual, the interesting point, in post mortems, may be whether the Republican pluralities were larger or smaller, in percentage, than in previous elections.

This rate of change is what the experts look for, in estimating the outcome of elections on the basis of incomplete returns. If Mudville goes Republican by 15 per cent more than it did last time, they check the percentages against the actual returns of last election and get new figures which are likely to be significant.

RED BARN BOOK FAIR

Re-elect
SEN. CHAS. W. OLSON

Dear Friends:

For the past 18 years, I have represented you in the Massachusetts Senate. Many more years have been spent in service as a State Representative, town selectman, and police chief.

During all this time, my door, both at home and at the State House, has always been open to every citizen of the district for discussion and a possible solution of both personal and legislative problems. I have never asked a single constituent his party designation.

On every issue arising in the legislature, my only consideration has been the welfare of my district and state. My criterion has always been the greatest good for the greatest number.

This has been my philosophy of government throughout my career of public service. And judging from your reaction every two years, it is the philosophy that meets with your approval.

On this occasion, allow me to reiterate my simple platform - 100% full time service, integrity and decency in government and the utilization of whatever abilities I possess to the best interest of State and District.

Sincerely yours,

Senator Charles W. Olson

make the most of flowers in Room decoration

The search for "something different" to use in decorating our homes can be a rewarding one when fresh flowers are the starting point. No other accessory offers as great a variety of forms, colors and possibilities for achieving exciting, new effects. Flowers, of course, are always lovely in regular containers, but if it's the unusual you want, combine flowers with objects that may have more prosaic uses or purposes. A black lacquer tray becomes an important base for white snapdragons and pompons in an arrangement with an Oriental feeling. Such imaginative use of flowers makes all the difference in the way a room looks and is certain to bring you glowing compliments.

If you have a favorite container our expert designers will be glad to help you select the right flowers for it - or, if you lack the touch, they will create an original design for you in your container.

Census Thank You

To the Editor:

The Weston School Committee and Dr. Brackett, Superintendent, through the School Census Committee of the PTA wish to thank the 75 or more census takers who have done such a thorough joh of counting the nearly 3000 children In our town. All those working on the School Census are mothers of children who are in the public school system now or who will be in the near future.

Our method of taking census has proved to be far more accurate than that of many other towns where the teachers are given a day off to canvass, or where professional workers are hired. Our volunteers know their own neighborhoods weli and can make out cards for new babies, record the children in private schools, investigate new houses being huilt to find potential public school children and track down any omissions that might throw off the count. They are more conscientious than professionals because they reallze that the future plans for the school huilding program depend on the projections made with their numhers and that they have helped in the effort to avoid crowded classes, double sessions and inadequate school facilities. Their work Is appreciated hy everyone interested in our schools.

Mrs. Thomas C. Peebles
Census Chairman
Weston.

Proposed New Pay Schedule For Wayland Town Beach

WAYLAND -- The Park Department proposes that families which use the municipal beach shouldpay a flat season fee of $5, instead of the voluntary contributions which have been the rule in past years, and has sent letters to all families asking what they think ahout the idea.

The letter:

"The Park Department has the responsihility of submitting its hudget for the fiscal year to the Finance Committee as of Decemher 15, 1958.

"In the Park Department report last year it stated that the memhers proposed to recommend to the Townspeople and the Finance Committee that a modest charge be made, per family, for the use of the heach.

"In the past, the citizens have cheerfully made voluntary contrihutions, hut It seems more èquitahle and fitting that this system he converted to a specific charge per family.

"The Park Department hudget for expense of the heach shows, under prellminary estimates, that it increases each year hy some $2,000 to maintain the same level of service. This is due to the general increases of salaries, which is mandatory under the wage classification schedule and the necessity of providing added protection because of increased use of the facilities at the heach.

"It is estimated that some 70% of the families in the town actually used the beach in the 1958 season or about 1500 families.

"The Park Department recommends that a charge of $5 per family, or (about 7¢ per day, per family) be charged for the use of the beach and that the voluntary contribution he discontinued. As voluntary contrihutions for 1958 were approximately $2,400, the suggested fee for use of the beach will fundamentally take care of only the increased cost of operating the heach in its present state.

"The Park Department would welcome the opinion of the citizens and will give the utmost consideration to these suggestions when submitting its budget to the Finance Committee."

The Flying We Need Is The Low, Slow, Personal Kind

With A Motor The Size Of A Dollar Watch

While watching the last robin of the season, a silly little bird with feathers where his brains ought to be because if he had any sense he would have left these parts before the first frost, it comes to mind that the airplane is, for flying, a clumsy machine.

It is fashionable to applaud all the works of man, to call wonderful every invention from the tin can to the cigarette lighter which is almost as reliable as free matches.

But take a look at the plane. It's only an aerial bus, with terminal, driver, schedule and passengers, like the red bus which runs so conveniently up and down the Post Road, a nice service to have now that the railroad has become obsolete.

Where the private automobile beats public transportation is that it has no fixed route and, like the barber shop with 10,000 chairs, no waiting. When a person wants to go somewhere in his private jalopy, he goes when he pleases. He does the same when he walks.

So here is a big weakness in all kinds of public transportation. In the case of the airplane, some extra weaknesses.

That transcontinental airplane is too big. For that matter, so is the little military jet, which requires thousands of horsepower to carry one man.

Somebody was saying, the other day, that for a couple of hundred dollars one can buy the plans and build his own helicopter.

This sounds like a step in the right direction, but it still makes flying too elaborate.

What's needed is a powered, anti-gravity device about as big as a dollar watch, that one can mount on top of his head or hang around his neck like a referee's whistle. That huge jet engine is too much for the person who just wants to leap one or two tall buildings at a single bound.

The flyer will have to have some kind of an air suit, probably, because it's likely to be wet, cold or windy aloft. Probably he'll have to wear one of those plastic fishbowl helmets, which are undoubtedly the coming thing.

Now behold our new commuter, in his space suit, ready to leave for the city. He steps out the door, looks up to make sure he'll clear the infested elm tree in the yard, then presses the button. Up he goes, in a dignified, pedestrian position. He doesn't even circle before setting his course. He simply aims himself, picks the altitude he prefers and heads for his office at any speed from zero to 100 miles an hour. These limits are suggested because 100 is fast enough and zero is slow enough. So at 100 miles an hour the commuter does the 20 miles to his office in 10 or 15 minutes and lands on his feet right outside the boss's office, looking important.

All the airplane builders do is make planes which will go faster. Now they're getting them up towards 2000 to 3000 miles an hour, when what's needed is a plane which will slow down to one mile an hour. Let 'em make an individual plane motor no bigger than a soup plate which will drive a plane slowly and we have the matter of transportation solved.

The aim should be to make a personal flying kit as nearly as possible as simple as bird's flying arrangement. When he wants to fly, the robin or the pigeon just takes off. He doesn't have to go to East Boston, buy a ticket and wait for Flight 89. He just zips from the old pine tree, swoops and zooms to his heart's content, sneers at predatory cats below and keeps an eye out for worms.

That space helmet isn't for Summer, of course. That's when the convertible, or catcher's mask model, comes in handy.

Imagine the fun, when everybody has his private, foolproof, vest pocket flying facility. No more automobile parking. No more roads. Kids getting flying licenses at 10 instead of driving licenses at 16. Every house with a landing deck, so Ma can carry the groceries downstairs instead of upstairs. A Peeping Tom at every upstairs window. The Sunday sky over the beach black with sunbathers. Young couples sneaking out of the dance, not to slip into the conservatory but to pop up a couple of thousand feet into the Summer night, without spilling a drop of martini. . .

Inventors, take it away. Please give us flying that's low, slow and informal. D.B.W.

Beef Stew In French At "Autumn In Paris" Fair

COCHITUATE -- Christmas decorations and ornaments are among the items that will be featured at the "Autumn in Paris" Fair, to be held at Community Methodist Church in Cochituate, on Saturday, Nov. 8. Included on the hobby table headed by Mrs. Robert Beaumont and Mrs. James Mayo, this popular group includes a number of handmade items, including unusual ornaments for the tree, dry arrangements, miniature decorative trees, lapel ornaments, Christmas candles, and many other ideas in keeping with the coming season.

The apron table, headed by Mrs. Harold Taylor, will have everything from a froth of tulle for dressy occasions, to the practical but less attractive coverall or cobbler style. Someone else's loss may be your gain at the costume jewelry table, headed by Mrs. Arnold Baker, or attic treasures, headed by Mrs. Arthur Dudley.

The "specialty of the house" of many Cochituate homes will be featured at the food and candy tables, headed by Mrs. Hallock Boutwell and Mrs. William Irwin, and many hands have been busy preparing articles for the knitting table, headed by Mrs. Cecil Chislett, and the needlework table, headed by Mrs. George Lewis and Mrs. Isobel Abbott.

Headed by Mrs. Winthrop Robbins and Miss Marjorie Brown, the cafeteria will feature a luncheon in keeping with the French theme, including ragout de boeuf (hearty beef stew), French stylе green beans, French bread, dessert, and café ou thé (coffee or tea).

Reservations For Series Concerts Now Being Taken

WESTON -- In answer to many enquiries, the Country Evening Concert Series announces that reservations are now being accepted at TWinbrook 3-7361 or TWinbrook 3-4979 for the coming Winter's season. This season, the 8th in Weston's Country School Auditorium, opens on Jan. 16 with a concert by l. Musici. Further events include recitals by tenor Leslie Chabay and pianist Moura Lympany.

All reservations received now are being filled in order of acceptance. Tickets for these reservations, however, will not be mailed out until early December, immediately prior to the general public mailing of application forms.

The Country Evening Concert Series also announces that following last year's successful season the committees again voted to give a scholarship to the New England Conservatory of Music. This makes the fourth time such an award has been made, and is indeed a source of much gratification for all concerned.

Rev. Robert Dyson Will Address Holy Name Society

WESTON -- The Reverend Robert Dyson, S. J., renowned Bible scholar, will be guest speaker for St. Julia's Holy Name Society meeting in Weston, Sunday, Nov. 9. Father Dyson, who has just returned to Weston after 22 years in Rome, annotated and edited a new version of the Bible, which was published last month in this country. The late Pope Pius XII, to whom Father Dyson presented the first copy of the new work in May of this year, provided the inscription which appears in the new Bible.

Father Dyson will address the 9 o'clock meeting on the subject of "My 22 Years in Rome". The meeting will be held in the High School Cafeteria, following Mass and Corporate Holy Communion in St. Julia's Church at 8 a.m. All men of the parish are invited to attend.

Father Dyson spent many of his years in Rome as professor of Biblical theology at the Pontifical Biblical Institute.

The noblest scientist is the one who says, "I wonder, too".

Camp Fire Girls Will Test Program Changes

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Camp Fire Girls are participating in an experiment to make the National program of Camp Fire Girls more nearly match the needs and desires of today's girls. As members of the Greater Boston Council for Camp Fire Girls, a Red Feather Service, they are one of ten councils in the country selected for the experiment to determine whether changes should be made in the country-wide program. The plan was announced at the Fall Leadership Training Institute held in Boston in October, by Dean Elsbeth Melville, National President.

School grades, rather than chronological age, will be the basis of entrance to any Camp Fire Division. The Blue Bird program will now cover a two-year period, and girls will enter the Camp Fire division when they enter Fourth Grade.

A new division will be created for the seventh and eighth grade girls, to be called the Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls.

Mrs. Douglas Surgenor of Wayland is leader of the Blue Bird group. There are two Camp Fire Groups who have Mrs. Paul Scovill of Wayland and Mrs. Philip Gladu of Cochituate as Guardians.

The Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls is made up of girls who are starting their third year in the program with Mrs. Richard Dunham and Mrs. Frank Babers as Guardians.

It is no longer necessary to have had previous Camp Fire membership to join any of the three divisions. Anyone interested in the Camp Fire Girls program may contact Mrs. Richard Dunham, Wayland Chairman.

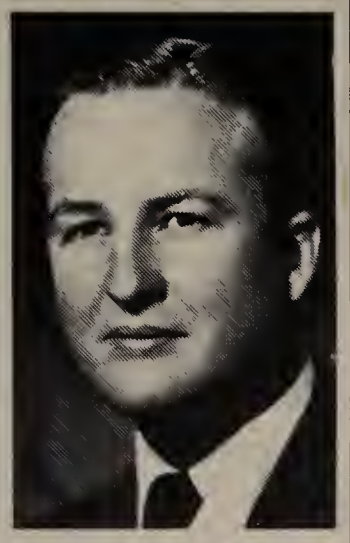
WESTON -- For the third consecutive year, Regis College will sponsor a series of four economic seminars on the problems of metropolitan Boston. The first topic, discussed on Nov. 6, is "Essentials of a Favorable Business Climate."

John A. Volpe, president of the John A. Volpe Construction Co. and the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; John T. Burke, commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Commerce; and Gregory Wolfe of Wayland, director of the Greater Boston Economic Base Study committee, are panelists.

Mrs. Jerome Rappaport, member of the League of Women Voters, is moderator.

Under the direction of Dr. J. Laurence Phalan, director of the Regis socio-economic research bureau, the seminars are for approximately 50 women guests, representing doctors, research workers and senators.

Nathan Greene Is Elected Chairman Of Trustees Of The Waltham Hospital



Nathan I. Greene

WESTON -- Nathan I. Greene, senior vice president of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, was elected Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Waltham Hospital at the recent Annual Meeting of the Hospital Corporation and Trustees.

Mr. Greene, who resides with his wife and family at 715 Boston Post Road, was general chairman of the 1956 $500,000. Waltham Hospital's Building Campaign. Due to the overwhelming success of that campaign, a new wing containing obstetrical, medical and surgical rooms has now been completed and will be available for use this month.

In addition to his other interests in community welfare and development, Greene has recently been appointed division chairman for the commerce and industry suburban division of the Greater Boston United Fund Drive.

Wayland 46, Ashland 0

It was a one-sided victory, Wayland's 24th game in a row without a loss. Dick Morris scored three touchdowns and scored four points after. Jerry Whelchel threw two touchdown passes, scored two points after and ran back a punt 55 yards for a touchdown, the third time this season he has scored on punt returns. Other touchdowns were made by Regan, Brewer and Haywood.

It was Ashland which last defeated Wayland. The score was 24 to 20 and it was back in 1955. Last year Scituate tied Wayland, 14-14. The present winning streak is the most spectacular in the school's history.

Westwood 6, Weston 0

Weston reached the Westwood 18-yard line once, to lose the ball on a fumble. Dick North of Westwood made the only score on a plunge from the four-yard line. It was Westwood's first win of the season.

Politicians say, "Can't win 'em all."

Peaceful Picture - Where Crime Was Committed

WESTON -- The picture above, brought in by Mr. Wendell Weston, now of State Road East, Wayland, shows the home of Dr. and Mrs. John C. Wells Jr. of Nightcap Lane, Weston, wbere Mrs. Wells and her children were robbed by an intruder recently.

The house, says Mr. Weston, was built for him in 1936 by Frederick Winsor Jr. of 12 Meadowbrook Road, architect. This was long before Route 128 was built, of course, and the house was then considered to be situated at the corner of Nightcap Lane and Featherbed Alley. These names were a bit too picturesque for one of the neighbors, says Mr. Weston, and as a result Featherbed Alley was renamed Kingsbury Lane.

The photo, by White of Waltham, was made in 1947, says Mr. Weston, after one of the big storms of that Winter. In this house was born, in 1937, David Weston, Mr. Weston's son, who is now in the Air Force in California. Originally white, the house is now pinkisb.

Allen Morgan Suggests Public Control For Flood Plain Area In Wayland

WAYLAND -- The Flood Plain area of Wayland is so important to the Town that it should be put under public ownership or control, Allen Morgan told members of the Recreation Advisory Committee at their meeting on Nov. 5 in the Town Building.

Mr. Morgan was invited to the meeting in two capacities -- as Executive Director of the Massachusetts Audubon Society and as Secretary of the Sudbury Valley Trustees, who have been working for some time now to preserve this town's wild, undeveloped land.

Besides being a recreational asset, he said, the Flood Plain is necessary for the preservation of our water supply, and necessary for the preservation of rural areas in the Town. When the population increases move out in waves from the city to the suburbs, Mr. Morgan said, experience has shown that they leave nothing but blighted land behind, and prompt action should be taken to avoid this in Wayland.

Mr. Morgan's recommendation was that Wayland persons who hold large amounts of undeveloped land should have their taxes on the land

Shortage Of Democrats In Weston Slows Up Returns

WESTON -- On account of the election mixup, which resulted in Weston being the last Town in the Commonwealth to get its votes counted, the Town is looking into the possibility of getting voting macbines or finding some other way of speeding up the counting procedure.

WESTON RECOUNT, NOV. 21

The most unusual recount asked for by J. Robert Ayers, successful candidate for re-election to the Massacbusetts House, will be held at Weston Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 21, says Town Clerk Edward M. Dickson. Enough Democrats will be found to help with the tabulation, it is promised.

For Mr. Ayers' reasons for asking the recount, see the Letters column inside. A petition for recount on behalf of the two losing Democratic candidates was filed by David J. Martin of Weston.

The trouble seems to have been due to a shortage of Democrats. J. Ward Carter, Executive Secretary, says there are only 208 Democrats registered in Town, and many of these are at Weston College and Regis College.

The law calls for Republicans and Democrats to watcb each other count. They are set up in tables of four persons, two of each party, to tabulate the votes.

At 1 p.m. on Tuesday, says Mr. Carter, the count began, and at the best, on Tuesday, there were 24 counters at six tables.

By 1 a.m. on Wednesday all the counters were weary and, at the rate they were going, it was obvious that it would be many hours before the count could be completed.

But there's another provision of

Edwin Marston Was Chosen Personnel Board Chairman

WAYLAND--Edwin W. Marston of Algonquin Path, Cochituate, was elected chairman of the Town's Personnel Board last July at a time when Archibald Cox, then chairman, was on the West Coast for the Summer. This was confirmed following the regular quarterly meeting of the Board last month, at which Mr. Marston presided.

Mr. Cox, who had been chairman of the Board since its inception in 1954, said, "I was not informed of the projected Personnel Board meeting" at which the vote took place, "or consulted as to whether I wisbed to remain as chairman."

Present members of the Board are Mr. Marston, Mr. Cox, John Simoni and Thomas J. McGrath. There is a vacancy created by the resignation of Theodore Fabisak who has left Wayland.

Willard H. Smith Will Be Speaker At PTA Meeting

WESTON -- The Weston Parent-Teacher Association will hold its second meeting of the year at the Country School on Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. The address of the evening will be given by Willard H. Smith, recently appointed principal of the High School, who has come to Weston from his post as principal of the high school at Plainfield, N. J.

His topic will be "Needs of Our High School Young People", and will be followed by a question period. A cordial invitation is extended to all high school students to attend the meeting.

The chairman of the Membership committee, Mrs. Marston H. Boden, and the treasurer, Charles E. Applegate, have announced that membership payment has been received from 192 families and from 50 individuals plus several contributions. Those wbo have not yet joined the association may do so by sending dues to Mr. Applegate at 8 Pelham Road.

Refreshments will be in the charge of Mrs. Eward A. Martel, chairman of hospitality.

REMINDER

WAYLAND -- Harvest Ball, St. Ann's Guild, Marlboro Country Club, Nov. 14, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Paul Ambler and orchestra. Dinner may be ordered until 10 p.m. Mrs. Robert F. Sennott, chairman; Mrs. Clarence W. Stickney, chairman of bostesses.

Zoning Bd. Hears Request To Move 800,000 Yards Of Gravel At W-W Boundary

WAYLAND -- Application for a permit to remove 800,000 cubic yards of gravel from a site south of the Boston Post Road on the Wayland-Weston line was the subject of a public hearing before the Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals on Thursday evening, Nov. 6, at the Town Office building.

About 65 were present, including officials from both Towns. Homer L. MacDonald, agent for the Wayland Board, said that officials from Weston's Planning Board, Police Department and Board of Selectmen had been invited to attend. The petitioner is Lewis W. Dean, Boston Post Road, Weston. At the close of the hearing about 30 persons registered their opposition to the removal, which it was estimated might take five years to complete.

No request for a similar hearing before the Weston Zoning Board has been filed as yet, according to J. Ward Carter, Weston executive secretary. Whether one will be filed depends upon whether Wayland's decision is favorable. Even if Wayland approves and Weston does not, there is still some question about trucking the gravel out over the Dean property, which is in a residential zone. The legal aspects of this have not yet been resolved, Mr. Carter says.

Wild Life In Weston

WESTON -- Mrs. Clarence Forman of 65 South Avenue and her son, Larry, driving towards Norumbega on South Avenue at 4:45 p.m. on Nov. 6, saw a doe run across the big traffic circle on Route 30, near Route 128 and the Turnpike terminal.

WAYLAND -- Wayland Girl Scouts, an organization in which Cochituate and Wayland girls are now integrated, will hold a Children's Fair at the Trinitarian Congregational Church from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Nov. 15, to raise money for the Spring trip to Washington of the eighth grade Scouts.

The fair will be aimed especially at children, with a puppet show, gipsy tea room and oodles of 25-cent gifts.

Mrs. Raymond B. Bidwell

WESTON -- St. Peter's new church was crowded for the funeral on Nov. 10 of Mrs. Raymond B. Bidwell of 59 Orchard Avenue, who died suddenly while working at West Roxbury Veterans Hospital as a volunteer teacher of occupational therapy. She had been doing this work, for the Red Cross, quietly, three days a week for 15 years.

She was president of the Weston Girl Scouts for 18 years, and also a member of the Vincent Club and of the Junior League.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaw Sturgis, and she was a niece of the late philosopher George Santayana. She leaves two sons, Arthur S. Eldredge of Peterboro, N. H. and David D. Bidwell of Cincinnati, and a daughter, Mrs. John B. Stone of Greenough, Nebraska.

Burial was in Linwood Cemetery.

"Lady Dogcatcher"

WAYLAND -- Miss Leila Sears, Wayland Town Clerk, who raises Golden Retrievers as a sideline, always carries a dog cage in the back of her station wagon. The other day a stranger in Town, seeing her drive away from the Town Building, remarked out loud:

"Now I've seen everything. A lady dogcatcher!"

Church Member 50 Years

WESTON -- Mrs. Carrie Ellen Brooks of 245 Merriam Street was given a bouquet at the service on Sunday, Nov. 9, to mark her 50 years as an active member of the Weston Methodist Church. Presentation was made by Aimo H. Teittinen, lay leader, right, above. Mrs. Brooks is in center and Rev. Alan H. Moore is at the left.

Letters to the EDITOR

Recount Petition

(Copy)

Town Clerk,
Town Hall,
Weston, Mass.

Dear Sir:

I enclose a petition, signed by the required number of voters of Weston, for a recount of votes cast in Weston for State Representative at last Tuesday's State Election, wherein Representative Henry A. Turner, of Waltham, and I were re-elected to the House of Representatives.

After the vote in Weston was counted, our two Democratic opponents made several charges of irregularities in the counting of ballots in Weston, virtually charging fraud in the conduct of the election. The charges stemmed from the fact that counting of the ballots was interrupted at one o'clock in the morning because of the impossibility of finding Democratic counters to man the counting tables, and was resumed at nine o'clock in the morning when six priests from Weston college agreed to help with the counting.

I understand that at least one of our opponents has been trying, with minor success, to procure enough signatures of Weston voters to get a recount of ballots.

Recognizing that such claims are patently absurd, and desiring that the opposition have every opportunity to see for itself how absurd its claims are, I have taken the unusual step of giving them their chance to examine the ballots by asking my own friends to petition for such a recount.

I have even included in the petition the name of William F. Cloran, of Waltham, the runner-up, so there can be no question under the law that he may have his counsel and agents observe every ballot as it is counted.

There seemed to be no point in including Mr. Hall, the other opposition candidate, in this recount petition because he could not win even if every Weston ballot was thrown out.

By this procedure I am sure we can satisfy every one of what is already well known to residents of Weston, that fairness and complete honesty are bywords among Weston's officials.

J. Robert Ayers
Representative, 7th
Middlesex District,
Weston.

About Mrs. Bidwell

(Copy)

To the Girl Scouts and Brownies of Weston:

Many people have worked to make your experience in Scouting a happy and rewarding one. Mrs. Raymond Bidwell, who died last week, was one of them. You will perhaps remember her best as the nice lady who taught you how to march before the Memorial Day parade. Or perhaps she helped your troop with a games badge, or folk-dancing or a prints badge.

Mrs. Bidwell worked in Scouting in Weston for twenty-six years. She was first a leader of a senior troop. Then she helped raise money for your Scout House, and every year ran the Rummage Sale in the fall to raise money for its upkeep.

She knew the names of all the bushes around the Scout House, and she knew just about everything concerning the house, including just what you have to disconnect to stop the furnace from running, and what you have to connect to get it going again.

Last year she gave me some of the notebooks she kept when she was a leader, so that I could look them over and keep what would be of interest to the history of Scouting in Weston.

In one of her notebooks is a poem. It is written out in longhand, and the author is anonymous. It is called "The Test of a Scout". It seems appropriate at this time to pass on to all of you this poem that Mrs. Bidwell liked:

What are the final tests of a Scout?
Before the world you must try her out,
Does she do a good turn everyday?
Does she live the Scout law all the way?
Does she stick to her job and see it through?
Is she helpful, reverent, clean, and true?
Will she stand by her friends through thick and thin?
Is she sterling silver, or only tin?

Does she live like a Scout, so all may see
What a Scout of America ought to be?
These are the tests a Scout goes through.
She must pass them all or she's not true blue.
Costumes and badges don't make you a Scout.
Living the law does, so live it out!
Don't be veneer, stuck on with glue -
Be solid mahogany all the way through.

Maude Koester
President, Weston Girl Scout Council.

Thank You Note

To the Editor:

May I, through the columns of your newspaper, express my most sincere thanks to the voters who gave me such an overwhelming victory in the recent election? The final figures for the office of Register of Probate for Middlesex County are: John V. Harvey, 240,533; Warren FitzGerald, 195,449.

Castiron Deer Are Missing From The Modern Dooryard

And So's The Buggy With The Dust On The Top

Once upon a time, back in those bad old days when men wore long trousers and women wore long skirts so nobody could see the bulge caused by the long underwear at the shoe tops, about the fanciest lawn decoration around here, as in many other places, was the cast iron deer.

An advantage of this deer was that it always would stand still long enough to be identified. Also, it was noiseless, and thus practically nobody ever took a shot at it. It never made the bushes rustle.

Another decorative feature of the grounds was the small iron Negro boy, who was parked beside the drive, holding up a hand with an iron ring in it, for tying the horse. This was the sort of image with the sort of implication which not even Gov. Faubus would today have the crust to put in his front yard.

Important also was the porte cochere, which not only provided shelter from the rain but necessitated a rudimentary knowledge of French. The porte cochere, which at its best covered as much ground as half a modern ranch type, was considered very plush indeed, and even today it would come in handy. It was a cover over the driveway, so that the carriage could be driven in out of the wet while the passengers got out.

And getting out of a carriage in those days was a big deal, especially for ladies. They always needed help, because the carriage was built a good deal higher above the ground than a modern vehicle, which is so low slung it will barely clear some of the obstacles on the road to the Town Dump.

An ancient inhabitant says there was a trick to helping a girl down from a carriage, especially if she happened to be attractive. The young man, standing on the ground, would raise his hands politely to the lady's, to steady her. If he were a dope, he would just steady her, and let her find the iron steps for herself.

But the sharp young man would give the girl's hand a small yank, as in judo, so that she would come tumbling into his arms. As customs were pretty strict in those days, an incident of this small sort would be something for a fellow to remember for a week. And as in any gym class, the girls all learned how to tumble without breaking their necks.

Speaking of horse and buggy transportation, this same old ancient says the feature of it was a slowness not to be comprehended today. The horse, unless inspired by a flick of the whip, would walk, at maybe three or four miles an hour. That was where the horse got his reputation for intelligence. He wouldn't run unless somebody insisted on it.

Moreover, riding was hot in Summer and cold in Winter. Going through the woods, in the right season, mosquitoes and other insects would attack both horse and passengers. In the Winter, only a buffalo robe was considered suitable protection from the elements, and even that wasn't enough. All the buffalo wore buffalo robes and the buffalo are now all gone, except Buffalo, N. Y., and most tourists bypass that in favor of Niagara Falls.

And riding tended to be dull. One could look ahead a mile or two, perhaps, and wonder if the journey would even end. In the rain the road was all mud and in sunshine it was all dust. The dust wasn't so bad when one was out in front, but it was pretty bad when the town cutup would come tearing by in his buckboard, raising a cloud which wouldn't settle for 15 minutes.

Nowadays things are better, with nothing in the driveway except an automobile with a few payments due and nothing on the lawn except grass and where's that boy who said he'd come and cut it? When we were boys two cents seemed like a lot of money and now boys won't work for a dime an hour and what's the matter with this generation?

Money hungry or something?

Fire In Bowers Home

WAYLAND -- Fire caused by an exploding hot-water heater in the basement of a house on Concord Road on Thursday, Oct. 30, resulted in extensive damage to the dwelling and its contents. Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bowers, occupants, were not at home when the fire started in mid-afternoon. Much of the furnishings which were damaged by smoke and water can be refinished and dry-cleaned, but many papers and family records were lost.

The house is owned by Israel Lupien of Cochituate. Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin estimated that damage to it might run to several thousand dollars.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bowers are well-known in Wayland. Mrs. Bowers is the director of the hot lunch program in the Wayland school system and Mr. Bowers is a member of the Planning Board. They are staying temporily with their son, Charles "Buzz" Bowers and his family on Pollock Road, Cochituate. "Buzz" is a phys ed teacher at W.H.S. and coaches the basketball team. He and his wife, the former Virginia Colpitts of Weston, have three daughters - Deborah, 5, Nancy, 4, and Lee, 4 months. ## Child Study Committee Is Holding Many Meetings

Grade chairmen of the Child Study Committee of the Weston PTA met recently at the home of Mrs. Arthur R. Greene to discuss fall plans.

The Child Study Committee was established a few years ago to help the parents of children in each grade meet each other to talk over and develop constructive ideas concerning the needs of the children at that particular level. This is done through meetings at parents' homes with speakers from the school or other experts and through films and group discussion.

Mrs. S. T. Guild Jr. and Mrs. John N. Fisher, co-chairmen of the kindergarten group, announced that there was a tea on Thursday, Nov. 13, from 3:30 to 5:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul F. Gryska, 234 Boston Post Road, for the mothers and teachers of the kindergarten children.

The First Grade committee has already begun a series of morning coffees for the mothers of the six individual first grades, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. John O. McGillivray and Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis. These have been held at the homes of Mesdames Donald C. Alcaide, John R. Brooks, John D. Glover, Robert S. Sturgis, Gustav Fleischmann, and Edwin U. Curtis. Those attending have been filling out questionnaires regarding their preferences for topics for future meetings.

Mrs. Henry M. Merrill Jr. and Mrs. Harrison Faulkner are co-chairmen for the Second Grade committee. After dinner coffee was served on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Clancy, 8 Conant Road, followed by a talk on the health of the second grader by Dr. John Hubbell, Boston pediatrician. Parents of all second graders were invited.

The fifth Grade co-chairmen, Mrs. William G. Burt and Mrs. John D. Mathews, reported there was a coffee followed by a talk by Mrs. Julia Tapley, fifth grade teacher, on "Fifth Grade Arithmetic," on Thursday, Nov. 13, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mercer, 115 Chestnut Street. A discussion period followed on the mathematics curriculum in the elementary school.

The Seventh Grade co-chairmen, Mrs. Richard P. Berry and Mrs. Fred Higgins, announce that Mr. Philip H. Wye, Junior High School principal, will be the speaker at their meeting on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25.

Mrs. Mario Castillo and Mrs. Wyman B. Shaw, who head the Eighth Grade committee, are planning a program for their group on guidance.

The High School Group plans a program later in the school year on guidance, both personal and vocational.

Mrs. Allen E. Cole, librarian for the Child Study Committee, has arranged for a two-week display in the town library of literature on child development.

Members of the Child Study Executive Committee are Mrs. Arthur R. Greene, Chairman, and Mesdames Robert A. Townsend, Harrison Faulkner, Allen E. Cole, Wyman B. Shaw and Edward S. Stritter. Any of them would be glad to hear from anyone who has questions or ideas for the committee.

Loyalty Sunday At Coch. Community Church, Nov. 16

COCHITUATE -- Loyalty Sunday, Nov. 16, will be one of the outstanding days in the history of the Community Methodist Church of Cochituate. At the service of morning worship at 10:45 the Every Member Canvass workers will be commissioned at the altar of the church.

At 2 o'clock canvass workers will visit in homes of interested parishioners to secure pledges of those unable to be present in the morning service. The goal of the expanding "Friendly Church With a Future" is over $25,000. The Every Member Canvass chairman is Mr. John Vaughan; secretary is Miss Joann Brown; and the chairman of the finance commission is Mr. Ralph Cox. Canvass captains Messers George Bogren, William J. Scotland, Carlisle Scotland, Arthur Loman, Cecil Chislett, Harry Schuerfeld, Arnold Baker, Carl Hatch and Warren Hayes will be assisted by approximately 50 men and women, devoted church workers. Church families unable to be present at morning service are urged to remain in their homes Sunday afternoon until their pledges have been obtained.

Wayland Hist. Society

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Historical Society is conducting its annual drive for new members, hoping to increase substantially the present membership of 200. Since its incorporation in 1954 the Society has acquired, as a home, the Heard House on Concord Road. The house originally stood on the site of the old Town Hall; the early part of the building was constructed in the early 1700's and already it has become quite a museum of early Wayland.

Historical Society meetings (during the Winter) are devoted to some phase of Wayland History. The October meeting, this year, was a "field trip" to the old North Cemetery where members and guests saw the site of the first meeting house (1640); graves of Indians, slaves and Revolutionary soldiers as well as prominent people in the Town's history.

The November meeting was devoted to the subject "Beatrice Herford". As was eminently fitting in memory of one of Wayland's most beloved and most witty citizens who loved to laugh, the audience was kept in continuous hilarity by Miss Ada Dewson, friend and pupil of Miss Herford. Miss Dewson told of Beatrice's life and gave monologues written by Miss Herford, and some written by herself -- an evening much enjoyed by a very appreciative audience.

Mrs. Mabel Draper, curator of the Historical Society, has for three years, been carrying on the work of the Society at the elementary school level. It is hoped that every one interested in preserving some of old Wayland and old New England will contact Edwin B. Damon, Concord Road, for applications for memberships. Annual family membership, $3; single $2; junior, $1; sustaining, $10; contributing $100. Members will enjoy belonging to this worth while and enjoyable organization. --- H.M.

SHORT TAKES ## COCHITUATE

Mr. and Mrs. Fern Taylor of Edgewood Road observed their 25th wedding anniversary on Oct. 14. Mr. Taylor is a member of the Board of Water Commissioners. Fern Taylor was married to the former Helen Harrington of Framingham at the Park Street Baptist Church there by the Reverend S. Paul Jefferson. They lived for a short time in Sherborn before coming here about 22 years ago. There are four young Taylors: Louise, a W.H.S. graduate and Fisher Junior College alumna, now a secretary at the Raytheon Lab; Jane, a senior this year at W.H.S.; Carl, associated with his father in the Taylor & Cox tree business; and George, a fourth-grade pupil at the Cochituate Elementary School. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Avery of Snake Brook Road, Daymon Farms, are the parents of a fourth child, second son, David Alton, born several weeks ago at a Boston hospital. David's sister and brother are Deborah, 14; Jonathan, 10 and Elizabeth, 4. . .

Edwin Marston of Maiden Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marston and a junior at Marian High School in Framingham, was elected to the post of Student Council vice-president. . .

Johanna McCann of Edgewood Road, also a junior, is Girls' Athletic Association president for the second year and a representative to the Student Council from that group. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kohler of West Plain Street moved recently to the former Kelly home on Edgewood Road. When the new tenants move into the apartment over Kohler's Supermarket it will be occupied for the first time since it was built by someone other than the Kohler family. Otto Kohler, former Town official and member of Wayland's first Planning Board, sold his store several years ago and retired to the new home he had built on West Plain Street. . .

Nancy (Mrs. Anthony) Rizzo, who has taken over the duties of vice-president, officiated at a recent meeting of the Shore Acres Club of Cochituate at the home of Alice Ahern. After a short business meeting a combined party was held: a baby shower for Joanne Kohler, who expects her first baby in November, and an anniversary party for Helen Taylor, who had just celebrated her silver anniversary.

At Camp Nacochwa on Oct. 18, 23 Senior Girl Scouts started their own "Miss America" contest. A patrol of eight girls will be chosen from this group to be the local representatives at the National Girl Scout Round-Up in Colorado Springs in July, 1959.

The eight finalists, plus eight alternates will then go on to further and more complex training until July, when they will board the train for Colorado Springs with other girls from all over the United States.

The girls who have applied for consideration by the Round-Up Committee include: Edie Tarbell, Beth Woodsum, Martha Collins and Pauline Weiss of Wayland.

FLOOD PLAIN

abated.

"How can you morally justify taxing land which requires no town services?" he said. "The end result is that the large landowner is forced to sell because he cannot afford the taxes, so his land becomes a development, costing the town 10 times as much in new schools, increased fire and police protection, and other services."

If there is no agreement on a plan to forego taxes on these wild areas, then the town could buy the Flood Plain area, or purchase speculative rights to it for 50 years or 99 years, or some stated time, Mr. Morgan continued. He told the committee that the Sudbury River marsh in Wayland, based on a formula of number of ducks, number of hunters and other criteria, was an area now considered to be "the number one duck marsh on the Eastern Seaboard."

Also, he said, several fishermen have testified as to the excellent fishing in Heard's Pond, even though it is not stocked. He stressed the fact that preservation of this area is of prime importance.

Mrs. Warren Eriksen, president of the League of Women Voters, and John Gregory, representing the Wayland Junior Town House, were other invited guests, and both spoke on the interest of their organizations in plans of the Recreation Advisory Committee.

Next meeting of the committee will be on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, in the offices of the Planning Board at the Town Building. Theodore R. Magoun of Cochituate, chairman, has issued a special invitation to any interested townspeople to attend and express their views on what is most needed in recreational planning.

Both Teams Win---Wayland Has Perfect Season So Far

WAYLAND -- A modern improvement at home football games this year was a hot dog stand, covered with a gay canopy of orange and black, set up outside the High School, just back of the home-side bleachers. Figure in the background, at right, looks like Police Chief Ernest R. Damon. The stand was considered a big improvement over the old open-air model. (McCann Photo)

Weston High beat Millbury, 28 to 8, at Weston on Nov. 8, while Wayland was defeating Bedford, 41 to 6, at Wayland.

These two games provided comparative scores. Earlier in the season, Wayland beat Millbury 19 to 0, while Weston beat Bedford, 14 to 0. A wider showing was that of both teams against Ashland, which beat Weston 18 to 6 but lost to Wayland, 46 to 0.

The Wayland-Weston game is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 22, at Weston.

Wayland has now played 25 football games in a row without a loss, with only one tie to mar the record.

Wayland 41, Bedford 6

Jerry Whelchel scored two touchdowns himself, scored two points after on a rush, kicked three points after and threw two touchdown passes in a one-sided win over Bedford at Wayland.

His most spectacular score came on a 50-yard runback of a punt, the fourth touchdown-runback he has made this season.

Other touchdowns were made by Morris and Brewer on short plunges. Two of the prettiest plays were Whelchel-to-Haywood passes, caught on the fingertips and carried for touchdowns.

The Wayland second and third stringers were given plenty of exercise after the game was wrapped up. Kearney of the visitors scored on a 40-yard run around end at the close of the game, making only the second touchdown scored against Wayland this season.

Open date Nov. 15.

Weston 28, Millbury 8

Weston put on its best show of the season, with quarterback Buzz Granholm scoring one touchdown, passing for two more and making two points after.

In the first period, Jay Adams scored on a 41-yard end run. Then Granholm passed to Ken McRae in the end zone for another touchdown and Adams rushed for two points.

Granholm made the next touchdown on a 10-yard run off tackle and then rushed for two points. In the third period he threw another touchdown pass to McRae.

Millbury scored in the last period on a long pass play.

WESTON--The monthly meeting of the Weston's Men's Club was scheduled to be held Nov. 12 at the High School cafeteria. Speaker was Homer S. Myers, vice president of Tracerlab, on atomic power for peace.

The Weston Garden Club has published an attractive booklet listing its officers, meetings for the year, projects and its nearly 80 members and associate members.

WESTON -- Miss Frances Tyng, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Tyng of 38 Fairview Road, a sophomore at Wheaton College, is on the dean's list. A graduate of Weston High School, she is majoring in mathematics.

WAYLAND -- Arnold J. Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bradford of 49 High Rock Road, has been pledged to the Delta Phi fraternity at Williams College. Arnold works on the college newspaper and the year book.

Middlesex Health Association needs volunteers to get ready for the 1958 Christmas Seal sale, which opens Nov. 14.

"When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path. Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:5): "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit."

the law, which, says Mr. Carter, is that there shall be no "adjournment or postponement" of the count after it has once begun.

Whether the count was adjourned, postponed or just interrupted, it was stopped at 1 a.m. on Wednesday.

Next morning few Democrats could be found, so Mr. Carter called Weston College and asked for help. Even there, it was found, some of those still listed on the Town books as Democrats were no longer at the College.

Finally half a dozen priests from the College came to the Town Hall and, with a few Town Democrats, seven or eight tables were set up for tabulating. The count was completed around 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

On Wednesday a candidate for Representative from Waltham appeared at Weston Town Hall to question the proceedings. There was a flurry of disagreement, soon ended.

GIRL SCOUTS GIVE TEA

WESTON -- Cooperation and fun were the themes for Troop 24 of the Weston Girl Scouts at the tea which they gave recently for their mothers. The occasion was one that demonstrated Girl Scouts and their mothers working together. The tea was set up and served at the Scout House by the girls and featured their home made cookies. They then all gathered at the respective patrol tables for the business meeting to show the mothers the order of their Scout meetings. The troop is preparing for a camping program in the spring.

The mothers of the girls have pledged their support of the program by cooperating on the following committees: cookie chairman, Mrs. Arthur Olney; transportation, Mrs. Thomas B. Clark and Mrs. Richard Berry; refreshments, Mrs. John Frost and Mrs. Clover Miller; telephone and communications, Mrs. Gordon Brownell and Mrs. Hamilton Riley; and for camping, Mrs. Roger Kelly and Mrs. Auer Curtis. Under Mrs. A. F. Raynor and Mrs. Raymond Ogilvie as leaders, the girls of Troop 24 will have many meetings to pass their 2nd class requirements. The meeting closed with the Flag Ceremony.

To match scores: Wayland beat Millbury 19 to 0, Weston won 28 to 8. Weston defeated Bedford 14 to 0, Wayland by 41 to 6. A big difference appears only in the Ashland and Scituate scores. Wayland won both games, 46 to 0 and 34 to 0. Weston lost to Ashland, 18 to 6, and to

Letters to the EDITOR

About Personnel Board

To the Editor:

The action of the Wayland Personnel Board in voting out Archibald Cox as chairman without his knowledge and in his absence is thoroughly disturbing.

As a former Board member myself, I have seen first-hand the professional manner in which Personnel Board recommendations were handled under Mr. Cox's chairmanship during the last four years, and can testify that he did practically all the work.

He drew up the original wage and salary classifications. He has conferred with Town departments on their needs and has made all the wage surveys. More recently he did the spadework in preparing the group life and health insurance plan for Town employees. There has never been a single negative vote on a Personnel Board motion in Town meeting.

That he should be rewarded for this service by being ousted as chairman is inconsistent with the kind of government we want in Wayland.

Thank You Note

To the Editor:

The Wayland Town Crier has demonstrated its community spirit through its support of the recent Retarded Children's Fund Drive of the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children, which is especially grateful for this newspaper's cooperation in helping to bring to the general public the problems and needs of the mentally retarded.

Mrs. John E. McGowan Jr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Smith Jr., Fund Drive co-chairmen, and their Wayland Fund Drive Committee of many dedicated volunteers raised $950 in the "Day For Donnie" campaign. Additional contributions from the mail solicitation campaign, which are being received daily, give promise that the final Wayland returns will exceed $1000.

For these handicapped children and for the members of the South Middlesex Association, I would like to express our appreciation to the Wayland Town Crier, to Mrs. McGowan and Mrs. Smith and the volunteers for their devoted cooperation, and to the citizens of Wayland who supported and contributed so generously to the outstanding success of the 1958 Retarded Children's Fund Drive.

Sincerely yours,
John G. Fettinger
President - S.M.A.R.C.

If Mother Knows Best, Where Did She Learn?

Some Sneezes At Some Old Wheezes

All the eggheads speak well of the process of thinking but nobody ever tells anybody how to go about it. One thinks he thinks when all he's doing is sitting down and dreaming, maybe, or just sitting there waiting for Saturday or for the bar to open. And anyway, there's no button to push to start a brain going and no burst of flame when a big idea leaves the pad and starts into orbit.

But one thing the would be thinker can do, and that's take up some old wheezes and study them for their true-or-false content.

"Mother knows best".

Only a few of her oldest pals know it, but Ma eloped when she was 19 and under the influence of prohibition Chianti, and while that turned out all right for her, she's not going to have her daughter staying out after 9 o'clock in the evening and she's going to tell her any lies necessary to make curfew stick. Mother knows? She learned by doing.

"Beauty is only skin deep."

Good looking girls are not stuffed with rocks.

"A penny saved is a penny earned."

Anybody who earns a penny is on the payroll of somebody who is violating the minimum wage laws.

"What is so rare as a day in June?"

June has 30 days.

"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

What's anybody going to do with a bird in his hand? And if birds in the bush aren't worth something, all the bird watchers are, so to speak, barking up the wrong tree.

"Early to bed, early to rise. ."

First man into the shop has to unlock the front door and sweep out. The president of the company will arrive around 10 a.m. And how about actors, who get big pay for not going to work until 8:30 p.m.?

"Money makes the mare go."

A mare is a kind of horse, and anybody who can make a horse go with money could tame lions with oatmeal. Common experience is that a horse won't go unless he feels like it. And put $2 on the nag's nose and he'll stop to chew daisies.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder . . ."

Dear John:

"A stitch in time saves nine."

Only shoddy goods will start to rip, and in shoddy goods stitches won't hold anyway. Take the crummy old suit over to the tailor, who will tell you whether it's worth repairing.

"Slow and steady wins the race."

The 100-yard dash, yet?

"Do your Christmas shopping early."

This is the limit in nonsense. Since this idea was turned loose in the world, everybody has done his shopping early, with the result that the crowding is something fierce. The wise man now waits until practically the last minute. By this time, everybody else has spent all his money and is at home licking his wounds. Thus there is no crowd in the store and the shopper can get the undivided attention of the sales people, who are happy to serve a smartie.

"Practice makes perfect".

Once upon a time there was a man who practised knife throwing until he was really good at it. He could split a match at 30 feet. Know what happened to him? Vaudeville died. - - - D.B.W.

This concert is sponsored by the Smith College Club of Wellesley to raise funds for scholarships. Tickets are $2 and $3 and may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. Peter Segal, 38 Mansfield Road, Wellesley. ## "Food Is Just Wonderful", Susan Writes From Rombas

WESTON — "I am learning a lot of slang and improper French among my friends at school," writes Susan Toner, Weston girl who is an exchange student at Rombas this year. "That's harder to learn than the real French, but it's also more interesting.

"I have made quite a bit of progress in understanding people. I hope I am speaking more fluently also. . . The food here is just wonderful. My clothes are beginning to feel tight and I find it necessary to diet a bit. However, it is extremely difficult, since no one wants me to get sick, which they say I will do if I eat less. But all the things I like best are what is fattening . . ."

White Dog, Tan Spots

WAYLAND -- A small white dog with tan spots, whose name seems to be Spot, moved in on Mr. and Mrs. Stanley N. Stetson of Alpine Road on Nov. 15, and they'd like to find her owner.

The dog wears a collar marked "Spot--Wm. Squire & Son, Ltd.--England". She is well trained, walks across the room on her hind legs and does other tricks.

Unitarian Service Com. Appoints Fund Chairmen

WAYLAND -- The Unitarian Service Committee announces that the Wayland chairmen for its current fund drive are Mrs. Walter Wilcox and Mr. William Edgerly. The local mail campaign is part of the USC's nation-wide appeal for $575,000.

Founded in 1940 as a non-sectarian social welfare agency, the Service Committee acts as shock troops, establishing programs wherever need exists and no other organization has volunteered to do the job. In every instance the Service Committee establishes a program and then tries to interest some local agency in taking over the program, so that the USC can work on other needs in any field.

Anyone interested in aiding the efforts of the Committee may send his contribution either to Mrs. Wilcox or to Mr. Edgerly.

HIGH SCHOOL

Schofield tract on Old Connecticut Path, open for business in September, 1960.

The warrant, not entirely decided on early this week, also includes several betterment articles. Winter, South and Center Streets, in Cochituate, constitute one betterment project. Wallace Road is separate, and Maiden Lane, Algonquin Path and Park Lane together are another project.

There is also a proposal that a 4 1/2-acre tract on Route 30, near Loker Street, now the property of the Town should be designated as park land. Park land, it is said, can't be sold without an act of the Legislature, and thus it would probably be practically impossible for this little piece of wild land ever to fall into private hands. Many in Town have expressed interest in preserving it in a natural state. Snake Brook flows through it and it is fast growing up to woods.

There is an article calling for appointment of a By-pass Committee, to urge construction by the Commonwealth of a road around Wayland Center.

Another article proposes to transfer $5000, voted several years ago for a many-purpose Civil Defense truck which, it turned out, couldn't be produced, to the fire equipment account.

An article proposes selling an old fire alarm truck, and another calls for correcting a typographical error in the building code.

FOOTBALL

Scituate, 10 to 8.

Wayland has allowed only two touchdowns in seven games, while Weston has three shutouts. What started out to be a fine season for Weston has turned out to be less happy because of numerous injuries to key players. However, all except Forbes McMullin and Pete Bryant should be ready for this game.

Going into this meeting, Weston holds the edge, with 14 wins since 1934 to Wayland's 9. There has never been a tie. Wayland has won the last four contests. Weston, on the other hand, could turn a mediocre season of 3 wins 3 losses and 2 ties into a highly successful one by upsetting Wayland. Wayland has lost no game in the last 25 and only one in the last 33.

Game is at Weston at 2 p.m., Nov. 22.

Co-Capt. Joe Devine of Wayland got shaken loose from his shoulder pads and had to be laced up again.

Wayland ground out a 24 to 6 win in a game that was marred by penalties, fumbles and rough play. The officials had to stop the contest twice to move fans back off the playing field.

The game was bitterly fought and many hard tackles resulted in fumbles. Wayland scored in the first period, recovering a fumble on the 20. Dick Brewer ran 13 yards to the 1, where Dick Morris plunged over for the tally. Jerry Whelchel ran for the points after and Wayland led 8-0 at halftime.

Wayland scored again in the third period when Co-Captain Joe Devine pounced on a "Wildcat" fumble at the 30. The touchdown came when Whelchel passed to Bruce Waldman, who was tackled and fumbled the ball into the end zone, where Dick Brewer fell on it. Morris rushed the extra points.

The final score for the orange and black came when Whelchel uncorked a 45-yard pass to Bob Regan, who gathered it in on the 17 and raced unmolested into the WESTON -- Sheila Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Armstrong Jr. of 36 Pond Brook Circle, won the puppy which was raffled off at the fair of St. Julia's Sodality on Nov. 22, but because she has a collie already she passed the animal along to the Edmund A. Sgroi family, which includes four children.

Mrs. Robert F. Larsen, in charge of publicity, reports that the sale was a big success. People came from miles around, and crowded in to buy even before the doors were supposed to open.

Result Unchanged

WESTON -- Only a slight change in the Representative vote was made as a result of the recount held at the Town Hall on Nov. 21. Rep. J. Robert Ayers, one of the petitioners for the recount, lost two votes, William F. Cloran gained two and Timothy G. Hall lost seven.

Final score in the seventh district, which includes Weston and four wards of Waltham, and has two representatives: Henry A. Turner, 8919; J. Robert Ayers, 7669; William F. Cloran, 7570, and Timothy G. Hall, 6608.

Mary McNeill Reception At Ten Acres On Dec. 1

WAYLAND -- A testimonial evening in honor of Mrs. Mary McNeill, for more than 37 years public health and school nurse, who has retired, is to be held at Robinhood's Ten Acres at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 1. Dr. David R. Corey and Mrs. Rose A. Linnehan are co-chairmen for the event.

It will not be a dinner party, says Mrs. Linnehan, but for those who wish to dine there will be menus at special prices.

Ticket chairmen for Wayland are Mrs. Will Brown of Parmenter Road and Claire McManus of Bennett Road. For Cochituate, Mrs. Lawrence Ekdahl and Mrs. A. J. Perodeau.

The letter announcing the testimonial says of Mrs. Mc Neill: "Whever she went her skillful nursing of the sick and her cheery disposition spread happiness."

The reception is open to all.

To avoid a conflict with this reception, the Wayland School Committee is postponing its regular open meeting at the High School Annex from Dec. 1 to Dec. 2.

Record Shows Town Does Own Land On Route 30

WAYLAND -- A check of the Middlesex County records at East Cambridge shows that the Town of Wayland does sure enough own a 4 1/2-acre piece of wild land on Commonwealth Road East in Cochituate, it is said at the Town Building.

This is the piece of wild land which, it is proposed, the Town should vote to have declared park land.

Some, it is reported, had expressed doubts whether the Town did actually own the parcel of land in question. But the Assessors have photostats of the record, showing that one Daniel Brackett, back in 1910, did transfer ownership of this land to the Town. Originally, it is said, the land belonged to the Loker family, which has been here since the early 1600s.

New Uniforms For Weston Police Will Be Here Soon

WESTON -- Frank O. Shaw, new Chief of Police in Town, is working on a number of changes and new projects in the Department, which may perhaps be best reported by a listing.

1. Officers Lawrence Cugini and Robert C. Millen are now juvenile officers. They are taking a 20-week course at the Judge Baker Guidance Center in Boston, and under consideration are plans for a Winter recreation program for boys, perhaps including a High School rifle team. It's not so much that juveniles in Weston are now a problem, as that the Town is growing and it seems it might help for the future to establish a sound understanding between the boys and the Police Department.

2. The officers of the Department are getting new uniforms of the standard blue color, to replace the forest green uniforms with

Fr. O'Connor To Speak On Music At Happy Hollow

House Is Moved From Site Of Proposed New School

WAYLAND -- The 10-room farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schofield of Old Connecticut Path, on the site of the proposed new High School, was taken on a 300-yard journey recently across the street to a new location.

The question of whether to appropriate $2,300,000 to build the new school will come up at a special Town Meeting at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 3, at the present High School gym.

The house is believed to be 75 or 80 years old. The barn and other outbuildings will also be removed and the site will be left bare.

Moving the house took several days, and traffic on Old Connecticut Path was stopped for several hours on Nov. 24 while the house was being taken across the street.

Note From Nicole

To the Editor:

I ought to thank you for all the news you sent me about Weston through "The Town Crier". I was delighted to read them; it reminded me of the wonderful year I spent in New England. It has been very helpful to me since I am doing further studies in English at the University of Grenoble. And in American literature we are reading thoroughly Henry James' "The Ambassadors"!

Last month I had the opportunity to meet Susan Toner and she came and had dinner with my parents and we took her to a spring of hot mineral water which stands in the heart of the forest, near Moyendre. Susan listened to some records and especially to calypsos which, I believe, reminded her of America.

Now the Town of Weston must be very attractive with all the red and yellow autumn leaves.

I often hear about Weston from Mrs. F. D. Bonner and Mr. Fiske who are very busy with the Affiliation.

Actually we have as an assistant at the University of Grenoble a girl from Ohio State.

Very sincerely yours,
Nicole Maitre

Thank You Note

To the Editor:

The members of the Weston Police and Fire Departments want to thank the people of this town for contributing so generously to the Fire and Police Relief Association. The members of the Dance Committee would also like to thank the following women for their support and hard work given to the decoration of the Town Hall for the Ball on November 14: Mrs. Harold Lingley, Mrs. Bob Millen, Mrs. Charles E. MacLeod, Mrs. Larry Tierney and Mrs. John Cronin. The committee realized this year that it took the woman's touch to make the dance a success.

Charles E. MacLeod,
Co-Chairmen, fire-fighters' and Police-men's Ball.

For New High School

To the Editor:

The Town of Wayland is now experiencing a rapid growth in its school population. This trend could quickly lead to overcrowded schools and subsequently have a negative effect on the educational atmosphere of the town.

Traditionally Wayland has supported a sound academic program for its youngsters. Therefore, the Wayland Teachers' Association wishes to express its support of the new high school plant which will insure the continuation of high academic standards in an environment conducive to their attainment.

Very truly yours,
M. Edward Sullivan,
President, Wayland
Teachers Association.

LET'S TALK
STEREO

1. WHAT IS STEREOPHONIC SOUND?

Stereophonic sound means sound from two sources, transmitted via two sets of signals on the record groove, and carried into the room by two separate amplifiers and two or more speakers.

2. WHAT DOES STEREO DO?

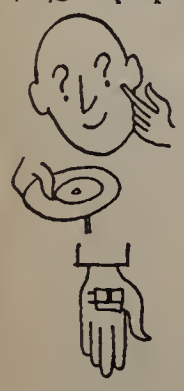
Stereo sound puts you in the Center of Sound. It brings to you the perspective and balance of actual live performance.

3. HOW IS STEREO SOUND RECORDED?

Stereo sound is recorded on separate tracks through separate microphones which are placed at different locations to capture different "views" of the same sound.

4. HOW DO STEREO AND NON-STEREO SOUND COMPARE?

The difference between the two is as startling as the change from a black and white movie on a small movie screen, to a dazzling, full color movie on a wide movie screen. It's overwhelming!

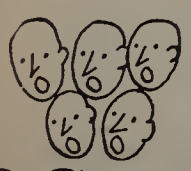


5. CAN A STEREO RECORD BE PLAYED ON A CONVENTIONAL PHONOGRAPH?

It is not recommended since the cartridge may damage the stereo discs. Most hi-fi sets, though, can easily be adapted for stereo records.

6. CAN THE NON-STEREO "Lp" BE PLAYED ON STEREO EQUIPMENT?

Most definitely yes! Monaural sound reproduces even more brilliantly.



7. WILL ALL NEW RELEASES BE AVAILABLE ON STEREO DISCS?

Probably not. Most recording engineers agree that not all repertoire is suitable for stereo presentation. For instance, a solo piano performance.

P.S. You've just read many of the pertinent facts on stereo sound, but there's absolutely no substitute for hearing it yourself

You have to hear stereo to believe it. . .
Be sure to hear it at

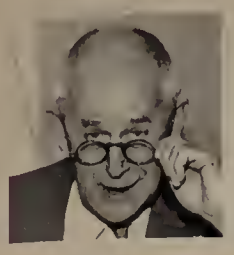
About The Fable Of The Deranged Gasoline Gage

And The Wild License Rites Of The Modern Savages



Speaking of the fins on an automobile, and why shouldn't fins be restricted to fish, who have a good use for them, the question is raised whether the social status of a man can be determined by the size of the fins on his vehicle.

It looked for a while as though this might get to be real issue, but a local character spoiled the argument. He put some do-it-yourself fins on the tail of his heap and they were really tall, but he knocked them off the first time he went under a bridge on Route 128 and it taught him a lesson. He is now trying to perfect a burrowing vehicle, with a long screw in front and a propeller in the rear, for avoiding traffic by digging a new trail each time he travels. He was working on it around here but he kept running into the water table, so he has gone to Texas to see if he can hit the oil table and yell Bingo!

Worse than the fins on an automobile, which are about as useful as a rubber mask to a honest man who doesn't intend to hold up a bank, is the woman who hates to buy gasoline.

A survey shows that of 4000 housewives in this vicinity, only 12 ever buy more than two gallons of gas at a time. Some buy 50 cents worth.

A favorite fiction of the majority is that the gasoline gage on the car is all wrong. When it says empty, they believe, it means there are eight gallons left in the tank, which means that they can travel 10 gallons worth.

It's not that housewives don't have money enough to buy gas. It's just that they think buying gasoline is man's work, and since the League of Women Voters took over where the suffragettes left off, no woman is going to do man's work, even if she is convinced she could do it better.

As for having the oil looked at, the housewife would as soon think of redecorating the basement furnace, or, as we call it nowadays, the heating unit.

And take the young.

In savage societies they have ceremonies to mark the growing up of adolescents.

In this savage society the only rite is the obtaining of the driving license at the age of 16.

Speaking of driving licenses, nobody in the modern world has more raw nerve than those teachers who dispense what is called driver education.

They sit there by the hour while the young practise driving and they practise self control. There is a story that one driver ed teacher wore a quarter of an inch off his teeth, just grinding them, in a single semester, then quit and became a dynamite inspector to rest his nerves.

Anyway, the minute he has finished blowing out the candles on his birthday cake, the 16-year-old heads for the Registry and his driving test. The Registry man looks in the mirror when he starts out and when he gets back, and if he has acquired no more than 16 new gray hairs, the kid gets the license.

This license cuts more ice with the kid than his American citizenship.

It means, he thinks, that he can go down on Route 128 and do 85, if nobody is looking, or 50 in a 30-mile zone anywhere. It means he doesn't have to be at home on time for meals, and that when social activities are afoot, he can be the wheel at the wheel who is happy to transport the young fry.

And this brings us to the unsettled problem of the age, not concerning society because obviously man is a skunk, but the motorist's dilemma. Should he trade in the old car every year and thus avoid repairs, probably, or should he keep one heap until it's paid for and then run it 500,000 miles?

D.B.W.

Wayland Finally Won, In Rough Going

(ALL PHOTOS BY JOHN J. McCANN)

Part of the crowd on the Wayland side. Some spectators had their toes right on the chalk of the sideline, as at left. "Claw", up on the school building, was one field decoration. "W.H.S. Was Here", painted on the school building, was believed to have been the work of somebody from Wayland.

Part of the Weston cheering section. More than 2000 attended and there were seats for fewer than half.

Dave Furst, left, Wayland lineman, does a little peace making.

Nels Granholm, Weston quarterback, at right, trying to get ahead in the world, with a couple of Wayland tacklers trying to haul him down.

Bruce Waldman, Wayland end, grabs pass, with a happy smile.

Peggy Sloane, Weston cheerleader, dances with the "wildcat".

Bob Regan caught one pass for a touchdown and another for a 2-point conversion.

Jay Adams carries the ball for Weston.

More Wayland rooters, huddled together, all bundled up against the biting breeze.

Dick Morris, Wayland, goes through the line, with Dick Brewer, 20, blocking. Weston 35 is Ken McRae, 64 is Tony D'Antonio and 70 is Co-Capt. Will Connolly.

There were plenty of arguments on the field. Above, an official seems to be giving directions to assistant coach Bill Frary of Wayland.

Nels Granholm, Weston quarterback, seems to be running towards his right, with Dave Furst, 71; Joe Devine, 64, and Bob Regan, 83, of Wayland, converging on him.

Weston and Wayland cheerleaders got together at half time. Day was cold and windy, with some clouds. Picture gives some idea of the lights and shadows which played over the field.

Fr. Papineau Rode A Bike And Carried A Revolver

WESTON -- Apropos of the completion of the New St. Peter's Church, Mrs. Alice Cooper Bailey has compiled some notes on the history of the institution. Here are some of the highlights:

Most spectacular parson, probably, was Father Arthur Bradford Papineau, who used to ride a bicycle and carry a gun. He was rector of St. George's Church in Maynard, 17 miles from Weston, in the years after 1902. He would get on his bike on a Sunday and pedal to "Laxfield", the home of Mrs. Andrew Fiske on Concord Road. When he arrived, he would lie down and nap for an hour, then hold a 3 p.m. service.

He always wore a long black cassock. The revolver was for protection against dogs, and the story is that he didn't hesitate to use it. In bad weather he would put on a voluminous rubber coat, tighten it around his wrists and take off.

"He made us ashamed if we stayed away because of the weather," Mrs. Elizabeth E. Duane remembers. "If we gave that as an excuse, he would say, "But you live nearer than I do!"

In the worst Winter weather, he would come by train to Stony Brook station, where Pat McAuliffe, then Police Chief, would meet him with the old school sleigh and a pair of horses.

Later, they gave Fr. Papineau "a horribly noisy motorcycle" and later still, an automobile. He remained with St. Peter's until 1914. He was a native of Waltham and a graduate of Waltham High School, Harvard College, the Episcopal Theological School and the General Episcopal Seminary.

In early days, the church was called St. Peter's Mission, after St. Peter's Parish in Weston, England, the postoffice address of which is Becceles, Suffolk. Weston, England, is on the sea coast, not far from Ipswich.

Earliest known Episcopal services in Town were held, in Summer only, in a small white house, formerly a school, on the Boston Post Road. Mrs. Daniel Lamson, wife of Col. Lamson, the Town's historian, was responsible for starting services there.

The Lamsons, it is remembered, lived in a big white house where Eaton's drug store now is. They owned all the land from there to the far end of Pigeon Hill, including the land now occupied by the Town Green and the Town Hall. Mrs. Lamson, according to the story, sold some land on Pigeon Hill, and with the proceeds rented this little house for worship. It stood on a place on the Post Road then known to everybody as "The Rock".

This was before 1901.

After Fr. Papineau left, in 1914, he was replaced by Rev. Frederick A. Reeve, who became "the priest-in-charge". A farewell reception was tendered Fr. Papineau in the old Town Hall, at which the parishioners gave him a purse of gold. Homer Lockwood presided and Harry Warren made the presentation.

Services continued at Laxfield for three years, then were held in the old Town Hall. This was on what is now the Town Green, across from the Public Library, and no trace of it remains.

In January, 1917, the plot of land on which the "old" church was to stand was purchased from Mrs. Lamson. In October it was voted to begin construction of the church. Architects were Brigham, Coveny and Bisbee. The report was; "The building will be of the type of the smaller English parish churches of the 14th and 15th centuries and will be perpendicular Gothic in style. The material used is Weymouth seam faced granite."

First service was held in the uncompleted church on Sept. 15, 1918, and on Oct. 27 the church was consecrated by the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence.

At the annual meeting of 1919, it was ascertained that the church had 50 communicants.

After five years Mr. Reeve resigned and Rev. William F. Parsons became Rector. At this time the rectory was purchased. In May, 1927, Mr. Parsons resigned and a call was extended to Dr. John Higginson Cabot, a graduate of Harvard in 1900. At this time alterations and additions were made to the church, with Clifford Allbright as architect, and this completed the church as it stands today.

Town Should Acquire All Land Along The Sudbury River, Says Mr. Russell

WAYLAND -- "Recreation means more than playing a game of tennis. In order to be 're-created' one needs to live in pleasant surroundings, to have beautiful vistas of distant hills or rivers on which to feast the eyes occasionally."

So said Mr. Howard Russell, Moderator of this town and former State Representative, in an informal talk to members of the Recreation Advisory Committee at their Nov. 19 meeting in the Town Building.

Some of the finer views of nearby Nobscot Mountain in the town may soon be closed off with housing developments, Mr. Russell said. Before the Town becomes built up any further, he said, it is time to consider the future of the Sudbury River valley, "for upon what is done with this land bordering the river, the whole future of Wayland will depend."

The Moderator pointed out that the town now owns large blocks of land bordering the river, starting with one at the Saxonville line, near the Riverview development, continuing along with land on which the future High School will be placed, land on which the present High School stands, and concluding with the site of a future elementary school in the Oxbow and Sherman Bridge Road areas.

"Nothing more important to the future of Wayland could be imagined," he said, "than for the town to acquire the intervening land, thus preserving forever a wide strip along the Sudbury River valley. Plans for the cleaning-up and improving and developing of the river will insure that some day it will be a swimming, boating, and fishing spot second to none."

The piers and boating facilities which are not feasible now at the bathing beach on Lake Cochituate might well be built some day by the Town at the rear of the present High School, Mr. Russell suggested. "One could take the same boat or canoe trip that Thoreau speaks of in his Journal," he added.

Reminiscing about his boyhood days in Arlington, when that Town was practically all farming land, Mr. Russell spoke about the beauty of the Mystic Valley when the parkway was first built, and about the views of endless salt marshes all the way from Medford to the sea.

"These Towns woke up too late," he said. "Instead of salt marshes we now have industrial plants, instead of woods along the Mystic Valley we now have dumps."

Like Mr. Allen Morgan, who spoke to the committee at its last meeting about the necessity of preserving the Flood Plain area in Wayland, Mr. Russell stressed the importance of protecting the natural scenic beauty of Wayland, more fortunate than most surrounding towns, with its Dudley Pond, Lake Cochituate and Sudbury River.

The Recreation Advisory Committee will meet with members of the School Committee on Dec. 10 at the Town Building, and will exchange ideas with them about recreation facilities in Town, and particularly on the site of the proposed new High School.

Theodore R. Magoun, chairman of the committee, welcomed Mrs. Herbert Lipton, Water Resources chairman of the Wayland League of Women Voters, as a special guest of the last meeting, and repeated his invitation to any interested townspeople to attend meetings of the group.

Whelchel And Morris Are Wayland Football Captains

WAYLAND -- Right after the game on Saturday, Jerry Whelchel and Dick Morris were elected co-captains of the Wayland football team for 1959. Jerry, quarterback this year, also stars in basketball and baseball. Dick, who made the varsity as a freshman halfback, is a fine pitcher and third baseman. The two were high scorers in the undefeated 1958 season.

The players sent corsages to the wives of coaches Ralph Salvati and Bill Frary, plus dinner tickets at a Framingham restaurant, and to the coaches they gave leather wallets.

The winning streak is by far the longest in the school's history. Yet, as a piece in a Boston paper pointed out, it doesn't make the team champions of anywhere, because Somerset, with a stiffer schedule, also won all its games and piled up more Class D points. The 1956 team, also undefeated, was Class D co-champ.

"My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience .... Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."
A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares: "Christians must take up arms against error at home and abroad. They must grapple with sin in themselves and in others, and continue this warfare until they have finished their course. If they keep the faith, they will have the crown of rejoicing" (29:1)

WESTON POLICE

black leather jackets they have worn for some years. A number of Town police forces, says Chief Shaw, including Weston, copied the first uniforms of the Massachusetts State Police. The State Police, not crazy about this, adopted their present light blue uniform and copyrighted it. Weston is one of the last Towns to keep the old forest green. To complicate matters, some local officers, in their black jackets, have been mistaken for bus drivers or taxi drivers.

The new blues should be here in a few weeks. Chief Shaw thinks it would be better if a police officer could be readily identified as such.

3. The Police Station under the Town Hall has been remodelled and painted up. Formerly, people could walk in from either front or back. Now they have to enter from the East end of the Town Hall, and they come up against a counter. The old grill has been removed.

4. A new record system, including printed forms and index cards, is being installed.

5. Examinations for appointment of two Sergeants will be held within a few weeks, although it will probably be some months before they can be appointed. At present the Department consists of one Chief and eight patrolmen, with no sergeants. The patrolmen are under Civil Service and the Chief is appointed by the Selectmen on a year-to-year basis.

Chief Shaw says he is going to ask for two more patrolmen. As of now, some men have to be on duty from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m. With two more men, there could be before-midnight and after midnight shifts.

6. Chief Shaw also means to appoint a prosecuting officer and a safety officer. In addition, there will be a training program in all phases of police work for both the regular and auxiliary police.

FOOTBALL

end zone. A Whelchel-to-Regan pass also accounted for the PAT.

Weston's score came in the last period as a result of a fumble recovered by Tony D'Antonio on the 23. A pass from Buzz Granholm to Jay Adams brought the ball close and Jim Robbins, playing in place of Curt Evans who had to be removed from the game when he dislocated his hip in the first period, scored from the 3. Weston threatened only one other time but Wayland held on the 3 yard line.

Wayland's senior halfback Bill Haywood had 2 touchdowns called back. He ran 70 yards in the first quarter, but it was ruled he stepped out of bounds on the 50 yard line. In the last period he went over on a pass play that was cancelled by a penalty.

Sophomore Jay Adams stood out offensively for the losers, while Co-Captain Dick Brewer's running, Regan's pass catching, and Jerry Whelchel's passing were noteworthy for the victors. On defense both lines played exceptional ball.

Wayland has just completed its third season in succession without a loss. This includes 25 wins and 1 tie. Next season's outlook is bright as Coach Ralph Salvati will have nine lettermen returning.

TOUCHDOWNS: Morris, Brewer, Regan, Robbins.

WESTON -- Rehearsals are under way for the three-act play, "My Three Angels", by Sam and Bella Spewack, to be presented by the First Parish Friendly Society on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 12 and 13, at the Weston Town House.

The cast includes Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Gilmour, Mr. Herbert Crouch, Mrs. John C. Wells, Mrs. William G. Williams Jr., Mr. John H. Durant and Mr. Richard S. Alles.

Committee chairman is Mrs. Glenn N. Lempereur. For ticket information, call Mrs. Ruth Moore at TW 3-9633.

Lawrence F. Collins

WAYLAND -- Lawrence F. Collins, 48, of Glezen Lane, well-known proprietor of Collin's Market in Wayland Center, was taken suddenly ill and died at Emerson Hospital, Concord, on Wednesday, Nov. 26.

He was born in Cambridge, son of Lawrence and the late Emma (Condon) Collins, and was associated with his father in the operation of the market for many years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Helen M. MacLean; two daughters, Martha, 14 and Faith, 10; his father, and a sister, Agnes M., and brother, John C., both of

Two New Members Named To Wayland Finance Comittee

WAYLAND -- Two new members of the Wayland Town Finance Committee, chosen last week-end, are Charles R. Jameson of Plain Road, who replaces Lloyd J. Osborn, and Dominic L. Bartholomew of Sherman Bridge Road, who replaces Edward A. Veno, who resigned some time ago.

Also announced is the appointment of Charles E. Cochrane of Woodridge Road to the Personnel Board to fill the unexpired term of Ted Fabisak, who has moved away from Town.

WESTON MEN'S CLUB

WESTON -- Leonard A. Poe of 217 Merriam Street, president of the Northeastern Midget Association, will speak on "Racing with the Midgets" at the Dec. 10 meeting of the Weston Men's Club at the High School cafeteria, and also show a film of the 1958 Indianapolis race.

It's "father, son and daughter" night. For reservations, call Harry Jones, Leander Rafuse or George Brothers by Dec. 7.

Local Schools Checked

Apropos of the Chicago school fire, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Anthony Brackett reports that the Weston High School and Building C are fireproof; that the Country School is both fireproof and only one story tall, and that Buildings A and B have been certified by the Department of Public Safety as meeting requirements.

In Wayland, says Supt. Edward J. Anderson, the new elementary schools, Happy Hollow, Loker and Claypit Hill, are one story and as nearly fireproof as buildings can be. They can be emptied in 10 to 15 seconds. Cochituate School is fire resistant. The High School Annex, only wooden building, has sprinklers throughout, as does a large part of the High School.

The Fire Department keeps a constant check on all the schools, says Mr. Anderson, and two fire drills a month are held.

G. B. Wolfe Is Candidate For Wayland School Board

WAYLAND -- Mr. Gregory B. Wolfe of Country Corners Road, has announced his candidacy for the School Committee seat to be vacated by Mr. William Waldron. A committee to work for Mr. Wolfe's election is being formed by Mr. Ralph Garry.

Gregory B. Wolfe

The new candidate, who is on leave from Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge to serve as Director of the Greater Boston Economic Study Committee, has made his home in Wayland since 1954. He is married to the former Mary Ann Nelson. They have three children, Nelson, 8, Laura, 6, and Melissa 3. The two older children attend the Loker School. Mr. Wolfe is currently serving as President of the Loker PTA.

A native of California, Mr. Wolfe was educated in the public schools of Los Angeles, graduated from Reed College in Portland, Oregon, and later was awarded a graduate degree from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University. Mr. Wolfe formerly taught economics adnd government at MIT, Tufts and the Claremont Graduate School.

WESTON SCOUT WREATHS

WESTON -- The annual Christmas wreath sale by Troop 51, Weston Boy Scouts, began Nov. 10 and lasts until Dec. 8. During this period the Scouts solicit orders via telephone and personal calls. Wreaths are decorated or plain. Delivery will be made as of Dec. 13. Any person not contacted by a Scout during this period who wishes to place an order may do so by calling TWinbrook 3-7977 or TWinbrook 3-6244.

New Reeves Hill Standpipe Will Be Completed Soon

WAYLAND -- Hidden behind pine trees, 350 feet up on the shoulder of Reeves Hill, is the Water Department's new standpipe, almost finished. It's 150 feet in diameter, with walls 15 or 16 feet high and a dome 30 feet high in the center, which makes it, next to the Raytheon Laboratory, the biggest structure in Town.

It has a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons. Right beside it is the old, 1927 model, 500,000-gallon standpipe, which will remain in use. The two together, says Water Commissioner George K. Lewis, will provide all the storage the Town needs for years to come. Never again, barring some unforeseen emergency, will it be necessary to limit the use of hose and sprinklers in dry times.

In fact, says Mr. Lewis, the more droughts occur and the more water people use, the more money the Water Department will make.

The Town voted $200,000 for this big tank at the Town Meeting of last March, but none of it comes from

Building B Costs

WESTON--It cost approximately $3000 more than the anticipated $31,000 to renovate Building "B" and avoid double sessions in Weston Schools this fall, a recapitulation of cost indicates.

At a special Town Meeting in the Spring the voters authorized appropriation of $31,000, which figure was based upon cost estimates with the understanding that Massachusetts General Court would allow the work to be done without resort to competitive bidding. Such authorization was not forthcoming, however. This fact, together with the need to use additional help in order to have the school ready on opening day, is stated by school officials to be the cause of the increased expense.

The general contract with Thomas Mulcare Corporation amounts to $27,840. Next largest item is an architect's fee and additional expenses of the architect because of time pressures in getting out bid specifications of $3,061.

It was necessary to install a new electrical service which work was done by Earl Richardson at a cost of $1,535. Painting and puttying of window sash which presented a hazard because of loose panes

After 100 Years Or More Wheeler Barn Blows Down

WESTON -- A big old barn in the rear of the home of Allan T. Wheeler, 651 Boston Post Road, came down in bits and pieces in the wind and rain storm on the night of Nov. 28. The walls fell out and the roof fell in. Mr. Wheeler doesn't set a property value on it, because, he says, it was somewhere between 100 and 1000 years old, and had been quietly rotting for a long time. He didn't even hear it fall.

He is now pondering ways and means of getting rid of the debris. Above, what's left of the Wheeler barn. (McCann Photo)

Isabel Wight and Mrs. Edward A. Veno read poems, written by Constance Cole Neelon and Sally Paul, in honor of Mrs. McNeill. Mr. John B. Butler read a resolution of appreciation voted by the School Committee.

Letters to the EDITOR

Applause For John Phylis

To the Editor:

Through this column, I would like to openly express my gratitude to the Wayland Police Force.

In particular i would like to commend the unidentified young patrol car officer who responded to my emergency call, Tuesday morning, November 25. On that morning I suddenly became violently ili, and appealed to the Wayland Police. This young policeman who responded, went out of his way to be kind and helpful. Among other things, after summoning a doctor, he notified my parents in Waltham, helped my two year old son get dressed and watched over him until relatives arrived, and stayed in our home until satisfied by the doctor that he was no longer needed.

My husband and I are new residents of Wayland, and we do not know many people here, but we do know now that we citizens of Wayland have policemen who are human, dependable and efficient, a police force of which we can be proud.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. William Salamone Jr.

(Chief Ernest H. Damon says officer John Phylis is the patrolman Mrs. Salamone is talking about.)

Scholarship Solicitation, Wayland, Sunday, Dec. 7

WAYLAND -- The Junior-Senior High School P.T.A., which each year awards several scholarships to members of the Senior class at Wayland High School, has decided this year to raise the necessary money by direct solicitation.

Members of the College Clubs at the high school (there are two College Clubs - one for 9th and 10th grade students, and one for the 11th and 12th grades) will call at every house in town on the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 7, and hope to collect a dollar or two at each stop.

The drive is being organized by representatives of the National Honor Society, with the help of faculty representatives and members of the P.T.A. fund-raising committee. To insure complete coverage of the town, the officers of the Wayland High Association have graciously offered the use of their street-listings and other data.

At the graduation exercises in 1958, seven different groups in Town made scholarship awards in varying amounts: the Cochituate Elementary School P.T.A., the Cochituate-North Natick Mother's Club, the Kiwanis, the Schofield family, the Wayland Woman's Club, the V.F.W. and the High School P.T.A. Not all of last year's scholarship fund was given out in awards, and the awards committee of the P.T.A. is trying to build up a fund of several thousand dollars with which to work. The fund could be maintained by raising each year the amount given out the year before.

KITCHEN CANARIES

WESTON -- Weston's "Kitchen Canaries" will participate in an informal concert to be held at the Country School Auditorium Friday evening, Jan. 23.

All proceeds will go to AAMI (Association for the Advancement of Musicians Inc.)

Rummage, Kin To Rubbish, Brings In Outside Money

True Story Of How Often The Doll Got Sold

A Wayland man who shall be nameless, although his initials are Ben Wood, said the other day that he objects to the sticker given for admission to the dump.

The sticker says "Town Dump", and he thinks it should say "Town Resident". When one drives into some other community, such as maybe Weston, he thinks, people may misread the inscription, or otherwise get the two concepts, "Wayland" and "dump", identified.

And that brings us, by an easy association of ideas, to the rummage sale, which features material so much like rubbish one can hardly tell the difference, except that there's always a bull market in rummage.

When any organization around here holds a rummage sale, which it does as often as it thinks enough cracked crockery has accumulated in local homes, the event tends to assume earthquake proportions.

Word of every rummage sale spreads across the countryside like the breath of scandal, and bargain hunters rush to the scene from all over. By nickels and dimes and quarters they pour out their money, and the total gets to be something imposing.

It's only too bad, some think, that the municipality can't throw a couple of gigantic rummage sales every year. Done on a big scale, such sales might bring in enough outside money to knock $4 off the tax rate, and incidentally result in a salutary local housecleaning.

An accurate description of what's rummage is difficult, just as is an exact picture of rubbish. But in the imagination one may think of an article which lacks two weeks of being old enough to be taken to the dump, and that's rummage.

One essential of a piece of rummage is that it be useless. The cocktail shaker without a cap for its spout qualifies. So does the standing lamp without bulb or wires, a pair of women's shoes, 1936 model; a copy of the National Geographic, stolen from a dentist's office; a University of Southern California banner, or a dish.

Ah, dishes!

When the kindly housewife gets a request for rummage, she thinks first of all the dishes in the attic, not to mention cheese glasses, jelly glasses, peanut butter jars any maybe some of the plates, cups and saucers in daily use. It's a strange woman who doesn't think the stuff her family is eating off is about as distinguished as some of the clay pottery made by prehistoric savages. And it comes into her mind that if she got rid of all the existing stuff, she'd have a fine excuse to buy some new pottery.

This last is really not such a difficult trick, because the woman's silly husband doesn't notice whether he's eating off china or the table top. More men have bought more dishes without realizing. . .

And clothes.

To be good rummage, garments have to be at least 12 years old, clean, and nothing that anybody would want to wear in the front part of the house.

One suspicion is that people buy rummage clothes so they can give them away to indigent relatives, thus keeping the relatives in a state of apparel such that they can't travel in public and so can't pay visits. Another view is that some purchasers keep baling machines in their cellars and, after accumulating enough rags, bale them and get rich by selling them to paper manufacturers.

And old dolls! (Not meaning those who are running the sale). And old doll's clothes! (Again, not meaning what the committee is wearing.) Anything pertaining to dolls is considered tiptop, Grade A rummage. As a matter of sober truth, it is reported that a doll and outfit dated 1876, complete with pantalettes, has been sold twice a year regularly since 1898, and in 60 years has brought in a total of $220.48 to 18 different local organizations.

Somebody would have kept the old doll, but she has wooden legs and the legs have termites.

Humphrey-Foley

Lieut. and Mrs. Raymond F. Humphrey under arch of swords. (Candid by Lombardi)

WAYLAND -- White gladiolus decorated Saint Ann's Church, Nov. 8, for the 11 o'clock ceremony at which Miss Alma Anne Foley became the bride of Lt. Raymond F. Humphrey, United States Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Humphrey of Cochituate. Rev. William P. Castles officiated and a reception followed at Ten Acres in Wayland.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Foley of Wayland, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pure silk appliqued gown with a lace bodice. Her fingertip veil fell from a cap of seeded pearls.

Mrs. Daniel Bailey of Walpole was matron of honor. She wore a gown of gold satin with matching headpiece and carried a basket of rust and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Foley, sister of the bride, Mrs. Frank J. Monahan of West Newton and Miss Eileen Haynes of Randolph. They were similarly gowned in green satin and carried baskets of rust and yellow chrysanthemums.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Foley wore an antique satin dress of pale orchid. Mrs. Humphrey, mother of the groom, chose a rose colored velvet dress.

Sgt. Gerald Humphrey, United States Marine Corps, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushering were Lt. Robert Wojtal of Madison, Wisconsin, and Fort Devens, and Lt. David Hartnett of Lawrence.

An honor guard with swords was composed of Army Captains George V. Ellis and Paul A. Paulson, and Lts. Bernard J. O'Brien, Willie M. Campbell, Charles H. Ashley, Robert Susqua and Herbert K. Hyde, Jr., all from Fort Devens.

The bride attended Regis College and is employed at Waters Manufacturing, Inc. in Wayland.

Lt. Humphrey was graduated from Wayland High School and from Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont. He received airborne and ranger training at Fort Benning, Georgia, and is currently stationed at Fort Devens. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and the Natick Lodge of Elks.

After traveling through upper New York and Canada, the couple are now living in Ayer, Massachusetts.

MONEY GOES DIRECT

WESTON -- "This year Weston residents will mail their Christmas Seal dollars directly to the Middlesex Health Association, our county Christmas Seal office," announces Mrs. Albert Cross, chairman of the Weston TB Committee, an affiliate of the Association. "Weston still gets the credit for local contributions, as each person's name is printed on the return envelope."

Members of the Weston TB Committee voted last year to have all local Christmas Seal funds sent to the Association. Money will then be in one central budget for greater efficiency and economy in planning both local and county programs of tuberculosis control.

Cratitude for God's infinite goodnesa and power was the theme of the special service held at the Christian Science Society, Weston on Thanksgiving Day.

A period devoted to voluntary statements of gratitude is included in the Thanksgiving Day service in all Chriatian Science churches. The apontaneous testimonies included reports of the healing of aickness and ain as well as the solution of other aerious problems through prayer hased on spiritual understanding of God.

"Thanksgiving" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon read from the desk. Especially prepared for the day, it consisted of selections from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Scriptural pasaages in the Lesson-Sermon included the following from Malachi (3:10): "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hoata, if I will not open you the windowa of heaven, and pour you out a hlessing, that there shall not he room enough to receive it."

From Science and Health the following was read (3:22): "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the hlessings we have, snd thus be fitted to receive more. Cratitude is much more than a verhal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

RECEPTION

Dr. David R. Corey introduced Mr. William A. Loker, who was master of ceremonies. Mrs. William Hall brought greetings from Cochituate residents and Mr. James Bolton from people in the Wayland end of Town. Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson spoke, and James Garvey, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, gave Mrs. McNeill a plaque and a gold watch.

A letter from Mrs. Howard Russell was read by Mrs. Will Brown, and Mrs. Thomas F. Linnehan read a letter from Dorothy Ames Kimball of California, a former resident of Wayland.

Among those at the head table were Mrs. McNeill's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John McNeill of Middleboro, and Miss Sophie Kasperovich, state nursing consultant, with whom Mrs. McNeill was long associated. The floral centerpiece was made by Mrs. Alexander Lizotte. Mrs. Linnehan made the presentation. Mrs. McNeill was overwhelmed by it all.

Co-chairmen for the affair were Mrs. Linnehan and Dr. Corey. Co-chairmen of the entertainment committee were Miss Isabel Wight and Miss Sally Paul, with Mrs. John B. Butler and Mr. William Loker.

Ticket co-chairmen were Miss Claire McManus and Mrs. Will Brown.

Also on committees were Mrs. Joseph Martin, Mrs. Warren Wentworth, Mrs. Charles Cochrane, Mrs. Edward A. Veno, Mrs. George Withington, Mrs. George Dickey, Mrs. Clarence Stickney, Mrs. W. B. Woodward, Miss Lillian Larry, Mrs. Joseph Decatur, Mrs. Joseph Vacaro, Mrs. Ralph Morse, Mrs. Alexander Lizotte.

Mrs. Alfred Damon, Mrs. John H. Rooney, Mrs. Frank Kane, Mrs. Flora Cody, Mrs. Philip Farina, Mrs. George Shepard, Mrs. Philip Richardson of Sudbury, Mrs. John O'Connell Sr. and Mrs. Eugene K. Rumpel.

After the speaking program came the reception, with the guests lining up to greet Mrs. McNeill.

STANDPIPE

taxes. The Water Department is a municipal agency, but in effect a self supporting one. The tank will be paid for out of what local consumers pay on their water bills.

This standpipe is built of a thin sheet of steel sprayed with concrete. Around the outside the tank are wound, hundreds of times, strands of wire of high tensile strength, covered with concrete.

Half of Old Connecticut Path was ripped up, from the standpipe entrance to the Five Paths, for the laying of 16-inch pipe. The Path surface will be patched soon.

Actual cost of the tank will be $110,000 and of the whole project $180,000, or less than was authorized, says Mr. Lewis.

Reeves Hill is 406 feet high at its top, highest hill in Town. Thirty years ago it was bare of trees. It was proposed to put the present standpipe on the very top, but residents objected on the ground that it would be an ugly object to dominate the view. Now it's invisible from below, because trees have grown up, and while the extra elevation would have been preferred for the new tank, it had to be placed down at the 350 foot level, beside the old one.

The wells at Baldwin's Pond and Happy Hollow are 125 feet above sea level, so much of the water is pumped 225 feet uphill. The water goes up and down the hill in the same pipe, the direction of flow depending on whether the tank is full or empty and on how many people are using water at the time.

There is an abundant supply of excellent water in the wells, which tap the bottom of the Sudbury River valley. The trouble in the past has been that heavy use of water, as on a hot July afternoon, would drain the standpipe, leaving no reserve for fire protection. Now there will be plenty of reserve.

The Town's predicted ultimate population is 17,000. Engineers said, says Mr. Lewis, that a total standpipe capacity of 2,000,000 gallons would be enough for this population. But because everything seems to be underestimated, the Water Commissioners built the new standpipe large enough to provide a total storage of 2,500,000 gallons.

The tank was supposed to be finished in December, but the unseasonable cold has delayed things somewhat.

Worst problem encountered was ground water, struck up there on the shoulder of the hill, which had to be drained away.

Weston School Survey Is Given To Bldg. Committee

WESTON -- The High School Survey, made by 80 citizens and teachers this fall, has handed its 200-page report to the High School Building Committee and the School Committee. Plans are to distribute the report to all citizens in the town.

The Survey had a tight time schedule, because the High School Building Committee wanted the report by Dec. 1. Seventy-five to 80 persons met every Monday night from Sept. 15 to Dec., to hear the series of six educational lecturers which began the Survey and to work on the six committees. The committees ended by meeting several times a week in order to meet the deadline.

The Survey represents the first major effort on the part of volunteers to evaluate the needs of Weston secondary school education since the Simpson Report ("Weston Studies Its Schools") in 1946. It was an outgrowth of Superintendent Anthony Brackett's Study Group last spring which presented preliminary recommendations for the new high school plant to the Building Committee.

Winter Bird Visitors

WESTON -- Since the middle of November, Winter bird visitors have been appearing in Weston: Evening Grosbeaks (Cugini), Pine Grosbeaks (Morton), Red-breasted Nuthatch (Bissett), Oregon Junco (Gates), and American Coot (Smith). There are a few late Robins, Fox Sparrows and White-throated Sparrows. Pileated Woodpeckers have been seen and heard (McMullen, Lambie and Foster). Purple Finches and Goldfinches seem fewer than usual so far. Charlotte Smith (TW 4-1114) would like to hear about the birds coming to your feeder this Winter.--C.E.S.

Rt. Rev. A. P. Stokes To Officiate At Dedication Of New St. Peter's Church

WESTON -- New St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be dedicated Sunday night, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. with the Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr., Bishop of Massachusetts, officiating. Memorial gifts to be dedicated in addition to the new church and parish house will include the Julia Paine Wakefield Chapel, the Fiske Memorial Chancel, the Travis Memorial Sacristy and the Memorial Lectern Bible.

The new Aeolian-Skinner pipe organ will be dedicated in honor of the Rev. E. F. Chauncey, D.D., Rector Emeritus since 1956.

Special ceremonies will accompany the service of dedication.

Presentation of the keys to the Rev. Philip S. Krug, Rector, will signify the substantial completion of the new edifice. Ministers from the Weston churches and Episcopal clergy from the Western District of the Diocese will be in the procession.

The St. Peter's Choir will sing Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling." Organ music will feature a Chorale Prelude on "Rhosymedre" by Ralph Vaughan Williams with Mr. Frank Taylor, St. Peter's organist-choir director, at the console.

The corner stone for the new church was laid on Nov. 30, 1957, and the first service was held on Nov. 2, 1958. St. Peter's serves more than 1500 members, with a church school enrolment of 500 children. The new church is located on Route 20 at 320 Boston Post Road.

Mss. Of Famous Christmas Carol Turns Up In Wayland

Author's Copy Of "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear" Is Given To Historical Society By Sears Family

An original copy, in the author's handwriting, of the famous Christmas carol, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear", has been found in a Wayland attic and presented to the Wayland Historical Society.

The author was Rev. Edmund Hamilton Sears, who was, in his time, Minister of both the Wayland and Weston Unitarian churches. The manuscript of another of his well known Christmas hymns, "Calm On The Listening Ear Of Night", is in the possession of the First Parish Church of Weston.

Rev. Miles Hanson Jr. of the Weston church, like all others interested in this bit of literary jewelry, had supposed that there was no manuscript copy of the "Midnight Clear".

The discovery came about in the most commonplace way imaginable.

For the Christmas meeting of the Wayland Historical Society, held Dec. 4, Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn, present minister of the First Parish Church in Wayland, was asked to give a paper on Mr. Sears.

Seeking material Mr. Fenn communicated with Mrs. Edmund H. Sears of Pelham Island Road, Wayland, whose late husband was a grandson of the author.

Mr. Fenn asked if he could go through the old papers. He and Mrs. Sears went into the Sears attic and found the author's writings--sermons, letters, poems--in a fair sized box.

As they turned the papers over, Mr. Fenn said, "Wouldn't it be funny if we came across the 'Midnight Clear' manuscript?"

Three or four sheets later, there it was, written in ink on both sides of a piece of blue-lined notebook paper.

The treasure was in just the place it belonged, its existence unknown only because nobody had bothered to look. The author died in 1876 in Weston. His papers, then, were given to a son, another Edmund Hamilton Sears, who was head of "Mary Institute", a girls' school in St. Louis, New Yorker magazine sketches about which were the foundation for the recent hit play, "Junior Miss". This Edmund Sears later retired to Sand Springs, California, taking his papers with him.

Early in the 1940s, after the death of this Edmund Sears, his papers were sent back to Wayland, to the home of the late Edmund Sears of the next generation. They were put in the attic of the Sears home, and there they lay until somebody went looking for them.

The manuscript, which has only one correction on it, does not look

Letters to the EDITOR

Town Meeting Comments

To the Editor:

There were many statements made at the Town Meeting last Wednesday night, mostly true, but some misleading. In regard to the effect of the new High School on the tax rate, the School Building Committee used the entire estimated increase in valuation for the school. If the other departments used this same formula, they could all prove that an increase in their budget would not increase the tax rate. After all, a two million dollar increase in valuation would add about $140,000 to the Town's income.

The statement that the School Building Committee has had experience in building 4 schools sounds wonderful. In reality, there is only one member left on the committee from the time of building the Happy Hollow School. For some of the members, this is their first experience in the school building program.

The statement that we need an enclosed field house to provide a place for larger Town Meetings when less than 700, or about 15% of the registered voters, turned out for the largest single appropriation this Town has ever requested, does not make good sense. This lack of interest on the part of 85% of the voters indicates that we need a representative type of Town government and need it real soon.

The Highway Department making a commitment to spend almost $5000. for a bulldozer to be housed at the town dump, without first submitting it to the people of the town of Wayland for the appropriation and approval, undermines confidence in our Town officials. By the time of our annual meeting in March when this will probably be submitted, they will have paid almost half of the purchase price, and if not approved this money already paid, would be "money down the drain". A contractor has advised that the Town could contact for the use of a bulldozer at the dump for about $150 or less per month. The equipment and operator would be supplied at the command of the Highway Department. This would certainly be a great deal more businesslike than having a $5000 piece of equipment standing around for 300 our of the 365 days per year. No upkeep, no depreciation, and no operating cost.

Our type of wide open Town Meeting is only good when a substantial number of the people take a real interest in Town affairs and when we have complete confidence in the actions and statements of all Town officials.

I appreciate the use of your good paper, as it enables one to reach a much larger percentage of the people of Wayland, than show up at Town Meetings.

Very truly yours,
George Deverell

Bedford Hospital

To the Editor:

December 15 opens a busy season for the Red Cross Minute Man Council at Bedford Hospital. On that day volunteers from the nineteen surrounding communities begin to help package all the gifts supplied to the patients, by the organizations who are members of the VAVS committee. This monumental task is accomplished in just one week, and the spirit of Christmas begins to invade the atmosphere of the hospital. There are approximately 1800 gaily decorated sacks to be filled and many gifts go into each bag. In so far as it is possible, the bags are packed with the needs of the individual patient carefully considered.

Next week Wayland has 12 women going over to help at the hospital. Several of them are old timers at this task, and plan ahead carefully so they can volunteer for this work each year. This is a way we all can help the people who are less fortunate than we!

Howard Russell Announces Retirement As Moderator

WAYLAND -- Mr. Howard S. Russell, Town Moderator for the past 20 years, announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election next March. A long time resident of the town, Mr. Russell is also a former member of the Legislature. He represented the Wayland-Lincoln-Sudbury-Hudson district in the House for six years.

Howard S. Russell

His letter:

To the Citizens of Wayland:

With the completion of this my twentieth year as Moderator of the Wayland Town Meeting, it is my intention to retire from that office, I shall, therefore, not be a candidate for reelection in March.

May I express to the Town my appreciation for the continued confidence the citizens have shown by reelecting me to this honorable office all through this long period.

It is a pleasure to acknowledge the unfailing cooperation of all the officials of the Town and of the Finance Committee. May I commend also the unselfish civic interest and public spirit that the many special committees who have served, the school authorities, custodians and students, the checkers and tellers at meetings, the police, and the whole body of citizens have shown. All this has made possible the orderly, well considered yet expeditious transaction of the Town's business during these two decades.

I bespeak for my successor, whoever he may be, the same spirit of public interest, willing participation, and cooperation for the good of the Town, that you have all for so long accorded to me.

Yours respectfully,
Howard S. Russell

Hotdog Stand At The Dump? Why Not A Finer Resort?

Why Not Evening Hours, With Moonlight Dancing?

In the course of a spirited discussion, at the recent Wayland Town Meeting, on how best to place a decent blanket over what keeps accumulating on the Town Dump, it was suggested by Mr. Roger Ela, a thoughtful and public spirited citizen, that in view of the popularity of the dump, the Highway Department might put up a hot dog stand there and make a little money.

This constructive proposal, it seems, should open the minds of town authorities everywhere to the possibilities of development of what is now a strictly utilitarian municipal institution.

Question: Why should a dump be only a dump? Why can't a dump become a recreational asset?

A hot dog stand? Why not rent rides on the bulldozer which pushes the crud from A to Z on the premises? What would more delight the child of a dumper, in this mechanical age, than the privilege of riding in the high seat, moving the levers, raising and lowering the blade and feeling the thrill of moving society's discards across the landscape? What a reward for good juvenile behavior during the week!

And if a hot dog stand, why not a night club?

Is it pure prejudice, or rank conservatism, which causes the daylight dumping rule? Why not floodlights and night dumping? Any law against it?

Why not gay umbrellas, in the Summer time, set under the trees at the edge of the scene of desolation? With the bomb around, we are all dancing on the edge of the great beyond anyway. Why not brighten a spot which is the only one capable of being improved by an atomic blast?

Evening dumping would be a boon, too, to many a local housewife, who finds her home swimming in debris by Wednesday of each week, because Buster won't have time to go to the dump until Sunday.

To add to the illumination of the Town Dump Night Club, each patron might be supplied with matches and allowed to touch off his own old cartons.

A space could be cleared for dancing. How better could the sober spouses of the community recapture that spirit of youth than by gently dipping and swaying, by the glow of the moon and the dancing flames and the spotlights of the firetruck, down near the rippling waters of the river?

In Winter, it should be easy to flood an area at the dump and have skating. Hands and feet could be warmed at bonfires fed with the world's least expensive fuel.

In Summer, picnic tables could be set up. After many years the dump will be cleaned up and turned into a park, anyway, so the community might as well get a jump on the future.

Another argument in favor of providing facilities to make people want to hang around the dump is the present pollution of the air we breathe. Experts say it's awful. Why not toughen ourselves?

As was also brought out at the meeting, tires sometimes pick up nails at the dump. Why not a service station, so that vehicles can get their regular checkups while their owners are feeding the dump and socializing at the dice ta. . . but what are we saying?

The point is that trash dumpers of vision are looking ahead. For ages it has been assumed that a dump has to be a junk pile. (For ages it was assumed that man couldn't fly.) Why, in progressive communities, can't the dumps be made delightful community centers?

Until, of course, dumps are replaced by regional incinerators.

Dinner Parties To Precede Friendly Society Comedy

WESTON -- Those who are taking part in The First Parish Friendly Society's forthcoming comedy, "My Three Angels", on Friday and Saturday nights of this weekend are enjoying the preliminaries of Christmas and the rather unusual, "for adults only" manner it is manifested in the play.

Those attending the play will have fun with this and the pre-season punch which will be served at intermission in the Town House lobby.

Many dinner parties will precede this festive occasion. Among those entertaining are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. John Underhill, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dowse and Mr. and Mrs. James Wilcock.

The next social meeting of the post is Dec. 22. All veterans are invited.

The committee in charge of the New Year's Eve dancing party has completed initial arrangements and is hard at work on the final details.

Headlining WESTON . . .

NO. 6 IN A SERIES OF THUMBNAIL SKETCHES HIGHLIGHTING DESIRABLE RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITIES IN THE GREATER BOSTON AREA.

GENERAL BACKGROUND Incorporated in 1713, the Town of Weston, with its population of approximately 7,000, combines the atmosphere of a typical New England village with suburban convenience. Its location 12 miles west of Boston permits easy commuting both to that city and to new industry located nearby. Residents value Weston's quiet, rural atmosphere and take pride in its woodlands, meadows and winding, stone-walled country roads, yet enjoy a progressive, active community life. There is an excellent school system, and the traditional full town meeting form of government gives every qualified voter the opportunity of speaking his mind.

ZONING, ASSESSMENT & TAX RATE Minimum residential lot requirements vary from 20,000 to 60,000 square feet. Present assessments range from 45% to 50% of market value. The 1958 tax rate is $47.00.

TRANSPORTATION Commuting time by train to Boston's North Station is between 30 and 40 minutes, and there is frequent bus service to Park Square. The eastern terminus of the Massachusetts Turnpike is in Weston, and Route 128 is only minutes away from any part of town.

SCHOOLS A new elementary school is under construction to supplement existing facilities. There is a modern junior high and high school, and a new high school is planned for the near future. Independent institutions include Weston College and Observatory for men, Regis College for women, the Cambridge School and Meadowbrook School of Weston, as well as several nursery schools.

PLACES OF WORSHIP include four Protestant, one Catholic and one Christian Science church.

RECREATION AND CULTURE The Town Recreation Commission offers a varied summer program for boys and girls including supervised swimming, handicrafts, sports and weekly evening activities, in addition to a Saturday morning sports program throughout the year. There are several day camps offering companionship and supervised play. Little League baseball is sponsored by various business concerns. For adults there are: badminton, skiing, tennis; the Country Evening Concert Series and the Community Chorus. Golf is available to members of the Weston Golf Club and the Pine Brook Country Club. An excellent 18-hole public course is also available. Weston's well-staffed library provides over 41,000 books and 500 phonograph records, as well as 120 periodicals.

HOSPITALS Nearby Waltham Hospital and Newton-Wellesley Hospital offer complete facilities. Weston's Board of Health staff combines effectively with neighboring Wellesley to promote community health. Several resident doctors and dentists have local offices.

SHOPPING Excellent marketing and banking services are available locally. Nearby Wellesley and Waltham, Shopper's World at Framingham and the Chestnut Hill shopping center offer additional facilities.

ORGANIZATIONS Numerous social and service groups include: American Legion and Auxiliary, American Red Cross, Badminton Club, Booster's Club, Boy and Cub Scouts, Country Garden Club, Girl and Brownie Scouts, High School Alumni Association, Hospital Aid Society and Associates, League of Women Voters, Little League Baseball Leagues, Men's Club of Weston, P. T. A., Path finder Club, Rotary, Westonaires, Weston Forest and Trail Association, 4-H Horse Club, Garden Club, Weston Taxpayers' Association.

TOWN MEETING

ber, 1960.

It was said at this meeting that some land clearing might even be done this Winter, if weather permits.

The school project involved by far the largest single appropriation in the Town's history, and nearly two hours of debate preceded the final vote. Allan R. Finlay, who has been chairman of the School Building Committee for many years, spoke first for the motion.

Douglas M. Surgenor
Chairman of School Committee

Warren R. Bolton, for the opponents, spoke for half an hour. He questioned whether the plant didn't involve a new and experimental kind of education, and whether it couldn't be built for less money.

Roger P. Stokey, former Town counsel, argued that the new physical education building (the round one), with its large seating capacity, would enable the town to continue its present form of unlimited Town Meeting government.

Much of the questioning was centered around the question of what was called "the field house". Mr. Finlay said it would have fixed bleachers for 750, portable bleachers for 350 and, for such a gathering as a Town Meeting, many more seats on the floor. Somebody suggested that it might have a total seating capacity of near 2500.

Edward C. Mendler
Praised Building Committee

Robert M. Morgan
Finance Committee Chairman.
Favors new school.

(Only 300 to 400 can find seats for a basketball game in the present gym. At this Town Meeting, with an attendance of more than 700 out of 4500 registered voters in town, an overflow meeting had to be set up in the library, with Theodore R. Magoun as Associate Moderator.)

The new plant admittedly embodies some modern features, with which the Building Committee is well pleased, but some speakers seemed to be disturbed by "the field house" and other points. Finally, near 10 o'clock, Mr. Garret F. Ziffer of 52 Sherman Bridge Road moved that the money be voted, but that the Committee build no physical education plant at this time, study the problem some more and bring in another recommendation at the March Town Meeting.

This amendment was beaten by a loud voice vote. Then the main question camp up. Because a two-thirds vote was needed, Moderator Howard S. Russell called for a standing vote, and the margin in favor of the Article was overwhelming.

MANUSCRIPT

like an original draft. It seems too neat for that. Nor does it bear any marks suggesting that it might have been used by a printer. It looks more like a fair copy made by the author after the process of composition was completed. But there is said to be no doubt that it is in Mr. Sears' own handwriting, and the Historical Society is treating it like a piece of pure gold.

Several members of the Sears family still live in Wayland and Sudbury. At the Dec. 4 meeting of the Historical Society, the manuscript was spring on the members as a surprise. It was presented to the Society by Edmund H. Sears Jr. of Sudbury, fourth generation descendant of the author. Another local descendant is Miss Leila Sears, Wayland Town Clerk, also of the fourth generation, who is a cousin of Edward M. Dickson, Town Clerk and Selectman of Weston.

The author was born in Sandisfield, Massachusetts, in 1810, and was graduated from Union College, Schenectedy, N. Y., In 1834, and from the Divinity School at Cambridge in 1837. Wayland was his first parish and he was ordained on Feb. 20, 1839, in the 1814 church which is still standing in Wayland Center, on the Boston Post Road.

In 1840 he went to Lancaster, where he worked for six years until his health broke. He came back to Wayland to rest up. He bought a farmhouse, since burned, on Plain Road, on a site said to be now occupied by the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Pierce Jr., and was asked to become minister of the Wayland church again. This invitation he accepted, and he was minister in Wayland from 1848 to 1866. Then he moved to Weston, where he was minister until his death in 1876.

"Calm On The Listening Ear" was written in 1834, "Midnight Clear" in 1849. It is thought likely that "Midnight Clear" was written for a Christmas service at the church. At any rate, he did compose poems and playlets for such services.

An oddity is that the wording of the fifth stanza of the hymn, often used as the third and last, is shown by the manuscript to have been changed somewhat in some modern versions. A suggestion is that the slight change may have been made to beat the copyright laws.

Horace Scudder Sears, another son of the hymn author, was born in Wayland in 1855 but moved to Weston with his parents in 1866. Horace became a successful business man and is still remembered for his gifts to the town of Weston. The present town green in front of the Town Hall, which used to be a swamp with a brook running through it, was fixed up by him and presented to the Town. Miss Emma F. Ripley, Weston historian, also remembers that he helped finance the construction of the present Town Hall. A third son was Francis Bacon Sears. Two or three years ago a picture of Horace Scudder Sears was used as a frontispiece in a Weston Town Report.

The music for "Midnight Clear" was written by Richard S. Willis of Sudbury. George K. Lewis of Wayland has determined, from an old map, that Mr. Willis lived beside Willis Pond, in North Sudbury. Fitting music to words, it is said, is a matter of adjusting to meter and hitting upon a tune which will be liked. The belief is that Mr. Willis worked from the Sears words and wrote this music specially for this hymn. The manuscript title of "Midnight Clear" is "Christmas Carols", and in the present First Parish hymnal, says Mr. Fenn, the title is "Carol".

The Sears sermons have been presented to the Divinity School, which was very happy to receive them. Many letters, which may contain materlal of much local historical interest have not yet been studied.

Community Chorus Will Present "The Messiah" And Charge $1 Admission

Mr. M. E. Berrett, president of the Community Chorus, announces the presentation of the annual Christmas concert to be held at 4 p.m., Dec. 14, at the High School, Wayland Center. Commemorating with the music world the 200th anniversary of the death of George Frederic Handel, the Chorus will present The Messiah under the direction of Mr. Chester W. Williams, Dean of the New England Conservatory of Music. The Chorus cordially invites its friends and neighbors to enjoy with them this well beloved tradition of the Yuletide season.

Accompanying the Chorus at this performance will be the Community Orchestra while four graduate students of the New England Conservatory of Music will be guest soloists. Soprano will be sung by Miss Annabelle Bernard, winner of the 1957-58 Eleanor Steber Award. Miss Bernard has also been a frequent performer with the Boris Goldowsky Opera group.

Miss Angie Rupert, alto, has made many appearances on television and is a soloist at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Wellesley. Mr. Joseph Kirkland, tenor, has also made frequent appearances with Boris Goldowsky's opera group.

Mr. Ray Fennelle, basso, will be well remembered as a soloist with the Community Chorus at previous concerts. Mr. Fennelle has also made many television appearances and is soloist at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Wellesley.

For the first time since its organization, the Chorus will charge at its Christmas concert an admission fee of $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for children. It is the primary objective of the Chorus during its current year, to create a scholarship fund for a local student of music. It was felt by the members of the Chorus that our friends and neighbors would be glad to help us in our efforts to set up this fund, by paying this small admission charge.

Another fund raising effort is being carried out by a Chorus committee to obtain an even larger roster of patrons and sponsors from the neighboring towns. This group of patrons and sponsors with their interest in good music locally, will receive complimentary tickets to the concert as a token of the deep appreciation the Chorus members feel towards their support.

A further effort to raise scholarship funds will be an occasional concert given in the greater Boston area by the Chorus or smaller groups from within the membership.

Once again the Chorus invites its guests and friends to join them at the traditional Christmas reception where punch and Christmas cookies will be served immediately following the concert.

IMAGINE . . .

One year ago, the people of Wayland and Weston had no one to call for help in handling their maintenance chores.

Wives looked helplessly at their windows and floors and sighed, "Too much work with children to care for, laundry to do, errands to run . . .

Husbands came home from work dead tired, took a look at the old dead tree in the back yard and said: "Someday I'll get rid of that thing." (It's still there!)

Somehow, innovation always pops up when necessity calls, and this time the innovation is in the form of

ELECTRICAL COMMENT

WAYLAND -- During the recent special Town Meeting the loudspeaker system went on the blink, causing Mr. Howard S. Russell, the moderator, to remark, "We have a large experimental laboratory in this town but we don't seem to get the results."

Raytheon didn't have to be called on. The trouble was corrected by a High School student who was acting as an usher.

Chick Pleases Children

WESTON -- Kindergarten children of Mrs. Alma Andrews' room announce the arrival of a baby chick, "Jingo", who broke into the world on Dec. 8. Eggs and incubator were brought to school by Joan Calkins of 74 Webster Road. Visitors were invited to view Jingo during school hours.

Basketball Prospects

WESTON -- Thirty-nine candidates turned out for basketball at Weston.

However, the only returnee from last season's varsity is Terry Dunn. Terry was high scorer for Coach Bob Carini's five last year, and the team will be built around his scoring prowess again this season. The 1957-1958 team handed Wayland its only league defeat and this year's squad will be out to duplicate that feat this season when the two clubs meet on January 20 at Weston.

The team candidates: Terry Dunn, Steve Lawson, John Perry, Roger Perry, Jim Robbins, Dave Connolly, Chris Jones, Tom Duffy, Larry Lenhardt, Dick Newbert, Bob McIntosh, Dick Rizzo, Bill Rizzo, Ron Powers, Ron Butcher, Doug MacDonald, John Akers, Ed Perkins, Art Taylor, Paul DiBenedetto, Larry Forman, Phil Comeau, Bob White, Nat Bruce, Pete Duffy, Steve Drowne, Bud Foster, Bob Bogardus, Dave Richardson, Pete Revotskie, Mike MacDonald, Lou Arnold, Tim McGettigan, Jeff Hubbard, Allen Johnson, Charles Christopher, Art King, Jeff Witmore and Russ Hills.

WAYLAND -- In spite of the loss of all-scholastic George Bradley and Tom Cutter from last year's squad, things look bright again at Wayland. Coach Buzz Bowers has Jerry Whelchel, Bob Regan and Ed Marsh coming back from the class "D" championship team of a year ago. Along with these veterans are some fine prospects up from the junior varsity and some boys who have recently moved to the town.

NEW LEAGUE MEMBERS

Ashland and Lynnfield have joined the Dual County League this season. Along with Wayland, Weston, Bedford, and Lincoln-Sudbury, they make it a six-team league, as it was before Dover and Norfolk dropped out a few years ago.

WESTON -- Winners of the mystery door prizes at the opening of Bickford's Toyland on Nov. 29 were Larry McCann, 42 Aberdeen Road, Weston; Marie Larsen, 47 Fairview Road, Weston, and Mrs. William G. Minty, 12 Rich Valley Road, Wayland.

WESTON--Miss Victoria Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald D. Wells of 4 Legion Road, is a member of the Wellesley Madrigal Group this year. A junior, she majors in Biblical history.

WESTON -- Illustrated editions of "The Divine Comedy" and illustrative books on Dante are on display at Regis College until Dec. 19. Loaned through the courtesy of Prof. Valentine Giamatti of South Hadley and instructor at Mount Holyoke College, the treasures date back to the 15th century.

One volume, dated 1493, has colored illustrations. The only edition of the 17th century with illustrations is on the display table also.

The first edition in which the word "Divine" appears on the title page, 1555, is there too. Professor Giamatti possesses #266 of a limited 350 copies, illuminated.

One text contains plates, brown halftones, reproduced between 1586 and 1588.

A miniature edition of "The Divine Comedy" - smallest in existence - was printed in 1840.

The Christmas season brings with it the observance of many age-old, established traditions as well as more recent, typically American ones. In many homes, it would not be truly Christmas without a poinsettia in the house. This favored flower of the Christmas season blooms only on Christmas Eve in its native Mexico according to legendary lore. But, we have poinsettias in full bloom in our shop for your holiday decorations and gift remembrances, many days before Christmas. In fact, we have a wide assortment of all kinds of plants and flowers, as well as Christmas decorations, including candles. Candles are also widely used in most homes at Christmas. This custom stems from the practice originating in earliest history when fire and light were an important part of religious and festive celebrations at this time of the year. Whatever your needs, come to us for helpful decorative and gift suggestions. We're ready to send your season's greetings to family, friends and business customers. Come or phone us early so that we may serve you well and help you enjoy the holiday season

Here's How Hymn Looked In Original Manuscript

Last week was reported the story of the finding, in Wayland, of a manuscript copy of the famous old hymn, "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear", written by Rev. Edmund Hamilton Sears of Wayland and Weston more than a century ago. Above is a picture of Mr. Sears, taken from an old cut, and below is his handwritten copy of "Midnight Clear".

Christmas Carols

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious Song of old,
From angels bending near the Earth
To touch their harps of gold;
"Peace on the Earth, good will to men
From heaven's all gracious King"—
The world in solemn Stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

Still through the cloven skies they come
With peaceful wings unfurled,
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel-sounds
The blessed angels sing.

But with the woes of sin & strife
The world hath suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And man, at war with man, hears not
The love-song which they bring—
O hush the noise ye men of strife
And hear the angels sing!

And ye beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the climbing way
With painful steps and slow,
Look now! for glad and golden hours
Come swiftly on the wing—
O rest beside the weary road
And hear the angels sing!

For lo! the days are hastening on
By prophet-bard foretold,
When with the ever circling years
Comes round the age of gold,
When Peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world give back the song
Now the angels sing.

"Jericho", B. H. Dickson, Will Be The 1959 Musical Of The Friendly Society

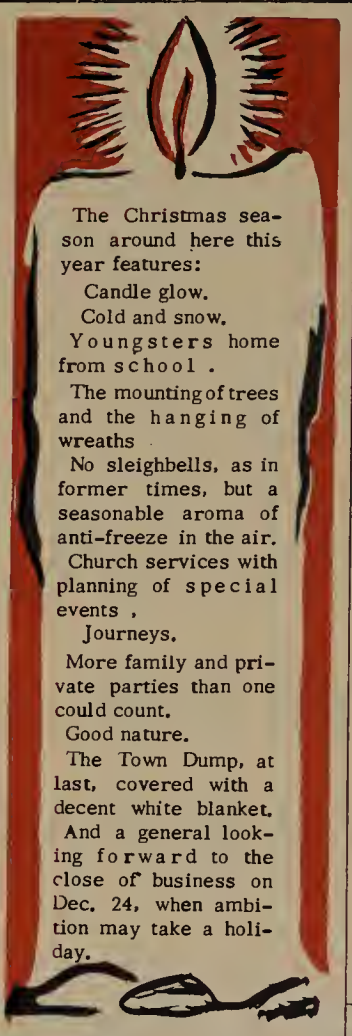
WESTON--"Jericho", by Brenton H. Dickson III of 26 Love Lane, has been chosen the 1959 Musical of the First Parish Friendly Society of Weston. It is an original, unique phantasy in two acts, to be presented in the Town Hall on two consecutive weekends, April 23, 24, and 25 and May 1 and 2.

The musical takes place in early colonial times in the hamlet of Jericho, which once existed where Weston's Town Forest now stands. Several sequences show flashes forward to 1959 in New York night spots. It contains about 20 different songs, including hits by Selene Howe, Alice Valkenburgh and Frank Hatch. The script allows for many male and female leads and includes both musical and dancing choruses. Many volunteers are needed for help behind the scenes.

Tryouts are scheduled for Monday, Jan. 5, for principals. People are asked to bring their own music. The mixed singing chorus tryouts are to be held Tuesday, Jan. 6, and the mixed dancing chorus tryouts, Thursday, Jan. 8. All tryouts will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Parish House.

Mr. William O. Partridge will direct the drama, Mr. Willem F. Frank will head the musical direction and Mrs. Jean Cousins will have charge of choreography.

Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Reginald B. Elwell. Production managers are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lord. Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Crockett are business managers and Mrs. W. T. Bryant is coordinating secretary.



The Christmas season around here this year features:

Candle glow.
Cold and snow.
Youngsters home from school.
The mounting of trees and the hanging of wreaths
No sleighbells, as in former times, but a seasonable aroma of anti-freeze in the air.
Church services with planning of special events,
Journeys.
More family and private parties than one could count.
Good nature.
The Town Dump, at last, covered with a decent white blanket.
And a general looking forward to the close of business on Dec. 24, when ambition may take a holiday.

WESTON ALUMNI PARTY

WESTON -- After the alumni basketball game, now scheduled for Dec. 20 at Weston High gym, there will be a party, with music refreshments and dancing, at the gym. All alumni of the school are invited.

Skaters On Old Mill Pond

WAYLAND -- For 300 years or more skaters of the town have been using the Mill Pond, which, sheltered by low wooded ridges, always freezes early. This year the conditions for sports on ice are unusually good. It was at the end of this pond that the first grist mill in town was built, back around 1640. (McCann Photo)

There Were Eight Raccoons In One Tree, Chief Says

WESTON -- Police Chief Frank O. Shaw says that wild animals, particularly raccoons, seem to be more numerous in Town than they have been in years. In some areas the coons keep residents awake nights by slamming garbage pail covers. In fact, he thinks the growth in coon population may be due to the lack of shooting and to the easy food supply provided by garbage containers.

Not so long ago, he says, dogs and children chased eight coons, two big ones and six small ones, up a single elm tree at a house on the Post Road. Coons seemed to be handing from every limb.

He also tells the story of the woman who was convinced there was a prowler around her house. She wasn't persuaded otherwise until she turned a flashlight outside and saw the coon for herself.

There is also, says the Chief, a fair-sized deer herd in Town, not to mention woodchucks and many pheasants.

Walter Koe Will Accept Money For Bird Feeding

Walter R. Koe of 49 Plain Road, Wayland, the man who feeds the ducks at Norumbega, has put out his annual statement of expenses and acknowledgements to those who have helped supply tons of bread and grain to thousands of birds.

About this time, his report indicates, he is feeding around 1200 ducks in the open water near where Route 30 crosses Charles River.

During the year ending Aug. 31, writes Mr. Koe, he used 29,860 pounds of bread and 38,200 pounds of grain, and total expenses were $2,386.96. He had 644 donations, he says, but he put in $725.02 of his own money.

"One man cannot do it alone," he writes, and he will be happy to accept contributions.

New Scholarships Offered In Health Professions

Outstanding high school and college students in this community will have an opportunity to compete for 15, $2000 four-year scholarships to be offered soon as part of the National Foundation's new multi-million dollar program to train urgently needed personnel for the health professions. The announcement was made by local Wayland Chairman, David Stewart.

The scholarship program, supported by the March of Dimes, is a part of the National Foundation's expanded attack on disease, which has arthritis and birth defects as new targets in addition to polio.

The program will provide scholarship winners with $500 a year toward four years of college or university training in medicine, medical social work, nursing, physical therapy and occupational therapy. The first National Foundation Health Scholarships will be offered before the end of the 1959-60 school year, the chairman said.

Changes Are Being Made In Former St. Peter's Church

WESTON -- Work was begun recently on modifications to the church building at 439 Boston Post Road, to adapt it for use by the Christian Science Society. The building, formerly used by St. Peter's Episcopal Church, was purchased by the Society in November.

Most noticeable change to be made is the addition of a canopy and display window to the front of the building as part of the entrance for the Christian Science Reading Room to be opened in the lower level. The reading room will provide facilities for sale of the Bible, the writings of Mary Baker Eddy and other authorized Christian Science literature. A room will also be opened to the public where books or periodicals from the library may be studied.

A new set of stairs connecting the lower level with the auditorium is the other major change planned. The entire interior will be painted and redecorated.

Arland A. Dirlam was retained by the Society for design of the modifications and Jenney Brothers Inc., of Concord, have been employed as general contractors.

Christian Science Society, Weston, is a branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and will continue to hold services in the Town Hall on Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings until the building is ready for use in January.

Should Little Nell Speak To Strangers On The Bus?

Since We Know The Language Used By P. T. Barnum, Why Don't We Use It?

In days of old, when Victoria was queen and women were supposed to be defenseless unless rich, in which case they were insufferable, it was a strict rule that young girls should not speak to strangers, and it's high time for the repeal of this rule.

Just what harm was going to come of speaking to strangers is difficult to see, because the chances were good little Nell would eventually marry a stranger, which is a good deal more serious than speaking to one.

No matter how far integration progresses, it stands to reason women will never be completely submerged in the human race, because they're too different for that, but there's no reason why Nell should not widen her acquaintance and her horizon.

It isn't as though she were defenseless any more. Since the Great Woman Suffrage Revolution and the coming of the matriarchal system of government in America, any girl old enough to walk is about as defenseless as a platoon of tommy gunners.

In fact, probably everybody ought to talk to everybody, even at the risk of being bored to death. After all, everybody one meets nowadays, even in the crummiest circles, speaks English, and it's a shame not to use this talent. Think of 600,000,000 Chinese, most of them knowing no more English than "imperialist bandit go home", and let us realize how fortunate we are to understand the language of Shakespeare, Lincoln, Phineas T. Barnum and Susan B. Anthony. A base ball is no good unless we throw it and that goes for idle talk, too.

A nice little gimmick might be for each of us, including Nell, to carry on the person some object for sale. An old book, maybe; a certificate for five shares of Canadian uranium stock, an autograph of the late John Dillinger, the stub of a John Foster Dulles airplane ticket. . .anything.

The game would be to sell the object to the stranger. It says in the Good Book or somewhere that one should take in the stranger, and this might be a good way to do it, at least until the stranger got smart. The price wouldn't matter. The idea would be to part with something useless in return for cash. This practice would develop salesmanship in everybody, increase the velocity of money, widen acquaintances and sharpen the wits.

Or one might carry around a bared camera, which is enough introduction to any girl. The young man with the camera might approach a beautiful stranger with a tactful, thoughtful remark, such as, "You remind me of my mother", and thus a new and sweet friendship might be formed, based on a mutual interest in the girl's picture.

As a matter of fact, this rule against girls speaking to strangers was thought up by men, as part of the plot to keep women in subjection. Wise men figured out that if women started talking to everybody they'd be likely to find out things, and if they ever got wise to what was going on they'd begin sticking their noses into men's affairs, a trend now marked.

So the men told their wives and the wives told the daughters they must be careful not to speak to anybody unless he had some official OK, because he might be a bad man. The girls believed their mothers, and as a result there were thousands of years in which men were not pestered by women in the pursuit of their favorite occupations, which were conniving, stealing and cutting throats. Female busybodies, since the Great Reform, have been trying to interfere with these activities, without much luck. Why, women had had the vote for years before World War II started, and some believe one event led to the other.

But anyway, more people ought to talk to each other. Imagine human beings on a crowded bus, huddled together like drunken barroom singers, yet all pretending they're alone in the world. Who ordered all this silence?

But it may be for the best. Were everybody to start talking with everybody else, human brotherhood might set in, and this, it may as well be understood, we want to postpone to some more convenient time, when we've grabbed our share and can afford the gentler luxuries of life ---D.B.W.

1164 Outside Uses For Wayland Schools Since Early Last September

WAYLAND -- When this town voted two years ago to buy six school sites and to build two elementary schools in addition to the two already in existence, it was envisioned that by voting for a decentralized system, the various schools would become "neighborhood centers" for civic and recreational activity after school hours.

That this has, in fact, already happened, was amply proved by members of the School Committee in a meeting with members of the Recreational Advisory Committee at the Town Building on Dec. 10.

Dr. Douglas Surgenor, chairman of the School Committee, presented the members of the other committee with an itemized account of a total of 1164 uses of school buildings since early last September. Scouts and related organizations accounted for 556 uses of the four elementary and the one Junior-Senior High School building. Adult recreation accounted for 254 uses of these buildings, and other community activity has taken place 39 times in this period. The school pupils themselves, in after-hours recreation and athletics, have used the buildings 315 times.

The money for heat, lights, custodial care, and other items necessary for this use comes out of the School Department budget, and amounts to about $5900 annually. If a police officer is necessary to handle traffic, the organization pays for that, and if there is need to set up chairs in the auditorium of any of the schools, there is a charge to the organization for that. Written application must be made to the School Committee well in advance, and the requests are handled on a priority basis, with first choice going to the pupils themselves, second choice to school-connected activities such as P.T.A. groups, and third choice to community groups in general.

A real cross-section of the town is represented in this use of school buildings. There are religious groups, service organizations, civic groups and plain recreational groups of citizens who happen to live in the neighborhood of the schools. One example of the last-named is a group of men who regularly play badminton in one of the school gymnasiums. There are record hops, regular dances, music lessons, films, Christmas bazaars, casserole suppers, civic league meetings, community chorus concerts, whist parties and almost any activity that can be imagined in a town this size, going on all the time in school buildings. The nearly $6000 yearly that it costs the School Department to keep this going will be listed separately in their budget at the Town Meeting.

The Recreational Advisory Committee offered some recommendations to the School Committee for their consideration in planning the new High School on Old Connecticut Path. Chairman Theodore R. Magoun welcomed, in addition to Allan R. Finlay of the School Building Committee, six townspeople who attended the meeting as guests and observers. They were Mrs. Ruth Burgess of Pequot Road, Mrs. Ralph Garry of Brook Trail Road, Mrs. Paul Pontecorvo of Jeffrey Road, Mrs. L. L. Orenbuck of Anthony Road, Mr. Robert Burkinshaw of Bayfield Road and Mr. George Blood of Highgate Road.

Mills -- Conrad

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Mills
(E. M. Logan)

WESTON -- White delphiniums, gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the Weston Methodist Church Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27, for the wedding of Miss Martha Gail Conrad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Conrad of 56 Westland Road, Weston, to Robert Shaw Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Edwin Mills of 16 Chestnut Street, Waltham. Rev. Alan H. Moore, pastor of the Church, performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Reginald Cahill played the wedding music and Lee Fowler, tenor, was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white peau de soie with Alencon lace, fashioned with a sabrina neckline embroided with sequins and seed pearls, and bouffant skirt with side motifs and full sweep train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a double jewel crown and she carried a Bible with white orchid and roses and a spray of stephanotis.

The bridal party consisted of Miss Sue Williams, the maid of honor, from Portland, Maine; Mrs. Philip E. Burke III from Waltham, and Mrs. Robert Woods of Wellesley, as bridesmaids, and Miss Barbara Richardson from Everett who was the Junior bridesmaid. The best man was C. Edwin Mills Jr. of Waltham for his brother, and the ushers included Robert W. Conrad of Weston, brother of the bride; Philip E. ## Weston Has A Green Belt Committee For Trail Study

WESTON -- An indication of the increasing interest in preserving some of the natural countryside in the town in face of suburban development is the formation in the fall of this year of an informal advisory committee by the Weston Planning Board.

This committee consists of seven members, with representatives from the Park Commission, Recreation Commission, the two Town Forest Committees, Finance Committee, Planning Board and the Weston Forest and Trail Association. The chairman is Mr. Stanley G. French, Forest and Trail Association, and the secretary is Mr. Robert A. Townsend, Recreation Commission.

The charge to the committee given by Mr. John Glover, chairman of the Planning Board, includes investigation of the desirability, feasibility, most suitable implementing agency, and the specific acquisitions involved, in linking up the various town and state owned reservations which are already established in the town. This linkage would be either by trails or easements for trails, or by acquisition of additional strips of land in suitable locations.

During the last few years an increasing tendency has been evident on the part of developers, both in Wayland and in Weston, to explore the advantages of including a trail system in their developments. This apparently stems partly from a desire on the part of buyers coming to the less built up suburbs to make use of their surroundings for recreational activities such as horseback riding and walking, and partly from a desire to avoid the noise and the hazards of the automobile thoroughfares.

As a preparation for understanding and meeting the problems of urban spread, the Editors of Fortune in a recent publication, "The Exploding Metropolis", have given the advice to citizens to "get out and walk". This method of investigation has been followed by the Weston committee, who have circumambulated the town during October and November, and are now studying and classifying the results of their expeditions, hoping to have their report in the hands of the Planning Board early in the New Year.

WAYLAND -- Change in the Wayland High basketball schedule, made since last week: Dates for the first Marlboro and Hudson games should be transposed, to make it Hudson at Wayland on Dec. 23 and Wayland at Marlboro on Dec. 30. Another change is that the Maynard game of Dec. 16 was changed to 6:30 p.m. and that the Dec. 23 Hudson game will also be played at 6:30, instead of in the afternoon.

Weston Girl Scouts

WESTON -- Girl Scouts will celebrate the coming Christmas season in their traditional way of combining fun and service to the community. Already the Weston Library is graced with its tree which was decorated by the girls of Troop 22, Grade 5. The girls of this troop will also prepare ornaments and a tree to be taken to a family needing it in the district. The troop is under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Stauffer and Mrs. Bernard Warren.

Scouts of the 6th grade, Troops 19 and 17 will join together for their Court of Awards and for a party with an international flavor and international guests on Dec. 19.

Troop 23 of grade 5 will be giving presents both to their own families and to other Weston families when they have their Christmas party. They and their leaders, Mrs. David Kingsbury, Mrs. Theodore Jones and Mrs. Henry Lingley, have been working with a school nurse, Mrs. Richard Hosterman, in preparing a Christmas surprise for a local family. In addition this troop, as its other service project, has made scrapbooks for one of the metropolitan hospitals.

Girl Scouts of troop 8 are working for their Five Point Pins and in so doing put in many hours of work as hospital aids at the Waltham Hospital. In addition they will trim a tree and give a program of carols at the Weston Convalescent Home. The leaders of this troop are Mrs. Alden Henderson and Mrs. Palmer Derby.

Troop 11 of grade 8 has been leading a divided existence. One half of the troop, with leader Mrs. John Glover, has been busy at work on the puppet show which will be presented at the big Scouts own celebration in January. The other half of the troop, under Mrs. John Chisholm and Mrs. Rudolph Helgeson, has prepared the Christmas party which they will give for the whold troop.

As M.C. of their games program they will have Anne Lenox, while Ellen Fitzgerald is in charge of refreshments and decorations. # Dr. Howard Explains Work Of Arboretum, Case Estate

WESTON -- Dr. Richard A. Howard, director of the Arnold Arboretum, spoke about the Arboretum and its work at a recent meeting of the Weston Rotary Club. Dr. Howard told of the founding of the Arnold Arboretum in 1872 through a bequest assigned to Harvard University and of its development under its first director, Charles Sargent.

Originally, the Arboretum had an interest only in trees for New England, but this was extended to its present research program in horticulture and ornamental plants as well as the study of native plants of many parts of the world. The Arnold Arboretum has its main plantings on 265 acres in Jamaica Plain. The City of Boston now owns the land but it is leased for 999 years to the Arboretum.

The City is responsible for policing and maintenance of roads and paths. The Arboretum staff cares for the trees and shrubs, which Dr. Howard admits are beautiful but which are there primarily for study by staff members in their research programs. The Arboretum staff conducts a program of exploration for new plants and introduces many plants to the U. S. each year.

Dr. Richard A. Howard (Fleischer)

These as seeds, cuttings or young plants are started in the greenhouses in Jamaica Plain and later transferred to the Case Estates in Weston to be tested for hardiness and selected either for beauty or for breeding purposes.

The Case Estates were bequeathed to the Arnold Arboretum by Louisa and Marion Case and are used as a nursery area, with permanent plantings along Ash Street and display and study collections such as the ground cover and small tree display plots on Wellesley Street.

Dr. Howard described the popular and scientific publications of the staff and demonstrated how flowers and fruits and plant parts are prepared for the herbarium, which is a collection of dried specimens mounted on paper and available for further detailed study. The herbarium specimens of horticultural plants are located in Jamaica Plain, and the herbarium specimens of native floras of the world useful for information on plant distribution, medicine, and studies of wood structure are in Cambridge.

Rotarians were interested to learn that visitors may drive through the Arboretum in Jamaica Plain by obtaining a driving permit at the Administration Building. Guided tours are offered to groups of 25 or more who request them in advance.

The ground covers and similar plantsings on the Case Estates are open to visitors during daylight hours, and all the plants are labeled. An open house is offered each spring at the Case Estates, when staff members explain their work and answer questions. Dr. Howard reported that the staff members teach in Harvard College but also offer adult education classes, one of which has been meeting on the grounds of the Case Estates this fall.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard live at 137 Wellesley Street, Weston. Their daughters, Jean and Barbara, attend elementary school in Buildings A and B, and their son, Bruce, is in the Red Barn Nursery School. Dr. Howard is working closely with the High School Planning Committee on science facilities.

Rev. F. X. Weiser To Talk On Christmas Liturgy

WESTON -- Father Francis X. Weiser, S. J., authority on great feasts, customs, holydays and holidays of the "Year of The Lord" will speak at St. Julia's Holy Name Society Meeting, Sunday, Dec. 21 at the High School cafeteria. His topic will be Christmas Liturgy, especially in relation to the home.

Fr. Weiser's widely praised "The Christmas Book" represents the result of studies into the customs associated with the great Holyday. A new book by Fr. Weiser, "Christian Feasts and Customs", contains a wealth of reference material as well as many entertaining and informative stories of Christian Life in the liturgical calendar.

His presentation, after the 8 o'clock Mass, will add to the appreciation of Christmas for all who are fortunate enough to hear him. All men of the parish are invited to attend the meeting.

Concord 78, Wayland 58

WAYLAND -- Wayland, defending class D champion, took on class B Concord, and was beaten 78 to 58. Hampered by fouls throughout, Wayland managed to stay close until Bob Regan, Ed Marsh and Dick Braganti fouled out early in the second half. Concord only scored one basket more than Wayland but outscored Wayland at the foul line 30 to 12. The football high scorers led the way, as Jerry Whelchel and Dick Morris scored 16 and 14 points respectively.

The JV's fared better, as they overcame a 19 to 23 halftime deficit to win 42 to 32. Ricky Greene scored 15 points while Paul Donahue controlled the backboards.

Hospital Associates Now Have $10,000 In Fund

The Waltham Hospital Associates now have $10,000 in the Coffee Shop Fund, and this has stimulated many activities. Mrs. Oscar Falling of Waltham opened her home Dec. 4 for a coffee hour and demonstration on Christmas floral arrangements by Mrs. P. B. O'Toole of Weston which netted $90.

With the opening of the new wing at the Waltham Hospital, which serves Waltham, Weston and Wayland, more hostesses and volunteers for the gift cart and baby pictures are needed. Anyone interested in helping a few hours a week may call Mrs. Joseph Murray of Waltham, either now or after the holidays.

JOB TALKS FOR SCHOOLS

"What kind of job would I like?" is the kind of question students in Weston and Wayland High Schools bring to the series of conferences on occupational information arranged by the guidance directors of their respective schools through the courtesy of Northeastern University.

During the past three years 18 conferences - six a year - have been held in each school, at which speakers have come to confer with groups of pupils interested in various vocations. Conferences are planned for 16 fields of endeavor, including how to hunt for a job.

A follow-up is the provision of a circulating library of recorded tapes, running a half hour each, on a series of occupational fields. Students may listen to these at their convenience.

Conferences have been arranged in the following areas: engineering, nursing, junior colleges, teaching, machine accounting, technical institutes, foods, physical education, mathematics, retailing, printing, hospital work, secretarial work, chemistry and job hunting.

Good School Plant Adds To Town's Value And Quality, Says Fin. Com. Chairman

WAYLAND -- Robert M. Morgan, who has been a member of the Town Finance Committee for two decades and is now its chairman, says that with a new high school the town will have a good school plant, which not only enhances the value of property in the community but will attract to it the kind of people who are interested in good education.

The three new elementary schools built recently, he points out, are not only excellent in themselves but are all of one story and therefore safe. The present high school, which will become a junior high school, is largely new, with the oldest part dating only from 1936. A big section of the Cochituate School is new, and the old Center School, now the High School Annex, has been renovated.

More school sites are already owned by the Town and are already available. Next need, says Mr. Morgan, will be additions to existing elementary schools, four or five years from now. Provision for expansion was built into the new schools.

On account of the big appropriation for the new High School, says Mr. Morgan, the tax rate will be higher for a year or two. But the total valuation of the town is increasing by $1 or $2,000,000 each year, and before long the increasing tax revenue will tend to take care of the increased costs which growth has made necessary.

As for the new High School, he says, "It will still look good 25 years from now."

A dozen years ago, when the town was beginning to grow, there were just three school buildings in town: the high school, without additions; the Cochituate School and the 1896-model Center School. Now there are six and the new High School will made a big seventh.

Newton-Waltham Bank Has Chosen 2 New Directors

Ernest F. Leathem, Assistant to the President of Raytheon Manufacturing Company in Waltham, and David W. Stapleton, President and Treasurer of Stowe-Woodward Inc. in Newton Upper Falls, have been elected directors of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, according to an announcement issued by George L. White, President.

Ernest F. Leathem

Ernest F. Leathem, a resident of Lincoln, is married with three children. A graduate of Washington & Lee University and Columbia Law School, he practiced law as a partner in Burke and Burke, New York City, from 1936 to 1947, except during World War II, when he served as a Commander in the

A Carolina Wren, Rare Visitor, Seen In Weston

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Fales, 173 Merriam Street, report seeing a Carolina Wren in their yard on Nov. 24, Dec. 3 and Dec. 11. On the last date, it came to their window feeder to eat suet. There are only four other records for Weston: 1938, Brewer; 1951 (banded), Paine; 1955 (2), Lawson; and 1957, Hanson and others. The Carolina Wren is normally a more southern bird, but in recent years has been extending its range northward, especially during the mild winters of a few years ago. Severe cold and deep snow will push it southward again, or kill it. When it does appear around Boston, it often comes to feeders for suet or peanut butter. Mrs. Ruth P. Emery, Editor of Records of New England Birds for the Massachusetts Audubon Society, says it has been scarce here this fall and winter.

The first Iceland Gull of the season was seen on Dec. 13 at the Weston Duck Feeding Area by Walter R. Koe of Wayland, and on

Vince MacDonald Is Again Chosen Cross-Country Capt.

WAYLAND -- Vince MacDonald of Cochituate has been re-elected captain of the varsity cross country team at Brown University. The vote, a unanimous one, is a tribute to the fine job he did in leading the Bruins to a 3-1 season in dual meet competition. MacDonald never failed to finish at least fourth in any of the two-team events.

Although he received many favorable comments on his running ability this year, perhaps the most important judgment was delivered by his coach, Ivan Fuqua, who says: "Vince is one of the best captains I've had in all my years of coaching. There is no doubt in my mind that he is a great leader."

MacDonald managed to tie for third as Brown shut out Tufts, 15-50. In the Harvard meet, he finished fourth as the Cantabs took a close decision, 26-30. However, Vince then hit his stride and finished second only to teammate

Shirley called Ronnie Wood but Ronnie wasn't home.

Shirley called a costume company in Boston and rented her Santa suit.

Letters to the EDITOR

Appreciation Note

To The Principal of Wayland High School
Wayland (copy)

Dear Sir:

About two weeks ago I happened to run out of gas and not too close to a gas station.

Just as I was pondering over the situation a car drove up behind me and two very courteous boys came to the car to offer their assistance. They went for gas for me, filled my tank and didn't leave me until the car was running.

I tried to give them a gratuity for their kindness but neither boy would accept it.

This was such a kindly thoughtful gesture that I wanted you in the school to know.

Their jackets had "Wayland High School" on them and the registration was H22042.

If this is an example of the youth in Wayland, it is something that you can be well proud of in your school.

Notes On Those Contraptions Which Come Through Unassembled

In the fine print it says the gizmo comes ready to be assembled, but that isn't true. The thing would never be ready for assembly, for a very good reason:

There is an iron rule that an article which needs to be put together with 20 nuts and bolts will come through with 20 bolts and 19 nuts..

In recent years, you see, manufacturers figure they might as well save themselves work and labor trouble. The parts aren't going to fit, anyway, so the help in the factory would waste a lot of time trying to fit Grommet V into Spline 4, and would also become so frustrated they'd probably walk out of the crummy plant and set up a picket line as big as a Sunday football crowd.

So the makers decided to con the ultimate consumer -- that's us, and don't forget it -- into doing their dirty work, and that's what's going on. Christmas morning in millions of homes will feature hours of horror, with hot Dad trying to make metal legs fit into slots which the makers forget to cut, while he turns blue in the face with rage, Mamma blushes red at what he's saying and the kiddies rise up and put the gipsy curse on Santa Claus.

They send directions with these parts, of course. The only trouble is that they are only partly in English. The words flow along sensibly for a line or two. Then appears a term they invented at the factory, something like "unsump", to which is to be bolted, it says in the next sentence, the "crabmast". Not only that, the bolt for this purpose will be missing.

The regular thing is for the table to come through with three legs, the sled with one runner, the umbrella stand without any bottom and the aluminum clothes rack with nine rubber tips for its 11 feet.

There's a story around that an M.I.T. graduate in mechanical engineering once bought an unassembled scooter for his 4-year-old son, found all the necessary parts in the package and put it together with ordinary household tools in 15 minutes, without sweat. The tale has never been verified.

Speaking of ordinary household tools, as some of these wretches do, there arises the question of what is an ordinary household tool. One thinks of hammer, screw driver, wrench, beer can opener and maybe paper clip. The manufacturers think every house is equipped with instruments not found even at Raytheon or in the center operating court at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The directions say, gaily, "Press together with conductor's ticket punch." Well, since the trains have stopped running, where does one find a conductor? And meanwhile, Junior is yelling for his little plaything, which he wants right now, looking just like the picture on the box.

So many a man, about 11 a.m. on Christmas, is going to get good and furious at the cussedness of the inanimate objects he is trying to put together. He is going out to the garage and bring in his common sledgehammer, with which he will reduce to a real ruin the rickety, shoddy gimcrackery from the package.

What's wrong with a necktie? It comes all assembled, doesn't it?

D.B.W.

Weston 51, St. Charles 27

Dec. 16, 1958

Junior Co-Captain Terry Dunn exploded for 29 points as Weston subdued Saint Charles, 51 to 27. The game was very close going into the last stanza, but Weston outscored the visitors 20 to 2 in the final period. The JV's had an easier time of it, as they walloped their opponents 39 to 5.

Lexington 38, Wayland 35

Dec. 19, 1958

Wayland dropped a 38 to 35 decision to Lexington in a game marred by sloppy play and poor shooting by both teams. Wayland scored only 5 points in the first period and 3 points in the second. With 42 seconds left to play they were behind by only 1 point but Lexington scored to insure the victory. The JV's were ahead at half time but scored only 2 points in the third quarter and lost 35 to 26.

Wayland 77, Maynard 36

Dec. 16, 1958

Bob Regan scored 24 points and Ed Marsh 13 as Wayland coasted to an easy 77 to 36 win over Maynard. Wayland, inept at the foul line in its first game, hit 33 times in 36 attempts. The JV's won their second game of the year.

VISITED COLLEGES

WESTON -- Mr. Charles Cummings, Guidance Director at Weston High School, along with Mr. Paul Mitchell, the head of the English Department at Weston, returned to Weston on Dec. 12 from a three-day excursion to visit colleges and the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey.

They were concerned with three things: first, establishing contact with the colleges; second, learning about the demand of these colleges concerning English preparation and third, formulating a testing problem. The colleges visited were Trinity, Wesleyan, Yale, Princeton and Connecticut College for Women.

CAROLINA WREN

Dec. 14 by Mrs. Charles L. Smith of Weston. In recent years, this gull has been a regular winter visitor at the area, in company with the many Herring Gulls. An occasional Glaucous Gull sometimes appears. Last March 6 a Kumlien's Gull (very rare inland) was identified by Mrs. Smith. Usually these so-called "white-winged" gulls are seen only along the coast, but close looks at them are very possible at the Duck Feeding Area from now until early spring.

And A Cardinal

When Mrs. Laurence Watts of 81 Glezen Lane, Wayland, was visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alan Walls, Franconia Road, Natick, on Dec. 11, they were surprised to see a female Cardinal come twice to her bird feeder. At this time last year, an unusual number of Cardinals appeared in New England. Most of them went back South, but one pair nested in Waltham and raised two broods. This was the first breeding record in eastern Massachusetts. Mrs. Ruth P. Emery, Massachusetts Audubon Society, says very few have been reported this winter.

VINCE MACDONALD

Bob Lowe as Brown overwhelmed Dartmouth and the University of Rhode Island.

He took seventeenth in the Heptagonals among the eight Ivy Colleges, Army and Navy, and placed eighth in the New England championships at Boston. His personal highlight of the season came in the IC4As at New York. With Brown finishing thirteenth in the Intercollegiates, Vince led the Bruins home by winding up thirty-ninth.

Thus as a junior in college he realized the potential he showed as a high school senior. He was the Massachusetts champion in the 1000-yard run and placed fourth in the high school championships at Madison Square Garden.

PTA Session At Loker

WAYLAND -- Music both charmed and filled the air at Loker School's PTA meeting this month when Margaret Crane, a prominent music teacher from Shady Hill School in Cambridge was the program speaker.

Before leading the parents and teachers in calypso and other folk music, Miss Crane emphasized her belief that the present vogue of background music at home and in the school impairs a child's ability to hear and appreciate good music. Listening to music, like playing a musical instrument or singing, required concentration and training, Miss Crane believes. If more children, teachers and parents would listen, learn the 'beat', play the drum and sing together, music lessons would become more popular and more palatable.

This recipe for better music appreciation was demonstrated when Miss Crane and her group of parent-tin-pan-alley volunteers accompanied the PTA audience in song.

Jonathan Avery received a Lion's Badge with gold and silver arrows and a Weblos Badge. Peter Magoun received a Lion's Badge with gold and silver arrows, Phillip Gott received a Lion's Badge, Michael Tracy and Craig Heavey received a Silver arrow under the Bear Badge.

Weston High Notes

Members of the Weston High School Biology Club have made two exhibits that are attracting considerable attention during the Christmas season.

One of these is an exhibit in the front lobby showcase entitled "Winter Greens and Christmas Decorations". It is composed of evergreens, berries and fruits that can be used in Christmas decoration. Each specimen is labeled with both the common and the scientific name.

The other is a "Biological Christmas Tree". All the decorations on the tree are of a biological nature, such as shells, starfishes, sea urchins, popcorn, cranberries, cookies, cones seeds, cereals and candy.

Vincent DeF. Hoagland Jr., who was graduated from Weston High in 1958, received his freshman numerals in soccer recently at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn. Vincent was the manager of the freshman soccer team.

By vote of the high school student body, Bill Connolly of the senior class will be the student government representative at the State House on Student Government Day next March. Four students took out nomination papers: Andy Wolff, Chris Jones, Frank Best and Bill. The election will give Bill an opportunity to see the machinery of state government first-hand, and to participate in it for one day along with elected students from other high schools in the Commonwealth.
